THE BEE'S SERVICE FLAG

American people do not like to be bossed.
The men at home have voted as the boys abroad are shooting.
Andrew's victory over Shallenberger shows they can come back.

Champ Clark may not have been beaten, but he got an awful scare.
Bre's Edgar Howard can now retire on his laurels. He has earned his rest.
Somebody seems to have put something into the flivver candidate's carburetor.

Our democratic friends are welcome to what crumbs of comfort they can find.
If that's the way it works, Mike Clark will keep his hat on when he goes to bed.
Come on, now, Mr. Kaiser Wilhelm! "Unconditional surrender" is the ultimatum.

Despite the high price of poultry, we just couldn't refrain from trotting out the roosters.
The sun will get a chance to shine in Washington after March 4, when "Jimham" Lewis retires.
No, the subjects of the kaiser will not be permitted to vote in Nebraska for the next presidential election.

Who wants to serve in the coming Nebraska constitutional convention? Hear all the lawyers speak out at once.
Nebraska will show a really impressive line in the next house at Washington. And its loyalty will not be questioned.
Old John Barleycorn drew another black eye in Ohio, but Missouri sticks to the wet column with true bourbon conservatism.

Why, sure. The local democratic organ asks us to forget politics now. We'd want to forget 'em, too, if the tables were reversed.
The democratic senator from Nebraska spent his leisure time campaigning in Delaware, with the result that the republicans won a victory.
"Big Jeff" brings this congressional district back into the republican fold after 12 years of continuous democratic representation. Some achievement!

"Fine words butter no parsnips," and the British, French and Belgian governments are not inclined to make peace on generalities. They want some definite covenants written into the agreement.
Indictment in federal court for sedition seems to have won for "Vic" Berger a return to congress by the socialists of Milwaukee. Maybe that section will later be included in the terms of the armistice.
The rotten re-districting gerrymander is the only thing that saves the democratic control of the county board. The sooner that piece of political chicanery is blotted off the statute books, the better.

Thrifty of Soldiers Overseas
There are many solicitous people back home who ask, now and then, what we do with our money.
While we can't, of course, account for every sou received and every sou expended, we can give them a fair sample of what the army does with its spare cash, taking our figures from those compiled for a certain division, served by five canteens, during the month of August.

"BIG JEFF'S" BIG VICTORY.
This Omaha district will be represented in the next congress by Albert W. Jefferis, successful republican nominee. The simple statement of the fact, however, does not convey the full meaning of the victory.
"Big Jeff's" majority over his democratic opponent will be approximately 600. Congressman Lobeck was re-elected for his fourth term two years ago by a majority of 8,332. To overcome such a lead and defeat a candidate entrenched in power and office and backed by the personal endorsement of President Wilson in addition to all the forces of the democratic machine obviously required a man with exceptional ability, popularity and strength.

If disposed to take seriously the fool editorial put out by Senator Hitchcock's paper as a last desperate plea for Lobeck, we might hail the election of Jefferis wholly as a feather in the cap of The Bee and its editor. We are not so vain-glorious and are content to reprint the W. H. outburst on this page to let our readers see what lengths the frenzied opposition went to. The victory of Jefferis should, however, teach the futility of a campaign of deliberate lying and faking such as the democrats waged.

To Mr. Jefferis we offer congratulations—to Congressman Lobeck respectful sympathy. Lobeck, we concede, has done the best he could, but we know Jefferis can and will do better, and the voters of this district plainly by their verdict share the opinion.
Republican Victory Complete.
As an outcome of the voting on Tuesday the republican party is restored to the control of the lower house of congress, and apparently in the senate. This was forecasted months ago because of the erratic course of the democrats in connection with the war program, but is made the more impressive by reason of the personal appeal of the president to the voters. Americans instinctively resent being dictated to, and especially do they hold an aversion to making partisanship a test of loyalty.

That Missouri has elected a republican to the senate and three to the house is an evidence of how that appeal reacted.
In Nebraska the victory is complete. The entire republican state ticket has been elected by such majorities as add weight to the rebuke administered the Hitchcock-Neville machine, whose control of state affairs for the last six years has been notorious and exasperating. A solid republican delegation from Nebraska will sit in the next house, the first in many years, a further proof of dissatisfaction created by the democratic overlords.

To S. R. McKelvie and those who were associated with him on the republican state ticket The Bee extends its warmest congratulations. They conducted a campaign of a character for which they need never make apology, and endured such a deluge of abuse and misrepresentation as seldom is visited on candidates. The vote of confidence given them by the people is their best vindication.
Success in election brings responsibility, from which the republican party has never withdrawn. Its sound and progressive statesmanship affords the best possible guaranty for the future of the country under its guidance. Full steam ahead!

Results in Douglas County.
Republicans must feel great gratification at the election results in Douglas county. The defeat of W. G. Shriver by "Mike" Endres for the office of treasurer is the only break in the county ticket. Sheriff Clark has been returned by a handsome majority, a testimonial of appreciation from the people, who honor him for the faithful administration of his office under trying conditions. Frank Dewey and Harry Pearce were looked upon as certain winners from the outset, and while they are congratulated on winning, their return to office carries nothing of surprise.

Abel Shotwell's election to the important office of county attorney means a reorganization of the personnel as well as the practices that have prevailed there for so long. "Lou" Adams was another who had been conceded election, although the democrats did their utmost to hamper him. His return assures the taxpayers of faithful service in the office of county engineer.
As a result of the disgraceful rearrangement of the county commissioner districts the democrats retain control of the county board.
A mixed delegation will be sent to the legislature, although the republicans will predominate in both branches. Much satisfaction by the voters in expressing their preference is reflected in this. Altogether, the Douglas county republicans have a right to feel good over the result.

As to Specific Terms.
A sentence in the note from Mr. Lansing to the Swiss minister, asking him to notify the German government that the Entente Allies and the United States have agreed as to terms on which Germany may have an armistice challenges attention. This is to the effect that, while England, France and Italy accept President Wilson's principles for peace, they hold different views as to their interpretation and reserve the right to apply them to their own satisfaction. Mr. Lansing's note does not say so precisely, but the inference is plain that the president assents to the views of the other governments.

Principally, the differences arise over freedom of the seas and the matter of indemnity. Some dispute was in progress between the governments of the United States and Great Britain as to rules governing ocean commerce, arising under the London convention, which was far from accommodation when this country entered the war. These points naturally will be presented to the peace council, although they may be referred to a later conference.
Indemnity will present a more difficult phase of the general problem. One of the most obvious phases of this arises through the dissolution of the responsible governments of the central empires. Austria already has gone to pieces, and our president has recognized new nations arising from the wreck. It is possible that Germany may also be resolved into its independent states and a new federation formed. In such event the matter of apportioning the damage will be delicate indeed.
As peace approaches details of its establishment become clearer, and necessity for wise deliberation more imperative.

"OLAY"
Right in the Spotlight.
Maj. Gen. Charles G. Treat, U. S. A., who is leading the American troops in the Italian drive, always has been a popular officer, popular as commander at Fort Meyer, Va., popular at the War college, popular as a member of the general staff. He was born in Maine but was appointed to West Point from Wisconsin, graduating in 1892. As a second lieutenant of artillery he served on frontier garrison duty and as adjutant-general, Light Artillery brigade, he saw service in the Santiago campaign. He was made a colonel in 1911 and assigned to the War college. In 1914 he was a member of the general staff. In 1915 he was raised to brigadier-general and assigned the command of the First Hawaiian brigade. In August of last year he was nominated by the president to be a major-general and some months later was sent to the front.

CENTER SHOTS
Washington Post: There may be a statute of limitations on reparation for wrongs done by conquest, but Denmark does not believe that it would apply to the theft of Schleswig-Holstein.
New York World: History may or may not record the name of William Hohenzollern, hereditary president of the German republic. But it will apparently be necessary first to get the republic.
Kansas City Star: Hapsburg kings have generally been supposed to be a little behind the times, but it must be said this one shows an enterprising disposition to get in ahead of his Hohenzollern neighbor.
Brooklyn Eagle: "Eddie" Rickenbacker, the former automobile racer, who was downed 22 airplanes, is proving that a man with plenty of nerve can inflict as many casualties in the air as on the banked track.
New York Herald: Some six months ago one of the most distinguished of our chemists took a congress of specialists in this city that America would soon have a gas that would be 10 times as effective as that used by the Germans. This prediction has come true. And so the barbarians who took up the gas are perishing by the gas.

Hitchcock's Fool Editorial
World-Herald, Nov. 2.
Lobeck or Jefferis?
Woodrow Wilson vs. Dr. Victor Rosewater.
That is the issue in the election of a congressman from the Second Nebraska district. The candidates are Douglas, Washington and Sarpy counties. The candidates are Charles O. Lobeck, who for eight years has served the people of the district faithfully and well, and Albert W. Jefferis, the man whom Doctor Rosewater has been trying for 10 years to land in Washington as his personal representative.

It is idle for republicans to hold up their hands in holy horror and prate about the "dictation" of a president who asks that men be elected who will aid him in winning the war and bringing about a just and honorable peace. It is idle for republicans to belittle Congressional candidacy is that, if elected, he will be Doctor Victor Rosewater's messenger boy.
For the outstanding fact of Albert W. Jefferis' candidacy is that, if elected, he will be Doctor Victor Rosewater's messenger boy.

Jefferis has been Rosewater's man for the last dozen years. Charles O. Lobeck, the congressional primary in 1908, when Thomas W. Blackburn and Charles L. Saunders were already candidates, and then, as now, with Rosewater's backing, he won the nomination. Then, as will be now, he went down to deserved defeat.
When President Wilson urged, as he has, the re-election of Congressman Lobeck, he simply endorsed a record that, in itself, justified such action by the voters of the Second district. Uniformly back of every war measure, uniformly forward working for every measure in the interests of the nation or the welfare of the people whom he represents, Charles O. Lobeck needs ask no more than an intelligent and fair appraisal of his record by the voters who will pass upon his candidacy next Tuesday. At each of three elections Congressman Lobeck has submitted an account of his stewardship and each time he has been voted the continued confidence of his district, until, in 1916, he was elected by over 8,000 majority in a total vote of only 43,000.

What does A. W. Jefferis offer in place of this record? He submits a vast amount of fine-sounding verbiage about standing behind our boys in the trenches—something which Congressman Lobeck has been doing since the war began, while Jefferis was canvassing the district after his political defeat. He submits a mass of abusive calumny, unsupported by fact or argument, unworthy the attention of intelligent men.
Further than that, he submits—the endorsement of Doctor Victor Rosewater.

Voters of the Second Nebraska district: Republicans who are now cringing under the whip of party regularity told you the truth about Jefferis in the primary campaign. They told you he was the candidate of the Rosewater-Demission partnership, the same partnership that has put over Jefferis in 1908, Baldrige in 1912 and Baker in 1916, the same partnership that deserted and sacrificed Blackburn in 1914 because he would not do Doctor Rosewater's bidding.
Which will you have—the man who supports Woodrow Wilson and whom Woodrow Wilson wants, or the man who supports Victor Rosewater and whom Victor Rosewater wants?

War and Religious Unity
A striking manifestation of the inclination of the leaders of men to forget all petty sectarian differences and make common cause for good in the "United War Work Campaign" of November 11 to 18, for which the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic War Council of the Knights of Columbus, the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Library association and the Salvation Army are joining forces. The times of peace may have left leisure and room for zealots to be scrupulous about lines of demarcation between denominations. The fires of war have burned away the fence rails. The landscape is cleared of many obstructions. Many things are plainly seen in clear, fresh sunlight which has power to dispel even the acrid smoke of battle.
In the "odium theologium" of the days when the world was not fighting for its life, and hence men had space to grow bitterly eloquent over doctrinal minutiae, there were foolish and needless battles among the good. Now the time has come for the latter unitedly to make their goodness valid against the serried forces of evil rampant in the world—against the monstrous and menacing shape of militarism and against degeneracy and moral perversion masquerading as culture.
The seven banded organizations whom this coming campaign unites will emerge from their corporate effort as "members one of another," having reached a basis of understanding which their future endeavor cannot ignore. They have realized the strength of union, they have found the real delight of communal sympathetic action, they have successfully tested the efficacy and economy of pooling their efforts—and they will not return to the old expensive and varied method of wasted time and money and engendered friction. There is to be newly and truly a United States in charity as in politics. The common denominator has been discovered once for all ways. War work is accomplishing what decades of peace talk could not have attained.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Some Biblical Prophecies
The Hebrew prophets were hard (on the whole) on Judah, the Jews of our day. To Israel, however, the northern tribe, are more often foretold restoration, power, and glory; and they are the British. That the name of the renewed Jewish power was to be changed is shown in Hosea 1, 9-10, and Isaiah xxviii, 11, and lxxv, 15. The Lion and the Unicorn come in Numbers xxiv, 1-9. That England and its offshoots are rightly the leader in Zionism is proved by Hosea 1, 11. The chosen people shall dwell in the isles of the sea, Isaiah, xxiv, 15. There shall be colonies, as see Micah v, 8. The Jews shall become "a company of nations," Genesis xxxii, 11. The Jewish city of Gibraltar, Malta, Singapore and Heligoland is foretold in Genesis xxii, 17, and Genesis xxiv, 60, but as far as I know there is nothing about Lord Salisbury's cession of Heligoland to Germany. The United States comes in Genesis, xlviii, 19: "He also shall become a people, and he also shall be great; but truly his younger brother shall be greater than he." Also Ezekiel xlv, 3: "A great eagle, with great wings, long-winged, full of feathers, which had divers colors, came into Lebanon, and took the highest branch of the cedar."—Norman Haggard in Leslie's.

People and Events
Forget the worry. Consider the upheaval in map foundries and be happy.
The dream of Mittel Europa retains its original substance, with a few bridgeheads displaced.
Striking waiters in New York hotels wish they hadn't. A flock of women took over the vacated jobs, lending fresh animation to dining room decorations.
Round trip tickets on the Hamburg-Bagdad through line hereafter will bear the allied stamp. The new management will not be responsible for inconvenience enroute.
Just as the lights of approaching peace glow around the world, profiteers down Texas way are shortening their reach. The Square Deal association of San Antonio decided the time had arrived to stop gouging soldiers in the neighboring cantonments. The profiteers had better than a year of padded prices and are so gorged that reduced hauls are welcome.
Iowa authorities add a new indictment to the list filed against bootleggers. Peddlers of red-eye are charged with hiding in barns and like combustible resorts and fattening the fire losses of the state, which are swelling amazingly. Whether they stand in for an insurance split does not appear in the charges. Doubtless the fire sleuths reason that firewater and fire insurance are allies in the business.

The Bee's Letter Box
Now's His Chance.
Omaha, Nov. 6.—To the Editor of The Bee: Now that the election results indicate that McKelvie is elected governor and Keith Neville will be out of a job, and the returns from the front indicate that the war is about over, and there is no perceptible danger in that direction, it might be a good idea if Neville would now enlist in the service of our country and exhibit that patriotism talked about by President Wilson, which he said was lacking among the republicans.
R. W. JEWELL.

"The First Battle of the Marne."
Omaha, Nov. 6.—To the Editor of The Bee: The first battle of the Marne has been fought and won. Notice has been served upon autocracy that it can no more find a bed-tinge ground in America than in Europe. Never again will any occupant of the White House accuse those who politically disagree with him of disloyalty.

The precedent will never become established that it is one of the duties of the chief executive to line up a co-ordinate branch of the government and talk to them like a labor boss abusing a lot of longshoremen or a finicky school teacher scolding her pupils.
The American people have emphatically declared against the succession of a "crown prince" who acquires the title either by consanguinity or affinity. They have served notice that they prefer to choose their own officials rather than to be represented by an "unelected, unappointed and unconfirmed personal representative."

"Rubber stamp" politicians will go into the discard and political "machines" into the junk pile. It serves notice that those candidates who are pronounced "unclean" by their former political associates may not aspire to the highest gift in the office of the people of Nebraska. Never again will deluded republican voters of a republican city elect a democratic mayor by the face of a "non-partisan" ticket, to have him prostitute the power and title of his office to furnish "grease" for the democratic "machines."

The second battle of the Marne will be fought in 1920, when the final doom of autocracy in America will be sealed and the American nation come again into its own. The "wedge" driven into the north from south of the Mason and Dixon line will be eliminated. No longer will 14 of the old rebel states, which contain less than one-fifth of the population, pay less than one-seventh of the taxes, and contribute less than one-fifth of the funds necessary to carry on the war, be permitted to control the destinies of the nation at home or abroad by depriving a majority of its electors of the right of franchise by reason of color.

Never again will the government be put in the hands of those who will fix the maximum price of the wheat grown by the farmers of the north, while the cotton of the south is permitted to sell for five times its former price.
In 1920 those will be put on guard.

Why the Mason & Hamlin is supreme
To maintain the arch of the sounding-board PERMANENTLY—that was the obstacle which piano makers could not surmount.
The patient genius of one man solved the problem—in the Tension Resonator of the Mason & Hamlin. This wonderful device gives a tone of imperishable beauty to the finest piano—bar none.

NUTRATED IRON
To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic—Nuxated Iron.
Dr. James Francis Sullivan, States Senator and Vice-Presidential nominee, Charles A. Towne, General John G. Doudon, Dept. 1, New Jersey, and Weston Eaton, Hospital, Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is now being used by over three million people annually, including such men as Gen. Leslie M. Shaw, formerly Secretary of the Treasury, and ex-Governor of Iowa; former United States Senator, Merrett United States Army when only 12 years of age; also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.—Adv.

About Peace Treaties
As a rule formal ratification of a peace treaty is expected and necessary to make it valid.
Peace treaties are usually written by hand throughout, sealed with many seals and bound with green silk ribbon.

The rulers of the signatory powers don't affix their signatures or seals to peace treaties entered into by them. This important formality is carried out by specially accredited peace commissioners.
Each nation entering into a peace agreement is bound by all of the terms agreed upon by its peace commissioners, provided it cannot be shown that such commissioners did not expressly violate the instructions given them.

The effect of a peace treaty is to put an end not only to a war, but also to all complaints relating to the subject for which the war was undertaken. A new war can be undertaken for similar causes of complaint, but not for the same. The peace is an oblivion or amnesty of all past difficulties.
Latin originally was the language in which all peace treaties involving Christian powers were written. Later French was generally adopted as the language of the text of all the other columns, and the utmost care is taken in the selection of words that will convey identical shades of meaning.

Each signatory power is given an original copy of the peace treaty. In addition, it is customary to make and sign several copies of the treaty for convenience. The original copies are kept locked up in the archives of the different countries, while the certified copies are used for printing from and for reference.

Peace treaties are not written straight across the page, or pages, like ordinary documents. They are written in parallel columns, each column being in the language of one of the signatory powers. The text of each of these columns is an exact translation of the text of all the other columns, and the utmost care is taken in the selection of words that will convey identical shades of meaning.

FLU EPIDEMIC SPREADING OVER CIVILIZED WORLD
Germ Eludes Bacteriologists and Health Authorities Are Baffled.

The Influenza epidemic continues unabated. Its ravages are not confined to this city or state or even to the United States, and cable reports indicate that it is rapidly spreading over the civilized world. It has baffled medical skill to an unusual extent and has claimed more victims perhaps than any other epidemic in a score of years. The germ has eluded the Bacteriologists and medical men now agree that the best cure is prevention.
The surest prevention is to build up the bodily powers of resistance and to get the system in the best physical condition possible. It is now universally agreed that it is possible to perfect the powers of resistance of the human system so that it can throw off almost any infection not excepting Spanish influenza.
It has been discovered that persons who are weak and run down are the earliest victims, and if you find yourself tired or weak and losing flesh, or if you are in a generally run-down condition and below your normal weight, this warning should be heeded promptly.
If you are in this condition nothing on earth will build you up and strengthen you like Tanlac, which contains the most powerful tonic properties known to science. As a reconstructive tonic and system builder it is without an equal and contains the very elements needed by the system to give you fighting strength to ward off the Influenza germ. This is a statement of facts and is supported by the recognized authorities and reference works, including the Encyclopaedia Britannica and leading textbooks used in the school of medicine. This statement is further proven by the fact that millions of persons who have actually taken Tanlac have testified to its extraordinary merit as a medicine, and by the fact that Tanlac is today having the greatest sale of any tonic on the American market, over Eleven Million bottles having been sold within the past three years.
Tanlac is also the ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are suffering from the after-effects of Influenza, Grippe or Bronchial troubles and hundreds of thousands are using it daily with the most gratifying results.
In connection with the Tanlac treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlac Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included with every bottle of Tanlac.
Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also Forrest and Meany Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.
