

COURT DOMESTIC RELATIONS NOW IS PROPOSED

Would Be in Conjunction with the Juvenile Court, According to New Plans.

Omaha will have a court of domestic relations, in conjunction with the juvenile court.

The matter will be presented at the forthcoming session of the legislature in such a manner as to leave no doubt of the success of the project.

Among those who are interested in the proposition are prominent members of the Omaha Woman's club, the Omaha Society for the Betterment of Boys and Girls, district court judges and many citizens who have given years of thought and effort to sociological work.

Plan Outlined.
The tentative plan is to obtain a competent person who shall devote his or her entire time to the work of the new court and also preside as judge of the juvenile court.

District court judges who have presided over the juvenile court agree that they can not do justice to this work by merely dropping in once a week, on Saturday mornings, and then pass on cases of which they should have more knowledge.

Judges Handicapped.
"Take for instance," said Judge Troup, "one of the district court judges may be engaged in an important litigation which may extend over weeks of time, and then suddenly he goes into the juvenile court to preside. He can not do it justice."

Judge Day stated, that from his experience with divorce cases on which he has passed, many of these cases would never actually reach the divorce court if a court of domestic relations could get to them first.

"The success of a court of domestic relations would depend largely upon the individual who presides, and it is my opinion that the position should be appointive," said Judge Day.

"Our constitution provides that there may be such other courts than we now have, as the legislature may provide. Under that provision a municipal court was established, and under the same provision we have the proposed court of domestic relations. As I understand the situation, this court would not prevent persons filing divorce petitions, but it would operate to the extent that before a divorce case may be heard, the district court judge, if in his opinion he deems it best, the case might be referred to the domestic relations court for settlement, and no doubt many cases would be happily disposed of in that court."

"If the domestic relations court fails to straighten out the domestic tangles, the case may go to the divorce court. Provisions no doubt will be made for appeal from the decisions of the domestic relations court, but the real purpose of the domestic relations court would be to reconstruct, to find out what the real difficulties are, and to advise."

Whisky is Factor.
"Many juvenile court cases dovetail into the divorce court. During the last 10 days I have passed on five divorce cases where children were involved. In each case mother and father wanted the children. In all of those cases the husband was earning $13 per week when he was married a few years ago. He spent $3 per week for whisky, and even now, when he is earning only $20 per week, he spends several dollars per week for whisky. I told him that a man should earn at least $10,000 a year in these times before he should feel justified in buying whisky, if there were any justification needed."

Judge Day added that he believed the court of domestic relations could also investigate mothers' pension and county charity cases.

Mayor Can See No Reason for News Fake Thursday

"It is a shame that any newspaper should fool the people the way one paper did Thursday by the statement that an armistice had been signed by Germany," said Mayor Smith Friday. "I can see no excuse for it. The people walked about the streets in the rain and it is quite likely that many new cases of influenza and other sickness will be developed."

Besides that, it raised the hopes of many a mother and wife to great heights and then dashed them to the ground again."

Mayor Smith declined to speak at the Daily News' "tremendous jubilee" in the court house Thursday evening.

AVIATOR FLIES OVER CITY AND DROPS TICKETS

Lieutenant Gledhill Spreads United War Work Literature Over Camouflaged Hut.

Just before noon Friday Lt. R. A. Gledhill, U. S. A. aviator stationed at Fort Crook, left the post in his large army biplane and flew over the city to inspect the camouflaged hut on the lawn of the court house.

The aviator flew over the city at an average height of about 1,000 feet and circled and swooped over the city like the proverbial eagle.

Lieutenant Gledhill made a spectacular flight over the city. He circled over the town two or three times and dropped literature from such a height that it took it a long time to reach the ground. The wind was strong and the pamphlets drifted to east Omaha. He made a few nose dives and tail spins high in the air and then suddenly swooped down until it looked as though he intended to perch on the tower of the city hall but instead he flew over a "highway" low that he almost brushed the flag waving on top of the building. The crowd cheered itself hoarse.

Lieutenant Gledhill dropped hundreds of circulars in the interest of the united war work campaign which begins next week. On ten of the circulars were pinned theater tickets for the lucky finders.

Following the spectacular flight several short talks were delivered from the steps of the hut.

Lieutenant Allan Tukey, war hero who was wounded on the battlefields of France and is home on a short leave, was introduced. Miss Helen Eastman and Miss Bernice Branson, were the artists who successfully camouflaged the little war hut.

University of Omaha to Start War Work Drive

Students at the University of Nebraska expect to go over the top raising their quota for the united war work campaign. The quota for the colleges of the state is $50,000. Several mass meetings have been held at the university and judging from the enthusiasm shown that institution will do its part in raising this sum. A complete committee consisting of Dr. D. E. Jenkins, Selma Anderson, Grace Thompson and Chester Johnson are supervising the work.

Hold Funeral Services for Shipyard Worker

Funeral services were held at the home, 2005 Dewey avenue, Thursday afternoon, for Joseph A. Tully, victim of the influenza in Madisonville, La. Mr. Tully left Omaha last July feeling that he could best help his country in the war by working in the shipyards. He was an expert mechanic. He had prepared a home in the southern city for his bride of a year, who was to have joined him this month. Interment was in Forest Lawn cemetery.

WOMAN'S FITNESS FOR WAR WORK

There's no question of women's right to enter war activities—to take the place of the men now at the front. Indeed they would seem to have many points of superiority over men in some of the industrial fields which they are now entering. But to take men's burdens the women must be strong—must have iron nerves and good blood. So many women these days are frail, nervous, borne down by the pains and aches peculiar to their sex. A sex tonic and nerve builder is needed, such as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

An affection confined to women must have its cause in the womanly nature. There is no doubt that a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs, is in general responsible for feminine nervousness and an undermined constitution. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them healthy. There are no more crying spells. "Favorite Prescription" is an herbal tonic for female weakness. It makes weak women strong.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been for nearly 50 years the most favorably known herbal tonic for women. Ask your family physician questions on delicate matters. Such questions of sex are answered by the "Medical Adviser." The nursing of the sick, first aid to the injured, accidents and emergencies, anatomy, physiology, hygiene, the human temperament, the brain and mind, are treated of in an original and comprehensive manner, in harmony with the latest scientific discoveries. This book formerly sold for $1.50. For a limited time—while they last, this book can be obtained for 50 cents at the prominent drug stores in town, or write Dr. Pierce, the publisher, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Snow Storms Relieve the Labor Shortage in West

Manager Franklin of the federal labor bureau says the snowstorm and bad weather of the last few days has been a boon to the beet sugar factory proprietors at Gering, Scotts Bluff and other places in the central west.

When the storm started there was an acute shortage of help in fields and factories. The storm put an end to gathering beets out of the fields and the men were transferred to the factories, all of which were started on eight hour shifts, running 24 hours a day. The increase in help and in running time has enabled the factories to make considerable of a clean up and with the return of good weather, the men are being transferred back to the fields.
