"ONLY QUESTION OF TIME," SAYS SOUTH SIDE BOY

Jerry B. Kulhanek Writes of Battles in Air, Which Are of Common Occurrence Over There.

Jerry B. Kulhanek, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kulhanek, 719 Pine street, writes from "somewhere in France" that the Bee is very accurate in its news of American activities in France.

Kulhanek was manager of the produce department of the Fairmont Creamery company before he left Omaha with the first draft contingent for Camp Funston in September of last year. He has been in France since June. His brother, Joe Kulhanek, is secretary to Everett Buckingham, vice-president and general manager of the Union Stock Yards company. Following is the letter:

"We are not doing much now, just sticking around, but I don't suppose it will be that way very long as that is not the American style and I expect they will keep after the Germans all winter and not give them any rest. "I would write you all the dope, but there is so much happening one does not know what to write about. We see air fights everyday, the shrapnel bursting around the planes, the tune of the shells as they go over us and concussion in the air as they break, causing the plaster and cement of the "left-over" houses to shower us at night or the shattered bits of rock falling on the roofs, caused by a bursting shell nearby, followed by the stretcher-bearers going down the street are common occurrences. "We are all happy because the Germans are no match for us but run everywhere they see us and it is only a matter of time before it is over. "It is a beautiful country that we are in now. No wonder the Germans wanted it and from the way they have had their digouts fixed I think they intended to stay, because they had electric lights, cushion seats in them, baths and all kinds of less important conveniences. The Bee is very accurate and they sure get the correct dope."

Isabella Club Gives $60 to War Work Fund

The Isabella club, which was the first club organized in Omaha to look after the welfare of the Fort Crook soldiers, turned over $60 Saturday afternoon to Miss McDonald, who has charge of the United War Work drive in the Sixth district.

Miss Blanche Wallweber, secretary, says the money was obtained largely through the kindness of the South Side residents who participated in the card party and dance given by the club Tuesday night at the Eagle's home.

Bound Over on Charge of Stealing Two Hogs

Emmet Mallen, South Fort-eighth and Q streets; Bernard Burke, 3906 V street; and George Bevens, 3706 V street, were arrested Saturday morning on charges of stealing two hogs from a box car on the Burlington road, Wednesday night. They were bound over to the district court on bonds of $700 each.

Beecher Howell, president of the Tuesday Musical club, reports that the plan of having officers in the lobby of the Brandeis theater building Saturday afternoon, was so successful that it has been decided to have officers of the club in the lobby again Monday and Tuesday. Members who have not paid their membership fees may do so there either Monday or Tuesday.

Harry Guthrie, an old time business man of South Omaha, died at his home in Bard, Cal., Thursday, Nov. 14, and will be buried Tuesday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. R. Sage, 2219 South Thirty-second street, at 2 p. m. Mr. Guthrie was 76 years of age. He lived on the South Side, where he conducted a meat market for about ten years.

Price of Corn Drops.

The price of corn has dropped at the Union Stock yards. Beginning Monday, November 18, corn will be 25 cents cheaper, the price being $2.00 instead of $2.25 per bushel.

Farmers Urged Not to Ship Their Immature Poultry

The Nebraska food administration is sending notices to farmers urging them to hold their immature poultry, instead of forcing it onto the market, thus creating an oversupply. The necessity for holding poultry that is immature is due to the fact that facilities for shipment are not up to requirements. In many localities dealers are overstocked and it is asserted that poultry can be held to better advantage on the farms than in the close pens on the market.

American Soldier is Carried to U. S. Lines by Huns Who Desert

Miss Francis Range has a letter from her brother, Edwin A. Range, telling of his rescue by German soldiers. Miss Range is with the War Camp Community service.

Private Range who enlisted at his home in Rochester, N. Y., and had been at the front for some time, was wounded at the battle of Cambrai. As he lay on the field, unable to retreat to his own lines, he was approached by four big, sturdy German soldiers. They picked him up gently and carried him to the American lines. "We would rather be with the Americans than the Germans," they told him.

"They were fine to me," writes the young man, "and were just as careful as they could be not to hurt me."

Private Range is now in a hospital in England, from which the letter was dated, and will make a complete recovery.

Gaiety Theater Adds $1,222 to United War Work Drive in Omaha

A packed house welcomed Florence Mills and Aba Reynolds on their return to Omaha for a week's stay at the Gaiety theater. The leads in this company for several years have proved among the most popular that visit the Gaiety and the production this year is no exception to the rule.

"Pep" is the noticeable feature from the "asbestos" to the "chaser." Associated with the leads are a number of stars that called for repeated encores before the large audience was satisfied.

John Quigg in his musical numbers with trombone and accordion is a show in himself. Seth Stubbs brings the odor of alfalfa to all on his entrance as our rube friend.

Chic and charming, Eva Suede with the naughty, naughty, eyes, plays the part of a temperamental mias and in her beautiful song and dance numbers completely captivated the audience. Mildred Tyson ## proved very popular in late songs. Costumes and stage settings add to the enjoyment of the show by their beautiful designs. A chorus of more than the usual charm supports leading characters.

The United War Work campaign benefited $344.76 by the Saturday night show. Included in this amount is $64 raised largely through the efforts of Florence Mills, who auctioned off a "Peace" hat exhibited by the Nebraska Clothing company on the signing of the armistice.

And Ethel Brewster, her able assistant. When bidding on the hat Miss Brewster donned the military creation and added a kiss with each bid.

In four and one half days in which collections have been taken for this fund the Gaiety has raised $1,222.46. The amount of money raised in this theater for the various funds now exceeds the combined amounts of all other Omaha theaters.
