DAILY (MORNING)-EVENING-SUNDAY FOUNDED BY EDWARD ROSEWATER

VICTOR ROSEWATER, EDITOR THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETOR MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS associated frees, of which The Bee is a member, is exclusively d to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local published herein. All rights of publication of our special ches are also reserved.

OFFICES:
People's Gas Building. Omaha—The Bee Bidg.
--286 Fifth Are.
-New B'th of Commerces.
Council Bluffs-14 N. Main St.
Lincoln—Little Building. OCTOBER CIRCULATION

Daily 68,570—Sunday 60,405 Subscribers leaving the city should have The Bee mailed to them. Address changed as often as requested

THE BEE'S SERVICE FLAG

Pieter Troelstra may be the last straw for Bringing home the boys is the next big job

Jobs will be ready when the soldiers get back, if that is all that delays demobilization. Carl Hapsburg says he wants to lead the life of a private citizen. He will be lucky if he gets

If Holland really is too turbulent for "Bill" Hohenzollern, things must be in a dreadful state there. Well, if you had the storm windows up, you were forehanded; if you waited, why now is the time to act.

Of course there is "opposition" to dismissing any democrat from his connection with the state payroll.

The succession of Moses to the Gallinger toga in New Hampshire opens a wide vista to irreverent jokesmiths.

General von Mackenzen and his army had to lay down their arms to march home across Hungary. Talk about the returning prodigal!

Just as a measure of the shift occuring in a week, you will notice that the president's Thanksgiving proclamation got "first page"

Attorney General Reed has guessed wrong so often that maybe the school ma'ams need feel little worry about getting pav for their "flu" vacation.

Yankee boys, all polished up, are marching in columns across conquered territory, giving the civilians a good look at the army that polished off the kaiser.

Spain having/been furnished a brand new cabinet, the conversation interrupted by the resignation of the old one can be resumed. What were we talking about?

Food and fuel control by the government will continue for some time, but common sense ought to supplant Hoover and Garfield long before they lay down their duties.

Approach of freezing weather should remind the generous that The Bee's shoe fund is providing covering for little feet that otherwise would be bare. It is open to all; come in.

Ninety-two names are listed on Omaha's gold star roll of honor. The city will perpetuate these names in appropriate fashion, that posterity may know of their fidelity even unto death.

Even Pizzaro did not find Panama a paradise, and Henry Morgan and his crew did little to elevate its moral tone. Therefore, that General Blatchford finds occasion to complain of its ways need surprise none.

Some signs might be interpreted as evidence that the kaiser proposes to stage a come-back. That is up to the Germans. If they want to try the discard, it is their own affair, but justice will reach him anywhere.

"Peace hath her victories," one of them being the seizure of the oceanic cables by Mr. Burleson over the vigorous protest of Clarence Mackay. This probably means that cable service will be no better than that of the postoffice

Colonel Roosevely's son will sleep his eternal sleep undisturbed in France, along with countless others who gave up their lives in the great quest for human freedom. Soil so consecrated as that of France should be regarded as the most fitting for a hero's burial.

President and Peace Meeting

There has long been talk of the possibility of the president's going to the peace conference. The matter has now reached the stage where it is under serious consideration at Washington. Mr. Wilson's personal opinion is understood to be adverse to the project. This is easy to understand. There would be grave practical difficulties in the president's absenting himself from the country for any length of time. And the peace conference is apt to prove a prolonged affair. Indeed, the strong probability is that it will not be able to complete the huge work before it in plenary sessions, but will have to ap-point commissions to study details, perhaps to take charge of particular labors of administran, for the time being, and later to report back. If it were a question merely of the president's ing away for a few weeks there could be no conclusive objection to his accepting an invitain to preside at the peace conference. But if it involved months of absence the argument old run heavily against his going. The affairs of government here could not so well be ucted by cable as could the American part of the negotiations at the peace conference. And even if the president is not present in body, his pirit will be there and dominant. This is perctly understood in Europe. The allies have eady bound themselves to make peace on the teral terms which Mr. Wilson has laid down. It is not necessary for him to go to sign them in person. The written signatures, whatever they are, can never make the historian forget the great part played by the president of the United States.—New York Post.

LISTEN TO LINCOLN.

On this anniversary of the delivery of Lincoln's immortal address at Gettysburg it will be well to review the advice he then gave his countrymen. While intended for the great questions that then vexed the nation, that address contains thoughts that may apply to the present condition. To bind up the wounds of war, to carry forward the work of the soldiers in establishing liberty, is just as important now as then. It was to this task Lincoln adjured the living to dedicate themselves, that the dead might not have died in vain. A similar task confronts us, and the world, and the future demands the devotion of our utmost endeavor for the right. No selfish cause or class interest must be permitted to turn the current of victory into privilege for a few. Forbearance is required of all, but not to the point where any will forfeit full share in the great opportunity that is now opening for everybody. Old things are cast aside along with old ways, but the new must not be distorted or twisted into special application for the advantage of class, above or below, or in the middle. A square deal, a fair chance for everybody, and "government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth."

End of Germany's Sea Power.

How completely Germany is beaten is illustrated by the surrender of its navy. In no other way could this be made so clear, even to the Germans themselves. Von Hindenburg and the great army laid down arms and started for home, defeated in battle and rendered harmless in surrender. They had fought for four years, with stubbornness and skill, only to be overcome at last by a better directed force. All this time the navy, on which so much thought and money have been lavished, the great instrument by which England was to be stricken and brought to subjection, remained inactive behind the harbor defenses at either end of the Kiel canal. The Dresden, the Emden, the Scharnhorst, the Gueisenau, the Eitel Friederich and one or two other cruisers played havoc with commerce for a short time on the high seas, but soon were hunted down. A sortie, terminating in the battle of Jutland, in which the Germans were sorely defeated, comprises the activity of the great navy on which the kaiser rested one column of his triumphal arch. Its inglorious ending is accentuated by the scourge of the U-boat, set upon the world to bring about a victory in which terror should be the deciding factor. No color in all the kaiser's rainbow dream has turned a more vivid yellow than that of his navy.

Good Roads for Nebraska.

Good roads ought to mean roads that are serviceable 365 days in a year, and such roads can only be had through careful construction. The Bee has preached this doctrine for many years, and still believes it. In Nebraska large sums of money are wasted every year in repair- | day. ing roads that are not more than 50 per cent | The Day We Celebrate. serviceable. Ordinary highway construction does not produce permanence, and is costly even at its best, for too much power is needed to haul loads over it. All this is well known to everyone who has given the matter serious at-

The state authorities sanction a standard road to be constructed of a mixture of sand and clay, because the material is cheap and plentiful and permits of easy manipulation. This was brought out as a makeshift to enable the state | years ago. to get in under the federal good roads law. It may comply with the letter, but hardly will fulfill the spirit of that law, for it is far from demonstrated that such a road is a "good" one, even in the ordinary acceptance of the term.

Farmers of Nebraska are the greater users of the highways of the state; they save or waste according to the service they get from the roads they build to maintain. For many years they have paid from twice to three times as much as they should for hauling their produce to market and their supplies back to the farm. In this regard they are not progressive.

The question of good roads will be presented to the coming legislature in a practical way; it will deserve more attention than was accorded it by the last assembly, when it was given simply the consideration that would avert loss of the federal contribution to the construction fund. Members of the next legislature will serve both themselves and the state if they will now make even a cursory examination of the problem and be ready to deal with it from an understanding point of view.

War and the Plague.

First thoughts of war almost invariably turn on loss of life incident to conflict of armies. The death roll here is always impressive, frequently, magnified through vain imagination, but remaining to the end a convincing evidence of man's innate savagery. Such thoughts exclude a fact that is entitled to far more consideration than it ever gets-that death is the portion of all. Moreover, now that the fighting in France has ceased, the relation between the war and the plague is coming to be considered. Whatever the rause, whether it be from disturbance of the nutrition of the people because of carelessness growing out of war excitement, or for any other reason, a pandemic has prevailed, and its death toll has been in the United States practically double that exacted by the war. Almost, if not quite, as many men died in training camps here as laid down their lives in battle abroad, while the number of civilians who succumbed to the "flu" is greater than either. And the war is over, while the disease daily adds to its victims. No comfort can be had from this, unless it be that men of science are striving with utmost endeavor to discover means for checking the scourge. The only lesson is that war, terrible as it may be made. holds scarcely more of danger than follows man in his most peaceful seclusion.

Prior discoveries by members of the Ancient and Honorable Order of Animated Tanks are now in some measure confirmed by sober scientists, who have on exhibition a 16-foot maneating lizard. When they trot out an elephant with a pink trunk and green ears they will have about closed the lists.

Emanuel of Italy returned to Rome on a wave of popular enthusiasm of such nature as would suggest even to the most radical that a king may have some good qualities.

If the crown prince really be safely interned in Holland, the fact may assure his presence in court when the time comes to try him

Right in the Spotlight Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, who the immediate establishment of an international court of arbitration and justice with Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States as its most potent members, is president of Columbia university. New York City. He has played a large part in the arbitration movement, and as one of the trustees of the Carnegie Endowment for the Advancement of Peace-he has become known internationally among jurists and statesmen influential in ushering in judicial and arbitral settlement of international questions. Prior to being elected president of Columbia university in 1902, Dr. Butler had been a prominent member of the faculty of philosophy and had won a national audience as editor of the Educational Review. Of late years he has been conspicuous among contemporary American educators for the active part he has taken in the game of practical poli-

In Omaha Thirty Years Ago Today. There were sold and weighed at the yards last week 7,519 head of cattle, 2,000 sheep and 23,000 hogs.

Superintendent Ressique, accompanied by John Langtry of the bridge building department, and J. T. Harvey, of the mechanical department of the railroads went west on a tour of inspection. Attorney Strawn left for the east. Mrs. W. G. Taffinder and son arrived in this city from Sioux Falls, S. D., and with Mr. Taffinder will make their future home in Omaha at 617 Twentieth street.

The directory of the Omaha Base negotiations for the sale of Lovett to the Brooklyn club. The price is

One Year Ago Today in the War. Daniel Willard was appointed a member of the United States War Industries board. Proclamation of President Wilson, requiring all alien enemies to regis-

In the House of Commons Lloyd George stated that five German submarines had been destroyed in one Hugh T. Cutler, with the United States Trust company, born 1886. Thomas R. Porter, newspaper correspondent, born 1869.

Rev. "Billy" Sunday, the worldfamous evangelist, born at Ames, Ia., 55 years ago. Brig. Gen. Robert K. Evans, U. S. A., retired, born at Jackson, Miss.,

66 years ago. Dr. David Sneddon of Columbia university, born in California, 50

J. M. Hannaford, federal manager of the Northern Pacific railway lines, born at Claremont, N. H., 68 years ago.

Jose Capablanca, one of the world's foremost chess experts, born at Havana, Cuba, 35 years ago.

This Day in History.

1770-Bertel Thorwalden, famous Danish sculptor, born in Copen Died there March 24, 1844. 1805-Ferdinand de Lesseps, designer of the Suez canal, born at Versailles, France. Died December 1914-Japan notified England that she was willing to turn over Pacific islands captured from Germany. 1916-Allied army in Monastir, the first city to be recaptured from the Germans and Bulgarians.

Timely Jottings and Reminders. The War Service convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which was scheduled to open at Atlantic City today, has been postponed to December 4-6. The anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be observed today with patriotic meetings of local camps of the Sons of Veterans throughout the United States. As a part of a program to educate the people to use more apples and prevent the waste of fruit, a State Apple show will be opened in Chicago today, under the auspices of the Illinois Horticultural society. The premiers of the several provinces are to confer with the Dominion government at Ottawa today on questions dealing largely with the development of the natural resources of Canada, especially in view of the problems which will arise from demobilization of the military forces.

Storyette of the Day.

Mother was very much occupied with the new baby, so father took upon himself to keep Johnny from worrying her by naughty. He noticed that his ob streperous young son had the quality of thriftiness and resolved to appeal to it.

'Sonny," said he, "I'm going to give you a penny every day you're a good boy, on condition that every day you are naughty you are to give me a penny. Is it a go? "I'd like to do it, dad," answered the small boy thoughtfully, "but I can't afford it. I've only got five pennies in my bank to start on."-Chicago News.

OVER HERE AND THERE

An unique roadway of solid salt, forming a part of the Wendover highway in Tooele county. Utah, is projected by the Utah State Road

Rev. H. G. C. Hallock of Shanghai, has compiled a Chinese concordance. It is in three volumes and contains 400,000 direct or indirect Bible ref-ences, using over 5,000,000 Chinese

Constantine was the first emperor to introduce the two headed eagle as a royal or national device to indicate that his empire had two heads or kings, but was nevertheless one body An officer of the Japanese navy,

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address

November 19, 1863. Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created Now we are engaged in a great civil equal. war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long

We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground.

The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Bills Germany Must Pay Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Two main objects led Germany to launch the campaign of unrestricted submarine warfare even at the risk of bringing the United States sume all risk as to accident. into the conflict. The more obvious, of course, was to starve out England and prevent the transportation of its troops and supplies. The other, of secondary importance while the war lasted, was to pave the way for gaining commercial supremacy when the war was over. The first object has been defeated, but the second can yet be achieved if the allies permit themselves to be persuaded by casuistic pleas for generosity to a beaten foe. The sinking of en- all other things. I know men who emy tonnage is of course a legitimate war measure, though Germany made it illegitimate by destroying life as well. But the sinking of neutral tonnage is a breach of international law, whether lives are lost or not. Germany did this for no other purpose than to wipe out commer-cial rivals. Thus Norway is its chief rival in the shipping business among all the neutrals, and Norwegian ships have suffered more than any other. The war was from the first a business enterprise on Germany's part, and this line was to be one of the most profitable.

The allies have the first claim on German shipping. None others should be admitted until theirs is satisfied. In the armistice with Austria a surrender of the Austrian navy is provided for, and nothing less can be asked of Germany. But Germany has a large merchant marine partly interned in neutral countries, partly safe in its own ports, partly taken over by the allied countries. In ordinary circumstances all its ships would be returned to it after the war, with payment for their use if they had been used, or their purchase if it was desired to buy them. We have under the American flag a large German fleet for which Germany has the right to ask an equivalent in money. Without denying that right, we shall have also a right to deduct from the debt full compensation for all the losses inflicted by Germany upon allied commerce. All the allied nations will have the same right. It may be that all the German tonnage now in allied or neutral hands will not suffice to pay the bill. Yet the demand of ship for ship, hardly be pressed to of leaving Germany with no means to work out the heavy indemnity which will presumably be exacted from it.

That the neutrals should now be making out their bills is not surprising. That of Norway is an especially heavy one. Nearly 900 of its ships have been sunk by German submarines with a tremendous loss of life. Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Spain have all suffered though in less measure. The Norwegian claim comes first, however, not merely because it is the largest, but because the other neutrals have served Germany more or less at the expense of the allies. Denmark is excusable, perhaps, since it had no power to resist. But Holland has played a callous game throughout, and Sweden's pro-Germanism has been flagrant and manifest. As for Spain, though it protested at last, and has compelled Germany to turn over seven vessels interned in Spanish ports as partial payment for damages, its course has been timid, to say the least, and it ought to take its chances after more imperative claims have been satisfied. The nations that have borne the burden of making the seas safe again must be served first.

Drama of Sedan

With what dramatic color the war for the liberation of the ravished provinces of France closes? The Americans, debtors to France, to Lafayette of immortal memory, the Americans take from the Huns Sedan, the loss of which in 1871 was a tragedy for the French in the French and Prussian war. What high dramatic interest, indeed, centers in this act of fine chivalry! And how wonderful the movings of the hands of the clock of destiny that it should be timed as the curtain drop of the hostilities for the Americans!

When the poet and the dramatist and the painter have time and perspective for the great pictures and great stagings and the great dramas of the present war, let them not miss this as a theme of sublime spiritual interest! France and the Unted States, friends from the cradle of the American republic and from the days of the French revolution-France and the United States are welded yet still closer in the enduring ties of blood by the latest battle of the Americans, a battle that made it impossible for the Germans to do other than accept the terms of the armistice, no matter what these might be. Hail to France! Cherished be the memories of the American men who were the heroes of the mighty drama of the capture of Sedan from the hold of the Huns!-Baltimore

The Kaiser as a Sidestepper

Readers of the "Willy" and "Nicky" correspondence will remember that back in 1905, when Russia was compelled to make peace with Japan, "Willy" telegraphed to "Nicky" suggesting that he sidestep the responsibility of a dis-advantageous and humiliating peace by putting it up to the Duma representatives to adopt what was practically worked out for them at Plymouth and let the people's representatives bear all the odium which might ultimately result therefrom. That would lead the people to think that their own representatives had betrayed them and incline them to turn to "Nicky" again.

This may be the policy which the kaiser is trying to adopt now. He is loading up the Reichstag, by his own will, with the responsibility of extricating the German nation from the humiliating position to which it has been reduced. Matters are going from bad to worse and when the revolution comes and the government is overthrown, the kaiser will hope to be able, as he advised "Nicky" to lay the blame upon the Reichstag, throw out his chest and offer himself as the only savior of the German

And who shall say that the German people are not stupid enough in their blind devotion to a domineering spirit like the kaiser to accept him again as their leader and give him the support which he would require to retain his place after having discovered a process which makes paper waterproof, has invented a collapsible lifebeat made of the material, which can be folded up and weighs but a few pounds.

port which he would require to retain his place and influence as the head of the empire. There might be some pretended political reform, but the kaiser would still possess the substance of power.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Boe's A

North Platte, Neb., Nov. 16 .- To the Editor of The Bee: Several articles have appeared in your columns of late against the giving of passes to railroad employes, and from the tone of them are from writers who do not understand the principles on which these favors are bestowed.

In days past all politicians carried book of passes to give out to voters about election time, but nowadays passes are for bona fide em-

Pleasure passes are issued only to those who have served a specified time and each five years of meritorious service has its bounds in regard to free passes.

There are very few stores or other businesses in the country today which do not in some way extend courtesies to their employes in some manner, either by giving reductions in goods bought or vacations with pay, none of which the railroad employe receives. The farmer has hired help, probably a man and wife, and I am sure you would think it very wrong for him to go to town in his car and let his help walk or pay their way—not a good way to reward or keep a good Employes of all railroads are given to undrestand that faithful, meritorious service will be rewarded, and the most of us take this as the reward. We are restricted on passes from riding trains that are popular with the public, and also those that are ordinarily crowded, besides, we as-I am sure that if the public knew the conditions under which railroad men work and suffer in time of storms they wouldn't feel that we were getting something for nothing. or that they were paying for it, and would say that we were only getting what was due us. I will admit there are some who abuse this pass privilege, but so in have been on the road a lifetime and have never had a pass, off of the short district on which they work so it is hardly fair to make all suffer to punish a few. I have been a railroad man for over 20 years and I see lots of people who are as well, or better, paid in other walks of life getting rewards for faithful service, but I have never felt envious of them in the least, as I felt they must deserve it or their employer wouldn't have presented it.

Don't be a knocker just because you can't have everything you see others have. You can have these passes, too, if you care to go through five to ten years' apprenticeship in any branch of service on the road You'll earn them

W. B. BROWN. Engineer W. P. R. R. MIRTHFUL REMARKS

"I started golf to get my mind off oust-"Did the plan work?"
"Yes. Now I'm looking for some other ame that'll get it back again.—Washington Star. Mrs. Sprinky-Mrs. Foonster has college professor to tutor her son and pay im an enormous salary. Mr. Sprinky-I'd call that hire educa-

"What kind of a portrait is the artist going to paint of that public speaker?" "To be natural I think it ought to be a speaking likeness." Louisville Courier-

" Would you say that she is good look-"That depends." "On what?"
"On whether I was speaking of her face or to her face."-Detroit Free Press. Young Minister (receiving gift of fountain pen)—Thank you. I hope I shall now be able to write better sermons,

The Lady—I hope so—Boston Trans-

"In this story of sea life it says that he arrogant captain turned on his heel and walked aft."
"And what did the scorned young hero do?" "Oh, he was game. He walked after."

Pro-Cholly Klumsy always says everyhing the longest way, regardless of the circumstances. Con-Yeh, he's one of the kind of people who would shout "Assistante required, Assistance required!" if he fell in the

"I met our new minister on my way Sunday school, mamma," said Willi "and he asked me if I ever played marbles Sunday. on Sunday."
"What did you answer?" asked mother.
"I simply said: "Get thee behind me, Satan!" and walked off and left him," was the triumphant response,—Utica Obvater .- Indianapolis Star.

"Many a man would be proud to stand your shoes."
"I don't doubt it," replied Senator Sorghum. "Politics out my way got so fierce for a while and leather was so expensive that a man might expect to lose his shoes almost as easily reputation."—Washington Star. THE SERVICE STAR.

The service star in the window. I must change from blue to gold That those who look when passing Will know my story's told. But they cannot see the heartache, Nor the tears that fall like rain, For my boy is dead, he's a memory He'll never come back again

Some die on the fileds of battle, Where the blood is deep and red; Some die in the great cantonments Before they are sent ahead But each dies at his post of duty As he bravely does his bit.

So sleep in peace my soldier lad

In your suit of khaki hue; You answered the call of your country And all honor is due to you, The service star in the window Made of red, white and blue, Meant mother anxiously waiting, For the boy she loved so true.

But now the star is yellow Like the gold in her wedding ring And mother's heart is breaking,

A refreshing appetizer, a splendid aid to digestion and a dependable functional regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels

The Great General Tonic ASK YOUR DRUGGIST

Around the State

Albion News goes the Friend Telegraph one better by proposing Gen-eral John J. Pershing for president in 1920. Heretofore the measured value of Nebraska rains ranged from $1,000, 000 to $100,000,000. The copious Sam's persuasive smile, market downpours of victory week raises basket and pocketbook. downpours of victory week raises the valuation to a height approximating the German indemnity. Johnny Ragen of Ord, a frisky young-old one of 65 years, next Sat urday will do a walking stunt of 60 -miles in 15 hours on the town race track. If he wins it means $600 good money in his jeans. Walking is Johnny's life-long habit. Harvard Courier plans to move nto a new shop late this month Editor Buck intimates it will be the finest ever, which means that the Courier will put on so much more style in face and form as will cinch the journalistic beauty prize. Down in Nebraska City, according o the Press, a lover of the old Fatherland let his heart run away with his purse in the early stages of war. He invested all his available resources in German war bonds, and now holds a sackful of kaiserlich paper which wouldn't interest a pulp Habits of wise economy and thrift out in Nebraska as practical benefits of the-war. Economy in spending and thrift in saving, whether voluntary or compulsory, not only helped to win the war, but proved how easy and simple is the task of saving when backed by the right Nebraska's leadership in per spirit. capita of war savings stamps investnecessities and commendable speed over, the record lines up full-chested world is as greedy as they are for in all war demands.

Whittled to a Point

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Our oldiers kept right on till the whistle blew. Washington Post: Harden says that "reason triumphed." sisted by a few doughboys and Uncle

Kansas City Star: However, if, as the Germans claimed, this war was a contest for supremacy between Anglo-Saxonism and Teutonsm-well, the Teutons now know their "place in the sun," all right! New York Herald: You don't for minute suppose that the ex-crown prince, who looked after himself so carefully in the war, would get so reckless as to be shot after peace had come?

Brooklyn Eagle: Not since Hohenlohe said he must find a tricky agent to send to Cyprus to bedevil the natives has Germany been so in need of a liar who can deliver the goods as it is today.

Baltimore American: The kaiser might have known any time he went to a circus and saw lions jumping through flaming-hoop stunts and el ephants meekly carrying passengers on their huge backs that brute force can never hope to rule the world.

Washington Post: The Germans have made an amendenment to the imperial constitution and say that this meets the allied conditions of peace. No, not quite. It wasn't the German constitution that murdered women and children.

Brooklyn Eagle: Quck removal of the ban on new building is an enment evidences widespread habits thusisatic dream of realty men. But of thrift, quick response to national the reflection on materials we must send to France and Belgium must in hopping to a good thing. More- chill the most enthusiastic. The with Nebraska's admirable standing | brick, stone, lumber, mortar, cement and window glass.

For Acid Stomach, Indigestion, Gas

Instant Relief when your meals sour and upset the stomach-Indigestion Pain stops at once!

No waiting! The mo-ends. Magic! Pleasant, quick relief.

stores. Buy a box!

Open for the Fall and Winter season EUROPEAN PLAN Water Baths and Massage Treatment for Rheumatism. Located Near Camp Dodge. HOTEL COLFAX AND MINERAL SPRINGS,

"Nuxated Iron helps put astonishing strength and energy into the veins of men and bring roses to the cheeks of pale, nervous, run-down women," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) N. Y. and Westchester County Hospital. "I prescribe it regularly in 'cases of depleted energy, anaemia and lack of strength and endurance. There is nothing like organic iron-Nuxated Iron-to quickly enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women and strong, vigorous, iron men." Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

WESTLAWN

58TH AND CENTER

Omaha's beautiful park plan ceme-tery convenient to Dundee, West Far-nam and Field Club districts. Free perpetual care and courteous service. Street cars to entrance. Family lots on partial payments at time of first burial. Free auto at your service.

All Druggists

Greasy salves and cointments should not be applied if good clear skin is wanted. From any druggist for 35c, or $1.00 for extra large size, get a bottle of zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles also some home. skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive, antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we lieve nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, Q.

Kesinol the tested skin treatment "Resinol is what you want for your skin-trouble-Resinol to stop the itching and burning-Resinol to heal the eruption. This gentle ointment has been so effective for years in treating eczema, ring worm, itching, burning rashes, and sores, that it has become a standard skin treatment. It contains nothing that could irritate the tenderest skin."

mosquito-bites, and insect-stings. It soothes and cools skins burned by wind or sun. All dealers sell Resinol Ointment.

Stick find soothing lotions unneces

ment you eat a tablet or two, all stomach distress Costs little-All drug UPSET? Pape's Diapepsin WILL PUT YOU ON YOUR FEET

Keep clean inside, as well as outside, Do not allow food poisons to accumulate in your bowels. Headache, a sign of self-poisoning, will point to numerous other troubles which are sure to follow. Keep yourself well, as thousands of others do, by taking, when needed, a dose or two of the old, help. I was also a slave to stomach trouble . . . Everything I ate would sour on my stomach. used two packages of Black-Draught, and Ohl, the blessed relief it has given me." Black-Draught should be on your shelf. Get a package today, price 25c. One cent a dose.

For Burning Eczema

Resinol Ointment is excellent for relieving the swart, itch, and burn of Men who use Resinol Shaving