German Cabinet Clashes With Soldiers' Council

Berlin, Nov. 24 .- The bundesrat has not as yet been dissolved and the government has instructed it to proceed with its routine administrative duties in the same manner that the other departments of the former government are now doing. Negotiations are going on between the cabinet and the soldiers and workmen's council for the purpose of establishing the respective jurisdiction of those bodies. The absence of sharply defined limits of authority has resulted in frequent collision.

The official flag of the German democracy has not yet been selected. The German navy is flying the war flag to which a red pennant has been attached. It is a foregone conclusion that the German people will oppose the red flag as the permanent ensign, aside from the reason that it is the banner of the international party.
