

TOO MUCH CHICKEN FOR BALLOON PILOTS

ST. PAUL MECHANICS BATTER FORT OMAHA LINE FOR VICTORY

Fast Playing of Balloon Squad Prohibited by Slippery Condition of Field and Heavy Mechanics Excell in Line Plunging, Scoring Two Touchdowns.

By H. O. PARSONS.

The result: Fort Omaha, 0; St. Paul Aviation Mechanics, 12. The reason: Too much chicken. That really sums up the whole story for a certain gentleman by the name of Chicken playing right half for the Aviators may be a chicken by name but in a foot ball suit he is a bear-cat and a tiger and an ambling-gambolling battering ram.

By the line and after much measuring the officials decided the ball was 2 inches over the center of the line. Williams missed goal. King kicked to Marshall who returned 10 yards. Chicken made 5 yards, Marshall 2, Fort Omaha penalized 5 yards, forward pass, Simpson to Chicken was good for 20 yards. Bashaw and Chicken hit the line for good gains. St. Paul penalized 15 yards. Forward pass, Williams to Warner, made 20 yards more for St. Paul, and the game ended with the ball on Fort Omaha's 20-yard line.

Final score: Fort Omaha, 0; St. Paul Aviators, 12. Lineup: FT. OMAHA. ST. PAUL. Lumberg, R. E. Warner; Haskett, R. T. Bashaw; Weber, R. C. Gutzmer; Reynolds, R. C. Shepard; Froelich, L. G. St. John; Anderson, L. T. Gates; Weirich, L. T. Tooke; Spang, Q. B. Simpson; Faulk, R. H. Chicken; Williams, R. H. Williams; King, F. B. Marshall.

Field Hampers Balloon Men. But it must not be said that Fort Omaha did not play a wonderful game considering the condition of the field and the fact that they were outweighted several pounds to the man. King, Faulk and Eudaly in the backfield play fast and brilliantly and on a dry field the results might have been different, but in the mud and slush the Fort Omaha line was unable to hold until their plays could be executed.

The south half of the field was a frozen subsoil, covered by three inches of slimy slippery mud and most of the game was played in that portion of the field, making the ball hard to handle, preventing well executed plays and almost prohibiting the use of the forward pass. The Fort Omaha soldiers and band were in the grand stand rooting their best, led by a cheer-leader who was always in action, in fact so much so that he was the envy of 3,000 fans who had to sit still and shiver.

Send Up Balloon. Before the game Maj. Clarence Marshall, Capt. Charles McCullough, and Lieutenants Horning and Kingsland made a flight in a free balloon from the center of the field, traveling straight east and out of sight. The other aviation stunts planned for the afternoon were called off on account of the weather conditions.

One of the features of the game was that the Aviators played the entire game with their original line up, while Fort Omaha only substituted two men, Dessendorf and Reed. Fort Omaha defended the south goal. Faulk kicked to Simpson, who returned five yards. Simpson then made 25 yards around left end. The Aviators bucked the Fort Omaha line to the middle of the field. Chicken made 10 yards through the line. Forward pass, Williams to Simpson made 30 more. Another pass Williams to Simpson was good for 10 yards more. The Aviators then lost the ball on downs on Fort Omaha's 10-yard line. King kicked to his own 35-yard line. The St. Paul boys then started a march down the field hitting the line with Marshall, Williams and Chicken (mostly Chicken), and the first quarter ended with the Aviators holding the ball on Fort Omaha's 10-yard line.

Fort Omaha, 0; St. Paul Aviators, 0. Second Quarter. After a preliminary scrimmage opening the second quarter, Mr. Chicken tore through the line for 10 yards and St. Paul's first touchdown. Williams missed goal, Faulk kicked to Simpson, who returned 15 yards. Marshall made 2 yards, Chicken 5, Chicken 5 more, Simpson 4, Williams 4. St. Paul forced to kick, Williams to Weirich. Omaha failed to gain, King made a poor kick and Chicken returned the whole gain. King intercepted a forward pass by Williams, and on a quick formation Faulk made 30 yards around left end for the only long gain Fort Omaha had. Fort Omaha lost on downs. Marshall made 5 yards, Williams 10, Chicken 5, Bashaw was thrown for a 5 yard loss, and the second quarter ended in middle of field.

Fort Omaha, 0; St. Paul Aviators, 6. Third Quarter. Faulk kicked to Marshall, who fumbled. Williams kicked to Spang. Eudaly then made 15 yards but lost the gain on a penalty and King kicked to center of field. Williams fumbled and Fort Omaha got the ball. Faulk made 5 yards and Eudaly 15 around end. Warner threw Faulk for loss of 5 yards. King kicked over the Aviators goal and took the ball on the 20 yard line. Chicken made several gains through the line, but Williams then kicked to Weirich who fumbled. St. Paul recovering the ball. Froelich threw Marshall for a 5-yard loss, King blocked a forward pass. The third quarter ended in the middle of the field, with St. Paul carrying the ball.

Fort Omaha, 0; St. Paul Aviators, 6. Fourth Quarter. Williams kicked to Spang. King and Williams exchanged punts. Reed went up for Eudaly. Forward pass, King to Weirich failed. Tooke blocked a kick by King giving St. Paul the ball on Fort Omaha's 15-yard line. Simpson made 8 yards around left end. Marshall made 5 yards, Chicken made 2 more. Chicken carried the ball with 2 feet of Ft. Omaha's goal. Chicken then went over for St. Paul's second touchdown, going straight through center. The ball laid right

INTEREST NOW CENTER IN "HOT STOVE CIRCUIT"

Littles Doing in Light Harness Circles; Ice Racing at Mt. Clemens Week of January 13.

By H. K. WHITTED. The biggest loss to the light harness horse interests for a long time came in the death of the champion stallion of the world, Lee Asworthy 1:58 1/4, who was found dead in his stall recently. The grim reaper took this great stallion before he had had a chance to prove his worth as a sire but there is no doubt but that he would have taken his place as one of the greatest sires of the country had he had a chance. The son of Guy Asworthy and Gaitty Lee was about as game a piece of horseflesh as ever looked through a bride and his loss will mean more to the game than can ever be measured in dollars and cents. Arrangements have been made to have his skeleton mounted and placed in a museum in New York city, but that will be poor solace to the men who had hoped to have a colt sired by him ready to start in the course of three or four years.

A Few Horses at Lexington. As is usual this time of year, most of the horse interests in the west are centered around the "hot stove circuit" and very little is going on. A few horses are being carried through the winter at Lexington, Neb., one of them being the pacing mare, Little Irish Rose, by Exclusive Bells, owned by Mark Walston. Walston raced this mare a little the past season, winning four firsts, three seconds and one third out of eight starts. She should make trouble for some of the side wheelers in her class next season, as she is eligible to the 2:20 class and has the whiz to carry a stiff pace to the end of the route.

Another handy sort of a trotter owned in the middle west is Todd Echo, 2:09 1/4, by Echo Todd, owned in Wilson, Kan., where he is being wintered this season. In the past three years he has never been out of the money in a single one of his starts, and his campaigns have not been easy ones by any means, as he has met some of the best half-milers in this part of the country.

Horsemen through this part of the country will remember the clever little mare that raced so good for Warren Dennis of Salt Lake City for several years past, Josie Knight, 2:08 1/4, by Twelfth Night. Warren reports that she died recently of blood poisoning contracted through a nail prick in one of her feet. During the past five years she has started in a total of 55 races, taking her mark at Denver in 1915.

Hal Boy to Chicago Sale. Quite a number of well-known midwestern horses will go to the Chicago sale in December, among them being Dick McMahon's meal tiker, Hal Boy, 2:01. Hal is probably one of the best-known pacers in the country and has been the leading money winning pacer for several years. His winnings up to the close of last season amount to $58,143.50. Others with western reputations to go are Braden Direct, 2:01 3/4; Major Ong, 2:03 1/2; the Ex-poser, (4) 2:06, and the former Omaha owned trotter, Spriggan, 2:08 1/4.

Interest is already picking up in the ice races to be held in Mount Clemens, Mich., the week of January 13, and over 60 head of horses are now on the ground, getting ready for the opening. Four events of $1,000 each have been added to the program and things

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 30.—Gagnon, the Brown halfback, booted two goals from the field today, and Harvard was defeated, 6 to 3. A field goal by Hunemann, in the third period gave Harvard its points.

Brown scored first in the second period. Gehrke of Harvard fumbled a punt on his 25-yard line, and Gagnon scooped the ball up and ran to Harvard's 27-yard line. Three line plays placed the ball directly in front of the Harvard posts, and Gagnon kicked a field goal from the 25-yard line.
