

WILSON SCORED BY SHERMAN FOR GOING ABROAD

Illinois Senator Would Declare Presidency Vacant; House Leader Opposes Strife Over Matter.

Washington, Dec. 3.—President Wilson's trip to Europe was the subject of debate in the senate today between Senators Sherman of Illinois, republican, and Williams of Mississippi, democrat.

Senator Sherman warmly defended the president's course. He recited the facts that both Presidents Taft and Roosevelt made trips outside of the United States and suggested that the purpose of the president's critics was to make political capital out of his voyage abroad.

While this colloquy was proceeding in the senate Representative Mann of Illinois, republican leader in the house, issued a statement declaring that factional strife should not be permitted to interfere with the president's mission.

The Bee's Free Shoe Fund For Shoeless Children

In one family in Omaha there are three kiddies.

When school opened the father was ill with influenza and the children had no shoes. Nor was there any money to supply this urgent need.

The children did not start to school.

A few days later the case was reported to a teacher. She investigated and notified Probation Officer Carver.

He gave the matter his attention, notified The Bee, and the three youngsters were provided with suitable footwear through The Bee shoe fund.

This is but ONE instance. There are many others.

If you really want to become convinced of the worthiness of this charity ask Probation Officer Carver, in the Board of Education office, who he thinks of it.

A five-dollar bill to The Bee shoe fund means a thousand dollars' worth of health and happiness to some needy child.

There are no overhead or other expenses attached to this fund. Every dollar goes where it will do the MOST good.

Tilloloy was only a little cluster of happy French homes before the hated Hun came. Most of the buildings were centuries old.

TWENTY-THREE EXPERTS TO SAIL WITH PRESIDENT

Peace Delegates Armed With Unparalleled Collection of Data Relating to Problems to Be Solved.

New York, Dec. 3.—Striking evidence of the preparedness of the American government to enter into open negotiations was given here tonight in an announcement that 23 members of an advisory commission of experts, who have made a year's study of political and economic conditions in Europe and Asia, will sail with President Wilson and his fellow delegates on the George Washington.

With them will go several tons of documents and maps, which, together with other records of their investigations already in Paris or on the way, comprise a collection of international data, said to be without parallel in history.

Nebraska Among Experts. During its progress the announcement said every important nationality of Europe and western Asia sent representatives here for conference with the commission and numerous secret documents, together with the texts of treaties signed during the war, which never have been published in full, were assembled.

Among the specialists in the party is W. L. Westermann, professor of history at the University of Wisconsin, a specialist on Turkey.

Professor Westermann formerly held at Lincoln, Neb. He is a graduate of the university of Nebraska of the class of 1884.

America Must Furnish Europe With Million Horses in Five Years

Chicago, Dec. 3.—The United States must furnish 1,000,000 horses for European countries during the next five years, in the opinion of an officer of the British remount service at the International Live Stock exposition here today.

The statement was based on the belief that the allies will have to maintain armies in Russia and Germany for some years to come, and that these armies will need a great number of horses.

Belgium and France, he said, are virtually stripped of their stocks, and even England will not have a sufficient number of horses for its increased acreage.

Consequently, he added, the increased demand for horses and how stock raisers can meet this demand, is one of the most vital questions before American live stock men.

Delegates to the exposition declared today that climatic conditions this year have played an important part in meat production, with odds greatly in favor of the "corn belt" states. The drought greatly affected the west and south, they said.

Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota and Nebraska must redouble their efforts and hasten to increase food production.

Beef and pork are commodities greatly in demand, and just how the output can be increased to meet export demands will be up for lengthy discussion.

"Pave and Save" New Motto for Douglas County Motorists

Members of the Omaha Auto club at the annual meeting at the Fontenelle hotel Tuesday night evinced great enthusiasm for the proposed $30,000 Douglas county bond issue for "paved" roads.

No dissenting voice was heard in a discussion which lasted for 30 minutes. A slogan of "Pave and Save" in Douglas county was adopted.

P. A. Wells, W. B. Cheek, C. L. Gould, George Brewer and F. L. Nesbitt were re-elected to the board of directorship for three more years, unanimously.

During the meeting E. G. McGilton, attorney for the Omaha safety committee, advocated an amendment to the state law applying to the conviction of auto thieves.

A five-acre park was offered the club by Arthur J. Love, on the condition that $10,000 should be spent on it for improvements. The land is said to be ideally located on the Elkhorn river, and with its acquisition the club will own four picnic parks—one in each direction.

Casualties Yet to Come Are Slightly Wounded, Says Secretary Baker

Washington, Dec. 3.—Secretary Baker, appearing before the senate military committee today to explain the delay in completing the publication of American casualties overseas, said he thought most of the unreported names were those of men slightly wounded and would come by mail.

Senators were unable to understand why only something over 100,000 names had been published, when it has been officially announced that the casualties number 262,693. The secretary said every effort consistent with accuracy was made to prevent delay and General Pershing had been urged repeatedly to expedite his lists, sending the names of the dead first.

AT THE THEATERS

ONE of the most pleasing entertainers at the Orpheum this week is a minister. Known as the singing parson, he is Rev. Frank W. Gorman.

One of the quaint features of the bill is the venerable grandmother glibly talking up-to-date slang.

The humorously portrayed by Mrs. Thomas White, who is celebrating her golden anniversary on the stage by a tour in vaudeville.

A striking dramatic sketch is the vivid glimpse of the battle front, as shown in "Where Things Happen," a play forcefully presented by a cast of seven people.

"A Cure for Curables" closes its start at the Boyd today with matinee and evening performances. It has been well received because of its brilliant and agreeable character and surrounded by a remarkably clever company of actors.

Diplomatic self-confidence and push is a trait that appeals to every American and a play which has for its central figure a young man who thoroughly believes in himself and carries this assurance to a proper degree is hailed with delight.

Such a play is "A Tailor-Made Man," which will be offered at the Brandeis theater for the last two nights today, matinee and evening.

The manner in which troops were maneuvered in the European battlefields and the methods of trench warfare are shown most admirably and accurately in "Hearts of the World," the great film drama, which returns to the Brandeis for its third engagement, starting tomorrow.

The battle scenes are incidental to the beautiful romance which Mr. Griffith has woven about his chief characters.

The properties employed in "The Bird of Paradise" this season, which comes to the Boyd theater for three nights commencing Thursday evening December 5, are native Hawaiian handiwork, secured by Richard Walton Tully, during his recent sojourn among the inhabitants of Honolulu and the Gladders.

Everything, excepting the scenery and the actors, is genuinely Hawaiian, and even the Hawaiian singers were brought from the islands.

A well balanced program is offered at the Empress theater with music as the outstanding feature. Frozini is acknowledged peer of all accordionists.

The Three Harmony Maids have a classy singing act. Dorothy Baldwin has a voice of grand opera quality, and Louise Dusenberry and Carrie Cook, the others who comprise the act, have each won honors for vocal attainments.

Though she makes but few appearances during the whirlwind progress of "Maids of America," Florence Rother proves herself to be one of the best voiced and in appearance most pleasing prima donnas ever to have played at the Garety. All the fun is furnished by Al K. Hall and Bobby Barry.

LIEUT. JONAITIS GOES OVER TOP WITH HIS MEN

Smiling Chaplain from South Omaha Has Only Praise for American Soldiers in France.

Going over the top with his men, talking with them in their dugouts, sleeping with them, eating with them, and standing watch with them in the front lines—that has been the experience of First Lt. George F. Jonaitis of South Omaha, chaplain with the 313th infantry overseas.

In a letter written to Victor Rosewater, chaplain Jonaitis apologized for using paper provided for the use of German soldiers.

"We are using this captured paper in order to save our own," he stated. The letter was written October 24, nearly three weeks before the signing of the armistice.

"I suppose you have read in the papers the way we are putting it to them these days," he wrote. "We certainly have them on the run and believe me that is the way we are going to keep them."

"Called 'Smiling Chaplain.'" "It certainly would do our people back home good to see our boys in France; how full of spirit and dash they are in fighting. You know when the Yankees make up their mind to do a thing they usually do it in a hurry."

"The boys call me the 'Smiling Chaplain from the stockyards of South Omaha.' I am always for Nebraska wherever I go.

"In paying a tribute to the sterling quality of his men, Rev. Fr. Lt. Jonaitis says: "I am ready to die any time with them."

"I hope to be home by Christmas and shaking hands with my friends," he concludes.

In June he was transferred to Camp Grant and sent overseas in the early part of July.
