Movement Being Started For New Capital Building

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Dec. 5.—(Special)—Henry C. Richmond of Douglas county, though defeated as a candidate for the state senate, is still of the opinion that the next session should do something in the way of providing for a new state house.

Mr. Richmond was author of the bill introduced the last session providing for the raising of funds for that purpose.

The proposition was finally ejected into the prohibition struggle and after passing both houses finally came to death in the closing moments of the session.

The old building is a sad wreck. In one end where the lower branch of the legislature holds forth, the old timbers placed there to keep the roof from falling in when the badly sagging walls fall out, a thing which is liable to happen any day, still stand.

In the senate chamber one part of the gallery has been utilized by the food department as a chemical laboratory and unpainted boards have been nailed up separating the chemical sleuths from the solons.

In the southeast corner of the senate chamber, where the cloak room used to be, another room has been built for the accommodation of the attorney general and his rapidly swelling department.

This leaves the senators, not exactly between the devil and the deep blue sea, but between the fumes of chemical research and the fumes of legal lore, both of which have been said at times to have been decidedly unpopular.

Mr. Richmond was in the city today and said that he had talked with a number of members elect of the coming session and he had found that there appeared to be feeling among them that some sort of legislation should be enacted in regard to building of a new state house.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(By Associated Press).—A downward swing in the drug prices as a result of peace is so remote as to be classed an impossibility by leading dealers in the industry.

They not only predict that the present prices will continue for six to nine months but that even then readjustments will be slow and largely contingent upon the availability of cargo space and from European ports and upon possible accumulations of crude drug stocks at the source of supply.

Big dealers declare that while stocks in hand are high priced, they are also narrow and constricted in many individual cases.

"Exactly what is awaiting the drug industry is largely a matter of conjecture," said J. W. Morrison, a Chicago dealer. "My opinion is that we are going to see a sympathetic decline in prices that will have nothing whatever in common with conditions of supply and demand."

"High prices have been looked upon by the consumer as a product of war conditions, and many will expect the end of the war immediately to bring normal prices. I am fully convinced, however, that this will not be the case."

No Lower Drug Prices for Many Months Yet, Is Dealers' Opinion

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(By Associated Press).—A downward swing in the drug prices as a result of peace is so remote as to be classed an impossibility by leading dealers in the industry.

They not only predict that the present prices will continue for six to nine months but that even then readjustments will be slow and largely contingent upon the availability of cargo space and from European ports and upon possible accumulations of crude drug stocks at the source of supply.

Big dealers declare that while stocks in hand are high priced, they are also narrow and constricted in many individual cases.

GREAT AMOUNT MIGHT BE SAVED BY EFFICIENCY

Proper Public Administration, According to Colorado Senator, Would Eliminate Huge Waste.

New York, Dec. 5.—Ordinary efficiency in public administration would save the people of this country $600,000,000 a year, United States Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado told the Association of Life Insurance Presidents in a thrifty conference which began here today.

Senator Thomas is a member of the senate committee on finance. "The war leaves us a legacy of stupendous debt," declared Senator Thomas. "It will reach, if it does not exceed $35,000,000,000, or twice as much as the combined debt of the allied nations, including Russia, when the war began. The annual interest upon this sum will be $1,400,000,000, nearly twice the net total of the nation's annual pre-war expenditures. This means a vastly increased rate and radius of taxation. The people must bear the burden, for Germany cannot make indemnity. They will bear it willingly, if economy in public administration becomes the policy of the government. They will not and should not be content if the gross extravagances of the past continue."

Senator Thomas declared that American shores have been flooded with a mass of humanity apparently unassimilable. The immigrants' colonies have become "breeding places for all the ugly disorders of the century." Disruption of the central powers, he believed, would remove all restrictions upon emigration of their people. "The dam,"
