

CUT MADE IN LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE TOLL

New Schedule Figured Upon Basic Charge of 6 1-4 Mills a Mile, Effective January 12.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Sweeping reductions in long distance and toll telephone rates by the adoption of a basic charge of 6 1/4 mills a mile, airline mileage, and half the day rate for night service up to midnight and one-fourth the day rate after that hour, were announced today by Postmaster General Burleson. They become effective next January 21.

The new rates were recommended in the first report of the committee on rate standardization and Mr. Burleson's statement said their effect is to equalize the toll and long distance charges over the country.

Station to Station Service

"A station to station service is established such as now exists in the remainder of the world, that is, when the connection is established with a man's house or office, the opportunity to connect to station to station service is provided, which is the basic rate, applies and is payable whether the particular persons desired responds or not. This rate up to 24 miles is at the rate of five cents for six miles and for greater distances five cents for each eight miles or about six and one-fourth miles a mile. The distance is computed by air line methods and not by pole line or public highways. The air line distances are common-ly about 100 miles, when the others would run 150 miles. It is stated by the committee that more than 60 varieties of toll rates have existed in the United States up to the present time. The effect of this uniform or basic rate in the station to station service is to reduce or not effect about 70 per cent of the rates through necessarily slightly raising about 30 per cent in the process of standardization.

Fraud Eliminated

"It requires about two and one-half times as much work to establish connection with a particular person than the station-to-station service. Higher rates have been the same for both kinds of services, nothing being paid, however great the service performed, on the failure of the telephone institution to secure the particular person. The particular person service has also been used to defraud the government out of its toll revenues. Designing persons employ codes under which, although the desired telephone is reached, the particular person is said not to be there, but who gives explanation given from his phone answer all the purposes of the call under the code arrangement.

"The particular person service is not discontinued, but the rate therefor is so modified as to prevent these abuses and compensate the telephone service in part for the extra expense of labor and plant involved, and a charge of 25 per cent of the station-to-station rate is made for such service, when the particular person is secured and a report of 25 per cent of the station-to-station rate is made when the house or office number is obtained and his whereabouts or refusal to talk is reported.

Chilean Government Pleased With U. S. Mediation Offer

Buenos Aires, Dec. 15.—The American offer of mediation between Chile and Peru has caused satisfaction in Chile, where, according to advices from that country, it is interpreted as assurances that the United States will not interfere unless invited to do so by both Chile and Peru. Some of the daily papers of Buenos Aires show chagrin, for, they say, the Argentine government misinterpreted the original note and went beyond the invitation offering mediation, and is now left alone to act.

PRESIDENT GOES TO PARIS CHURCH

Henry White, former American ambassador here and now a member of the American peace mission, who has known Paris through long residence here, said that seldom had king, emperor or foreign dignitary ever received such welcome as that extended to President Wilson. The special significance felt by the members of the American mission was that the French people seemed to be wholly in sympathy with the president's purpose.

When President and Mrs. Wilson returned from the Elysee palace Saturday they found in the drawing room of the Murat residence many beautiful bouquets which had been left there by all classes of the French people.

During the late afternoon President Wilson received a number of officials. Among those who registered were Premier Venizelos of Greece, the ministers of Belgium, Denmark, Switzerland, Venezuela, Sweden, and China, Marquis Lafayette and members of the French government.

In the evening the president conferred with Secretary Lansing. He declared that he had been greatly touched by the cordial reception given to him by the people of Paris, which he would never forget.

House Guarded Carefully

The Murat house is carefully guarded by U. S. secret service agents and hundreds of gendarmes. All the streets approaching it are guarded by cavalry, some wearing the war battered and soiled horizon blue uniforms and shrapnel helmets, in which they chased the Germans. The red and white pennants at the edges of their lances are waving everywhere for blocks around. During the entire afternoon thousands of men and women stood in the streets leading to the president's Paris home, awaiting an opportunity to catch a glimpse of Mr. Wilson, but they were disappointed for he remained indoors. Late this afternoon Thomas Nelson Page, American ambassador to Italy, called and paid his respects. President Wilson also received a large delegation of French socialists who welcomed him to Paris on behalf of the workers. Col. Edward M. House and Gen. Tasker H. Bliss arrived later and conferred with the president at some length.

Crowds Linger Late

Shortly after 4 o'clock Mr. Wilson finished receiving callers and retired to his apartment where he rested. It was explained that he was slightly fatigued by the trip from Brest. The crowds remained lingering about the neighborhood until well after dark. A large American flag was raised on a tall pole over the main entrance. The crowd at least two blocks away cheered themselves hoarse, first shouting "Wilson, Wilson, Wilson," and then cheering for the United States. There were many impromptu parades in which French, American, British and Belgian soldiers and crowds of civilians, both men and women, marched through the streets of Paris in the direction of the Murat house, singing and waving flags. Arriving where French guards barred the way, the marchers cheered for a moment and then marched off again.

Parisians who were unable to see the president satisfied themselves by kissing and embracing all American uniformed men. One girl managed in some way to get past the guards. She threw her arms around the neck of a husky American sergeant on duty at the gate and kissed him vigorously, while the crowds outside cheered.

Wilson Would Have Seas Guarded by Whole World

London, Dec. 15.—President Wilson, interviewed by the correspondent at Brest of the Press association, in replying to a question as to whether he wished to make any statement regarding his policy at the peace conference, said he could say nothing at the present time. He added that any pronouncement must be carefully considered. "Although the president does not wish to make a definite personal statement," the correspondent says, "it is understood that he will fight, if necessary for his 14 points. His attitude on the question of the freedom of the seas is that the seas ought to be guarded by the whole world rather than by any particular group of nations."

He was married to Miss Louise Goodrich of the city of Omaha and called for England about September 1. U. S. NAVY MEN FIGHT AT TAMPICO

(Continued From Page One.) proached his ship a shot was fired, and a Mexican guard there, seeing him coming, placed him under detention. It was also asserted that others started to beat him with the butts of their rifles. The sailor fought back the best he could, and as he drew near the ship, he called to his men for assistance.

The naval guard then secured arms and as the firing continued, they returned the shots with the result that two Mexicans fell. With the show of arms the Mexicans fled, leaving the gunner's mate free to return to his ship with his men. Sound of the firing attracted considerable crowd, but no further demonstration was made. Threats were heard, however, and during the 24 hours that the Monterey was detained pending the investigation of the incident, every precaution was taken to guard against a surprise attack.

The two gunboats were sufficiently close so that they could have rendered assistance to the Monterey had it been required. In addition to guns and arms, the Monterey carries a gun, mounted on her deck, placed there during the war as a protection against submarines.

On arrival of the Monterey here today, the gunner's mate and his men went to the navy yard to make an official report of the matter. Officers of the ship were also questioned by naval authorities.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The clash between the armed guard of the Ward liner Monterey and Mexican soldiers at Tampico has been left to diplomatic settlement and is now the subject of negotiations between the American and Mexican governments. This announcement was made by the State department.

The department's announcement said the "Mexicans started the disturbances" by attacking and injuring the commander of the Monterey's armed guard, who had gone ashore.

"The Department of State," said the announcement, "is investigating a clash that occurred between Mexican soldiers and a member of the armed guard of the American steamer Monterey, which occurred at Tampico on November 28. The Mexicans started the disturbance."

"Department of State advices are to the effect that the affair occurred early in the morning that the American in charge of the guard, who had gone ashore, was attacked by the Mexican soldiers and that he was injured by the Mexicans. One of the Mexican soldiers was killed and another injured, during the disturbance."

"The Tampico authorities sought to have the armed guard aboard the ship surrendered to them. The whole subject, however, was left to diplomatic settlement, and is being taken up between the State department and the Mexican government through the American embassy at Mexico City."

PACKING TRADE RECORDS BROKEN FOR TEN MONTHS

New High Marks in Exports of Fresh Beef and Pork Products Shown by Cudahy's Report.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—E. A. Cudahy, president of the Cudahy Packing company, in his annual statement to the stockholders, made public today, cites figures showing that the packing industry broke all records in ten months of the current year in the exportation of fresh beef and pork products. The Cudahy company's gross sales for the fiscal year ending November 2, 1918, were $280,602,914.88, as against $184,811,423.34 for the preceding year.

"The largest exportation of fresh beef in any year prior to the war was 352,000,000 pounds in the fiscal year 1901," said Mr. Cudahy, "then dwindling down year by year to only 6,000,000 pounds in the year immediately preceding the war—while the total for the 10 months ending with October of the current year was 417,000,000 pounds. "Pork products also show a new high record of quantities as well as in value. The total quantity of bacon exported in the 10 months ending with October, 1918, was 900,000,000 pounds against a former high record of 593,000,000 pounds in the full fiscal year 1916. Hams and shoulders in the same 10 months were 478,000,000 pounds against 287,000,000 pounds in the full fiscal year 1916. "In 1913 our company paid to the farmers of the United States some $75,000,000 for the animals purchased. This year and for a volume and weight approximately 33 1/3 per cent greater, we have paid more than $180,000,000. In 1913 we paid to our employees some $7,000,000 for wages and salaries. This year we have paid them in excess of $15,500,000. Our net profits as compared to 1913 are in about the same ratio to our turnover as in that year."

Hardships Inflicted on Soldiers' Dependents By Refund Demands

Washington, Dec. 15.—The practice of war risk insurance bureau in calling upon soldiers' dependents for refunds where investigation showed that improper allowance has been made was criticized by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, republican, at a committee hearing on an amendment proposed by him to correct it. Soon after the war started the bureau, Mr. Treadway said, made many allowances which it found later were not fully justified. In such cases dependents were asked to return the money and when this was not done the amount was taken from the soldier's pay.

"This has worked a great hardship upon thousands of families," Mr. Treadway said. "When they received the money they understood they were entitled to it and did not hesitate about spending it. Now when the government asks it back, they are not able to pay it. I received a letter today from a mother whose son is in a hospital in France. She has been ordered to refund the money the bureau has paid her. The only way she could do it, she said, would be by going to work, and this she is physically unable to do."

Chiropractors to Introduce Law Regulating Profession The Nebraska Association of Chiropractors has prepared a bill which they will introduce in the legislature to license chiropractors and insure the public of competent practitioners. No law is now provided in Nebraska to regulate the qualifications of men in this practice. Chiropractors say the war has been the greatest thing in history to show Americans the importance of perfect feet. The rigid examination demanded by army officers they state, deprived thousands from serving the colors for arch trouble alone. Following the return of soldiers from army camp and abroad they expect that more attention will be paid by Americans to the proper care of the feet. For this reason they will introduce the bill to prevent uneducated practitioners from preying on the public.
