

South Side OMAHA MARKET PUTS EMBARGO ON HOGS TODAY

Exchange Officials Say It's Only Way to Protect Ship- pers: Will Last Until Monday Morning.

The Omaha Live Stock Exchange yesterday voted to place an embargo on hogs from 6 o'clock Friday morning to 6 o'clock Monday morning.

The receipts for the first four days this week total 77,200 head, over 40,000 more than the same days last year. There were 10,000 head carried over Thursday, which was the largest carry-over in the history of the market and the prospects showed a carry-over of 15,000 head for Friday.

Action Explained.

In explaining the reasons for the embargo, Gene Melady of Melady Bros. said:

"Commission men demanded an embargo on hogs coming to South Omaha market; due to the fact that there are more hogs coming than the packers can handle, and there are from 8,000 to 12,000 held over each day. Packers are discriminating against light hogs, and will not buy them at any price. As a consequence, the shipper is up against a sure loss, as his hogs will lay in the yards, fed at his expense, and an enormous shrinkage will be incurred, and in order to protect the shippers to the South Omaha market, an effort is being made to put on an embargo until the congestion is relieved."

"An embargo was put on the Chicago market the 18th, due to the fact that 50,000 hogs were held over from Monday, 55,000 in packers' hands, and estimated 100,000 en route."

"Packers at South Omaha now claim they have more hogs on hand than they can kill in three days."

A stabilizing committee, composed of E. A. Rose, representing the commission men; M. H. Murphy of the Omaha company, representing the packers; and E. H. Schroer, head of the federal bureau of markets, met at noon to decide the question of placing the embargo, but they did not wish to assume the responsibility such a decision would involve and asked that the question be put to a vote of the Live Stock Exchange.

In order to make the embargo effective, E. H. Schroer, chairman of the local committee on stabilization, wired to E. C. Brown of the federal committee in Chicago that such an embargo has been asked by the Omaha market and later received a reply to the effect that his wishes had been complied with. Mr. Brown asked the federal railway administration to instruct their agents not to load any hogs for Omaha until the embargo is lifted.

W. B. Tagg, president of the exchange, said that the embargo was not placed on the market because of excessive receipts of hogs, but because of the excessive receipt of light weight hogs.

Brief City News

Have Root Print It—Beacon Press, 25 Per cent Discount on electric Carey Cleaning Co.—Web, 392
Fined for Bringing in Booz—George Capers, negro, was fined $50 by Judge Woodruff in federal court Thursday morning for bringing a trunk containing 11 pints of whiskey into the state. He paid.

Inquiry among eastern bankers has developed the belief that at this interest rate the bonds will sell at par or better. The advertisements for bids are now being sent to eastern financial houses and the bids will be opened January 6.

Frank Sherod Arrested for Taking Automobile

Frank Sherod, 1010 South Twenty-second street, was arrested Thursday and charged with taking an auto without leave. A week ago the Stewart Motor Car company were demonstrating a car for Sherod. While the demonstrator left the car for a moment Sherod drove away.

According to the police, Sherod admits taking the car. Auto detectives found the car abandoned the day after it was taken. Sherod says he has just been discharged from the navy, but was wearing an army suit when arrested.

Allied War Exhibit Will Make Return Visit Here

Officers of the Chamber of Commerce received a telegram yesterday from the managers of the Allied War Exhibit, which is now in Kansas City, stating that they would be in Omaha Thursday to make arrangements for the exhibit here.

Mr. Manley said that he did not believe that the Chamber of Commerce could do anything until the ban had been lifted, though he thought it might be possible to hold the exhibition in the Auditorium under certain conditions regulating the attendance.

Will Hold Military Funeral for Cadet Arthur B. Howell

Funeral services for Cadet Arthur Brandon Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Howell, who died Saturday in Fortress Monroe, will be held with military honors today at 4 o'clock in the chapel in Forest Lawn cemetery. The body, accompanied by the young soldier's mother and sister, Lois, and a military escort, arrived Thursday.

Mrs. Howell and infant son were unable to make the trip and are in New York at the home of Mrs. Howell's mother, Mrs. W. G. Doane.

Dr. J. F. Young of Westminster Presbyterian church will have charge of the services.

Words of highest praise are accorded the dead soldier by the commanding officer in the aero squadron at Fortress Monroe. "He received the highest marks of any soldier in his section and I placed him in command of a company of 50 men because of the excellent military qualities and fine character he evidenced," wrote the officer.

Many Girls Turned Back When Armistice is Signed

Miss Nena Starr, stenographer in the city attorney's office, has returned from New York City, where she went about a month ago, en route to France. She was appointed to do hospital but work for the Red Cross.

Because of the signing of the armistice she was not needed. There were 300 other girls in New York ready to go overseas and gnashing of teeth when their sailing orders were cancelled and they were discharged.

Miss Starr spent some time in the east, visiting relatives and seeing the sights. She saw the Atlantic ocean, though she didn't get to sail across it.
