Churchmen Assure President That They Are Praying for Success of His Work in Europe. #

Rome, Jan. 5 .- After his visit to the Vatican Saturday. President Wilson returned to the American embassy whence he drove with Mrs. Wilson to the American Protestant Episcopal church. He was accompanied by Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador; Brig. Gen. William W. Harts, U. S. A., and Count Bruschi-Falgari, gentlemanin-waiting to King Victor Emmanuel, and Countess Bruschi-Falgari, lady-in-waiting to Queen Helena.

In the vetry of the church the president received representatives of evangelical churches in Italy. They were introduced by Dr. Dexter G Whitting Hill, superintendent of the American Baptist mission; the Rev Walter Lowrie, rector of St. Paul's American church, and Francis B. Keene, the American consul general, Other bodies represented were the Waldesian church, the English Baptist missions, the Italian-American Methodist churches, the Wesleyan missions, the Presbyterian church and the British Bible society.

Hand of Providence Seen.

After the presentation of the various representatives, President Wilson had a pleasant talk with his callers. Being told that all were praying for the success of his work, the president answered that he thought the hand of Providence might be seen in the "mobilization of the moral forces of the world" and in the union of all the churches for a high standard of civilization.

The president remarked that General Pershing had told him the war had produced stronger religious feelings among the soldiers and he added that the manner in which the different peoples throughout the world had responded to the appeal to their idealism had touched him. A vast crowd awaited the president outside the church and gave him cordial greeting. Although President and Mrs. Wilson dined informally last night at the Quirinal with King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, the president and his wife went later to pay the royal couple a farewell visit at Villa Savoia. They took this occasion to express to their hosts their deepest appreciation and feeling of gratitude for the enthusiastic reception that had been accorded them in Rome, which they considered as a tribute paid by the people of Italy to the people of America.

Would Exempt Gold Mining

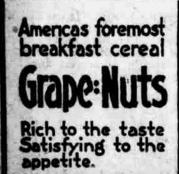

Washington, Jan. 5.-Elimination of the excess profits tax on gold mining and the privilege of free exports and of sale to manufacturers as rieans of stimulating gold production were recommended in a report today of the special committee appointed by Secretary Lane to investigate the causes of the decline in the output. "The present decrease in gold production is serious," said the report, "as the maintenance of a suffi-cient gold reserve is essential to our national finances and credit." Possible methods of mintaining the visible gold reserve, the committee said, would be in the curtailing of the use of gold for manufacturers and in a call on the public to turn in hoarded gold. Further relief might be obtained, it was said, by amending the war minerals bill to include gold and the voting of an appropriation to be used in directing the search for new deposits.

Further evidence that the bolsheviki are mutilating allied wounded and dead came to headquarters today in a report from Lieut. Col Corberly, who was in command of American forces in the vicinity of Shenkursk on November 29. Americans were the victims, according to the report. A patrol of 60 American soldiers and two officers was surprised early on September 29 by a force of about 700 bolsheviki. Seven Americans were killed and seven others were missing after the fight.

Though he had but one arm, he was known as one of the best shots in the neighborhood. > Coblenz, Jan. 5 .- Eighty-eight German cannon, surrendered in accordance with the terms of the armistice, were rejected today by the United States receiving commission. The Americans contended that the guns were of old models and did not meet the requirements, that some had been damaged by premature explosions and that others were lacking in certain parts.

The German commission, which mands. He turned the weapon on has been at Coblenz attending to the details of the surrender of cannon, airplanes and other war material, was notified that replacements for the 88 rejected cannon must be in Coblenz by January 10.

Canon in Request.

So far, 64 cannon of various calibers have been accepted by the Americans. The rejected artillery included two cannon manufactured in 1873. All the rejected guns, accoring to the Germans, were used months of the war.

Soon after the army of occupation reached German soil, requests for cannon began arriving from American cities, many of these requests being sent by cable. Among the guns turned over are two heavy 42centimeter howitzers, with which, day after day, the Germans used to pound Verdun and the region where the big American naval guns were located. Nearly 200 cannon of various calibers have arrived here, but so far only a few have been accepted, as most of them had some missing parts. It is understood, however, that the parts have been shipped from Germany.

Armored Battle Machine.

Among the airplanes being re-ceived is an armored battle machine which carries six machine guns. The Germans used this type of machine to "strafe infantry." Several observation planes were among the 110 turned over to the Americans at Treves. These will be sent to America. One that will be sent across the ocean is the first Fokker used by the enemy on the western front. It is in perfect condition. The planes will be distributed among American colleges and aviation
