

MESSAGES DELIVERED AS NEBRASKA CHANGES GOVERNORS

M'KELVIE TELLS OF STATE NEEDS IN OPENING TALK

Neville Joins New Governor in Advocating Bone Dry Nation Before Legislative Body.

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Jan. 9.—Both houses of the Nebraska legislature assembled in joint session in the chamber of the house of representatives in the east wing of the capitol building this afternoon, where the members of the law making bodies listened with marked attention to the message and recommendations of the outgoing governor, Keith Neville, followed by the inaugural address of the newly elected chief executive, Samuel R. McKelvie.

Gov. McKelvie's Address.

"Governor McKelvie's address, in part, was as follows:
"It is with a feeling of sincere gratitude and deep responsibility to the people of Nebraska that I come before you as the chief executive of this commonwealth.
"We are met here as the chosen representatives of the people at a time when the problems of government are more momentous in their importance than they have been before in a half century. The world has passed through the cataclysm of the greatest war in all history, and in this contest for principles our nation—America—played the deciding role."
He declared that he thought he reflected the sentiment of the people of the state when he said that the price for winning this war should be everlasting peace. He paid a tribute to Nebraska's part in the conflict, adding:

"It becomes our duty as patriotic American citizens to address ourselves to the problems of the readjustment period with the same unselfish zeal that marked our efforts during the fighting days."
Delving into the question of needed legislation, he said the problems were different from those of normal times. He said he did not think it necessary to do the radical, or unusual, thing in order to measure up to the opportunities presented now. "The pendulum of events usually swing from one extreme to the other," he added, "and now that we have conquered autocracy we shall be fortunate if we do not find ourselves grasping at the extreme outward swing of the pendulum, which means bolshevism."
He recommended cabinet system. At the very first he called attention to the republican platform upon which he was elected, and said: "In the recommendations that shall follow I have contemplated the redemption of every promise that was made to the people in the republican platform."
He recommended the application of a cabinet form of civil government to centralize responsibility and eliminate the large number of useless boards, commissions and unnecessary offices, to be fashioned after our national administration, grouped under common heads, known as "departments"; the departments to be presided over by "secretaries" to be appointed by the executive, and confirmed by the senate. He said the bill introducing this idea would be known as the "Civil Administrative Code," and contain provisions for finance, agriculture, labor, trade and commerce, public works, and public welfare. This plan, he declared, would facilitate the handling of public business. He said there were some reasons why it might not be practical, such as creating too many appointive offices, and laying the foundation for political machines, but that these reasons were only apparent. He suggested its immediate enactment, rather than waiting for a constitutional amendment, suggesting that the bill provide for the prohibition of nepotism and that each employ under it be required to work a full eight-hour day. He said those who feared this plan on account of the building up of a political machine did not know the temperament of the state. He claimed that greater efficiency will be obtained, with the same expenditures under the present system of boards and commissions, which is over $140,000 per year.

"This, I consider, is the most important piece of constructive legislation that will come before your honorable body during this session," he added.

Favors Executive Budget.

He suggested an executive budget for the administration of state revenue, and on the subject of the constitutional convention approved by the voters at the last election, said: "I recommend that this convention be called at the earliest convenient date so that the recommendations may be submitted to the people for their action at the next general election."

He recommended that the legislative bodies ratify the amendment to the national constitution providing for national prohibition, and referring to equal suffrage, said: "I recommend that all possible means be used to hasten the approval of favorable legislation upon this important subject, and I further recommend that such members of the congress from Nebraska, who have not yet voted affirmatively upon the question, be memorialized by your honorable body to do so at the earliest possible date."

Foreign Language Question.

The new governor dwelt at length upon the foreign language question, experience during the war, he said, indicating some of the mistakes of the past. He said the most important mistake was failure to make the schools the medium through which to build a genuine Americanism, and suggested that the legislature should undertake some plan of making the ultimate use of the English language universal. He said this is a thing that cannot be accomplished at once, as it would work a hardship on many, and face the possible defeat of the desired end.

"I believe that all instruction in public and private schools," he declared, "with the exception of foreign languages as such, should be conducted in the English language. Religious freedom should not be abridged, but the churches also should be used as a medium through which the use of the English language may be aided and encouraged. The common use of the foreign language should be discouraged." He commended the legislators to the recent report of the Americanization committee of the State Council of Defense.

Vocational education was recommended from a practical standpoint also physical training as part of the course in all schools. He also said provision should be made for the education of illiterates.

Outlines Agricultural Program.

An elaborate program for legislation to improve agricultural conditions was suggested, first of all the creation of a department of agriculture under the civil administrative code, and legislation providing for a better distribution of farm products, inspection of grain and vegetables and testing of butter fat, also laws that will assist the agencies of distribution in collecting claims and damages against railroads, and enforcement of the anti-discrimination law. He also recommended cooperation with the federal government against the diseases of farm animals, paying particular attention to the hog cholera menace. In this connection he said:

"I recommend that every effort be made to insure to the farmers unrestricted privileges of purchase and use of anti-hog cholera serum and virus from all companies by a more effective enforcement of the laws that deal with combinations in restraint of trade, or by the enactment of laws which will be effective if the present ones are inadequate."
He added that if the proper service of our live stock interests cannot be secured except by the operation of a state owned plant, this plant be administered within the proposed department of agriculture, and a fund appropriated to operate it.

He scored the many remedies that are being sold throughout the state for live stock ills, and asked for better laws to cope with that situation. He suggested a dog license law for the protection of sheep, and county farm bureaus. He also suggested co-operative credit societies for the benefit of the non-land-owning farmers, pointing to the fact that the Federal Land bank was only beneficial to the land owner.

Rural schools, he said, should become a matter of great concern, and methods looking to their improvement enacted, providing adequate aid for weak school districts, and requiring every child under sixteen years of age to attend an accredited school.

Would Curb Speculation.

He said 50 per cent of Nebraska land is farmed by tenants, and something should be done to encourage tenants to purchase land, and discourage the nonresident land owner and suggested a land tax to discourage the holding of land for speculative purposes. "The tax should fall heavily on those who are nonresidents and hold land for speculative purposes, and lightest upon those who till the land," he said.

The encouragement of manufacturing in the state was suggested, and public improvement, especially at this time he said, would provide labor for returning soldiers. He went thoroughly into the good roads program, and said Nebraska should make every effort to co-operate with the federal government, giving Nebraska a quota of $2,250,000 per annum. He also suggested a vehicle tax of $10 on motor-driven vehicles weighing less than 2,000 pounds with a graduated increase based on the additional weight. He also recommended that Nebraska convict labor be used in the building of roads.

Urges Building New Capitol.

"The building of a new capitol is a matter that cannot be much longer deferred," he said. "I believe it is time to approach this question in a courageous and business-like manner, and provide the ways and means for beginning the construction of a new capitol at the earliest possible moment."

The reclamation of unproductive land, improvement in the soldiers' and sailors' home, were suggested, also provisions for a state park.

Improvement of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation laws were needed he said, so that relief for the injured workmen would be speedy as well as sure.

Referring to the state militia he said it would be hard to formulate a state military policy with the national policy until peace shall have been determined. He said that he believed it would be practical for Nebraska to consider the forming of a state police organization.

He suggested a memorial to Nebraska's soldier dead that "a memorial in the form of a gold star, suitably engraved, be presented by the state to each family whose son made the supreme sacrifice in the war. To all who survived, I would have issued an engraved certificate of service," he said. He suggested that Nebraska's part in the world war should be written in history by competent authorities and preserved in the State Historical society.

In closing, he said: "I desire to congratulate the members of your honorable body upon the unusual opportunity that is afforded you to be of service to your state at this time. There is every reason why the acts of the 36th session of the Nebraska legislature should stand prominently in history as the most far-reaching importance to the commonwealth. It is placed in your hands to render unusual service in justifying the great sacrifices that were made in winning the war. I know that you will prove true to the trust that is imposed in you."

Neville's Address

Gov. Keith Neville, the retiring chief executive, in addressing the joint session, offered suggestions for needed legislation. He said: "It is with the deepest sense of gratification and pride that I discharge my constitutional obligation and advise you of the events transpiring since I assumed the office two years ago."

He then reviewed Nebraska's war record, saying the state had furnished 51,000 of her finest young manhood to the nation's war efforts. He lauded Nebraska's contributions to war activities, the Red Cross, Liberty bonds and war stamps, and added:

"Nebraska's heroic dead must not be forgotten. A monument should be erected on the capitol grounds, facing the battlefields of France and having inscribed thereon the names of all Nebraskans who gave their lives that peace might reign supreme throughout the universe."

Governor Neville said that the old state militia will be automatically discharged when they leave the United States army, and thought in all probability a definite program regarding a state organization could not be promulgated before the adjournment of this session.

Prohibition Beneficial.

He spoke of the efforts made to enforce the state bone dry liquor laws, saying that since May 1, 1917 there had been 5,145 prosecutions for its violation, and fines collected aggregating $142,366.55. He said prohibition had proved a great benefit to the people of Nebraska and added:

"Ratification is the logical and proper action on the part of Nebraska, and I recommend that the federal prohibitory amendment be ratified."

On the subject of Americanization, he said the key to the situation lies in the schools, and recommended the teaching of English in the lower elementary grades of public, private and parochial schools throughout the state. But in referring to older foreigners he said: "Under no circumstances should people of this class be denied religious instructions in a language they can understand. Under no circumstances should the worship of God be regulated by statute."
He felicitated the people of Nebraska because of the fact that they have declared for a constitution convention, and expressed the hope that the new convention would extend the right of suffrage to the women of the state.

He suggested that a state-owned potash plant, as a guard against the monopolizing of the industry, be recommended that the state co-operate with the federal government in the building of good roads, and recited in detail much of the work that has been done in this direction.

Vocational education in the schools and colleges was recommended by the outgoing governor, who declared that "vocational education fits the young people to make a living."

The matter of taxation of government securities, now pending in the federal courts, was called to the attention of the new legislators. He also pointed out the successful operation of the state hail insurance plan, and in conclusion thanked the members of the last session of the legislature, without regard to party.

LINCOLN MAN HAS GAINED 20 POUNDS IN JUST SIX WEEKS

"I Wasn't What You Would Call a Sick Man Exactly, but Was Badly Run Down," Says Grott.

"If I had gained six weeks ago what I had gained twenty pounds on my first three bottles of Tanlac, I would have laughed at it, but it's the truth just the same," said W. M. Grott, a retired farmer who now lives at 1537 Washington street, Lincoln, a few days ago.

"I wasn't what you would call a sick man exactly," he continued, "but I was in a very badly rundown condition. About seven or eight months ago my appetite failed me, and I couldn't relish a thing I ate. I began to lose in weight, and could just feel my energy and vitality leaving me, and I didn't have that get-up-and-go feeling that I usually had. If I tried to stir around a little I would soon get tired and have to sit down and rest. I was very nervous, and always dreaded to see night come as I couldn't sleep to do much good. I just kept on going down hill until I had lost thirty pounds, and it seemed impossible to get anything that would give me any relief."

"I read in the Lincoln papers what was being said about Tanlac, and noticed that it had been a great help to lots of people, so I decided to take it myself. Well, sir, I hadn't taken but a few doses before my appetite began to improve, and the more Tanlac I took, the more I would eat, and I am still keeping it up. I am gaining in weight every day, and feel sure that I will get back all, and more than I have lost. I can get out and hustle around all day now, and never get tired like I did, but feel full of life all the time. I feel as well and strong as I ever did, and I give Tanlac all the credit for it. I am very glad to give it my endorsement."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also Forrest and Meany Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.

IRRITABLE NERVOUS

Was Condition of Indiana Lady Before Beginning to Take Card-u-I, the Woman's Tonic.

Kokomo, Ind.—Mrs. H. Hankemeier, of this town, says: "I look so well, and am so well, that it does not seem as if I ever needed Card-u-I. But I was not always this way. . . . I think I have taken a dozen bottles . . . before my little girl came."

I was feeling dreadfully bad, had headache, backache, sick at my stomach, no energy . . . I was very irritable, too, and nervous.
I began taking Card-u-I about 6 months before my baby came. As a result all those bad feelings left me, and I just felt grand, just as if nothing at all was the matter, and when the end came I was hardly sick at all.

Since that I have never taken Card-u-I. It has done me good, and I know it will help others, if they will only try it."
Many women have written grateful letters like the above, telling of the good that Card-u-I has done them. Why should it not help you, too? If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, and feel the need of a safe, reliable, strengthening tonic, we urge you to begin today and give Card-u-I a fair trial. KIDNEY TROUBLE NOT EASILY RECOGNIZED

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound, and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Omaha Daily Bee.—Adv.

MORE MEDIUM PRICED SEATS AT BIG CONCERT

Additional Provision to Be Made at Auditorium to Hear Galli-Curci; Will Start at 8:15.

It was announced yesterday by the local management for the Galli-Curci concert at the Auditorium tonight that the recital would begin promptly at 8:15.

This is done in order that the company may make necessary train connections for the east after the concert.

It was also stated that those not seated when the concert begins will not be admitted to the arena, until after the singing of the first group, and will be forced to miss that part of the program.

Owing to the great demand for medium priced seats to hear the famous coloratura soprano, arrangements have been made whereby an additional number of seats have been placed on the arena floor to meet the demand.

The seats are all good locations and will go on sale this morning at $1.50 each.

Friday night's audience will be practically as large and it will be impossible for all to be seated in a few minutes.

The program for Friday night is:

AT THE THEATERS

Mr. McAdoo has kindly relieved the pressure on traveling show companies.

An order had been issued that, beginning on January 1, a practically prohibitive rate would be placed on baggage cars for companies carrying less than 50 people. Mr. Lee Shubert writes to Manager Burgess of the Boyd that on receipt of the notice he took the matter up directly with Mr. McAdoo and received in reply this telegram:

Washington, Dec. 31.—Lee Shubert, New York City: The matter of increased theatrical rates has been brought to my attention. I think there is merit in your complaint and I have directed that the former rates be restored.

"W. G. McADOO."
This means that a number of contemplated tours will be carried out, although they would have been abandoned had the order been held in force.

At the Orpheum the répetition on the stage after the performance today will be exclusively for women, in order that they may ask Leona LaMar, "the girl with a thousand eyes," the most delicate questions without fear of embarrassment.

Even the musicians and the stage hands will be excluded from the theater during this time. This mystifying girl has sensationally answered the most astonishing questions during her week's engagement at the Orpheum. Tomorrow will be your last opportunity of trying to solve the riddle as to how she accomplishes her astonishing feats of thought transference. Miss LaMar has elicited most unusual interest, the attendance measuring up to Orpheum capacity.

It may have taken Omaha a day or so to get started, but the whole town seems to have been on the way to the Gayety the last half of the week, the magnet being "The Sporting Widows," whose engagement terminates with today's performance. Tomorrow matinee, Lester Allen, the biggest little comedian in burlesque, will start in where he left off making fun last season with "The Bon Ton Girls." Ladies' matinee today.

"The Unkissed Bride" is making a lot of laughter at the Boyd this week. It will close its engagement on Saturday night and will be followed up by "The Broken Rosary," which opens at a matinee on Sunday afternoon.

The Melroy Sisters, appearing at the Empress theater, have played all the big circuits and are finished artists in every sense of the word. "Apostles of Good Cheer" is the billing of Tudor Cameron and Bonnie Gaylord.

The Shuberts will produce "Yesterday," by Glen McDonough and Reginald De Koven, soon.

George Middleton and Guy Bolton have written a comedy, called "Adam and Eve," which F. Ray Costmock will produce.

William Courtney and Thomas A. Wise will be co-stars in "Cappy Ricks," dramatized by Edward E. Rose from the stories of Peter B. Kyne.

John Cort is shortly to produce a drama by Edward Clark, called "Cosette." Among those in the cast are Josephine Victor, John Flood, Grace Henderson and Richard Gordon.

The Actors' Fund will have its thirty-eighth annual benefit in New York the last part of the month. A one-act play by Clara Kummer will be one of the features of the program.

Georges Renaunt, formerly leading man for Sarah Bernhardt, plays the part of Felix Durand in support of Mrs. Fiske, in her new comedy, "Miss Nelly of Orleans," by Lawrence Eyre. Mr. Renaunt is a native of Paris.

Omaha Hebrew Club Elects Officers for Coming Year

At the semi-annual installation of officers of the Omaha Hebrew club, held Sunday evening, the following duly elected officers were installed:

Nathan S. Yaffe, president; J. J. Friedman, vice president; Sol Rosenberg, secretary; Sol Novitzky, treasurer; Sam Babior, Julius Waxenberg and Joseph J. Greenberg, trustees.

Herman A. Auerbach, welfare worker with the United States army, gave the obligation to the officers and made the installation speech. Mr. Auerbach also later told of the welfare work in the United States army, stating in part that although we sent mere boys away we must prepare to receive back men schooled in the art of discipline, self-respect and respect for others and that many of the boys who went away will not re-enter their former occupations but would seek higher and better fields of endeavor.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

Is Your Back Sore or Well and Strong?

When the back is sore and tender to the touch, and even the effort to stand straight, let alone lift anything, causes nervous weakness, you have a condition of the spine that needs correction. At times the condition may develop sharp lumbago pains.

The cause is lack of alignment of the joints of the backbone in the small of the back. It may have become disordered by a heavy lift or by careless habits of sitting or standing. Along with the soreness the bowels are often affected.

The only correction of value is an adjustment by hand, such as only the skilled chiropractor can give. Then the nerve pressure is replaced by strength and health.
