

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

Nothing exists, subsists, is acted upon or moved by itself, but by some other being; whom it follows that everything exists, subsists, is acted upon and moved by the First Being, who is Himself the living force, life.

Is it not high time to consider that new occasions bring also new privileges, new opportunities, new resources, new spiritual unfoldings and therefore new life.—Charles Gordon Ames.

SOCIETY

Skating

By LILLIAN H. CROWLEY. Oh! for the winter's frost and cold That freezes the water tight. Oh! for the boys and girls I know Who skate on a winter's night. I know the thrill of the bird in air, When she spreads her wings on high, As I go skating down the lake And pass the others by. I love to skate and skate and skate, And twist and turn and glide, I love the keen wind on my face And the joy I feel inside.

Warren-Cullen Nuptials.

A quiet wedding ceremony took place Thursday, when Miss Margaret Cullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cullen, became the bride of Mr. Frank Warren, son of Mrs. L. F. Warren. Only the immediate relatives were present at the ceremony and the young couple was unattended. The bride wore a traveling suit of blue, with a close hat to match. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Warren left on an eastern trip and have just returned. They are now at the Blackstone, where they will reside temporarily. The bride is a most attractive young woman and is a graduate of the Central High school and of the Omaha university. Mr. Warren is a prominent business man of Omaha and a member of several clubs.

A New Lace Blouse

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD.

The long, straight blouse of heavy lace is a new note in dressy gowns designed for winter resorts. This fashion is also exploited in some exquisite bridesmaids frocks of Georgette Crepe and Charmeuse Satin. These blouses are cut straight at the sides, and are worn without belt or girde, although—if this straight line is not becoming to the figure, a cord of colored beads, ending in heavy tassels will make an effective accessory of such a blouse. The heavier laces, such as filet, Irish and Point Venice are employed to develop these tunic blouses. Real laces are of course expensive, but a very effective imitation filet can be had at moderate cost. Filet lace makes this picturesque blouse, which is worn over a thin blouse and draped skirt of pink Georgette Crepe. The blouse is cut low at the front. The sleeves are long and tight. Pink bead buttons outline the back of the sleeves. A charming hat of soft pink taffeta is worn with this picturesque frock.

Red Cross Notes

Mrs. Luther Kountze was very happy when she received the following letter: Mrs. L. L. Kountze, Chairman Canteen Service, Omaha, Neb.—My Dear Mrs. Kountze: The picture and newspaper clippings, also report of those two cars of sick and wounded men in charge of Lieutenant Moffitt received and they were very welcome. We are proud of the grand work the Omaha canteen has rendered under your supervision. Your reports are being sent on promptly to national headquarters, which will be of great aid to Mrs. Hoover, who is endeavoring to get the surgeon general's office to see conditions found by the canteen workers.

On the reverse side of the newspaper clipping (a page from The Bee) illustrating interior canteen activities at the Union depot, I notice under the heading, "Red Cross Activities," the statement that the "Union Pacific" had expended about $4,000 in order to aid your canteen. Their action is certainly a great big compliment to you and your canteen workers, and I trust you know how much it pleases me, although in these crowded days I have but little time to express appreciation and congratulations. GARDNER MORRIS, Director Canteen Service, Central Division.

"All garments made available within the next few weeks can be used to provide effective relief during the present winter." Knitters are urged to finish all work by the first of February, in time for final shipments. Records must be balanced and books closed by February 1.

The Omaha chapter has ordered 900 service pins, soon available, for those who have completed 800 hours voluntary service, since April 1, 1917.

Mrs. Childs Returns.

In the interest of the National Service League, Mrs. Lowrie Childs has come from New York to give her services to making the White Elephant sale a success. Mrs. Childs, who was a member of the executive committee last year, will serve in the same capacity for this sale. She is now at the Fontenelle, but will be the house guest of Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith during her stay.

Miss Gross will be very glad to receive suggestions for the home economics column or to answer, as far as she is able, any questions that her readers may ask.

Low Cost of Diets

Recently in this column the question of how much to spend on food was discussed; and in that article a promise was made to publish some low-cost diets. When discussing a family dietary, we mean sufficient food for a family of two adults and three children. Some of my high school students have been working on the problem of how to supply this necessary quantity and quality of food at the lowest price. For we realize more and more that a dietary is not "cheap" in the long run if it leads to poor health and doctor bills.

Essentials of a Good Dietary.

You will notice in these diets that the following things have been included: A sufficient number of calories, or heat units. Ten thousand is considered about the right number for a family of five. Some meat or meat substitutes to give body building material. The calories or heat units from protein (this building material) have been computed separately. One should have 10 to 15 per cent of the total calories from protein. As much milk as possible. Skim milk is used for cooking, but whole milk for drinking. The rule is a quart of milk a day for each child and a pint of milk per day for each adult. This estimate includes milk drunk and milk used for cooking. Some fruit and vegetables. Fruit and vegetables are expensive in proportion to the calories or heat units that they give, but they are absolutely essential to health. No dietary is adequate that does not allow for some expenditure for fruits and vegetables.

Dietary I.

- Planned by Alison Nelson and Annabelle Roberts. BREAKFAST: Oatmeal with Milk, Toast. MILK for Children, Coffee for Adults. LUNCH: Macaroni and Cheese. Bread and Oleomargarine. COCOA. DINNER: Hamburger Cakes, Baked Potatoes, Gravy Turnips. Bread and Oleomargarine. Prune Cornstarch Pudding. The cost of this dietary is $1.50.

hoping to see an answer soon, I am yours truly, BROWN EYES. If the young man cares anything about you he will call you. I should not advise any overtures on your part. If you are 18 and pretty you probably have many other friends—why worry about this one? If your face is full the flat hairdresser will be more becoming. Your hair need not be straight back but have the curves flat to the head. The popular girl is usually friendly and sociable, but never too affable. Boys lose interest in the girls they believe to be too fond of them. There is a Chinese proverb that warns against allowing the tongue to run away with the head, and the one who talks much usually thinks but little.

Orator Suggestions.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I wish to ask your advice as to a subject for a senior oration. We, as seniors, must write a theme of at least 3,000 words on some interesting up-to-date subject. Could you give me suggestions and some idea where to obtain material? Should my graduating dress be wash goods? We are obliged by school rules to wear caps and gowns during exercises. What would you suggest for the dress? Could you tell me what causes small pimples to break out along the edge of my hair when I use electric curlers. Other girls have no trouble. What will help it? I have a clear complexion otherwise and have no trouble if I don't use the curlers. Please answer in the Daily Bee. Thanking you in advance, WORRIED SENIOR.

WANTED SENIOR.

One very good and timely subject for your oration would be "Civil Life During Reconstruction," or "Women's Changed Spheres," or "Women During Reconstruction." You could gather plenty of material from current periodicals and daily newspapers. Your graduation dress should be wash goods, nothing more elaborate than wash silk—preferably dimity or other less expensive wash fabrics. The pimples are due, probably to delicate skin. The electric curlers irritate the surface.

New Cranberry Dish

Now that the ban on sugar has been practically lifted and we no longer have to measure our allowance in teaspoons, the wholesome and ornamental cranberry has come into its own again. Cranberry sauce we all know, but cranberries used in pudding are less familiar. Some day when you have a plate of cranberry sauce left over, try this variation on the usual bread-pudding. Butter the inside of an enameled ware baking dish, put in a layer of stale bread cut thin and buttered lightly. Then a layer of the cranberry sauce and then again of bread and butter, until the dish is full. Bake in a slow oven and serve in the dish in which it is baked.

On the same day that Miss Ruth Hutchinson of Yakima, Wash., was inducted into the office of county auditor, her father assumed the duties of county sheriff. Both ran on the same ticket and were elected by large majorities.

GIRLS! MOISTEN A CLOTH AND DRAW IT THROUGH HAIR

It becomes beautifully soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! All dandruff goes and hair stops coming out.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanser" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will spend a few cents for a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Save your hair! Keep it looking charming and beautiful. You will say this was the best money you ever spent.—Adv.

How a Good Reputation Grows

There is nothing so important and vital in business as a reputation justly earned for quality, service and fair dealing. For years we have kept our products upon the highest level of quality, with our service and dealings as carefully guarded; there has never been a temptation or an influence strong enough to cause us to diverge from this policy. We appreciate the confidence and splendid good-will of the thousands upon thousands of the users of our bread too much, to do anything less than the best we know how, to fully merit such regard. You are always sure of getting the best bread made when you buy
