Silver! Silver! Silver! And Beautiful Gowns at Edwards-Porter Nuptials

It's so interesting to be "among the first to arrive" at a wedding, for one can admire the flowers—and likewise the gowns of one's neighbors. Many lovely evening gowns were worn at the wedding of Miss Gertrude Porter and Mr. Robert Edwards Monday evening, one of the loveliest weddings of the season, by the way.

of tulle and the soft, clinging satins we noticed a touch of turquoise blue. Mrs. H. O. Edwards, mother of the bridegroom, wore such a wonderful gown of blue georgette crepe, her silver hair beautifully dressed with diamond ornaments. Mrs. W. H. Holmes wore an iridescent gown in the shades of blue and green, trimmed with crystals.

Advice to the Lovelorn

The human heart holds many sorrows, the human mind many a different opinion, but the "Lovelorn" column has them all, with a few good laughs included.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Wait a While.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I have now come to you for advice. I am 17 years old and considered very good looking. I have blue eyes and am light complexioned. I have been writing to a soldier in France for about a year, but have not heard from him now for about five months. Since he left I have become acquainted with another young man whom I love very dearly. Would it be all right to go with him as I have not heard from the soldier for so long a time? I like this young man best and feel like I could not give him up for the soldier if he did happen to return. My mother wishes me to wait for the soldier boy. Now if you were me would you take the one you loved best or wait and take the one your mother wishes you to? They have both proposed to me. From BLUE EYES.

You are only 17 so wait a while, before deciding which you will choose. I would wait until the soldier returns. He may have changed his views. Undignified. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl 19 years old and I am much in love with a boy of 21. For Christmas he gave me a watch. Was it all right for me to accept it? Is it all right for him to kiss me good bye? Is it all right to sit on a boy's lap in a car if the driver is not there? If not, why not? There is another young man whom I care for lots more than the other one at 21, but he doesn't live in this town, but when he is here he treats me very well. All the other girls like him, but he does not seem to care much about them. Shall I stop going with this one that lives in my town or not? Please print your answers in The Lovelorn column. P. S.—How is my writing? I would not accept such expensive gifts from a man unless an engagement existed. Don't permit kissing and do not sit on a boy's lap at any time. It is very undignified to say the least. If you are engaged to neither I would enjoy the company of both.

Take Parents' Advice. Dear Miss Fairfax: I saw in the paper where you give advice to the lovelorn and I thought you would give me some advice. I am 15 years old and considered very beautiful. I am also very popular among the young men. About a week ago I became engaged to a young man, whom I love very dearly. He is very jealous of me and does not want me to notice any other young man. I think this is all right because we are engaged, but a few days ago he left to go back to work, and since he left another young man has shown a great infatuation for me. Now the question is how can I prevent him from coming to see me? I do not wish to tell him to stay away as I am afraid it will cause the loss of his friendship. He knows of my engagement to the other young man. Also you think I am old enough to get married? I can cook, sew and keep house. Please do not think this is a joke as it is not. Hoping to see an answer in the paper, I remain, ANXIOUS.

Tell the second man very plainly that you are engaged and he will probably cease his attentions. I think you are far too young to marry, but I should abide by the advice of my parents. When in Doubt—Don't. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a young girl of 18, have dark hair and blue eyes, and have a light complexion. Am I good looking? Am I to young to go out riding with boys? When a girl goes out with a boy, and he asks her if she loves him, what should she tell him? If he asks her to kiss him, what should she tell him? How should a young girl of 16 wear her hair? What are the most popular ways for a girl of 16 to wear her dresses? How is my writing? Please print this in your column. Thanking you in advance, I remain, IRENE.

At this distance how can I judge your good looks? We have discussed at length in this column on the subject of kissing, etc., and if you are a reader you will know my views on the subject. "When in doubt, don't" is a very good motto. Wear your hair simply, brushed back from your face and arranged in a low knot in the back. If you wear the "sheath" of your dresses they will be much longer this spring and the skirts very narrow. Your writing is very legible.

He Forged a Check. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am writing to ask if you can help me out of a great difficulty. I am 19 years old, and was engaged to a boy of 20, who enlisted in the army last fall. He wrote to me once a week all during the winter, and along about the 2nd of December his last letter came, saying that he was about to sail. I have not heard from him since, but was not worried because I reasoned that his letters had been lost. There has come out in the papers that he has forged checks or something, and they are now searching for him. I am so worried, and I can't believe it of him. My mother and friends all tell me that I should break off the engagement as soon as I find where he is. Of course he will be caught. The government always catches them. And yet I can't feel anything but pity for the poor kid. I know that he would have been true to me in like circumstances. I realize, as they all advise me, that he shouldn't have done this. Do you think he will ever write to me? I am afraid he won't, but if he should how shall I answer it? And if he should write and tell me I am free, what shall I answer? I don't want to be free. I am sure that even if the worst happened, even if he went to prison, I could help him to come out a better man, but afterwards there would be our friends to face—his and mine. Won't you please answer this in The Bee without publishing my letter? PERPLEXED.

There is no rule to cover a case of this kind. What kind of a boy is he under regular circumstances? I know that the general public believes in kicking a person if they begin to fall, but talk the matter over with your mother and decide whether he is good at heart. Many a young man has gone wrong, or misstepped, through impulse. This is no sign of depravity and there are many ways for them to come toiled in my name? Thanking you in advance, MILLICENT. Evidently it is possible to be in love at 16, for you were very much in love and are still. I see no reason why you should not have a frank talk with your father concerning his affairs.

Mar Your Beauty. Council Bluffs, Ia.—Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl of 19, of the petite blonde type and am considered very beautiful. Now what I would like to know is why I am so popular among the boys? I do not care for them, but somehow, no matter how much I turn them down they keep calling on me. My girl friends shun me because I have so many admirers and the boys pay no attention to them when I am around. The gentleman my folks insist on me marrying is past 50, very nifty, and very wealthy—now I do not care for him and what am I going to do to keep peace in the family? After being introduced to a young man what is the proper thing to say when he says "I am glad to have met you." Awaiting your answer, I am, PLUMP AND PRETTY. I would suggest that you blacken your teeth or take some other extreme measure to mar your beauty. You had better follow the dictates of your own heart when choosing a mate. I would simply say, "Thank you."

MORE GOOD THAN EVERYTHING ELSE SAYS MRS. HARVEY

Tanlac Accomplishes Wonderful Results in Case of Omaha Woman.

"My sister came to see me one day and said to me, 'Margaret, why don't you send to the drug store and get some Tanlac and take it. It is the finest medicine in the world to build a person up from a run-down condition like you are in.' She was right, for Tanlac has done more for me than all the other medicine I have taken put together."

The above statement was made a few days ago by Mrs. Henry Harvey, who lives at 2623 Franklin street, Omaha.

"I certainly have suffered for the last three years," she continued. "My nerves were so completely shattered that I hardly ever got a good night's rest, and I was so weak and worn out when I got out of bed every morning that I felt like I just couldn't drag through the day. My appetite was very poor and I didn't relish what little I did eat, but just had to force myself to eat enough to keep me going. I kept going twenty-five pounds, and in spite of the fact that I had taken many different kinds of medicine, I just kept getting worse all the time."

"I finally decided to take my sister's advice and give Tanlac a trial, and I hadn't taken more than half a bottle when I began to feel better in every way. My appetite has improved so much that I can now eat just anything anybody else can and it agrees with me perfectly. My nerves seem to be about normal again, and I feel so refreshed and well every morning that I can eat a hearty breakfast and go about my household work with as much ease as ever. I am gaining in weight right along, and feel that it is only a question of time until I will get back every pound I have lost. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to others for it is certainly doing me more good than anything I have taken."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also Foremost and Meany Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes) Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delatone paste, made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered delatone. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining delatone. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delatone you buy.—Adv.
