"Whip and Spur" Method of Forcing Big Navy Bill Excites Comment on Secrecy at Paris.

Resents Implied Threat
Representatives Graham of Illinois, republican, declaring a desire for a big navy, said the new program was "not extraordinarily large for our future safety," but added that in voting for the expansion it would be humiliating for him if it appeared that he did so "by the whip and spur that is being administered by the president."

Information Lacking
"The only information we have is a little communication that comes to us once a day," continued Mr. Graham, "that tells what somebody has done somewhere, that conveys no information and nothing we do know. Even the information under which we are called upon to pass this legislation is whispered by the secretary of the navy to the chairman of the naval committee, and we are expected to sit here like bums on a log and vote without knowing what we are voting for."

Baron De Orgler, Roumanian, one time captain of the Royal Austrian dragoons, who has but recently visited in Omaha, has found the ideal woman of his dreams. Baron De Orgler

Met in Kansas City
But always the debonair nobleman, as he traveled through the United States lecturing and exhibiting war films, was hoping that he would find again the young woman he met one great day in Kansas City.

Yes, Kansas City
And yesterday, while at Fremont, he answered a long distance call, and who should respond but the dream woman come to life.

Hears Her Voice
The conversation over the telephone, yesterday at Fremont, was one of surprising cheerfulness and promised happiness, it is said, although when Mrs. Heinemann was called up by an inquisitive newspaper man, she defiantly said: "I would not marry the best man in the world."

Baron De Orgler came to Omaha last Friday. His stay here was much lengthened by his hasty appearance in the garb of a Roumanian even to the swing of his curved cane, attracted much social attention here.

FLOOD OF NEW BILLS COMES AT LINCOLN

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 5.—With the machinery of the legislative reference bureau speeded up to its highest point of acceleration, and with an avalanche of bills pouring into the house on the last day bills could be introduced, there are still some laws that died aborning and some members who failed to come under the wire with their entries on the home stretch.

Bureau Works Overtime.
Members seemed to have gone on a regular saturnalia of bill introduction of their ability to produce new legislation was limited only to the powers of the legislative reference bureau to meet the demand.

Europe Sees in Wilson Man of Hour; If He Fails, Anarchy or Syndicalism Is to Rule

George Bernard Shaw Says the Old World Deeply Impressed by President, But Realizes Fully the Job He Has Undertaken and All Are Not Satisfied He'll Succeed.

By GEORGE BERNARD SHAW (Copyright, 1919, by Star Company.)

London, Feb. 5.—The divisions in the internal affairs of Europe, reflected as they are in the United States, will tax Mr. Wilson's diplomacy to the limit and may possibly drive him to the point at which he may have to act as master of the situation rather than as negotiator and conciliator.

Crush German Republicans Down.
When they achieved the same result in the central empires they began to use the blockade as a means of crushing the German republicans.

Would Succeed Wilson.
They call all republicans, except French and American ones, bolsheviks; and they would talk about President Wilson and President Poincare exactly as their great grandfathers talked about Washington when they dared.
