

MANY SPEAKERS TO BE AT MEET OF THE METHODISTS

Methodist World Program Convention Opens Tuesday at First Methodist Church.

The Methodist "World Program convention," which opens Tuesday evening in the First Methodist church, might have been called a "Wake Up Methodist" convention, for one of its main objects is to arouse the church to the needs of every place under the sun where this denomination has been appointed to labor.

Headquarters have been established in the Y. M. C. A. building, where the registration of delegates and other convention business is being looked after. From the number of applications for rooms, that have been received up to date, it is expected that the attendance will exceed that of any gathering of Methodists ever held in this part of the country. Arrangements are being made to supplement hotel accommodations by opening private homes for guests, and the fourteen Methodist churches of the city are canvassing their constituency in order to provide rooms for the visitors.

Dr. Fisher Principal Speaker.

Dr. Fred B. Fisher of New York, known all the over the world as a public speaker and as the leader of the laymen's missionary movement, is to be the presiding officer at the sessions of the convention. He will also be the principal speaker at the mass meeting in Brandeis theater Tuesday evening, and will deliver his lecture on "Christian Democracy for the World."

Dr. Fisher is director of the national campaign committee of the Missionary Centenary organization, under whose auspices this series of conventions is being held.

Three banquets will be served on the closing night of the convention. The ministers will dine at the First Methodist church, and the laymen and lay ladies at the Masonic Temple.

Dr. Reiserer Present.

Dr. Christian F. Reiserer, who originated the minute men idea for church purposes, will be present at the convention. He is well known in this part of the country, having been born in Kansas, and for many years a leading pastor in the west. A. F. Smith of Council Bluffs, minute man chairman for the Omaha area, has nearly 4,500 minute men speakers enrolled in his office, 61 of whom represent the Omaha Methodist churches. They are among the most active boosters for the convention and are delivering five-minute speeches at many of the services in the churches in the interest of the world program.

Buildings For District.

The centenary world program is of considerable local interest because of the fact that it includes in its provisions church building projects in the Omaha district, five of which are in the city of Omaha itself. The total cost of the five Omaha enterprises will reach in the neighborhood of $365,000, of which the Centenary commission will donate $210,000.

In the state of Nebraska the benefits from the centenary fund will amount to $620,000, and about the same amount will be assigned to the mission work in Iowa. This money is devoted chiefly to the development and support of work in down town city churches, and to sparsely settled rural communities.

Many Workers Needed.

The program not only provides for financial assistance to needy churches and unchurched neighborhoods, but calls for a large number of new religious workers, pastors, missionaries, deaconesses and teachers. The present demand is for 10,000 such workers each year, and Omaha area is expected to furnish 8 per cent of this number. Its quota of the $100,000 centenary fund is almost 8 per cent, or $8,000,000. As the membership of the Methodist church in these states is over 270,000, and in general this is one of the most prosperous sections of the country, there is no doubt that the financial goal will be reached.

In order to accomplish all these results a carefully worked out program of education and cultivation of the field has been going forward for several months. Dr. Geo. W. Isham is the executive secretary for this area, and with an able staff of assistants he is directing the centenary work from the area headquarters in the City National Bank building. Much literature is being sent out each week, and a news sheet, called the "Centenary," is being published and distributed through the area.

Model Prison System Object of Revision of Army Legal Procedure

Washington, Feb. 7.—Revision of army legal procedure may result from the work of two War department agents which now are reviewing the subject of military discipline for the purpose, not only of establishing a model system of prison administration, but also of ironing out inequalities and resultant unfairness in war time sentences.

Commandants of the various disciplinary barracks were again in conference with War department officials and it was stated that progress was being made toward definite recommendations growing out of actual experience as to prison administration.

Secretary Baker said he expected a model prison system to grow out of this study, insuring humane treatment of all prisoners.

It was explained today the recent prisoners' strike at Leavenworth barracks had terminated in an armistice, the prisoners' committee being anxious that Col. Sedgewick Rice, commandant, should come to Washington for the prison conference and had pledged good order during his absence.
