

ADVOCATES OF BIG NAVY WIN FIGHT IN HOUSE

Three-Year Building Program Approved, 194 to 142; Reavis Attacks Wilson's Policy of Secrecy.

Washington Bureau, Omaha Bee. Washington, Feb. 11.—(Special.)—Administration leaders in the house won their fight for a declaration by congress of a policy of naval expansion unless limitation of world armament is agreed upon at the peace conference. After an all-day debate, the house voted, 194 to 142, to approve the new three-year building program of 10 battleships and 10 scout cruisers and immediately afterwards adopted the entire naval appropriation bill.

The vote on the adoption of the bill was 281 to 50. As finally approved, the measure carries a total of $721,000,000 for the naval establishment during the next fiscal year, including $179,000,000 for the unfinished part of the first three-year program, adopted in 1916.

Adopted Special Rule. The house adopted, 205 to 148, a resolution of the rules committee making the naval expansion policy legislation in order, thus overcoming parliamentary advantage gained yesterday by Republican Leader Mann, whose point of order against the program had been sustained by Representative Garrett of Tennessee, democrat, temporarily presiding.

Neither the vote on the resolution nor that on final approval of the program was entirely on party lines, but the republicans on each roll call cast the majority of opposition votes. One hundred twenty-five republicans, 14 democrats, an independent, a prohibitionist and a socialist voted in the negative; 157 democrats, 35 republicans, an independent and a nonpartisan voted affirmatively.

While the rule putting into effect the three-year building program, as suggested by the executive cabinet, was adopted by a substantial majority, the speeches in opposition to the rule were, at times, vitriolic in denunciation of the hidden motives which prompted the naval committee of the house in reporting a bill carrying nearly $800,000,000.

Reavis Wants Facts Disclosed. Representative Reavis, who is always interesting, was particularly effective today in his speech opposing the rule, among other things saying: "I have never been an opponent of a navy adequate for the proper protection of American interests. I favor permanent peace in the world, but this is not a proposal that looks for perpetual peace, but a proposal which looks to a contest between Great Britain and America as to which shall be the most warlike upon the sea. It is something absolutely out of harmony with the avowed purpose of this United States when it entered this contest, and out of harmony with the wishes of the people of America when the contest was concluded."

"We are asked to authorize this program upon a cablegram spoken of in hushed terms, whispered among the few permitted to see, not a cablegram that gives the facts. Before I would be willing to authorize a program that taxes every individual in America $750 I want to know the facts that justify it.

Critics League of Nations. "I wish the president would come home. I have never been very sympathetic with this league of nations. I do not believe the greatest navy in the world is essential to American life.

"I do believe we should have less of dreams and more of good, common horse sense in the administration of the affairs of this country. We should close up the way and I do not believe that before we have done that we should be consuming our energy and time and creating tremendous expenses preparing for a war with an ally rather than closing up a peace with an enemy."

Congressman Mondell spoke along similar lines, characterizing the efforts to put the capital ship program through as "paper-guns of a paper-enlarged navy aimed at the peace table."

Representative Good of Iowa said there was no need of trying to pull the wool over the eyes of Clemenceau or Lloyd George, "for they can see through the childish sham of a bigger navy as quickly as anybody."

Mother of Abandoned Babe Now Safe at Home of Parents in Bluffs

No developments occurred yesterday in the case of Mrs. Howard Walker, daughter of William Losey, 902 Avenue F, Council Bluffs, who reclaimed her infant child from an orphanage in the Bluffs after it had been abandoned the night before on the porch of the home of District Court Reporter B. O. Brington, 515 South Fifteenth street, Council Bluffs.

The mother is as yet mentally irresponsible because of the strain she endured and is unable to tell just how it all happened.

The child is now at the home of its grandparents with the mother, but no word has come from the father. When the infant was taken to the Christian Home orphanage and publicity given to the case together with the fact that many persons sought to adopt it, mother love in the heart of the young woman prompted her to brave public acknowledgement of the details of the affair and claim the babe. It is thought she soon will regain her former health.

WANT LIBERTY OF TRANSIT FOR ALL COUNTRIES

Commission on Ports and Waterways of Peace Conference Meets in Paris; Appoint Subcommittees.

Paris, Feb. 11.—(By Associated Press.)—The commission on ports, waterways and railways of the peace conference met today with Dr. Silvio Cespi of Italy in the chair. England, supported by America, proposed the proclamation of the principle of complete liberty of transit to every country on equal conditions to all. This was opposed by Albert Clavelle, for France, and Lambros A. Coromilas for Greece, who pointed out that England and America occupied special situations that made the question of commercial land transit insignificant for them.

The commission appointed two subcommittees, one to study control of ports, waterways and railways, and the other the question of liberty of transit. The first commission has approved of the principle that no country may charge duties on goods passing through its ports or over its railways or waterways other than the freight rates paid on goods destined for the country itself.

Neither may they levy on such goods customs or local taxes. The Belgian delegates protested against allowing freight destined for German ports to pass through their territory exempt of duty thus helping the prosperity of Germany. They also claimed free navigation of the Scheldt river. The Czech-Slovaks and Poles insisted on having ports of their own, the former on the Adriatic and the latter on the Baltic. M. Coromilas proposed to give them, respectively, at Trieste and Danzig the same privileges that Greece granted to Serbia at Saloniki, where Serbia has part of the port and enjoys territorial rights. The Czech-Slovaks and Poles consider this proposition an insufficient guarantee and definite decision was postponed.

Girl-Mother, Who Reclaims Babe Cast Aside, Wins Life Battle, Says Miss Fairfax

When She Renounced What She Thought to Be All Claim to Happiness, to Hope for the Future, She Gained All That Really Makes Life Worth Living.

(By Beatrice Fairfax.) In the case of this girl mother her grief overcame her. Wild, desperate, panic-stricken, she abandoned her babe to the mercy of the world—but it's a kind old world, at that.

Then she realized that each little soul born into this life brings its own love, and that the abandonment of her infant tortured her already frantic brain more than any hell she had ever imagined. She realized that she had played the part of coward. She had lost in the great scheme of things. Then she turned to her father—a good, human father, whose own life had been brightened by his little ones—who became comforter.

Before God and the world the child-mother renounced what she thought to be all claim to happiness, to hope for the future, to bright prospects, to everything she had held dear during her early life, and clasped the warm little bundle of humanity to her breast, sobbing with pain and joy and high resolve to fight to the last bit of her strength for the love which only a mother can feel.

Wins Life Battle. But she has won! It was the turning point in her life—the test by renouncing all else but her child, she had won everything in life worth while. Mother love is the greatest. With it comes the respect of the community, the love of humanity and the blessings of our Creator.

The father! Is he escaping anything by shirking his part? Not a thing. He is storing up karma for himself for, "by your sins shall ye be repaid, when your wages at length fall due," and the wheel of Fate never stop or sidestep in favor of anyone—they grind on and on in the mill of Time. Every thought, every deed, has its punishment and its reward.

The father has lost something which never can be regained. The mother has found something which never can be taken from her. Out of suffering comes happiness—out of sorrow comes love.

Mother love! We say it so carelessly—so meaninglessly. We compare it with father love, husband love, sister and brother love—why there isn't any comparison. Only a mother knows this intense, fierce, wild passion for her child.

The little mother of 18, whose life had been wrecked by a worthless husband; who saw no ray of light in life ahead; who, in desperation abandoned her babe in the vain hope of casting aside a small part of the sorrow which was crushing her spirit and dimming her prospects for happiness, found that the wee bit of humanity had brought its own love—more love than all the rest of life could offer.

In the jungle the mother animal feeds and cares for her young. She fights for them—she goes hungry for there isn't enough food for all—she dies, if necessary, in her attempt to save them from harm. They are her babies! And while the mother is tenderly caring for her young, the father tiger, the father lion, all jungle fathers, patrol a danger line and bring food. While their love isn't that of the mother's, they do their fatherly part.

But men! Men who desert their little babies and their babies' mothers! What kind of soul have they? What kind of karma are they storing up for themselves? "The slow and remorseless wheels of fate forever turn 'round and 'round! There isn't a chance for such men to escape. They are worse than beasts—beasts care for their young."

BAND OF ALIENS TO BE DEPORTED BATTLE POLICE

Two Seattle Strike Leaders Battered in Fight With Officers on Way to Ellis Island.

New York, Feb. 11.—Fifty-four aliens, including 24 Industrial Workers of the World, nine anarchists and other undesirable, who were brought here today from Seattle and other western cities by order of the secretary of labor, were held tonight in the detention pen at Ellis Island where they will be confined awaiting their deportation to European countries.

The action of Caroline Lowe, a Chicago woman attorney, in requesting permission to visit the aliens after they had been lodged at the island, is believed to foreshadow an attempt to obtain the release of some of the number on habeas corpus proceedings, although Acting Immigration Commissioner Byron H. Uhl declares that the aliens "had had their day in court and that no lawyers could assist them."

Visitors Barred. The attorney was not permitted to visit the detention pen because she failed to show credentials that the aliens had engaged her as counsel. No visitors were allowed to visit the aliens there, according to Commissioner Uhl. Another attorney who sought to see the prisoners was barred from the island.

The nationalities of the aliens as given out by A. D. H. Jackson, chief of the Seattle immigration office who had charge of the party, is as follows: English, 7; Russian, 7; Swedes, 7; Finns, 6; Norwegians, 4; Germans, 4; Italians, 3; Spanish, Irish, Danes, Scotch, Austrians, 2 each; one Greek, one Hollander and 3 unknown. Of this number 42 were brought from Seattle, six from Chicago, five from Spokane and one from Denver. A number of those from Seattle lived in smaller cities in the northwest.

Attack Police. The only serious trouble on the trip occurred on the Ellis Island barge at the Lackawanna railroad pier in Hoboken this morning when the radicals began fighting among themselves. The suspicion that one of their number was a disguised government agent led to the trouble, officials said.

When the police and immigration officials attempted to quell the disturbance the agitators turned upon them with the result that the authorities had to use clubs and draw automatic pistols to subdue them. No shots were fired.

Government to Keep Faith With Farmers on Wheat, Says Gore

Washington, Feb. 11.—Senator Gore of Oklahoma, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, in an address today in the senate declared that the farmers of the United States could rest assured that the government would keep faith with them in carrying out the guaranteed price of $2.26 a bushel for wheat.

The presidential proclamation fixing the price for 1919 wheat, Senator Gore asserted, "creates an obligation against the government—an obligation which is as sacred as that of a thrift stamp or a United States bond."

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Resolutions commending the United States food administration for establishing a minimum price for hogs and for its admirable success in protecting in general the interests of the live stock producers throughout the country during the period of the war, were adopted today at the annual meeting of the Chicago Live Stock exchange. The resolutions stated that the action of the government in fixing a minimum price for hogs saved live stock producers $200,000,000.

During the year the members of the exchange handled for producers in the Chicago market 17,691,615 head of cattle, calves, hogs and sheep, valued at $888,468,657, which set a new record for receipts at the Chicago stock yards.

CAPT. ERWIN SAYS HE COULD HARDLY COLLECT FARES

Popular C. B. & Q. Conductor Tells of Improvement; Gains Fifteen Pounds.

"I am right on the job and ready to take my train out every trip since I began taking Tanlac," said Captain Ed J. Erwin, one of the best known, and from point of service, one of the oldest conductors running out of Kansas City, and whose residence is 4024 Highland Ave., that city. Capt. Erwin has been conductor on the C. B. & Q. railroad for thirty-six years.

The captain was feeling mighty good at the time he made the following statement and seemed to take a great deal of pleasure in telling what Tanlac had done for him. "Before I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I was in such a tired run-down condition that I actually dreaded to get up out of my seat to take up fares, and I frequently had to stay off my run for two or three trips at a time. About three years ago my stomach went back on me, and it has caused me no end of suffering. This trouble just seemed to gradually grow worse all the time, and finally got so bad that everything I ate would sour and cause gas to form on my stomach and I would be perfectly miserable for hours after eating. I was badly constipated all the time and my nerves got in, such bad shape that I was hardly ever able to get a night of good, refreshing sleep. I finally lost my appetite and began to lose weight, and could just feel my strength leaving me, and I finally found myself in a very badly run-down condition.

"I am telling the boys all up and down the line what Tanlac has done for me, and I tell them if they ever need any medicine not to pass Tanlac up. I can handle my train with as much ease now as I did many years ago, and I don't have that tired, worn-out feeling any more. My nerves are as steady as a die, and I sleep like a log every night. My appetite is as good as it ever was and I can eat meat, vegetables or just anything that comes to hand and never suffer a minute from it. I have gained fifteen pounds already and feel just fine and dandy all the time. Yes, sir, I am delighted with Tanlac and it gives me a great deal of pleasure to recommend it to everybody."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative. Also Forrest and Money Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.

What Happens to the food you eat?

Advertisement for Nujol laxative. Text: During digestion certain kinds of food containing proteins, such as meat, egg white, milk casein, wheat gluten, etc., are split into many different substances. Some of these the body uses to rebuild damaged or dead tissues; some, however, are not only useless and harmful but in some cases actually poisonous. Regular, thorough bowel evacuation gets rid of the latter. Constipation permits stagnation and absorption of these poisons into the blood, with injury to the whole body. Taking castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., in order to force the bowels to move does not—cannot cure constipation—but makes it worse. On the other hand Nujol overcomes constipation and brings about the habit of easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals, because Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug.

But NOW. It's a tragedy to realize that loose, falling teeth mean the advent of pyorrhea, that insidious mouth affliction from which so many people suffer. PYROS FOR PYORRHEA. (The Million Dollar Secret Formula) Is, perhaps, the surest, strongest and most efficient remedy for this horrid affliction yet discovered. PYROS is strictly an ethical and scientific preparation of proven merit, in the treatment of Pyorrhea. PYROS is the result of sixteen years of scientific research and experimentation and favor is sought for it from the public on its merit alone. The uniformly remarkable results coming from its use upon victims of Pyorrhea in all of its stages, justify the million-dollar value placed upon this secret formula by professional men who know its almost miraculous power. PYROS is such a powerful penetrant, antiseptic and astringent that it will work its way into the flesh tissues of the gums and the bone tissue of the roots of the teeth and the jaw bones. But with all its powerful penetrating power it inflicts no burning, soreness or pain upon the patient other than a slightly unpleasant astringent taste soon forgotten because of the clean, sweet, wholesome condition in which it leaves the mouth. Use it as a tooth cleanser, a mouth wash and a treatment for the prevention or cure of Pyorrhea, regardless of the stage of the disease.
