DECISION SET ASIDE IN CASE OF STATE BANK

Supreme Court Upholds Verdict of Board; Reverses Damage Case Against Street Railway Company.

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Feb. 15.—(Special).—The coming week in the state senate will see more important legislation than any time since the opening of the sessions.

The civil administrative code bill, the most voluminous measure introduced, completely reorganizing the state government in accordance to the wishes of Governor McKelvie, will make its appearance on the floor of the upper chamber. The committee, appointed at the opening of the session to take the bill in charge, has completed its work and is ready to report back with the recommendation that the measure pass.

Although no definite statement has been made, it is understood that when the bill comes out from the committee this week there will be few changes from the original draft. The senate will early this week complete the formality of providing for a new state capitol to cost $5,000,000.

The senate committees are well up on their work and are anticipating that they will be ready for adjournment well within the time limit which leaders have fixed. Old legislative observers declare that the session has made more progress than any legislature since 1907—the last time when the republican party had complete control of both bodies.

Merry Scrap May Come Out of Investigation of Old Soldiers' Home

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 15.—There is likely to be a merry war between the senate investigating committee of public institutions and the State Board of Control.

Recently the senate committee recommended in its report to the senate and to the board of control the retirement of Commandant J. F. Walsh of the soldiers' and sailors' home at Grand Island and of Commandant W. N. Hensley of the soldiers' and sailors' home at Milford, giving as a reason that the duties of the offices could be better filled by younger men.

Members of the committee expected that the members of the state board would promptly act on these recommendations, and, after waiting for a few days, Chairman Bradford went before the board Saturday morning and asked in regard to the matter.

He was informed that the board would take no action and it refused to act on the recommendations of the committee.

It is hinted that the senate committee will file charges against the State Board of Control and will incidentally give its real reasons for asking for the removal of the two men affected by its report.

Dardanelles Opened to American Shipping

Washington, Feb. 15.—For the first time since the outbreak of the war, the Dardanelles have been opened to commerce, and trading between America and the Turkish empire and Bulgaria permitted.

Announcement was made tonight by the war trade board that the supreme economic council in Paris today had authorized resumption by the United States of trade with those countries and had opened also to American trade all ports on the Black sea.

The board's announcement made clear that in those regions which had been under enemy domination—Turkey and Bulgaria—arrangements would be made by the associated governments to insure that this resumption of trade would not lessen the effectiveness of the present blockade of the central powers.

NAVY HOLDS ON TO YOUNG MEN TO MAN TRANSPORTS

Secretary Daniels Writes Governor McKelvie About Situation With Respect to Releases from Duty.

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Feb. 15.—(Special).—The navy will not release all the young men who desire to return to civilian life until the soldiers are returned from France. This is the reply of Secretary Daniels to the letter of Governor McKelvie, who asked the co-operation of the department in obtaining early release of Nebraska men who are needed on the farms.

"We have released now about 125,000 and we are releasing them as fast as we can do so without impairment of the service. I hope that within a comparatively short time we may be able to release all young men who desire it. We could have made releases earlier, but the necessity of manning the ships, which are bringing back the soldiers from France, requires us to keep many young men who wish to get out of the service," Secretary Daniels advised the governor.

Governor McKelvie did not see Secretary Daniels on his recent trip to Washington. The governor, in his letter, explained that he was not urging the release of men on an occupational basis, but felt that with an industry so important as farming it would be highly important that those who will have employment in that industry upon their return, should be released, instead of those who will be without employment when they are released.

The governor has been besieged with requests from Nebraska farmers who are seeking the release of their sons in time to take up their work on the farms at the opening of the season, which is not more than a month away.

Many School Measures Pass on Third Reading by State Legislature

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Feb. 15.—The house, in session this morning, confined its activities principally to the passage of bills on third reading.

The following went through the hopper:

H. R. No. 158—Legalizing state grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star as an independent jurisdiction.
H. R. No. 159—Raises Omaha school tax limit from 45 to 50 mills.
H. R. No. 157—Provides for payment of teachers' salaries when schools are closed on account of an epidemic.

H. R. No. 157—Directs payment of interest annually on Lincoln school bonds.
H. R. No. 27—Raises maximum school levy when 60 per cent of voters favor such special levy, from 48 to 100 mills in districts having more than 100 pupils, except in larger cities.
H. R. No. 61—Creates commission with appropriation of $500 to adjust boundaries between Nebraska and Iowa.

H. R. No. 68—Makes school district that refuses to furnish transportation to children living more than two miles from school liable for tuition in any other district in the state where such children may attend.
H. R. No. 106—Prohibits aliens being licensed to teach in any public, private or parochial school, and makes it the duty of county superintendents to prevent them doing so. Penalty, fine not exceeding $100.

H. R. No. 208—Omaha school janitors' salaries and pension bill.
H. R. No. 215—Allows officers, stockholders or owners of an insolvent bank to release it from custody by filing an approved surety bond.
H. R. No. 255—Limits redemption period for tax sales of real estate to three years; authorizes county boards direct the bringing of suits by county attorney to foreclose overdue tax liens, and allows county attorneys a commission ranging up to 10 per cent of all moneys collected.

H. R. No. 246—Increases state aid allowance for normal training in high schools from $250 to $500 per year.

Starts Suit for Possession of Ring and $10 Damages

Fremont, Feb. 15.—(Special Telegram).—An unusual suit was started in district court today when Mrs. Christina Dunkel sued Mrs. Belle Roth for possession of a diamond ring valued at $500 and damages of $10. The information sets forth that the defendant is in unlawful possession of finger adornment and has been since last August. The ring was recovered by the plaintiff today through replevin proceedings and now the courts are asked to decide the ownership. The information does not state how the defendant came into possession of the ring.

Representative Kinkaid Short-Changed in Office

Lincoln, Feb. 15.—(Special).—When former Secretary of State Pool issued the certificate of election to his successful adversary, Moses P. Kinkaid, representative in congress in the "Big Sixth" district of Nebraska, he "short changed" the solon on his term of office, according to Kinkaid's complaint to Secretary of State Amsberry.

Kinkaid's letter follows those of Congressman Jefferis and Reavis, wherein the term of each was made to expire January 6, 1921, instead of March 4, 1921.

The error in certificates has been corrected by the governor's office.

Kept at Home. Was "Sore."

Los Angeles.—"Sore" because he had been in the army since 1912 and was not sent to France, Pvt. Robert Marquardt deserted. "It would make you sore," he told the policeman who arrested him. "Rookies who blew in with the draft got honor medals and I had to stay at home."
