

INVESTIGATE AVERAGE COST OF LIVING HERE

House to House Canvass to Be Made Under Direction of Miss Huntington; Work Starts Today.

The cost of living investigation, as part of the work of the Department of Labor in Washington, will begin in Omaha today under the direction of Miss Emily Huntington and 12 federal agents.

This is a phase of the work carried on throughout the United States to make, by house-to-house canvass, an exact estimate of the average cost of living for one family. This is used as a basis for adjustment in wage increases and discussions concerning wage regulations.

The city will be divided into districts and with the co-operation of the housewives an estimate on a weekly basis will be made for all families where there is at least one child.

This was commenced as a war measure, but as the relation between wages and personal living expenses became so intermingled the investigation has continued as it proceeds, ever growing out of itself.

Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of Love Comes Like a Summer Breeze. But What Is Love?

Best three, cash awards of $5, $3 and $2; next 20, each a good (love story) book. Not over 200 words; if not original quote author; name will not be printed except in awards. Closes March 1. Address Contest Editor, The Bee, Omaha.

No. 188. True love grows ever sweeter Where'er its silken hand is bruised and bent to breaking By fate's relentless hand.

Loved one aglow with gladness Have fevered hearts that feel The sting of jealous madness. Still, though that happy weal.

True hearts beat ever fonder, Through sorrow, pain and care; In rhythmic sympathy love Goes purring, everywhere.

Friendships are transitory; May like winged idols fly. Love waits, an attribute of hope To cheer, when others die.

Love! Enduring monument! Above the tumbled clods, Lives on, loves on forever. The supreme God, of gods.

No. 184. Love—a giant power which seems to gather strength from obstructions, at every difficulty rises to higher flight. All-dominant, all-conquering, a grand leveler, bringing down to its own universal line of equalization the proudest heights, removing most stubborn impediments. Like death, it levels all ranks and lays the shepherd's crook beside the scepter. There is no hope of resisting, it outwatches the most vigilant, submerges everything, acquiring strength as it proceeds, ever growing out of itself.

Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 187. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 186. Love is a giant power which seems to gather strength from obstructions, at every difficulty rises to higher flight. All-dominant, all-conquering, a grand leveler, bringing down to its own universal line of equalization the proudest heights, removing most stubborn impediments. Like death, it levels all ranks and lays the shepherd's crook beside the scepter. There is no hope of resisting, it outwatches the most vigilant, submerges everything, acquiring strength as it proceeds, ever growing out of itself.

No. 185. Let me not to the marriage of true minds Admit impediments. Love is not Love. When alters when it alteration finds, Or bends with the remover to remove; O, no! it is an ever-fixed mark. That looks on tempests and is never shaking.

No. 183. Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and evening star. It shines on the babe,

No. 182. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 181. The Bible tells us God is love. If we think enough of one another to give our life for them if necessary that is true love.

No. 180. Love for the person of the opposite sex is a trance state into which I am thrown by the presence of that one. If it is true love—which is never afterward experienced—it awakens me to see myself in another. We can have the true ultra love but once in life. This mutual responsiveness is a grand awakener in which a man experiences self-perception of the spiritual kind; beholds himself as nature designed him to be.

No. 179. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 178. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 177. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 176. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 175. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 174. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 173. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 172. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 171. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 170. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 169. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 168. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 167. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 166. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 165. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 164. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 163. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 162. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 161. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 160. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 159. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 158. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 157. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 156. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

FINE PRIZES FOR BEST ANSWERS.

Best three, cash awards of $5, $3 and $2; next 20, each a good (love story) book. Not over 200 words; if not original quote author; name will not be printed except in awards. Closes March 1. Address Contest Editor, The Bee, Omaha.

No. 188. True love grows ever sweeter Where'er its silken hand is bruised and bent to breaking By fate's relentless hand.

Loved one aglow with gladness Have fevered hearts that feel The sting of jealous madness. Still, though that happy weal.

True hearts beat ever fonder, Through sorrow, pain and care; In rhythmic sympathy love Goes purring, everywhere.

Friendships are transitory; May like winged idols fly. Love waits, an attribute of hope To cheer, when others die.

Love! Enduring monument! Above the tumbled clods, Lives on, loves on forever. The supreme God, of gods.

No. 184. Love—a giant power which seems to gather strength from obstructions, at every difficulty rises to higher flight. All-dominant, all-conquering, a grand leveler, bringing down to its own universal line of equalization the proudest heights, removing most stubborn impediments. Like death, it levels all ranks and lays the shepherd's crook beside the scepter. There is no hope of resisting, it outwatches the most vigilant, submerges everything, acquiring strength as it proceeds, ever growing out of itself.

Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 183. Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and evening star. It shines on the babe,

No. 182. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 181. The Bible tells us God is love. If we think enough of one another to give our life for them if necessary that is true love.

No. 180. Love for the person of the opposite sex is a trance state into which I am thrown by the presence of that one. If it is true love—which is never afterward experienced—it awakens me to see myself in another. We can have the true ultra love but once in life. This mutual responsiveness is a grand awakener in which a man experiences self-perception of the spiritual kind; beholds himself as nature designed him to be.

No. 179. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 178. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 177. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 176. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 175. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 174. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 173. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 172. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 171. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 170. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 169. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 168. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 167. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 166. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 165. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 164. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

No. 163. Love is a beautiful flower that grows by the stream of Life. Its roots are deep in the red soil of the primitive pain. While its bloom aspires to heaven, it is beaten by the storms of passion, but never destroyed. It has lived through the ages, to guide and cheer us. As we float down the River of Time, may this precious gem remain forever.

No. 162. Love is the light, the majesty of life; that principle to which, after all our struggling, writhing and twisting, all things must be resolved. Take it away, what becomes of

LeRoy Wade, Against Whom Charges Were Filed Few Weeks Ago, Hands in Resignation.

Two more officers have resigned from the Omaha police force, resignations taking effect March 1. They are LeRoy W. Wade, who has been on the force since September 15, 1912. He is going to be an automobile salesman. Charges were filed against Wade at the same time as against Capt. John Briggs, a few weeks ago, alleging "misconduct in office" in serving a warrant bearing a forged signature.

After the hearing of Briggs, the charges against Wade were dismissed. The other resignation is that of H. J. Hetland, an officer on the morals squad. He has been on the force since June 1, 1915. He is going on a farm near Elgin, Ill.

She states that several wagon loads of coal, covering almost half the width of Hawthorne avenue, was left from September 25 until September 29, with no guard, light or warning, and that as a result the automobile in which she was riding struck the coal and that she has never recovered from the effects of her injuries.

She says it has affected her disposition, making her "moody."

"Palestine for Jews" Petitions Are Called in by the Zionists

Petitions for the restoration of Palestine to the Jews, now being circulated in the Jewish community, have been called in. They are to be returned to M. Mendelsohn in the synagogue at Nineteenth and Burr streets before Sunday.

This action was announced at a meeting of the Zionist Organization of America, Omaha district, held Wednesday evening, in response to a telegram from national headquarters announcing all petitions must be in the New York office by March 5.

Louis Kneeter presided in place of the chairman, Dr. A. Romm, who is ill.

Community Song Leaders Conduct "Sing" at Dance

Following the song leaders' practice Wednesday evening in the Y. W. C. A., War Camp Community service conducted a "sing" at a dance given by the Nebraska Power and Light Co. employees, Ralph Conkling of Tekamah, Neb., and Mildred Scoville of Seneca, Kan., were out-of-town visitors at the song practice. The next meeting will be held next Wednesday, Harry Morrison, director, announces.

The current number of "Musical America," comments on the splendid demonstration of community singing in Omaha for the Roosevelt Memorial meeting, February 9.

Powell Goes to Norfolk to Boost Their Auto Show

Clarke G. Powell, manager of Omaha's Auto show, went to Norfolk yesterday to address at dinner tonight the boosters of the Norfolk Auto show, March 19 to 22.

Mr. Powell aims to tell them all the ropes of putting on a successful auto exhibition.

The Norfolk exhibition is to be held the week following to the Omaha show.

Bemis Park and Base Ball Ground Opened to Skaters

Park Commissioner Falconer announces that there is splendid skating now on the flooded base ball ground, Thirty-second street and Dewey avenue and in Bemis park. If the cold weather continues the ponds in Miller park and Hanscom park will be in good condition for skating by Saturday.

MRS. HARSTON HAD SUFFERED TWELVE YEARS

Says She Wouldn't Take Best Farm in State for Good Tanlac Did Her.

"I wouldn't take the best farm in Illinois for the good Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. Lulu Harston of East Peoria, Ill.

They called my trouble nervous indigestion and I suffered from it for twelve years," she continued. "It seemed like I couldn't get anything to eat that agreed with me, and while I was as careful as any human could be about what I ate, I would suffer for hours after each meal from gas that would form from undigested food, and this gas would rise and press against my heart and make it flutter. I couldn't take any exercise out of the ordinary without being bothered with shortness of breath and sometimes I would have such dizzy spells that everything in the room would seem to be whirling around and I would have to sit or lie down to keep from falling. After these spells, I would have awful headaches that would almost blind me and my head would feel like it would split. I suffered such agony that I began to look forward to the future with dread. Just when I was bleakest, a neighbor called and told me that she had been taking Tanlac and it had relieved her of trouble very much like mine. I could see for myself that she was looking like another person from what she had been, so I decided to give Tanlac a trial.

"From the very first day I began to improve and by the time I had finished the first bottle my stomach was in so much better condition that I could eat almost anything without being bothered with indigestion afterwards." As I kept taking the medicine, I kept getting better, and now after the third bottle I am entirely free from every one of my troubles. I eat heartily three times a day and digest everything perfectly. My nerves are calm, too, and I sleep as peacefully as a child all night long. I praise Tanlac many times every day because it has brought me strength and health and a chance to enjoy life after many years of pain and weakness."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy. Also Forest and Meany Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading drugist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.

Radiant Cannel Lump and Egg $10 Per Ton

The New Fuel Oil Coal A Condensed Heat Coal

Every day brings new customers from the recommendation of those using it, both in Omaha and from the surrounding states.

Lights from a newspaper. It is a quick breakfast coal. It is good for the furnace, heater or grate. This is the new product in the coal line. Try it.

Coal Hill Coal Company Exclusive Distributors. 211 South 19th St. Douglas 978-3 Phones.

TWO MORE OMAHA OFFICERS QUIT POLICE FORCE

LeRoy Wade, Against Whom Charges Were Filed Few Weeks Ago, Hands in Resignation.

Two more officers have resigned from the Omaha police force, resignations taking effect March 1. They are LeRoy W. Wade, who has been on the force since September 15, 1912. He is going to be an automobile salesman. Charges were filed against Wade at the same time as against Capt. John Briggs, a few weeks ago, alleging "misconduct in office" in serving a warrant bearing a forged signature.

After the hearing of Briggs, the charges against Wade were dismissed. The other resignation is that of H. J. Hetland, an officer on the morals squad. He has been on the force since June 1, 1915. He is going on a farm near Elgin, Ill.

She states that several wagon loads of coal, covering almost half the width of Hawthorne avenue, was left from September 25 until September 29, with no guard, light or warning, and that as a result the automobile in which she was riding struck the coal and that she has never recovered from the effects of her injuries.

She says it has affected her disposition, making her "moody."

"Palestine for Jews" Petitions Are Called in by the Zionists

Petitions for the restoration of Palestine to the Jews, now being circulated in the Jewish community, have been called in. They are to be returned to M. Mendelsohn in the synagogue at Nineteenth and Burr streets before Sunday.

This action was announced at a meeting of the Zionist Organization of America, Omaha district, held Wednesday evening, in response to a telegram from national headquarters announcing all petitions must be in the New York office by March 5.

Louis Kneeter presided in place of the chairman, Dr. A. Romm, who is ill.

Community Song Leaders Conduct "Sing" at Dance

Following the song leaders' practice Wednesday evening in the Y. W. C. A., War Camp Community service conducted a "sing" at a dance given by the Nebraska Power and Light Co. employees, Ralph Conkling of Tekamah, Neb., and Mildred Scoville of Seneca, Kan., were out-of-town visitors at the song practice. The next meeting will be held next Wednesday, Harry Morrison, director, announces.

The current number of "Musical America," comments on the splendid demonstration of community singing in Omaha for the Roosevelt Memorial meeting, February 9.

Powell Goes to Norfolk to Boost Their Auto Show

Clarke G. Powell, manager of Omaha's Auto show, went to Norfolk yesterday to address at dinner tonight the boosters of the Norfolk Auto show, March 19 to 22.

Mr. Powell aims to tell them all the ropes of putting on a successful auto exhibition.

The Norfolk exhibition is to be held the week following to the Omaha show.

Bemis Park and Base Ball Ground Opened to Skaters

Park Commissioner Falconer announces that there is splendid skating now on the flooded base ball ground, Thirty-second street and Dewey avenue and in Bemis park. If the cold weather continues the ponds in Miller park and Hanscom park will be in good condition for skating by Saturday.

MRS. HARSTON HAD SUFFERED TWELVE YEARS

Says She Wouldn't Take Best Farm in State for Good Tanlac Did Her.

"I wouldn't take the best farm in Illinois for the good Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. Lulu Harston of East Peoria, Ill.

They called my trouble nervous indigestion and I suffered from it for twelve years," she continued. "It seemed like I couldn't get anything to eat that agreed with me, and while I was as careful as any human could be about what I ate, I would suffer for hours after each meal from gas that would form from undigested food, and this gas would rise and press against my heart and make it flutter. I couldn't take any exercise out of the ordinary without being bothered with shortness of breath and sometimes I would have such dizzy spells that everything in the room would seem to be whirling around and I would have to sit or lie down to keep from falling. After these spells, I would have awful headaches that would almost blind me and my head would feel like it would split. I suffered such agony that I began to look forward to the future with dread. Just when I was bleakest, a neighbor called and told me that she had been taking Tanlac and it had relieved her of trouble very much like mine. I could see for myself that she was looking like another person from what she had been, so I decided to give Tanlac a trial.

"From the very first day I began to improve and by the time I had finished the first bottle my stomach was in so much better condition that I could eat almost anything without being bothered with indigestion afterwards." As I kept taking the medicine, I kept getting better, and now after the third bottle I am entirely free from every one of my troubles. I eat heartily three times a day and digest everything perfectly. My nerves are calm, too, and I sleep as peacefully as a child all night long. I praise Tanlac many times every day because it has brought me strength and health and a chance to enjoy life after many years of pain and weakness."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all Sherman & McConnell Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy. Also Forest and Meany Drug Company in South Omaha and the leading drugist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.—Adv.

Woman Asks $25,000 Damages Because Her Disposition is 'Moody'

A suit for personal injuries has been filed in the federal court by Anna Robinson against Morris M. Rosenblatt of the Rosenblatt Cut Price Coal company for $25,000.

She states that several wagon loads of coal, covering almost half the width of Hawthorne avenue, was left from September 25 until September 29, with no guard, light or warning, and that as a result the automobile in which she was riding struck the coal and that she has never recovered from the effects of her injuries.

She says it has affected her disposition, making her "moody."

Otis Skinner to Speak at Omaha Rotary Club Dinner

Otis Skinner will be the guest of honor of the Omaha Rotary club at a dinner in the grill room of the Omaha Athletic club the evening of March 3. The distinguished actor will make an after-dinner speech and then there will be a big "surprise act" in the gymnasium of the club.

Shriners Go to Lincoln to Help Candidates Over Sands

Forty Shriners, members of Tangier Temple, occupying a special car on the Burlington, this afternoon went to Lincoln, where tonight they will aid the Lincoln Shrine at the initiation of a large class of candidates. The Omaha men will return tomorrow.

Extra Pants Sale

Two Days Only FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Our Entire Stock of Extra Trousers AT A BIG REDUCTION

Trousers that sold from $4.00 to $12.00 Now at Five Special Prices:

$4.00 and $5.00 Trousers Now $2.95

$6.00 and $6.50 Trousers Now $3.95

$7.00 and $7.50 Trousers Now $4.95

$8.00 and $8.50 Trousers Now $5.95

$9.00 to $12.00 Trousers Now $7.95

Hundreds of choice patterns, stripes, checks and plain colors, worsteds, chevrons, cassimeres, serges, tweeds, homespun flannels, etc., etc. Sizes 28 to 50. See Window Display.