

Aged Watchman Dies in Burning Building; Body Found in Debris

In a Friday morning blaze which destroyed the grocery store of Chris Lyck, Fifty-second street and Military avenue, Nels Anderson, 67 years old, was burned to death. Anderson, who was employed as night watchman in the building, is believed to have been overcome by the smoke when he attempted to escape from the blazing building. The body was found two hours after the structure collapsed beneath the smoldering ruins. It was burned and charred almost beyond recognition. The police have been unable to find any trace of the man's relatives.

Technical Subjects Are in Big Demand at Library
In a special effort to supply a demand for technical information, the public library has placed a 1919 order for the leading technical periodicals published. The demand for these periodicals is stimulated by the proximity of Fort Omaha. The library is also placing orders for new books on technical subjects.

IT'S NO SECRET
where she got her color. Many women, perhaps your neighbor, will tell you that she got her wonderful color, her vivacious spirits, her strength and health by taking a "temperance" tonic, known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Probably no man in America was ever better qualified to successfully treat the diseases peculiar to women than Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. The cases that come to him run into many thousands, giving him an experience that rarely comes to any one man. Dr. Pierce found that in nearly every case there were certain vegetable growths which rarely failed to give prompt relief in those feminine disorders from which so many women suffer. He combined these roots and herbs into a temperance medicine that he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for that is precisely what it was. This medicine is sold in both liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. Favorite Prescription is a distinct remedy for women and acts directly upon the organs that characterize the sex. It is not necessary to take a long course of treatment with this standard medicine. A weakly, sickly, back-ache, nervous, despondent woman, with regular or irregular pains—with feminine disorders that come in youth or middle age—is pretty sure to find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the exact remedy that her condition calls for, and to find it after a very few doses are taken. Why women should allow themselves to stay sick when a very little money spent for this remedy will probably make them well, is something no one can explain.

STORM TIES UP BRANCH LINES OVER NEBRASKA

Temperatures Range to Below Zero Mark; 25 People Stuck in Drift Near Norfolk, Neb.

Central Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma were more severely hit by the storm of yesterday and day before than was Nebraska, according to reports last night. A report from Norfolk yesterday afternoon was that 25 passengers have been stuck in a large snow drift near Wausa since Wednesday night, with prospects that they would be forced to remain there for some hours longer. Train service on branch lines is badly crippled. Traffic was at a standstill on the Wakefield-Crofton branch yesterday, and although the Northwestern reported all main trains moving, they were several hours late.

A telegram from Beatrice last night announced that a heavy blizzard visited that vicinity early yesterday. The temperature dropped to two below zero and considerable suffering among stock was reported. Gustav Dukahn, 70 years old, a farmer living north of Norfolk froze his hands and feet Thursday night when a team he was driving ran away, throwing him into a snow-drift where he was forced to remain several hours, before being rescued by his son. A heavy snow with sub-zero temperature intensified by a heavy northwest wind crippled street car traffic and railroad service at Sioux City yesterday, and caused the schools to be closed. The storm is quite general over Iowa.

McGovern Wins Contest.
Thomas J. McGovern won the gold medal offered as first prize in the oratorical contest held at Creighton university last night. Ralph L. Neary won second prize and Ralph Swoboda won third. The judges were J. N. Harding, C. J. Malon and L. C. Nash. McGovern will represent Creighton in the state oratorical contest to be held at York soon.

Clever Answers in The Bee's "What Is Love?" Contest

AWARDS WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER.
So many good answers have been submitted in this contest that we will continue to print them from day to day as space permits and announce awards at the conclusion. In the interval we want to thank all the hundreds of readers who responded for their help in making the contest such a wonderful success.

No. 192.
Love is an affection of the mind when excited by beauty or worth of any kind. It is the internal feeling of kindness, which one bears to another and the expression of that benevolence in words and acts, which gratefully and benefit another. Love is a wonderful sensation that may come either suddenly or gradually and is one of the most lovely, thrilling and delightful sensations in a lifetime. One feels that they have come in contact with the most delightful of gifts in life.

No. 193.
Love is a form of disease; it is blind as a bat; it makes a feeble-minded idiot out of you; it gets you into more trouble than you ever knew was in this world before. Love is also an extreme in one of the "couplets" existing in nature, hate is the other. If we want either of these extremes we must have them both. One creates the other. Therefore while love is the most noble and holy inspiration that ever set the heart ablaze, it is also the most dangerous and destructive element that ever befell mankind. With this

Love is the spirit of God abroad upon this earth. Its highest manifestation is self-respect, keeping pure and clean in your own right and therefore in the sight of God so that your children's children may rise and call you blessed. Its lowest manifestation is the idle passion of an idle hour.

No. 195.
Love is an inward inexpresibility of an outward alloverishness.

The Doctor's Advice

The first question the doctor asks is: are the bowels open and regular? If not he advises the use of a thorough cathartic for he recognizes the danger of clogged bowels. As a precaution against sickness there is nothing better than to keep the bowels free from food-waste because of the dangerous poisons which are absorbed into the blood from that source. Your druggist has a product called SALINOS, which will completely empty the bowels, including the lower bowel, where most poisons are formed. It is pleasant in taste, pleasant and sure in action and creates no habit. It is fully effective in cold water. It does not gripe. Get a bottle. Take it in cold water first thing tomorrow morning. —Adv.

AT THE THEATERS

TO THE old time patrons of burlesque who have seen such stars as Weber and Fields, Leon Errol, Sam Bernard and David Warfield graduate from its ranks there is always the satisfactory feeling that they are being entertained at the Gayety these days by the very comedians who may eventually win the exalted recognition now given the gentlemen listed above. There is a plausible possibility that the cast of "The Great Star and Garter Show," opening this afternoon, contains just such timber. Omaha's contribution to the cast is J. C. Randolph whose tenor voice will be heard to great advantage several times during the performance. Tomorrow's matinee starts at 3:00.

One of the stars announced for a visit to the Orpheum here is Lucille Cavanagh, who comes for the week starting March 16. She and her three associates, Wheeler Wadsworth, Mel Craig and William B. Taylor, will appear in an elaborate offering of dance, color and song. The orchestra is to be under the personal direction of James Steiger. The act is presented by Martin Beck.

On this, the final day of the excellent bill headed by Hobart Bosworth in "The Sea Wolf," at the Orpheum theater, the seat reservations are especially large. The curtain this evening is to rise at 8 o'clock. For next week, opening with the Sunday matinee, there are to be two headline attractions. One of them will be The Barr Twins, who are to offer a refreshing interlude of song and dance. Another stellar attraction will be contributed by Maud Earl. She and her company are to present a fantastic offering called "The Vocal Verdict," Gus Edward's Annual Song Revue, always a popular event at the Orpheum is underlined for the week of March 9.

Scenes in the days when the earth was young, and mankind was new and vigorous, open "The Birth of a Race," the great photoplay drama that is being unfolded at the Gayety this week. It starts with the creation and comes down in a well devised and splendidly photographed allegory to the time of the world-war. Then it shows how two American families were caught up in the swirl of events. No flag-waving or over-the-top charging, no heroes or heroine bearing a charmed life and doing impossible things—just a well-wrought and effectively carried out drama of everyday people. The special music is quite a feature of the entertainment. Twice each day, afternoon and evening.

Harold Lockwood has the most congenial role of his brilliant career as Danny Rowland in "Pals First," which will be shown at the Brandeis theater today, matinee and evening. As Danny Rowland, a thief, a pickpocket, a safe-cracker owing two years to San Quentin prison, he finds refuge with his pal, Dominic, in an aristocratic Tennessee home. After he is believed to be the long lost absent master of the house, Dick Castleman. He is exposed as a criminal when his pal learns of his engagement to Dick's sweetheart, Jean Logan, obliging him to reveal himself as the real Dick Castleman and to explain that he assumed Danny's identity for the purpose of retrieving the lost soul of the world-battered but lovable Dominic.

Otis Skinner, in "The Honor of the Family," is booked at the Brandeis for three days, beginning next Monday, March 3. "The Honor of the Family" came to the Gayety in which Mr. Skinner made one of his very biggest hits—many persons say his biggest—just 10 years ago. His Colonel Philippe Bridau, that's the part he plays in this piece—is a masterpiece—one of the finest portraits in the gallery of the American stage. His re-appearance on the Omaha stage will be one of the events of the current season.

Capacity houses greet the "Rising Generation," the juvenile masterpiece which is being presented at the Empress theater by 10 kiddies, and the audience manifest their approval unstintedly. Master Chas. Blake, the smallest kiddie, is the comedian and he puts the house in an uproar. Chas. Monahan, the child yodler, and Mary Caroline Daniel, the "woop" impersonator, receive encores galore.

Bernstein to Speak—Nathan Bernstein will speak on "Americanization" at the meeting of the Omaha Hebrew club Sunday afternoon in its rooms in the Crounse block, Sixteenth and Capitol avenue, beginning at 3 o'clock.
