

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

The strength of a nation, especially of a republican nation, is in the well ordered and intelligent homes of the people.

The massive gates of circumstance, are turned upon the smallest things. And thus some seeming petty chance Oft gives our life and after tings.

Y. W. Hostess Houses Are Open to Americans in Rome and Italy

Feather pillows in quantities are to be found in the American Y. W. C. A. hostess houses for women war workers in Rome, Italy, though cretonne curtains, the sure sign of a Y. W. C. A. hut overseas, are lacking.

With the signing of the lease for the first floor apartment of one large and two small rooms at No. 22 Via S. Niccola de Tolentino, which is the Blue Triangle hostess house, a countess of American birth hastened to Miss Mable Warner of Salina, Kan., the director, and offered all the feather pillows necessary to the comfort of the apartment.

Several days later 15 American women working with the Red Cross, at the embassy in Rome, and a few nurses, dropped into the hostess house for tea and so it was opened before the curtains were up, the pillows made or the chairs covered.

Major Fuller, at present head of the American Red Cross in Italy, has welcomed the hostess house most cordially, expressing his thanks to the Y. W. C. A. for affording a recreation center for the American women Red Cross workers.

The house will probably result in the Y. W. C. A. opening a large hotel, or residence home for American women in Rome.

New England women have commenced preparations for the Julia Ward Howe centenary celebration to be held next May.

Now She's Sorry

Virginia Chester's sorry! She's at Big Bear with the Harry Carey company making the "Outcast of Poker Flat," and she writes to her studio friends telling them how awfully cold it is up north and that she is positively freezing to death.

And why?
Only a few of Miss Chester's friends at Universal City know that the day before the Carey company went to Big Bear the popular actress bobbed her hair in a Nazimova—"to be in style."

And now—she's sorry. At Big Bear the winds are piercing. The back of one's neck is, oh, so defenseless against snowdrift, and without hair to act as a barrier—well, one isn't just dressed for the wintry-climed mountains.

Home Economics

St. Patrick's Day Refreshments
St. Patrick's day in America makes a good excuse for a party if it serves no other purposes. Its characteristic color, green, and appropriate symbols lend themselves well to festivities. I think it is usually a mistake to carry out a color scheme in food to its furthest limits—it is so obviously an artificial thing—but a color note running through a menu adds charm and distinctiveness.

ing. The mixture should be stiff enough almost to cut with a knife. Put into greased muffin tins and bake one hour in a very slow oven. Split or remove a portion of the top and put a spoonful of shredded pineapple in each. Top with sweetened whipped cream that has been colored green and flavored with almond and vanilla extracts. A few finely chopped nuts may be mixed with the whipped cream.

Prepare the gelatine as usual, adding 2 tablespoons of vinegar. Set aside until it begins to stiffen. Then mix vegetables with it and put into individual molds that have been lined with strips of green pepper. If the pepper is minced, add it with the celery and cabbage. Serve the molds on lettuce leaves, placing a spoonful of stiff dressing on each and topping with a green olive.

Lettuce Sandwiches.
Prepare ordinary lettuce mayonnaise sandwiches and cut with a shamrock cutter. For the sake of economy, cut out slices of bread with the cutter before making into sandwiches. Then the trimmings may be utilized as bread crumbs.

She lies within the deep abyss;
She looks beyond the farthest stars

MOTHER'S BREAD! The olden days when domestic labor was domestic joy; when the finest little woman in the world rolled into that sweet-smelling loaf the fragrant savor of her own sweetness; when the loaf was like its maker—pure, clean, wholesome!

Mother baked her bread in big loaves. Big loaves are better grained and better flavored. They hold their moisture better. They mean economy. Mother knew it. She knows it today and buys the big loaf of Betsy Ross.

She saves herself the toil. She gets bigger bread value than she could put into a loaf at equal expense. She does her duty by her country and her family. For the big loaf saves. Saves materials, saves labor and saves the family purse.
