

MANY ARRESTED IN RAID ON IOWA GAMBLING GAME

Omaha Traveling Salesman Among Those Fined After Sheriff Surprises Party at Red Oak, Ia.

Oscar Truman, an Omaha traveling salesman, was arrested last Saturday night in a sheriff's raid on a disorderly house in Red Oak, Ia.

A quantity of whisky was seized in the room in which the men were found and a number of women escaped before Sheriff C. E. Peterson, Deputy Sheriffs F. M. Stennett, Ed Medhurst and O. M. Rice, and Town Marshals C. W. Nelson and Perry Wheeler could place them under arrest.

The story of the raid was told in Omaha today by Alex Peterson, a cousin of Sheriff Peterson, who declared because of the prominence of the parties arrested the Red Oak papers declined to print the news.

Taken By Surprise.

The raid was made at midnight and the gamblers were taken by surprise. They immediately arranged for the mayor and fined $27.50 each. All of the men paid their fines with the exception of Wilson, who was bound over for the grand jury under a $500 bond on a charge of maintaining and operating a disorderly house.

The raid is said to have been the largest ever staged in Montgomery county and followed numerous complaints that prominent citizens were frequenting the place for illegal purposes.

Others arrested were Peter Tuttle, George Lutz, Jess Carter, Merrill Reesland, John Stuart, Perry Wolford, C. T. Ford, Milo Dupont, C. E. Tiner and C. R. Bolt of Red Oak; Sidney Mansfield and Harold White of Des Moines; Lewis Arnett of Clarinda, Ia.; J. A. Arnold of Villisca, Ia., and John Webb of Creston, Ia.

Bumper Wheat Crop Is Anticipated in This State, Rail Men Say

The eastern, southern and central portions of Nebraska got one to four inches of snow Thursday, and today over most of the area temperatures are ranging from 20 to 36 degrees above zero.

The snow is disappearing, the ground is thawing up and it is said that the country roads are in next to impassable condition.

At road men in from out in the state assert that the recent cold spell has held back the winter wheat, stopping the growth that commenced during the warm weather of January and early February, and that now conditions are ideal for a bumper crop.

Wheat fields throughout the southern part of the state have taken on their spring green and as soon as warm weather sets in, which is expected within the next few days, a rapid growth is anticipated.

U. S. Sailors Released From German Prisons Return

Boston, March 7.—The White Star liner Vedic returned 2,400 soldiers to their home shores here today, most of them members of the Fifty-fourth heavy artillery.

As fellow passengers came 22 men in civilian clothing. They were former prisoners at German camps, where they were taken in 1917 from the famous raider Mowee, which had captured and sunk their vessel, the steamer Esmeraldas.

These men said they were required to work 12 hours daily while in prison on scanty food allowances and added that but for food received through the Red Cross they must have broken down.

Carlisle Says He Did Not Report Deeter Accident

Samuel S. Carlisle, an Omaha grain man, did not report to the police the Deeter-Hoagland automobile accident Thursday, in which Mrs. E. Deeter was seriously injured, he says.

The police called at his office an hour after the accident and asked me to appear as an eye witness. There is still hope of Mrs. Deeter's recovery.

Our "What Is Love?" Contest

AWARDS WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER. So many good answers have been submitted in this contest that we will continue to print them from day to day as space permits and announce awards at the conclusion, not later than March 20.

No. 129. The love of lovers will express itself. Its expression should be governed by a sane knowledge of human nature and moral conviction. There are many natural and innocent channels through which love can express itself, such as the look of the eye, the flush of the face, the tone of the voice, and words and phrases, gifts, acts of gallantry and courtesy. Love is an inventive genius. It never woos and wins twice in the same manner. A whole month of courtship may be accomplished in the gift of a rose.

Love possesses a language peculiarly its own. Its power of communication is not confined to vocal expression or physical mediums. If true lovers are separated by months of time and anon, love annihilates time and space in its swift and mysterious movements, bringing lovers blissfully and consciously together.

This is love. No. 135. Love is the divine power invested in mortals to the end that all their works might be great and good. It is the guardian of our civilization, the foundation of all lasting peace and happiness; it is an inexhaustible storehouse of tolerance, kindness and generosity.

Love is the insistent, compelling force behind the masterpieces of art and science of all time; it is not to be turned aside from its objective.

Love is the spirit of unselfishness, dominating and filling its hosts with the desire to be of service to others. Love is a passion for giving. No. 319. Love is that invisible sunshine which is sent forth by the heart, when one comes in contact with a person whose moral, mental and physical qualities are interesting.

Disagreement of Jury Costs More Than Object of Suit. A jury was out all day Thursday trying to decide a suit involving $45 in District Judge Redick's court. At 5 o'clock the jury reported that it could not agree on a verdict and was discharged. The suit was that of J. D. McCarthy against Gus Kessinger. McCarthy sold a horse to Kessinger about a year ago for $40. It was a spotted horse, 12 years old. Kessinger paid $25 of the purchase price and was to pay the other $15 in two weeks. McCarthy says he failed to pay the $15, started replevin proceedings in the Benson justice court and secured the return of the animal. The salary of the 12 jurymen for their services Thursday amounted to $26. Witness fees and salaries of the judge and court attaches brought the cost of the suit to much more than the amount involved. The litigants say they will continue the fight in the courts.

Wife, Asking Divorce, Says Her Husband Was "Peevish". Helen G. Clark has filed suit for divorce against Harold D. Clark and asks restoration of her maiden name, Vandercreek. They were married in Omaha, March 31, 1918. She alleges that he "knocked her down, that he displayed a peevish, hot-headed, quick-tempered disposition and that he left her, at one time, for a period of seven weeks."

What is love? Ah, let me tell you: "It is a feeling so intense that it destroys the reason, rends to tatters common sense; yet our lives are naught without it. 'Tis a glimpse of heaven above and it either makes or mars us, does this feeling we call love.—Quoted.

Love is the expression by word or action of the highest, holiest emotion of which man is capable. Love is the fulfilling of the law which teaches us to do unto others as we would that they should do unto us.

Were I to live for a thousand years, or until "the sands of the desert grow cold," I nor anyone else could give a full definition of love. Perhaps some have a few better ways of expressing it, but in my way first. Love is "the great desire," the nucleus around which is wound the world's teachings or morality. It is "God's masterpiece," for what is more wonderful than the love of maid for man? It is the silent but strong "guardian angel" of us all, for it is the shameful feeling toward our loved ones that controls our acts and bids us to do right, welding solidly the "links in the chain that binds us to our destiny." A few of the best definitions for love are:

"God's masterpiece." "The great desire." "The links of destiny." "God is love." "The uncontrollable."

This, dear editor, is the best I can do, for you may give us 200 words to write of the most wonderful thing on earth.

No. 540. Love is a state of the mind and heart that makes us happy. It makes us treat our fellow men with respect, kindness, thoughtfulness, and unselfishness. Ruskin says: "A person who loves is industrious and modest."

Love is the good in us. We inherit it from our first ancestors. In the Garden of Eden all was love until Satan tempted Eve.

Love is the one thing that makes the flowers seem more fragrant, the birds' songs sweeter, and the sunshine brighter. "Last, but not least, the holy book says: 'God is love.'"

No. 564. Someone to love and be kind to, Someone whose faults you'd be blind to, Someone in trouble to fly to, Someone to love and not try to, Someone to struggle and strive for, Someone you're glad you're alive for, Someone you'd do any task for, Someone you'd give and not ask for, Someone you'd climb earth's heights with, Someone you never would part with, But would dwell in the land of the heart with—that's love!

No. 544. Pure love is without selfishness, for no love can be pure when clouded by selfishness. If a mother gives a son to our country in time of war unselfishly and uncompromisingly, that is love. A heart without love is an iceberg, freezing all it comes in contact with and would soon make our world a desolate place. The infant's cradle could have no charm unless rocked by the tender hands of love. A mother whose heart is full of love is all tenderness and gentleness and she imparts this sunshine and gentleness to her child. We all admire a beautiful tree with its symmetric limbs and green foliage, but stripped of its limbs it loses its beauty just as a heart stripped of all love loses all interest in our country and man-

HELD ON DRUG CHARGE, USES 30 GRAINS DAILY

Man Arrested for Alleged Violation of Harrison Act Has Hearing Before U. S. Commissioner.

Lyman Anderson, arrested for the alleged violation of the Harrison drug act, was released on a $1,500 bond Friday after a hearing before United States Commissioner Nealey. Anderson was taken into custody Thursday after, according to off-cers, he had sold cocaine and morphine. Officials state that marked money, paid for the drugs, was found in Anderson's pocket. Testifying before Commissioner Nealey, Anderson said that he never sold drugs but used them himself. He admitted of having a large quantity of drugs in his room at all times. Used Drugs for 11 Years. "Eleven years ago," Anderson said, "one of my feet was crushed in a railroad accident. At that time I took drugs to kill the pain. I have been taking drugs ever since and at the present time I am taking a daily dose of 30 grains. "The amputation of my leg made me unfit for any kind of work and mother, who lives in Wyoming, takes care of me financially."

LAND THAT ONCE SOLD FOR $800 BRINGS $139,423

Big Tract, Known as Florence Field, Purchased for Big Sum by C. W. Martin Company.

The largest real estate transaction recorded this year was the purchase Friday by the C. W. Martin company for $139,423 of a 175-acre tract between Thirtieth and Thirty-sixth streets, north and west of Minne Lusa addition. Part of the land, 118 acres, is now in use by the government for Florence field, part of the Fort Omaha balloon school. Development of the new addition, grading, paving, sewerage, building and construction of homes, will begin as soon as the government vacates the grounds, which Mr. Martin expects will be as soon as the peace treaty is signed. It will furnish employment for a large number. Four years ago the Martin company bought the Minne Lusa addition of 126 acres for $152,000.

The purchase was made from trustees of the estate of James Monroe Parker of Davenport, Ia. Parker died 35 years ago. His only daughter, Mrs. J. W. Brisbin, is living in Florence.

The land is rich in historical interest. Parker bought the land in 1857 for $800 from Thaddeus Skillen, a veteran of the war of 1812, who obtained the land by government warrant in 1855.

The old Parker home and 15 adjoining acres is not included in the sale.
