

INTERVENTION IN RUSSIA URGED BY GRAND DUKE

Declares Allies and President Wilson for Recognition Bolshevik and Thereby Aiding Their Cause.

Paris, March 12.—Former Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, who arrived in Paris recently from the Crimea, told the Associated Press today that unless armed allied intervention in Russia began at once the situation in Russia would become so hopelessly desperate that it would take years to restore a semblance of order in eastern Europe. The former grand duke, who is a brother-in-law of the former emperor, continued:

"I do not ask the allies to fight for us. We merely ask them to keep order in the territories wrested from bolshevism by the government already fighting the soviet."

Disappointed in Paris. "I came here in January in an attempt to help my country as a private citizen. I thought I would find justice and sympathy at the peace conference, but I have been disappointed, as I found visible only personal intrigue, party politics and national egotism."

"I requested President Wilson to receive me, but he replied through his secretary that he was too busy with peace conference matters. What matter can be more momentous to the peace conference than the Russian problem? I asked to be allowed to go to England, but was refused a passport, but they received Kerensky. I dare not request permission to visit America, not wishing to invite a rebuff."

Proposed Mistake. Referring to the proposed conference on the Princes Islands, the grand duke said that the proposal was a mistake, as the bolsheviks are claiming that the allied governments have recognized them because they feared the bolsheviks.

"On January 25," the grand duke continued, "seven days after the Princes Islands proposal, the bolsheviks led my two brothers and two cousins from the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul and shot them without trial. They never would have dared to do this unless they had been sure of the moral support afforded by the semi-recognition by the peace conference."

Blackmail Allies. "Had President Wilson come out strongly and surely with a repudiation of and non-recognition of the bolsheviks it would have encouraged the governments warring against them. Bolshevism will be the devil in the future league of nations."

"It is my opinion that the Spartacist movement is kept going only as a means of blackmail against the allies. When Germany has used the Spartacists to the utmost to blackmail the entente into sending food and granting merciful conditions of peace Spartacism will disappear."

Expensive. Peter Finley Dunne said the other day: "It's folly to say that two can't live as cheap as one—two can live far, far cheaper than one."

"Did you send your wife to the store last August?" I asked a married man. "No," he answered. "I can't afford it. It cost too much."

"Did you," I said, "your wife's taste is simple. Surely she could do without the store without spending any great amount."

"I know that," he said. "I spent August of last year while she was at the store. I spent more than $200 a week."

Borah Urges Submission of League of Nations Plan to A Vote of American People

Idaho Senator Declares That Sentiment of Citizens in the United States Is Changing Rapidly Against America's Joining the Proposed World's Union—Will Arrange Speaking Tour Through Middle West

By JAMES R. NOURSE.
Staff Correspondent Universal Service.
Washington, March 12.—"The only thing needed to arouse the American people against the league of nations is to tell them exactly what it means to American rights. When they learn the truth about it they say, 'We want nothing to do with it.'"

This was the comment of Senator Borah of Idaho upon his return from a speaking tour against the league of nations proposal. His conviction on the attitude of the people is based not only on the sentiments of those who attended his meetings, but upon the enormous amount of correspondence which accumulated in his office during his absence.

It was stated that one day's mail contained no less than 3,000 letters on the subject of the league, of which a very small number endorsed the proposal.

Arranged Speaking Tour. Beginning with a speech Friday night at Troy, N. Y., and one at Rochester the following Sunday night, Senator Borah will start out on another tour which will take him into the heart of the west and in all probability to the Pacific coast. He will go from Rochester to Chicago to arrange a meeting which will be held probably on the night of March 18 or 19. Preliminary plans for the campaign are being perfected in Chicago.

Senator Borah was reticent about his meetings, because he felt they should speak for themselves. Everywhere he has gone, however, he encountered a strong American sentiment which, in his opinion, cannot be overcome by league advocates. He found also, as he said, a very profound lack of understanding upon the part of the people as to what the league really meant. A mere statement that the league plan would transfer sovereignty over American interests to the hands of European diplomats has sufficed in most instances, he said, to turn the audiences against any wish for such a league.

"I am very well satisfied with the results of the trip," said Senator Borah. "I found that the people, as a rule, had been misled as to the plans and purposes of the league and knew nothing at all about it; they had a visionary idea that it meant merely the stoppage of all war. They are beginning to find out something about it. By that I do not mean that my speeches are having any such wonderful effect, but all over the country the people are beginning to understand just what is proposed by the league and they are declaring themselves against it."

Let People Decide. After Senator Borah returns from his western speaking tour he intends to devote himself to the preparation of a bill to provide for the submission of the league plan to a vote of the people. He has advocated in all of his speeches on the subject that the proposal should not be put into effect until after it has been submitted to a plebiscite.

The bill to be drafted by him is to provide for this so that if it should appear probable that the league constitution would be ratified by the senate a vote by the people can be taken before it becomes effective.

The tentative plan for such a referendum as worked out by Senator Borah is for a national vote on the question with the aid of the election machinery of each state. The question would be directly submitted in some such form as this:

"Do you favor the United States becoming a member of the league of nations?" To this the voter would be required to mark his ballot "yes" or "no."

Wilson for Changes. The belief that President Wilson will agree to a number of radical changes in the league constitution in order to meet the objection of the leading opponents in this country is becoming very strong among senators who signed the round robin pledging themselves to vote against it. No definite word from Paris on this phase of the question has been received.

Mitchell Six Becomes More Popular Each Year. Models of the open and closed types of the Mitchell Six are receiving much attention and comment at the automobile show this week. The standardized style of body of the Mitchell Six car, designed in the last few years, holds the satisfaction of the car owner for its roomy space and comfort in driving.

In appearance the Mitchell Six speaks for itself, and its quality is attested by the fact that for years it has been pre-eminent popular with farmers and is now more popular than ever.

Going Into Detail. Almost by design, it seemed, a health officer placed a card on an East End home, directly under the house number, relates Youngstown Telegram.

Two youngsters on their way home from school, stopped to try to read the card.

"What does it say?" asked one. After a close scrutiny the other replied:

"It says '3487 measles.'"

"My sakes!" said the first speaker. "I knew you had to have a card on the house, but I didn't know you had to tell how many measles there was in the family."

AIRPLANE USED BY BOLSHEVIKI IN BOMBING RAID

Enemy Renews Bombardment on Dvina Front; U. S. Troops Evacuate Village of Kadish.

Archangel, March 12.—The bolsheviks took advantage Friday of the first clear day with the thermometer above the freezing point by attempting to bomb the American positions on the Vaga from an airplane. The machine was the first one observed to bear the new red army identification mark, a six-pointed red star. The bombs fell without causing any damage.

Since the beginning of the campaign last summer there has been much confusion on both sides of the lines because the bolshevik airplanes bore the old Russian marking, a red, white and blue circle. This was so similar to the marking on the allied planes that it was hardly possible to distinguish the one from the other.

The general situation on the Vaga front was unchanged today. Late yesterday the enemy renewed his bombardment on the Dvina. On the railroad front the bolsheviks yesterday afternoon twice began shelling, but were speedily silenced by the allied guns.

The village of Kadish, which has changed hands six or seven times, is again in the hands of the bolsheviks. The Americans found it useless to hold the almost destroyed village and withdrew to their positions at the bridge across the Emtsa river.

Hindenburg Planning Campaign. Coblenz, March 9.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg is planning to use volunteer units in a drive against the bolsheviks, with Libau as the base of his operations, it is indicated by information which has reached American intelligence officers.

According to the American experts, who are the line of their duty are keeping in touch with the progress of the readjustment of the enemy's forces, German great headquarters seems to be following a policy of secrecy as regards the eastern front troop question. This is believed to be due to the fact that the bolsheviks now have a normal military organization and so will be able to utilize any information they might obtain concerning their enemy.

Apparently the German headquarters staff in Kolberg is directing its energies again toward organization on the Baltic front in the confidence that there is no longer any immediate occasion for concern over the Polish front. Field Marshal von Hindenburg is in Kolberg.

The total number of volunteers now on the eastern front or about to proceed there is estimated at nearly 100,000. Some of the old army troops are now on the eastern front.

Bawler Said Something. Bawler admired his wife immensely and incidentally his wife's singing. At the party, when Mrs. Bawler was asked to sing "There is a Garden in My Face," the husband glowed with pride.

"It didn't matter though she had a face like that of a hippopotamus and a voice like that of an elephant. He sat beaming as she sang."

When about half-way through he whispered to his neighbor: "Don't you think my wife's got a fine voice?"

"What?" said his neighbor, who was a bit deaf.

"Don't you think my wife's got a fine voice?"

"What?"

"Don't you think my wife's got a fine voice?" roared Bawler.

"Sorry," said the other, shaking his head. "That awful woman over there is making such a frightful row I can't hear a word you say."

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION TO BE REORGANIZED

Members of Congress Seek to Stay Clean Sweep Ordered Unexpectedly by President Wilson.

Washington, March 12.—Martin A. Morrison of Indiana and George R. Wales of Vermont were appointed today by President Wilson, succeeding John A. McIlhenny and Hermon W. Craven, whose resignations were sent to the White House some time ago.

The fact that the president has decided upon a complete reorganization of the civil service commission was disclosed today by efforts of members of congress and others to stay temporarily at least a clean sweep of the commission's membership. Messages have been sent to the president asking him to postpone action until his return home.

Members of congress were shown a letter from the president to Commissioner Charles M. Galloway, asking the latter's resignation without assigning a cause. They were told that a similar letter had been received by Commissioner Hermon W. Craven, and that since John A. McIlhenny, president of the commission resigned a month ago to go to Haiti as a financial agent, the membership of three would be wiped out by the resignations.

Friends of Commissioner Galloway in congress communicated with the president by wireless in an effort to have Mr. Wilson withdraw his demand for Mr. Galloway's resignation, but it was said at the White House that an entirely new commission would be appointed. No explanation of the president's decision to reorganize the commission was given.

National Shows Models of Two Twelve-Cylinder Cars. Crowds of automobile show visitors lingered about the booth of the National exhibit, displaying a four-passenger phaeton in meadow green color, and a seven passenger touring model in battleship gray. Both cars house 12-cylinder motors, the ultimate development of National engineers after nine years of experiments. The National cars on exhibition display unusual power, stamina and distinction. The exhibit is at the far end of the Auditorium on the main floor.

Takes Course in Memory, but He Cannot Remember
J. Leonard Repligle, the government's official steel buyer, was an errand boy at 14 and a millionaire at 35.

"Work is the secret of success," said Mr. Repligle in a Y. M. C. A. address. "I don't take much stock in fads and efficiency courses and so on as success helps."

"A clerk said to me the other day: 'I expect to make a success of my life at last, Len. I'm taking one of these memory courses. It's a magnificent thing.'"

A Sensible Car

Almost twenty years' adherence to the correct principle of motor construction makes the Buick Valve-in-Head Motor in every respect, powerful, economic and dependable.

Buick cars are developed, not re-designed. Years of developing one type of body for each model gives to Buick owners a car that is thoroughly consistent as a whole.

Comfort has increased in the same ratio as strength and long-wearing qualities and so it is natural that owners pronounce the Buick a sensible car.

CHANDLER SIX Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Two Beautiful Cars for Every Season

MORE and more people are selecting the new style sedans and coupes as their family cars. And in this field the Chandler offers two most attractive models, each moderately priced.

Once it was necessary to pay exorbitant prices for closed cars. Now you can get the handsome and luxurious Chandler sedan and coupe for relatively little more than open cars.

These two newest Chandler models offer the very acme of comfort in all seasons. With their heavy plate glass windows closed they give snug protection against cold and rain and snow. With the windows lowered, by automatic adjustment, they are just as open to the sunshine and the soft air as is any type of car.

The Chandler sedan and coupe are of handsome design, beautifully cushioned and upholstered, and lustrous in finish. They are sturdily built to resist the stress and strain of tough roadways. Each is mounted on the one famous Chandler chassis which, through six years of honest production, has earned its place in the very front rank for mechanical excellence.
