

C. OF C. ASKS FOR FUNDS TO ALTER THE AUDITORIUM

Send Delegation to Lincoln to Seek Power to Vote on $150,000 Bond Issue.

A special committee of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, headed by Francis Brogan, will leave for Lincoln Thursday morning to debate before the legislature on a proposed amendment of the Omaha charter empowering the city commissioners to vote on a $150,000 bond issue to remodel or rebuild the Auditorium.

In case the legislature should fail to amend the charter according to Mayor Smith, a special election will have to be held, which would cost the taxpayers of the city from $15,000 to $18,000.

This special committee will also advocate another amendment to the Omaha city charter empowering the city planning commission to spend as much money as the commission needs for improvements.

The planning commission's program, among many other items, contains the opening of Douglas street and the widening of Twenty-fourth street, as well as a number of other improvements in the downtown district.

Zimmerman's Ideas. City Commissioner Zimmerman believes that the present Auditorium should be properly improved, or a new site acquired and a modern building erected. His views on the subject follow:

"My idea is that the Auditorium should be improved to the extent that it will be serviceable for any event that may be held there. In connection with the proposed memorial for our soldiers and sailors, it would be well to consider a plan of improvements and addition to the Auditorium, such as will commemorate the memory of our heroes.

Suggests Small Building. "Before providing additional Auditorium space, it would be well to consider the purchase and acquisition of adjoining land, and construct thereon a building to connect with the Auditorium so that the same may be used for smaller affairs, and in the event of an automobile show, or larger attraction, the space thus acquired, could be used with the main Auditorium. The alley could be vacated if additional ground should be acquired.

Would Take $150,000. "In all likelihood it would require $150,000 to make the Auditorium an attractive and serviceable building. The Auditorium should either be improved or it should be abandoned and a new location sought, with plenty of ground and suitable buildings erected thereon."

Our "What Is Love?" Contest

AWARDS SUNDAY, MARCH 23. So many good answers have been submitted in this contest that we will continue to print them from day to day as space permits and announce awards at the conclusion, next Sunday.

No. 793. Love is that invisible God-given faculty which permeates heart, soul and mind, is the source of all our pleasure and achievements, and makes life worth living. It increases by giving—the more you love the more you are beloved. Love cannot be bought or bribed; causes us to dispense with unkind and sarcastic remarks; forces us to spend our lives for others. Love awakens our faculties, gives us new life, remakes our world and invests all nature with life. Love makes the wheels of life run smoothly. Contrast the one who starts the day with love in his heart for all mankind with one filled with hate. The former sees everything through eyes of love; he is looking for good and not for evil, consequently he sees the good in those with whom he comes in contact, and in turn reflects love and happiness. We strive to attain that which we love; it is a love for the beautiful, which is the inspiration of every artist, painter, musician. It is seen in the eyes of a child; in the heart of a flower. Love is the essence of all the Christian virtues, and fills the universe.

No. 809. Love is that which binds all people together. It is not barred to just one or two souls but all. If it were not for love this world would be nothing but a wilderness as it was in the beginning, for did not the people build it up to its present stage, merely through companionship and love? The companionship at home, place of business or pleasure, the foundation of living, of everything, is love.

No. 759. Thou, from the first, unborn, undyed, Albeit we gaze not on thy glories near, Before the face of God didst breathe and move, Though night and pain and ruin and death reign here, Thou foldest like a golden atmosphere, The very throne of the eternal God; Passing through thee the edicts of his fear, Are mellowed into music, borne abroad By the loud winds, though they up-rend the sea, Even from its central depths, thine empery Is 'over all; thou wilt not brook eclipse; Thou goest and returnest to His life Like lightning; thou dost ever brood above The silence of all hearts, unutterable love.

To know thee is all wisdom, and old Is but to know thee; dimly we behold thee, Athwart the veils of evils which unfold thee. We beat upon our aching hearts in rage; We cry for thee; we deem the world thy tomb; As dwellers in lone planets look upon The mighty disk of their majestic sun, Hallowed in awful chasms of wheeling gloom, Making their day dim, so we gaze on thee. Come, thou of many crowns, white-robed love, Oh! rend the veil in twain; all men adore thee; Heavens' crieth after thee; earth waiteth for thee; Breathe on thy winged throne, and it shall move In music and in light o'er land and sea. —From Alfred Tennyson's Poem "Love."

No. 797. Love is a strong and tender feeling of affection. It is God's greatest blessing; the redeeming principle of life, the crowning grace of humanity and the holiest right of the soul. God is love.

No. 801. The love that knows no doubt nor trembling; Nor the bitter farce of the heart's dissembling; We bring unmasked our hopes and fears You laugh your laughs and I cry my tears We do as we will and say what we mean, And man nor the devil can come between.

No. 804. Just a word, A smile or two, Just a thrill, The world is new. Just a kiss, Perhaps a sigh, Just a tear, By and by. Just some vows, A humble cot, Just a home, A little tot. Just a journey, Just "goodby," Love is why We live and die.—Quoted.

No. 774. Love is an affection of the mind caused by the which delights; an extreme kindness, a respectful regard, a devoted attachment to one of the opposite sex, a liking.

The Spring Rains Bring Grippe

This sort of weather brings colds and grippe. If it's just a common cold people say, "there's no danger in that!" But many a fatal sickness begins with a cold — with vitality weakened — the system is ready for the influenza germs. Begin early to ward off the attack. Purge the system of the toxins (poisons) by taking castor oil, or a vegetable laxative made of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, and jalap, rolled into sugar-coated pills and to be had at all drug stores as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

If the cold starts with a cough, and it persists then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well known alternative extract which has been on the market for a great many years, and which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic compound is composed of an extract of roots and herbs without alcohol, and has a soothing effect upon the mucous membrane, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.
