Style Notes

—for Misses

IN THE Misses' Department there are so many beautiful things to choose from that it is hard to decide which to tell you about.

For instance, wonderful pink silk Marquise Dinner Gown, having a draped skirt and trimmed with silk and embroidered floral design in self tone, with a prettily rounded neck and a small draped sleeve.

And then a coat dress of the Russian Era Crepe, in oyster white, silhouette skirt and a box jacket, the lower portion of which is embroidered with a conventional design in the white. The front of jacket is open, showing a narrow box pleated vest of white satin.

Another dress is a dainty rose pink foulard, checkered, marked with white, with white organdy double collar and cuffs piped with silk the same as dress. The skirt has patch pockets of the silk with laps of the organdy, piped the same as the collar. The waist has a vest of tucked organdy with a row of very small organdy buttons, while the skirt is trimmed with ball buttons of the silk.
