Washington Society Is Quiet

Lent Sobered Society to Lull and Palm Beach Reaps the Benefit.

By E. C. SNYDER.
Washington Bureau of The Bee.
Washington, March 22.—No sooner do the buds break and the crocuses appear in the parks and on the lawns in Washington, than the annual cold, wintry weather blows up and comes dangerously near blighting them all. The grounds of the White House are beginning to take on their sprightly look with the bright colors dotting the grass, where the crocuses are peeping, and the magnolia trees are almost in full bloom.
The stream of visitors in the south are making a steady pilgrimage through Washington, whether they live in New York, Boston, the middle west or the far west. The Washington hotels are most enticing at this season. Everybody who can go south is either going or coming just now.
The little family of Mr. and Mrs. Ned McLean returned a few days ago from a long stay in Florida. They took a famous, handsome place at Palm Beach, and in the first severe storm after they were established there with a large retinue of servants, dogs, children and luggage the storm broke through the doors and windows, flooded the place and made the occupants flee for comfort elsewhere. They went eventually to St. Augustine, where they spent some time. They went back to Palm Beach before they came home. Their youngest son, the third, remained in Washington with the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, with whom, in fact, he spends most of his time.

Fatherless and Motherless Tots Will Reap Benefit of Dance and Card Party to Be Given April 23

By PEGGY NATTINGER.
Fatherless and motherless! These, the most tragic words of the language, strike a chord of sympathy in all human hearts. Sorrow has stalked abroad these last war-ridden months and in our zeal to alleviate the sufferings of foreign people our ears are sometimes deaf to the pleadings of the little ones at our own doors. Fortunately there are institutions where these tiny folk who have been deprived of parental training by cruel circumstances are given tender and loving care. One of the largest of these homes for children is the St. James orphanage, where 175 tiny tots live happily together, waiting, many of them in vain, for the day when some kindly folk will come to adopt them.
A certain group of these orphan children have a special claim on the sympathies of all patriotic Americans, for there are 21 of them now at the orphanage whose fathers fought the battles of freedom on European soil. One little rosy-cheeked fellow, in the nursery is too small to realize that his brave daddy made the supreme sacrifice while fighting with the Canadians and that he will never return to his little son. Two sweet little maids with golden curls were left fatherless during that terrible drive made by the Huns a year ago. This brave soldier was one of the first to arrive in France with the railroad engineers and he laid down his life on the altar of democracy, leaving two little girls who hold out their tiny hands to those who remained in safety at home.
The boys, whose olive skins and dark eyes mark them as sons of Italy, are now at the orphanage, for both father and mother were swept away in the maelstrom of war. The father helped to drive the Austrians from sunny, olive-groved Italy, and has visited Mrs. Saunders in Omaha many times. Another cousin, Mrs. George Moore of Indianapolis, is still with Mrs. Harrison and her mother. She is being entertained quite considerably by Mrs. Harrison's friends here.
Mrs. Burke, widow of General Burke who fought with Custer in the west, who spends the winters here with her daughter, Mrs. Maish, has not been in good health all the season. She will leave in another week for Atlantic City, where she will spend a month or so, Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Maish having a charming apartment at the Dresden, where they are staying during Colonel Maish's absence in France.
Mr. English of Omaha, who is at the head of the choral singing of the War Camp Community service, is especially busy just now arranging the joint concert of the Polymnia Choral society, which is under the War Camp Community service and the Apollo Glee club, next Tuesday evening. It will be given in the great auditorium of the Central High school under the direction of the conductor of the Apollo club, Otto Torney Simon. Both Mr. and Mrs. English, who have been identified with the music circles of Omaha for many years, are members of the choruses, and Mr. English bears the brunt of the work attendant upon the giving of the concert. Mr. English's mother is also one of the leading musicians of Omaha.

Robina Kammerer

grim reaper having gathered his harvest at their home. As the influenza attacked those in the prime of life, the children of the victims were of tender age, and only three or four of the number were more than 7 years old. One exceptionally sad case was brought to the attention of the authorities. A Bohemian couple with their three children came to Omaha seeking employment. They were here but a short time when the mother was stricken with flu and died. Three or four days later her husband followed and three little children were left without a friend in the world. Again the great doors of the orphanage swung wide and admitted these homeless babies.
But there is a glint of silver in every dark cloud, and these fatherless children of Nebraska have a staunch friend in a pretty, brown-eyed girl, Miss Robina Kammerer, by name. Their cause has become hers, and though Miss Kammerer is a business woman she still finds time to plan elaborate benefit affairs to aid the little juveniles who dwell within the four walls of St. James orphanage. A dance and card party will be given by Miss Kammerer, April 23 at the Auditorium, when the proceeds will be given to the orphanage fund. This is the second of these benefit dances sponsored by this attractive young woman and her many friends assist her by donating their services and their prizes to make these dances a success.
The admission price is within the reach of all and the guests will dance the festive hours away, happy in the thought that they are helping nearly 200 children, who mourn the loss of one or both parents. None can resist the plea, for the words of the Master come down through the ages, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me."

Prof. Clark Will Speak Here 27th

The reputation of Prof. S. H. Clark of the University of Chicago as a dramatic reader, lecturer and writer is generally known to the public but it is not so well known that Prof. Clark is the father of Barrett H. Clark of Harvard university, a dramatic critic, a translator and author.
Prof. Clark, who appears before the Drama League on Friday, March 27, at 4 o'clock at the Fontaine, will read Galsworthy's "The Silver Box."
"The Silver Box" is a keen criticism of the social values. Its satire is directed toward the inequality of the treatment accorded the rich and the poor in our courts of justice. A member of Parliament and his son, Jack, on the one hand, are balanced by Mrs. Jones, the charwoman and her husband—the silver box a convenient weight of measure. Jack and Jones are guilty of the same offense. The member of Parliament sacrifices Jones, the poor man, to save the reputation of his son. Jones is sent to prison.
This play was chosen by the Drama League as there is a possibility that Galsworthy may be induced to lecture here later.
It is said that Prof. Clark in his presentation of the characters of "The Silver Box" displays his interpretive ability at its best.
Lt. Allan Tukey has received his honorable discharge from the service, his wound having practically healed, and has returned to business.

Soft, Curly, Wavy Hair Now Easy to Have

(Woman's Realm)
Beautiful, fluffy, natural-looking curls or waves, without the use of the ruinous curling iron, are now possible for every woman. Yes, not only possible, but very easily acquired over night, and with benefit to the life and health of the hair. It is only necessary to apply a little liquid silmerine before retiring, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose, drawing this down the full length of the tresses from root to tip. In the morning the hair will have a most delightful curliness and lustre, without the least suggestion of grease at any drug store and a few ounces of it will last for months, no woman need put up with that flat, dull appearance of the hair which gives such an unwholesome look of plainness to most faces.—Adv.

Red Cross Work Shop in Masonic Temple Has Been Rented for April 1

The Masonic Temple Red Cross work shop has been rented and must be vacated by April 1, according to announcement by Mr. W. B. Tagg, chairman of Omaha chapter. Mr. Tagg urges that an especial effort be made by the workers to complete all quotas by that date. Mrs. Arthur Mullen again urges all women to assist in finishing quotas before the closing of the work rooms. As a quota of 9,020 knitted garments for refugees in Europe has been accepted by Omaha chapter, a special appeal is made to knitters to assist with this work. The knitting department has reopened at 315 South Seventeenth street.

Miss Maurice Barker and Mr. C. R. Macfarland Wed in Southern City

A quiet wedding took place in San Antonio, Tex., Monday, when Miss Maurice Barker, daughter of Mr. Robert Barker of San Antonio, and Charles Richardson Macfarland were united in marriage. The young couple are now in Omaha, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Montgomery Macfarland, parents of the bridegroom. Mr. Macfarland, who was with the United States engineers, was stationed near San Antonio for several months. The bride is a very attractive young woman and was a popular member of the younger set in her home city. Mr. and Mrs. Macfarland will make their home in Omaha.

FROM SWITZERLAND THIS WOMAN WROTE

"YOU know her kind of woman—chic, dainty, exquisitely feminine, independent of the world in general, tasting the honey of life wherever she chose."
She had been traveling about from London to Paris, then to Switzerland and on beyond. She had learned the comfort of traveling with CREME ELCAYA for her constant use. Then the war came, making shipments difficult, and she learned the discomfort of traveling without CREME ELCAYA. And so began the search for it, ending with this letter.

Aarau, Switzerland.
Dear Sir:
I have used ELCAYA products ever since they could be had at Selfridge's in London, but am no longer able to obtain them. You would oblige me very much by kindly letting me know whether you have a depot in Switzerland, or whether it would be possible to get ELCAYA direct from New York.
Yours truly,
(Miss) M.....L.....
This letter tells its own story of the place CREME ELCAYA, the non-greasy, disappearing toilet cream, has made for itself with women who are careful about the little niceties of their appearance. They write us frankly and unsolicited what they have learned from their own experience—that there is no substitute for CREME ELCAYA, and they go to no end of trouble to get it.
As I have said before, it is not alone what CREME ELCAYA does to protect and soften and clear your skin—
It is the unbelievable attraction that it adds to your personal appearance which will make you love CREME ELCAYA just as every woman does who uses it rightly.
And the method is so simple if you will follow it whenever you use your face powder. Here it is:
Begin today to make your skin beautiful by this easy formula—
A little CREME ELCAYA rubbed gently into the skin; then if you need color, a very little good rouge spread carefully over the cheeks before the cream is quite dry; and after that the film of face powder over all.
Before you'd believe it possible, your skin will be so good to look at that you will often go to your mirror. And the joy of knowing that you give pleasure to all who see you will add new joy to life.
CREME ELCAYA is the original non-greasy disappearing toilet cream. It was introduced first in New York in 1900. Today its purity and superiority are acknowledged throughout the world.
Your dealer has ELCAYA and has sold it for years. Ask him.

Children and Children

These children when they are at home spend their days at Friendship the McLean country place, having an early breakfast in the town house, driving out to Friendship, where they play and read the papers until the afternoon, then get back in time for their bread and milk supper in the evening. A cook with several aids is kept at Friendship, all the winter, to cook the children's dinner in the middle of the day and look after them.
The McLeans have always been loved in the country for their children, just as the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. McLean believed in it for their only son, Ned. They bought a large tract of land far up town in Washington, which is now one of the most fashionable localities, built all around with handsome homes. On this tract which they had cleared and fenced in with a tall iron fence, they built a real playhouse, a miniature cottage, just big enough for the child and his little playmates. They had a pony there which they rode all over the place, learned to do bareback riding, and jumping and all kinds of fancy riding, and here the present owner of Friendship practically grew up. This ground became his own when he was 21 and netted him a small fortune.
The latter children are being raised much in the same way, but they are taken over to the great Letter farm in Virginia, or rather they stay there nearly all the winter and are brought into town occasionally, to visit their parents, who have recently returned from Hot Springs.

Hitchcocks Away

Senator and Mrs. Hitchcock have gone to Augusta, Ga., and have set no time for returning. Mrs. Hitchcock has not been very well again this winter and before the close of the season, she made her calls by mail, sending her cards around without making the personal visit. Miss Ruth Hitchcock remained behind in their Washington home.
Mrs. Russell B. Harrison spent the last week-end in Norfolk with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams, Jr., and their three little daughters. She returned here on Wednesday and on Thursday her cousin, Mrs. Withers, arrived for a month's visit with her and her mother, Mrs. Saunders. Mrs. Withers has been with her son, Burleigh Withers of Chicago, in his home in Evanston. Mrs. Withers

Peru State Normal Notes

The junior-senior banquet, the social event of the school year, was given Friday evening, March 21. The juniors, hosts of the evening, had transformed the gymnasium into a lovely garden. Lattices of brown, with yellow roses clambering over them, concealed the walls. At intervals were arches massed with green from which hung singing birds. Butterflies in every tone of brown and yellow were suspended from the ceiling, and perched upon the yellow candle shades. The banquet was prepared by the house economics classes. Covers were laid for 216.
The Men's Glee club of 22 voices, under the direction of Dr. H. C. House, gave their annual concert Wednesday, March 19.
The spring vacation begins next Thursday evening and lasts until Tuesday morning following, Friday and Saturday the faculty will attend the Southeastern Nebraska Educational association in Lincoln.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

By Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases mentioned are given and the answer should apply to any case of similar nature. Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Silverwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The remedies can be obtained at any well stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

is, 5 cts. Mix and take a teaspoonful at bedtime and again before going to bed.

H. B. M. writes: "Can you please prescribe medicine which will relieve me of distressing symptoms of kidney and bladder, such as following: Pains in small of back, soreness in region of bladder, frequent calls at night, but scanty flow, with pain, burning and foul odor, puffing of limbs, etc."
Answer: Those seeking relief from kidney and bladder disorders should begin by taking Balmwood Tablets, a very successful formula sold in sealed tubes with full directions. What shall I do?
"Mrs. W. W. C. writes: "Can I take too much of fat? I weigh 150 pounds."
Answer: Yes, you should by taking as per the directions which accompany 5-grain Arbonne Tablets, put up in sealed tubes and sold by well-stocked druggists.

"Anna R." writes: "I have taken medicine from several doctors for liver and kidney troubles, but with no relief. I do not seem to help me at all. My skin is yellow, I have constant headaches and dizzy spells. What shall I do?"
Answer: The best remedy that I know for your trouble is 3-grain Sulphur Tablets, which are put up in sealed tubes. Most of the remedies only aggravate, but if you take the Sulphur Tablets regularly for a few weeks you should be well. This will purify the blood and your skin will lose that sallow look.

"Mrs. P. G." writes: "I hesitate to ask advice as my case is so unusual. I am tired and worn out all the time. I do not get any rest. I have been married over a year and formerly did not know what it was to be tired or nervous. Sometimes I feel hysterical. I fear I will become a nuisance to my husband if I continue."
Answer: Your nervous system has been depleted. You need a tonic invigorating medicine that will aid in supplying more food-energy to your nerves. Take three 5-grain Cadomene Tablets regularly for several months.

Eat Less Meat If Back Hurts

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and rheumatic twinges, severe backaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.
The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; or to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.
Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.
