

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR OLD CLOTHES OPENS MONDAY

National Organization to Collect 10,000 Tons of Old Clothing and Shoes for Destitute Europeans.

Omaha has one week to do her share toward the national spring shopping for the thousands of European refugees whom the war has left without homes, clothes, food or shelter.

The Red Cross in America has pledged itself to raise 10,000 tons of used clothing toward Europe's spring outfit.

Every kind of garment is asked for—they need not be in perfect condition for holes, tiny holes, are not noticed among this class in Europe and this itself offers opportunity for employment to many women here.

Leather, Too, Is Wanted. Shoes and scraps of leather are wanted as well as pieces of goods, ticking, sheeting and blankets of all kinds.

The Omaha headquarters is at 413 South Seventeenth street in the Keelie building and will be open Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

One Day's Rest Out of Seven Is Aim of the Train Dispatchers

Members of the Inter-line Assembly of Omaha of the American Train Dispatchers association believe that the federal railroad administration will grant them one day's rest out of seven, according to the policy which Mr. McAdoo recommended when he was in charge.

Through the efforts of Julius G. Luhrs, president, and Clifton L. Darling, secretary and treasurer, of the American Train Dispatchers' association, workers in this branch of railroad service have become to be recognized as railroad officials.

OMAHA PEOPLE PROMISED RARE LITERARY TREAT

Dr. Crothers, Cambridge, to Lecture "Dame School of Experience," at Unitarian Church.

Those who are familiar with the dissertation on the origin of roast pig, and have a liking for such high grade humor, are offered a treat tomorrow night at the Unitarian church, for Dr. Crothers has come to town.

Miss Kate McHugh, former principal of the Omaha High school, instructor in English in the University of Omaha, considers that Dr. Crothers stands alone in this country as the Charles Lamb of America.

On the occasion of his last visit to Omaha, Miss McHugh advised the students in her class in English essays at the University of Omaha to attend Dr. Crothers' lecture.

They neglected to do so. Soon afterward she announced that she was going to read an essay without naming the author, the listeners to name him judging by the style. She read to them "The Anglo-American School of Polite Unlearning."

Interested and delighted, the class named Addison or Lamb as the essayist. "No," said Miss McHugh, "this was the man I advised you to go and hear, Dr. Crothers."

After that, whenever Miss McHugh offered her class choice of essayists for reading aloud, their choice was always Dr. Crothers.

Like Oliver Wendell Holmes. To others, Dr. Crothers has qualities like those of Oliver Wendell Holmes in "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table." He has also some of Mark Twain's drollery, without the habit of exaggerating—a wit that is subtler if not as side-splitting.

There is something dry in the words essay and lecture, but this is not true in the case of Dr. Crothers, especially when, instead of reading, one may listen to him in person. What he gives is a literary monologue. He is not an "orator," but experienced in public speaking, he knows how to talk in a conventional manner so as to be clearly heard and understood.

Work of Finding Jobs for Soldiers Will Continue, Woods Says

Curtailed of the working force of the United States Employment service will not interfere with finding jobs for soldiers, sailors and war workers, according to a statement from Washington given out by the local employment office.

"The work will be carried on by various agencies," says Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of the emergency committee of the Council of National Defense. "The committee will encourage towns and cities to carry on this work through public and private contributions until congress furnishes the money to resume the full work of the federal employment service."

"The welfare organizations and other commercial and civic bodies are already working to this end. Contributions by state and city authorities, welfare, commercial, civic and labor organizations already assure the continuance of the federal employment service of 200 offices in addition to 56 that had already been arranged for. And within a week it is expected that 100 more offices will be provided for."

Army Orders. Washington, D. C., March 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Second Lt. Charles L. Falvey, adjutant general's department, will proceed from Camp Dodge to Camp Bragg, Fayetteville, N. C.

We Certainly Do Enjoy Talking About These Wonderful Tailored Suits At $25.00

Because We Feel and Believe That They Are Supreme in Value Giving

YES, we're still talking about our twenty-five dollar suits—not the same ones we were talking about last week, but about a new lot that just arrived in time for Monday's selling.

Some 15 or 20 new styles are making their appearance for the first time, and to say that they are the most charming, stunning styles shown so far is but to say what the women of Omaha will be saying after they see them—and also, that it is a suit value unmatched.

Buttons find new ways of adding to the charm of the suit they adorn. New vest effects, new ideas in silk over-collars—all adding its bit of newness.

The materials are poplins, serges and tweeds, in the shades of navy, gray, tan, green and French blue; also black.

The White Triangle A Symbol of Merit

It Marks Hudson Super-Six Excellence in Art and Engineering

Whether it is the woman of good taste and distinction or the man who must have flexibility, power, constant dependability—the wish is gratified in the Super-Six closed car.

The Super-Six has the mechanical excellence that 60,000 owners associate with the Hudson name. It has the aesthetic value of a work of art.

Beautiful in Line—Perfect in Action

The Super-Six is never heavy and sluggish in action, a fault with cars that have merely been fitted with enclosed bodies.

In acceleration it is livelier than the usual light open cars. It has endurance beyond any motoring requirement. In performance it is without a peer.

Dominates Every Situation

There is no frontier for Super-Six closed cars. They are used for touring, in town and country, on boulevard and remote highway. Naturally, there are more Hudson closed cars than of any other fine make.
