The bowlers around the Omaha alieys have been watching one another with jealous eyes lately, each trying to roll the highest score. They'd better be watching this fellow Spellman. If he finds a favorite alley, no telling what he will do. That 798 pins marke is about as good as the leading Omaha bowlers have hung up and yet he didn't get to go to Toledo.

That saved him from defeat at the hands of Strangler Lewis in their match in New York last Friday night. Lewis proved to have the greater amount of speed and science and was the aggressor throughout the match. He nearly had the bout won on two or three different occasions, but the massive Pole called on his great strength to pull him out of dangerous positions and in the end, with defeat staring him in the face, he picked Lewis up bodily and dropped him to the floor, where the Strangler lit on his back with what little wind he had seft knocked him consider some anyway. Bowling is coming back into its own and people are getting the habit of rolling them down the alleys again, for which everyone but the pin boys are thankful. Every one of the Omaha alleys have been leased for the entire year. The boom in this sport was expected, but by the great rush of bowlers to the pin game.

Frank Middaugh, who won fifth place in the singles and all events at Toledo, is a Fremont business man and a member of the Fremont Trapshooting club. Frank didn't grab all the honors of his family during the week, for his brother was the high gun at the Fremont club's weekly shoot on Sunday.

BRIGHTEYES IN ATHLETICS.

THE blizzard of romance which snowed under the Leonard-Ritchie scuffle in San Francisco was a throw back to the old day when tin-plated knights dented one another with nut crackers for the privilege of copping a beautiful flapper's hapd-painted smile.

After Taking Tanlac Eats Things He Hadn't Touched in Nine Years.

"I had about given up all hopes of ever being a well man again, but since taking a few bottles of Tanlac I am enjoying as good health as I ever did in my life, and have gained twenty-five pounds in weight," said Raymond E. Latham, a well known farmer who lives at Manito, Ill., while in Peoria the other day.

"A man never appreciates good health until he loses it," said Mr. Latham, "at least, I didn't. Up to the time my health failed me, about nine years ago, I didn't know what it was to be sick. I had a fine ap petite all the time, and when we came in from the corn fields at meal time, I could eat big, hearty meals and enjoy them. I just want to say in this connection that we always believed in having plenty of the subotified his parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. stantial kind of food that keeps a man in condition to do the work on a" farm, and when I reached the point where I didn't feel like eating that kind of a meal I knew that something was wrong. I discovered a little later that my stomach was in bad shape, and in a short time after I ate a little, I would have sour stomach. Then I would be bloated up with gas for two or three hours after every meal. This condition kept on getting worse until I began to have attacks of acute indigestion and was told that these attacks were liable to kill me any day. I finally got so weak and rundown that I was hardly able to do any work at all. I would have gladly given every dollar I possessed to get back my health, but nothing I did seemed to help me. "Nearly every day I would read in the papers about Tanlac, and I personally knew some of the folks that were giving these statements, so I decided to give Tanlac a trial myself. Well, sir, in little or no time I began to want to eat. My apnetite came back in full force, and I was the happiest man in the state of Illinois when I found my food was agreeing with me. I was soon eating just the same things, and as much of them, as I did nine years ago before I lost my health, and I have kept it up ever since. I am in as good health now as I ever was in my life, and there isn't a man on my farm that can do more hard and burning of the skin, S. S. S. will work in a day than I can. I am never bothered with indigestion or I want to tell the world about Tanlac and all it has done for me." Tanlac is sold in Omaha by all sought the proper treatment, that is ders, and he will take pleasure in Sherman & McConnell Drug Comwithin your reach.
