Subject to Revision.

Provision also was made for the revision of the covenant itself from time to time, thus meeting the objection that it is inflexible. The admission of other states was provided for, but it was agreed that any George at the Buckingham palace ed man to attend the Buckingham detective-sergeants, $150; sergeants due regard to the proportion bedinner given to President Wilson palace dinner, and received from the change in numbers must be with large and small powers on the executive council as defined in the articles creating the council. Many changes in the text of the covenant were made with the spe-cial purpose of clarification and removing ambiguities to which attention had been called by speakers in the United States. Some doubt is entertained in some quarters as to the wisdom of amendments affirming absolute control of countries over their internal affairs as possibly prohibiting the extension of outside aid to put down revolutions. and it is possible this language may be further modified.

One amendment to be submitted adopts a provision that cowers which are not specifically delegated to the league are reserved to indi-vidual members. Nothing has yet been done to affirmatively state the right of a nation with regard to its withdrawal from the league, nor has the Japanese amendment regarding racial discriminations been reached. This latter, however, has been modified so as to simply de-clare for the right of "just" treat-ment and is likely to be accepted.

A French amendment providing for the maintenance of a general military staff has been proposed, but thus far it has not been accepted.
