Say "Lost Battalion" Composed of Jews From N. Y. East Side

That the now famous "Lost Battalion" commanded by Major Whittlesey in the Argonne Forest when the intrepid major told the Germans to "go to hell" in their demand for surrender, was composed almost entirely of Jews from the east side of New York, was disclosed by Henry Lapidus, chairman of the local Jewish Welfare board, at the meeting of the Omaha Hebrew club Sunday evening. His subject was "What the Jews Have Done in the Great War."

Official records state that this battalion was a part of the now famous 77th division, an east side, or "Yiddish division," as described by an editorial from the New York Globe, October 11, 1918.

The speaker read from the official report of the heroism of Private Abraham Krotoshinsky who was awarded the D. S. C. This honor was awarded to many other Jewish boys. Mr. Lapidus produced figures to refute the insinuation that the Jews are not fighters and that they sought service in the non-fighting branches of the army and navy. He stated that while the infantry branch constituted but 26.6 per cent of the army, it contained 51.7 of the Jews total.

HOLDUPS LOOT BANK OF $20,000 IN DES MOINES

Employees Are Locked in Lavatory While Two Bandits Remove Cash from Vault and Escape.

Des Moines, Ia., March 25.—Two men held up the Iowa State bank, in the heart of the business district here, shortly before 9 a. m., today and escaped with more than $20,000 in cash.

M. R. Farmer, assistant cashier; G. D. Pickett, clerk, and E. H. Hunter, bookkeeper, were getting ready for the day's business when the two men knocked at the front door and asked if they were too early to make a deposit.

Hunter admitted the men, told them to make out their deposit slip, and returned to his work. Farmer was carrying money from the vault to his cage when one of the men presented a pistol and ordered him to put up his hands.

One of the robbers stood in the front of the bank while the second made his way back of the counter and ordered the three bank employees into a lavatory, locking the door. The robbers then completed their work. Five minutes later, according to Hunter, the bank attaches broke down the lavatory door and notified the police.

Man, Said to Have Sold Whisky to Indian, Is Bound Over to Court

Gus Mike, owner of a soft drink parlor at 123 North Tenth street, charged with selling liquor to Louis Twin, an Indian from Winnebago, Neb., was bound over for trial on a $750 bond at a hearing before United States Commissioner Neely yesterday morning.

According to Sergt. O. V. Thestrup of the city morals squad, Twin was arrested Saturday night for drunkenness, but promised that he would take the police to the place where he bought the whisky, if released from jail.

Sergeant Thestrup accompanied him to 123 North Tenth street, and in a short time, he testified, Twin came out of the parlor with the whisky.

A marked $5 bill was used as evidence against Gus Mike. Twin testified that in the jail Gus Mike offered him money not to testify against him.

The Indian was recently discharged from the navy.

Government Wants Salesmen for Army Recruiting Work

Jobs—20 of them—for 20 live wire soldiers or ex-soldiers, as salesmen for the government, are waiting in the Omaha recruiting station at the Army building.

The men must be between 18 and 40 and will be paid $110 per month with every chance for advancement. Medical care and clothes are provided also.

One stenographer is especially needed. They will be placed in the Omaha office, in western Iowa, or nearby towns in Nebraska.

According to Maj. R. E. Frith, officer in charge, the recruiting agent must now be a salesman for the government with the ability to put across his commodity—the United States army.

He must put before every boy that the army offers a business opening where he makes as a private, equal to $90 per month in peace time, with opportunities for travel that money cannot buy, and at the close of 30 years in the service he is retired at $67.50 per month.

Railroads May Dodge Taxation on Supplies Bought During War

An attempt is being made by the railroads to escape taxation on supplies bought during the war, according to a letter received by County Clerk Dewey from the state board of equalization. The letter says that attorneys for the Union Pacific railroad have notified the board that no return will be made of supplies for purposes of taxation on the ground that these supplies were bought for war purposes.

"This would mean a loss of from $6,000 to $10,000 on taxes in Douglas county from this one road," said Mr. Dewey. "I can't see any reason for such action. If the railroads are going to decline to pay taxes on supplies it will be only a step to declining to pay taxes on the roads themselves."

Secretary Osborn of the state board of equalization, called on Mr. Dewey and they decided to ask the county attorney of Douglas county and the state attorney general for an opinion on the subject.

which under ordinary circumstances works many a hardship--but, THERMOPAK, requiring no Ice or Salt, and endorsed by Uncle Sam, is a revelation to those already using one THERMOPAK in operation is similar to the well known THERMOS BOTTLE with an added advantage that it can be made in any size. It is a food container that keeps hot things hot and cold things cold, being made of a specially prepared paper encased in a metallic jacket.

THERMOPAK is indispensable to Ice Cream manufacturers, the milk, butter and fish industries, as well as the farmer and the home, and for a score of other equally important uses. In fact, its scope of usefulness is so far-reaching it is impossible to enumerate them in this space.

Farmers will find THERMOPAK to be a most sensible, economical and practical container for the carrying and shipping of milk, cream and butter to the market, no matter whether the haul be long or short. These containers being made of varying shapes and sizes, permit at all times the carrying of capacity loads. Constructed as they are of durable material they will last a lifetime with ordinary care.
