At Pink and White Wedding Miss Reese Becomes Bride

One of the first and prettiest pink and white spring weddings is that of Miss Mabel Reese, daughter of Mrs. E. L. Reese and Gordon Broholm of Des Moines...

The church was decorated in pink and white flowers with a background of ferns and palms.

The wedding supper was at 4 p. m. at the Reese home on Eighth and Lothrop.

Motor Corps Service Collecting Clothes for Refugees

Omaha's Red Cross motor corps will call for all used clothing that can not be delivered.

Mrs. T. H. McDearmon, lieutenant in the motor corps, assisted by Mrs. O. W. Royce, will drive cars and a motor truck Wednesday and Thursday to collect clothing from those who have telephoned headquarters.

Omaha's quota of 35,000 pounds must be filled in but four more days.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Ortman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ortman, and Sr. Lt. Richard Mullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Mullin of Omaha, took place Wednesday morning at 7:30 at Our Lady of Lourdes church.

It was a very quiet wedding with only the immediate relatives. The bride wore a navy suit and carried a bouquet of Mrs. Ward roses.

Heart Beats

By F. C.

We went to Smith's To play Auction Bridge. We said we knew Not how to play A good game But if It was all right With them We were willing To "fill in."

Mrs. Brown piped up And said: "O, it is quite All right If you make A mistake We will excuse you And besides We are none of Expert We just play To pass the time The prize Is of no Consequence And so we played And made a bad play Whereupon Mrs. Brown And Mrs. Smith And Mrs. Jones And Mrs. Everybody Proceeded to tell us Just what they thought Of women who went To card parties And knew not how To play And who spoiled The game And kept others Who could play From winning The prize.

Mrs. Brown's many years Of card-playing experience Had taught her To always Play her cards Thus. Mrs. Jones knew It was always better To play Just the reverse. Mrs. Smith took A different view Entirely. Mrs. Somebody else Accidentally Added her losses To the gain. And deduced her error. But they were not Playing for The prize. The prize being Of no Consequence. What a game! And the game, Which was only to pass The time away. So now we know "There ain't no such thing" As women playing An innocent game Without thought Of winning The inconsequential Prize.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: We are two twins nearly the same age, being nearly 13 years old. We read the advice to the lovelorn all the time nearly. Pretty near all ways we fight over it. We think some of the letters are awful silly, and we are glad that we aren't as silly as some folks. We think you are an awful nice person; of course, we don't know you. Our complexions aren't very good, so we use paint sometimes. We have two fellows (one each). They don't like to see paint on us and we know they love us. They ain't never told us yet, but we know they will. Now, Miss Fairfax, shall we paint, and will we marry these fellows? We never went to school much, so we ain't sure whether we are "in love" or not. Please advise us, dear Miss Fairfax. Folks tell us we're awful pretty, but we know we're not. We are both bled girls on the farm. With thanks and love, JULIA and LIZZIE.

P. S.—Please don't throw this in the waste basket, because we are anxious.

The use of powder and paint is a matter of personal choice. Fortune telling is for psychics, mediums and trance specialists. It so happens that I am none of these. School doesn't teach the definition of love, it is too big a problem for human mind to master, so we are obliged to take it for granted. You are more modest than many of my correspondents in describing your appearance.

Ten Years too Long. Dear Miss Fairfax: We are constant readers of your advice and are writing for that purpose. We are three young girls, one 27, one 28 and one 30. We have each gone with a fellow for the last 10 years, and we would like to know why they don't "pop the question." We are all three considered good looking and are very popular. We are very anxious to see our letter in print. Sincerely, THREE POPULAR OLD MAIDS.

Ten years is too long. They have lost interest. Try new friends and you may have better luck.

Of Course! Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I want to say for the purpose of signed "Bayley Bayne" that there are men who don't want flashy socks and ties, and who do want a home in which there is a woman—a woman that kind she deserves, although I didn't think that kind of a woman lived today. All I can say is that I have seen many happy marriages very successful, as I was a first lieutenant in the army when I was released, and all my life, with few exceptions, a farmer. Life is love and love is life. Life is what we make it. A FIRST LIEUTENANT.

He Likes Bayley Bayne. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I just wish to pen a few words in answer to "Bayley Bayne's" letter in today's Bee.

Say, girlie, I was sure surprised to find that there is still some girls like mother, you know, who like a home, a hubby and little ones better than going out nights for well or good times. But, B. B., you need not think for one minute that those girls fly from one guy affair to another ever aware of pure, everlasting love in any true man's heart. But, little lonesome one, you were looking for a male specimen that don't stand on his head in the flour bin all the time. Well, that just fits

NOTICE

There are but three reasons why your letters do not appear in print—because they are too long (more than 200 words), because you do not send your correct address as a postscript or because they are not suitable for publication.

Rachael was as young and beautiful and attractive by the time Jacob got her. Therefore, I cannot recommend any seven year waits. There is not one in 10 of the long engagements that result in happy marriages. Why not marry and permit her to go on with her plans? Why should marriage be a yoke to a girl's ambitions? Many women give up everything else in life for marriage and the kitchen—therein lies the secret of their unhappiness. A girl is legally of age at 18. A father may not collect her wages without her consent.

Stenogs—Probably the girl would be glad to go to the theaters, too, if you would ask her and introduce her to some of your friends. Of course he would not tell you it was because she knew no men in the city. You wouldn't yourself.

Blue Eyes—You had better stay away from such dances as you describe. Don't do it because your friend insists, if you wish, but because it is far better for yourself. Yes, I think 16 is young.

June Bird—Your weight depends upon your height. If you did not love the man, of course you did right in telling him. Is it a sign of up-to-dateness to flirt? You yourself and if you're not stuck up nor yet a flirt, they will have to seek some other name. Many are married at 17, but can't you wait a few years.
