McKELVIE NOT READY TO ACT IN COLE CASE

Governor Will Investigate Two Confessions of Man Under Death Sentence Before Making Move.

ming, where I had been for some months, and I brought back with me four quarts of whisky.

"The state was dry at the time. I was a friend of Allan Grammer and had been for some time. I went to the farm which my brother and I had rented from my mother, and my brother and I had some trouble. I phoned to Grammer to come to the place and take me away, as I planned to go to some relatives in Indiana.

"He begged me to wait until after the Fourth of July. I agreed. I was going with my sweetheart at the time and on the Fourth we went to Grand Island to see the ball game. Grammer and his wife were with us all the day.

Accused by Woman. "A few days before I had been at the home of Mrs. Voght and was drinking with the boys. One of them vomited in the bed and she accused me. She afterward met my sweetheart at the ball game and during my absence told of the accident at her home and said I was not fit to go with her.

"My girl threw this up to me, after the ball game and we had a quarrel. She said she would have nothing more to do with me. I left her and got Grammer's machine. I had a pint of liquor and began drinking this. I drove from Elba to Cotsefield and about midnight I became inebriated at the fight of interfering in affairs between myself and my girl. I drove to her home.

Woman Laughed at Cole. "I had a 22-calibre revolver with me. I got her to get out of bed and get in the machine with me. We drove down the road a ways and then I told her she would either square matters between me and the girl by taking back the story she told, or take the consequences.

"She laughed at me and told me that the girl was far too good for me. This made me crazy. I pulled the gun on her and she seemed to faint away. I shot and she slid down in the seat beside me. I drove until I came to the spot where her body was found. After that I seemed to go crazy and don't know what I did. I went to Wisconsin. I had loaned some money to a fellow named McRae, in Grand Island, and when I wrote to him from Wisconsin for it the officers found me.

Grammer Did Not Know. "Grammer was with his brother-in-law and family at St. Paul on the night of the murder and did not know anything of it. I did not have a fair trial when I was convicted. The mob spirit ran too high.

"My life has been a failure. I wish that I could live long enough to mend it.

Asked what action he would take to save off the death sentence imposed by the court, he said:

"It is too late to do anything now." Cole was very nervous during the interview, his hands shaking and his lips trembling all of the time. Asked the name of his sweetheart, he queried: "Must I give that? No, I will not. She is disgraced enough as it is.

Grammer who was refused a new trial by the supreme court, in a decision handed down yesterday, was convicted on the charge of having incited Cole to commit the crime of murder for a bribe of $500. The victim was Grammer's mother-in-law. He insists that he had absolutely nothing to do with the crime and that Cole was guilty.

Asked if Cole's activity was not one of chivalrous friendship in assuming all of the blame, Grammer replied: "No, he is doing only what he should have done a long time ago, telling the truth."

In reply to the question, if he were going to take further legal steps to obtain reversal of the sentence of the court, he replied: "I have not yet consulted with my attorney Sterling Mutz. I want the newspapers to give me a square deal, for they have hurt me enough already.

Death Fixed April 9. Unless Governor McKelvie commutes the sentence of Cole to life imprisonment, Cole will be executed at the penitentiary April 29. As yet Warden Fenton has made no preparations for the event. There is no electric chair, but the prison official says that if necessary a chair will be fitted up and the current connected up. The prison has one of the most modern equipped electric plants in the state and the huge dynamos develop a tremendous voltage.

No person in Nebraska has yet been electrocuted under the provisions of the capital punishment act passed by the 1917 legislature. Several murderers are in the penitentiary serving life sentences.

The Brunswick produces all artists

Plays all makes of records at their best

Why So Many Prefer The Brunswick

THE Brunswick Method of Reproduction is the wonder of the phonographic art. And it wins acclaim from two principal ideas: The Ultona and The Brunswick Tone Amplifier.

The Ultona is an exclusive invention, an all-record player to be had only on The Brunswick. It plays all makes of records as they should be played—with the proper needle and the precise weight—and with the proper diaphragm.

The Brunswick Tone Amplifier is built entirely of wood, according to a new process. In this "Throat" of the phonograph all metal is discarded. This brings purity and volume of tone. There is an absence of the usual metallic sounds.

A tone test of a Brunswick is conclusive evidence. Your ear is a quick judge.

Your admiration for this superior phonograph will compel you to award it first place.
