An investment in Preferred Stock is a saving on your income of the normal tax, which is now 6% and 12%.

5 REASONS That influenced us most in purchasing and offering for sale this investment 7% PREFERRED STOCK OF THE HARDING CREAM COMPANY, WERE:

-The growth of the Company's business. The large percentage of earnings which have been put back into the property. All of which gives additional security for the Preferred.

-The use of this money from the sale of this Stock is for the development of the Company's Eastern branches, being employed as liquid capital.

3-The fact that there are net assets of $319.00 for each $100 share of Preferred, and net quick assets of one-half times the Preferred Stock.

4-The strong restrictions which fully protect the Preferred Stockholder's interests.

5-The increase that the Company has made has been a normal and healthy one. Its profit per $1.00 is not increasing, but the increase in earnings is due to careful management. Our seventeen years of experince is yours without cost.

in which he won the crown from Jack Johnson. Before the arrangements for the big scrap were made. Jess knew little of real boxing and still less of training methods, but had a few brains and he knew that to win he must learn more of boxing and conditioning systems. Clever sparring partners and trainers were hired and resulted in Willard being he best conditioned scrapper of the two when he and the negro met and he also proved the cleverer. Studied Training Systems.

While everyone thought that the big fellow was allowing himself to go to seed, he was learning still more of training methods. It wasn't advertised, but Willard studied the systems of all the old time gladiators and nucled out the good gladiators and picked out the good points of each. He only trained a short time for his bout with Frank Moran at Madison Square Garden, in New York, but even in that short time he was able to enter the ring in surprisingly good shape and gave Moran a trouncing that he never Moran a trouncing that he never will forget. He hasn't fought since Nebraska in 3:34, at the fourteenth and has gathered pounds of superfluous meat, but you can wager all your bank book is worth that Jess has not forgotten the lessons he studied about condition and the manner of getting right.

what is said to be a new record for a 12-lap track.

Ray also won the 1.000 yard handiwill continue to do so until he gets his stomach in proper shape to stand the hard knocks of the heav-ier work. Besides his dieting, Jess has started a little light gymnasium work, just enough to properly digest his food and keep the muscles loosened up so that they wont stiffen when the great strain is put on them later on. He started with short runs and rope skipping and a little shadow boxing with light weights in his hands. After he had kept this up for a time, he picked on Jim Corbett's old stunt of slamming a light punching bag to de-velop speed in punching and quickness of eye. Will Increase Work Gradually.

All this work is in the nature of light exercise and he has already reduced his weight considerably. Buck of the Chicago Athletic as-sociation won the pole vault with 11 feet and 8 inches. has acquired, when he steps into the ring for the scrap with Demp-

Many sport fans have suggested that the long lay-off has weakened Willard to such an extent that he cannot ever hope to reach his best condition. What has he done that gives people such ideas? He was never a great one to dissipate, he is a home-loving man and has had no occasion to run around a great deal. Traveling with his circus really kept him in fair shape, for he had to work some to keep the circus busi-ness alive. He boxed twice daily in the show, and if the stories are true, helped the "canvas backs" when the show had to move.

Oh, no, Dempsey won't be the better conditioned man when they meet next Fourth of July. Jess Willard will be in as good shape for the mill as the challenger. A num-ber of people believe that he won't U. of C Takes Honors.
