

VERY CHOICE

VAN DYCK CIGAR

FOUR SELECT SIZES
We suggest STAPLES: 2 for 25c

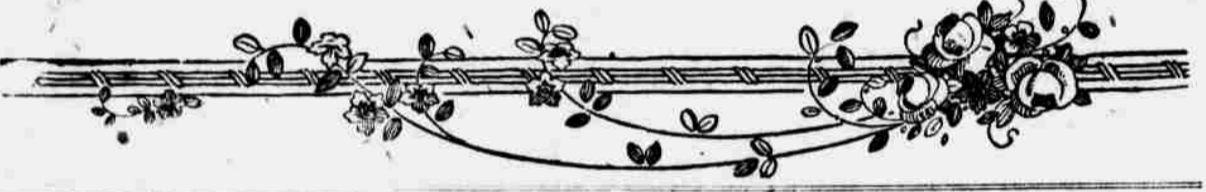

THE RESULT COUNTS MOST

As you smoke a Van Dyck Cigar you will realize that here at last is something very choice.

This superior quality is due to many reasons. An unusual stock of the better tobaccos is drawn from to secure a blend that is very choice. Ripe manufacturing experience contributes workmanship beyond the common kind.

But the reasons will not interest you anywhere as much as the result—the very choice result.

SPRING SNOW TIES UP ROADS INTO DENVER

Trains From Omaha Blocked
at Keensburg and Wray,
Where Drifts Are Deep;
Bad Weather North.

Denver, Colo., April 7.—Trains from the north and east entering Denver are running from one to 10 hours behind schedule as a result of the wind, sleet and snowstorm that swept the western states Sunday. Three feet of snow is reported at Wiggins, Colo. In western Kansas and Nebraska, west-bound trains are experiencing difficulty because of the snow that has piled in the deep cuts.

Trains from Omaha are blocked at Keensburg and Wray, Colo., where the snow drifts are said to be very deep.

Severe weather is reported in Montana and Wyoming. Fifteen inches of snow is reported at Cheyenne.

Baby Seriously Hurt When Auto, Driven by Mother, Hits Street Car

James Laycock, 3-year-old son of J. E. Laycock, 3315 Davenport street, was seriously injured in an automobile accident at Forty-fifth and Dodge streets shortly before noon yesterday. Physicians say the baby will die.

Together with the mother and negro maid, the baby was riding in a closed car west on Dodge street. When in front of the Updike Lumber and Coal company, the automobile collided with a street car and crashed into a trolley-wire pole, injuring the baby and badly damaging the car, which was driven by Mrs. Laycock.

Louis Bostwick, who happened by, took the mother and baby to University hospital. The baby suffered a possible fracture of the skull besides serious internal injuries and bad cuts about the head.

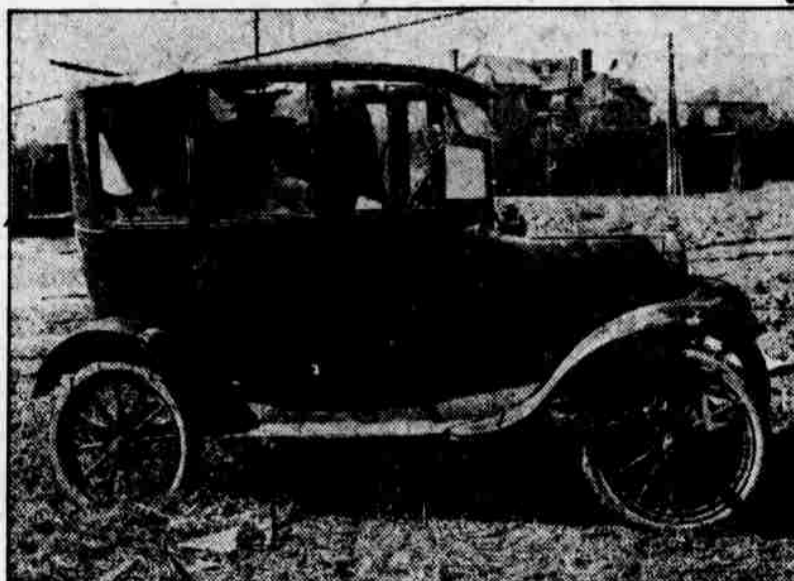

Witnesses of the accident say the baby was thrown through the windshield.

Injured in Fall Under Disc.
Aurora, Neb., April 7.—(Special.) Harvey Wind was seriously injured here Saturday at the farm of Mark Condon. Horses he was driving ran away and threw him underneath the disc. He received a very serious fracture of the skull. After operating upon him, the surgeons stated that he has a fighting chance to recover. He is about 19 years old.

In the Path of the Storm

Hundreds of drivers, who remembered the former disaster which visited the city, were on the ground assisting unfortunate victims in every possible way, using their cars to convey injured persons to places where they could receive medical attention, helping lost and demoralized victims to find shelter and flashing their headlights over the ruins of wrecked buildings.

Owners of automobiles in the damaged sections of the city, and within a radius of miles, were on the scene in their cars within a short while after the tornado spent its force.

The tornado struck near Fifty-sixth and Center streets at 8:48, according to the report of Fire Chief Dineen. Chief Dineen explained that as each wire in the path of the tornado was severed, the fire gong in the station rang. At 8:48 a series of persistent, intermittent rings began and continued over a period of nearly 2 minutes.

"One of the most noteworthy features of the tornado was that not a single fire occurred in the entire scope of the storm," said Chief Dineen. "Several fire calls in other parts of the city were answered during and after the tornado but not a single one in the stricken district."

A chair was driven into the outside wall of a house at 4815 Underwood avenue. The four legs penetrated the siding and held the chair suspended against the wall.

The chimney of the Elwood apartments was blown down and fell through the building. Two little boys were in an upper story apartment at the time the avalanche of bricks and mortar came tumbling through but neither was even scratched, witnesses said.

A handsome pergola and red tiled-roofed garden house in the rear of the elegant Ellwood apartments, Fortyninth avenue and Dodge streets, were completely destroyed.

Part of the roof of the Ardmore Terrace apartment house, Fortyninth and Chicago streets, was smashed and the apartments were badly rain-soaked.

While residents in Keystone Park addition, just west of Benson, escaped the path of the tornado, they say they have suffered the most severe hail storm ever encountered in the vicinity.

"One hailstone I measured was six and one-fourth inches in circumference," said Arthur Thomas of the Chamber of Commerce publicity bureau, who lives in Keystone park. "There were any number of them more than five inches in circumference."

Scores of windows were broken by the impact of the large hailstones.

Little Edward Schnell, 10 years old, living at 4619 Cuming street, was playing in his backyard when he saw the tornado coming.

The little fellow, panic-stricken, ran out into the alley and threw himself down flat. Sheds, parts of houses and all sorts of wreckage blew over the lad, but he escaped unharmed.

Harry Seglin, 1827 North Twenty-third street, found a dead cow in his yard this morning. It was a red cow.

Two cows were reported missing in the storm. One of them disappeared with the shed in which it was kept by Mrs. Andrew Johnson, 1018 North Forty-second avenue. John Gross of Papillion also lost his cow.

Whether the cow was carried all the way from Papillion or only from Forty-second avenue is not known.

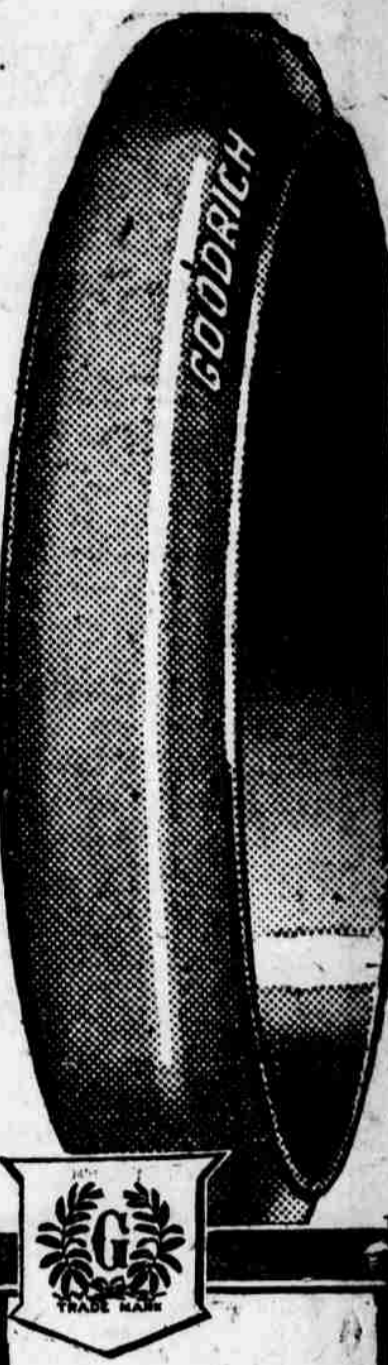

With the exception of his house, all the buildings on the farm of Anton Pulte, a mile west of Forest Lawn cemetery, were destroyed by the tornado. A large number of chickens and several small pigs were killed.

On the Pulte farm there was a garage and when the storm came, an automobile was standing inside. The tornado picked the garage from its foundation, carried it nearly 200 feet and dashed it to the ground, completely wrecked. The automobile remained where it had stood, apparently not having been moved an inch.

Louis Kulakofsky of the Central Market was calling on Miss Helen Levy in the Adelaide apartments at Fortyninth and Dodge streets, when the storm hit this section, carrying off the front portion of the apartment house and wrecking Kulakofsky's automobile which stood in front of the building.

The former home of Miss Levy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Levy, in the Bemis park section, was demolished in the tornado six years ago.

Wymen Dressler and family, 323 South Fiftieth avenue, drove to Lincoln on Sunday and did not hear of the storm which wrecked their home, until midnight. None was at home when the house was twisted and torn. The pantry at the rear of this house was left exposed and on one of the shelves were a dozen eggs not disturbed or broken.
