12 ~

least.

Tree planting is good practice for Nebraskans, but care should be taken to see that the trees grow ...

The legislature has just given Omaha folks another strong hint to adopt home rule. Will it be acted on?

A visiting missionary says the world war was won by Standard Oil. This will relieve a lot of suspense.

Another American has been murdered in Mexico, which fact will very likely call for another ultimatum.

Bolshevism is so popular in Budapest that as high as $1,000 is offered for an American passport to get away on.

Price-fixing will wait on the president again, just as it did at first. His boards are not even good rubber stamps.

A magician ought at least to control the mind of his assistants, if he professes to read the thoughts of his audience.

Emiliano Zapata is reported killed again, but this leaves him far behind Pancho Villa in the number of lives he has lost.

Ak-Sar-Ben is promised all the help he needs in making his new show go big, for nothing he undertakes ever falls down.

Our absent president seems to have remembered that the home folks also are in need of relief as well as those of Europe.

German delegates will be summoned to Versailles in about three weeks, if you are still interested in the Peace conference.

Director Hines says he is about through raising wages for the time at least. Taxpayers, who are footing the bill, will hope so.

Packers tell us meat prices will continue high until after aungry Europe is fed up. All the more reason for insisting that the bolsheviki go to work.

HOME RULE OMAHA'S GREAT NEED. Failure of certain amendments to Omaha's charter to pass scrutiny at Lincoln emphasizes the need of the community for the right to regulate its own domestic affairs. The character of the defeated changes in the city charter is not so important as is the fact that their disposal depended on the temper of the legislature. Matters concerning the city alone were being dealt with, and in all fairness these should be left to the decision of the people of Omaha, and not be subject to the mood of the general assembly. It so happens that in this case a genuine favor was done the home owners by the legislature. The city commissioners sought to be invested with extraordinary power in regard to public improvements. The Bee called attention to the bills when they were introduced and at the time outlined the objections to them. Arguments of much force and weight are made in favor of the measure, but the principle is unaltered. If the citizens of Omaha are willing that the commission should have the power it seeks, well and good, but the authority should be granted by them and not by the state legis-

A home rule charter, prepared many months ago, was held up by court proceedings, but it surely can not be indefinitely postponed through that means. Now that the charter amendments sought have been denied by the legislature, the whole charter may well be presented to the people for adoption. Then it will be in order to bring forward any amendments deemed advisable or necessary, and allow the homeowners an opportunity to express themselves formally on the point.

Let us take advantage of permission given long ago, adopt our own city charter, and cease the biennial pilgrimages to Lincoln to secure the privilege of attending to our own affairs.

German Hunger and Peace.

A correspondent, sending word from Berlin, closes his dispatch with these words: "Finally, remember that the Allies are dealing with a desperate nation-a nation hungry for peacehungry for bread." It is well to remember, also, that this same desperate nation is earnestly and persistently attempting to capitalize this very desperation, and through its hunger for peace and bread to secure terms more favorable and less burdensome than it knows justice entitles it to. Germany is deeply infected with the virus of bolshevism; its boasted order and efficiency has vanished in a mist of riot and disorder; productive effort has come to a stop; responsible government exists nowhere in the empire, while the only evidence of organized effort is that furnished by the groups contending for mastery. The Germans must be made to realize, to understand fully, that they are making no headway against their fate by the methods they have chosen to impress the world. When they cease their foolishness, their hunger for both peace and bread will be appeased, but they will be required to pay for both. Peace will be righteous, based on justice, and bread will be theirs because they have earned it.

Railroad Wages and the Public.

ideal.

Walker D. Hines has just announced that another increase in pay has been granted the men in the train service of the roads under government control, amounting to $65,000,000 ar, or a total of nearly a Adamson bill was passed. No one will begrudge the engine and trainmen the high rate of pay granted them, unless it be some of the less well paid employes, who may be envious of the success of their thoroughly organized brethren. The public, however, must foot the bill. February reports, unofficially tabulated, showed a decrease in net operating revenue at the rate of $150,000,000 a year under last year's experiencer As the final net deficit in operating revenue for 1918 was $214,000,000, the indications are that for the current year, unless a marked change in business conditions transpires, will be close to $370,000,000. Add this to the $750,000,000 appropriation asked for the roads, and the net cost to the people for the second year of government management of the railroads will approximate $1,120,000,000, which is some load for even the wealthiest country in the world to carry. Private ownership could not support such a drain, and it is questionable if the people long will want to put up with such a plan. The president washed his hands of the problem in December, and the democratic congress passed it along to the incoming republicans who will have here the knottiest of all reconstruction questions.

THE BEE: OMAHA, SATURDAY, APRIL 12, 1919.

Publicity and Speed

New York Evening Post.

Two main grievances are now being formulated against the peace conference. On the one hand, the conference is wasting time while the world is ablaze. On the other hand, the conference is resolving itself into a star chamber. It was bad enough when a world-meeting of 0 delegates turned into a Council of Ten, gathered in M. Pichon's private offices on the Quai D'Orsay. Today the conference has become a big four doing business in Mr. Wilson's private apartment or in the seclusion of the Hotel Crillon. Those who were convinced from the beginning that the conference would fashion itself into an instrument of secret diplomacy for the purpose of "putting over" something on mankind are now confirmed in their horrid suspicions. The difficulty is that from this very source come most of the complaints about de-lay in shaping the peace of which Europe stands so badly in need. No one as yet has formulated the method by which the representatives of two hemispheres and two dozen nations may express to the public stenographers all that is in their ninds and hearts and do it in the space of 24 hours, more or less. A breakdown of publicity with respect to the conference would mean an outside world left in ignorance of the aims pursued by the assembled diplomats, their specific demands, and their methods. It can not be truly said that with regard either to aims or demands at Paris the world has been left in the dark. On the question of Russia we have known from the beinning that there is a clash between America and Great Britain, standing for conciliation of the soviet, and France holding out for drastic channels.

Many Questions Answered. Miss M. S.—No orders have been ction, with Italy indifferent. On the question of reparations and indemnity we have known the issue to be between what Germany owes field artillery, now with the Third and what Germany can pay, and in a general army in Germany. See answer to and what Germany can pay, and in a general way the alignment of powers on either side. In the matter of territorial claims we have had the declaration of peace. just the opposite of secret diplomacy: instead of concealing their desires the interested par-Father-Telegraph battalion ties have been at pains to bring their maximum claims before the public. Surely, nothing can be nearer to the ideal of open diplomacy than Italy's recent threat to break up the con-ference unless she got Fiume. This may be wicked, but it is not secret. What the French ule for immediate return. train will sail for home.

would like to have on the Rhine, what the Czechs would like in Silesia, what the Jugoteenth veterinary hospital is sta-Slavs would like on the Adriatic, what Clem ceau thinks of the league of nations, what Mr. Hughes of Australia thinks of Japan, is far from eing a secret. As a matter of fact, when the iplomats are not accused of secret practices, shield with a double cross in white they are accused of uttering brutal imperialistic mankind. publicity. It has been built out of material gathered in the open; it is based on ideas de-veloped by Lord Robert Cecil and General Smuts with a large group of coworkers in England; to some extent on the French plan of Leon Bourgeois; to some extent on the work in this country. No service was rendered Mr. Wilson at the time of the publication of the covenant when it was intimated that the draft must stand without change in jot or tittle; then, deed, there would have been excuse for the charge of secrecy. Actually, a storm of publicity has been breaking over the document, and the results are to be embodied in the final been all the arguments exchanged in the vations, what the inducements offered to the league opponents, what the possible threats uttered by such opponents, what the whole process of give and take. Only that such a units were included. eal. A. L. A.—See answer to Mrs. Wife-The Thirty-fifth division is

The ideal is unattainable because in every discussion there are legitimate arguments which cannot be spoken in public without peril or either to its own people or to its late enemies. We may imagine Sonnino arguing from the threat of revolution in Italy; but no govern-ment will invite revolution by holding out the prospect of its success. We may imagine Lloyd George citing his labor difficulties at home, but it is futile to think of a statesman announcing to the public, "If I don't get the Russian policy want I am done for." The danger of secret diplomacy is secret aims. The peril to the world is in secret treaties that remain secret, though that peril, too, is minimized by the fact that secret treaties when exposed have a way of turning out very much what was suspected. As much publicity ment of its sailing. for diplomatic proceedings as is practicable, by all means. Hines Plays No Favorites

DREAMLAND ADVENTURE By DADDY

Bonus for Discharged Man. (When a revolt breaks out in Hirdland mysterious knight comes to help Persy W. H. Y .- If you were inducted into service and received pay as well ettle it.) CHAPTER VI.

as discharge certificate, you are en-titled to the $60 bonus. Write to the one Finance Officer, Lemon building, Washington, D. C., enclosing your certificate of discharge, or a certified copy of the same. It will General Swallow in his talons.

be returned to you with the check. Release for Soldiers.

Friend of the Soldier

Replies will be given in this column to questions relating to the soldier and his problems, in and out of the army. Names will not be printed.

Ask The Bee to Answer.

Mrs. P. M. S .- The Fourth division is in the army of occupation, and no definite date can be set for its return. Enlistments are now being made to replace the drafted men serving with the regular army units in this work. As fast as drafted men can be re-placed by volunteers it will be done. To secure the early release of your son, make an affidavit, setting forth the facts, and send it to the captain commanding his company, together commanding his company, together with a request for his release. Also have your son make a similar request and affidavit and give them to his captain. This is the first step, and the rest is done through military channels.

ssued for the return of the 148th Mrs. P. M. S., above. Drafted men may be held for four months after

A Father—Telegraph battalion 414 is in the servic of supply at Ore-leans, A. P. O. 797, and not on sched-Mrs. V. L .-- We have no information as to when the 109th supply tioned at Commercy (Meuse), A. P. O. 747, and is not attached to a division; we have no word as to when The insignia of the and a red star embordered by a red demands in cynical disregard of the opinion of circle.

A Sister-See reply to Mrs. V. L A Soldier's Friend-The Thir-

A Sister-The 306th infantry is part of the Seventy-seventh division, The progress of the covenant of the league part of the Seventy-seventh division, has been in the full light of humanly attainable under schedule to sail in April; plans are being made to bring this division home in a single convoy. A Reader-No orders for immediate return of T. C. 150. A. M. P.-No orders for return of the Second supply train, now serving with the army of occupation; soldiers are given extra credit for overseas service, if that is what you mean by asking their "time is dou-bled." A Soldier's Sister-No orders for the immediate return of veterinary hospital No. 11. M. A. M.-The Forty-sixth company. Twentleth engineers, is unasdraft. It is true that we do not know what have signed. Its present address is A. P. O. 781, which must appear on mail privacy of the commission meetings at the Hotel intended for men attached to this Crillon; just what have been the French fears about the league, what the exact Japanese reser-Mrs. J. C. W .- Detachments of the

157th infantry arrived at New York on April 2; cannot tell you what

cannot be spoken in public without peril or without frustrating a just purpose. We may imagine Clemenceau backing up his demands for large indemnities with a statement of France's M.—Very few transportation comunhappy economic condition; but it may not be panies have been sent home; the desirable to reveal the true condition of France Thirty-eighth transportation company is now stationed at Gievros, and not under early sailing orders; the Twelfth engineers is engaged in railway operations with the Second army; drafted men may be held for four months after peace is declared: cannot tell you about the bakery company at Camp Banning. V. M. J.—The Sixteenth balloon company is in the service of supply with the Fourth army corps, and no with the Fourth army corps, and no orders for its early return have been issued. Anxious Reader-Camp hospital No. 26 is not listed for immediate re-turn. Watch The Bee for announce-Mrs. L. H .- See answer to Mrs. P. M. S. at top of this column; no orders for return of aero squadron No. 88, which is with the First army, or for the 168th transportation comLittle Folks' Corner Daily Dot Puzzle the knight reached out quickly and made them all prisoners. "Kill 'em! Kill 'em!" shricked the revolters. "No," said the knight. "They are our comrades. Didn't you hear their cry, 'Everybady for himself?'" "That cry is silly nonsense. We're sick of it," shouted the revolters. "What, sick of the revolt?" claimed the knight. ex

THE leader of the Hawks held "You bet we are. We want the charpy days with peaceful birds free to enjoy what belongs to them." "What say you, Jack Sparrow" asked the knight. "Cree! Cree! Everybody for him-

"Cree! Cree! Everybody for him-self!" he shouted, alighting on a dead tree. The knight set down the sack of "So be it," declared the knight. "Away with Jack Sparrow and all his leaders!" shrieked the revolters. "So be it," declared the knight. "And as for you, Hawks, it would wheat and, reaching into a saddle pocket, brought out two large cliest-nuts tied together with a string. This the honest birds of Birdland. If I nuts tied together with a string. This odd weapon he sent whirling up into the tree. The Hawk never suspect-ed danger until the string hit him and the flying chestnuts wound the cord tightly around his neck and wings. With a choking squawk, the Hawk dropped General Swallow and fell from the tree right into the fail from the tree right into the hands of the knight. The other Hawks, seeing their the other Hawks, seeing their

While this was going on Peggy became aware of a tap, tap, tapping on a tree near by. It sounded like Reddy Woodpecker at work. And, sure enough, when Peggy went to see she found that it was Reddy Woodpecker, but instead of being outside the tree boring a hole in he was inside the tree boring a hole

"Any old time you can keep a Woodpecker shut up in a hollow tree I'd like to know it," he scolded. Going around to the other side of the tree. Peggy found the large hole which had been filled up when Reddy Woodpecker, Judge Owl and Blue Jay were shut in the trees. She quickly opened up this hole and her three friends hopped out, safe and sound

"Fair Princess, the realm of Birdland is at peace again," and is at peace again, said the knight, bowing grandly before Peg-gy. "I bid you farewell." "Brave knight, I thank you," an-swered Peggy. "But your name—" "Call me Sir Good Friend," an-swered the knight, mounting his was to pruise and batter themselves. And while they were tearing at him

APRIL SMILES.

"Why did you allow those two patients to have adjoining cots? Were you not afraid one might infect the other?" "I wish they would. The first one has insomnia and the other, the sleeping sick-ness."-Indianapolis Star. but if you again. steed!"

Smith-I lost my identity for two who Smith-1 jost my identity for two whole 'veeks last summer. Jones-How did it happen? Smith-Spent my vacation among wife's relations, where I was simply known as \nna's husband.-Philadelphia Inquirer. "Better consider my course in efficiency training. I can show you how to earn more money than you are getting." "I do that now."-Louisville Courier-

ournal

WHEN SPRING COMES.

would go to the fields where farmers sing Of the ways of their honest toil.

would go to the fields where I could To the tune of the crumbling soil.

would go to the pastures new and green, I would bask in the baimy air, would bil in the arm of nature's charm With the low of the cattle there.

would go to the woods to gather flowers I would sit by the winding stream, would list to the song of warbling birds As they flit through the smiling gleam would go to the woods to see the green, I would stroll in the shade of trees, would cast to the air my weary care As I'd walk in the open breeze.

-m 52 56 .2 43 29 33 .31 28 *32

.15

.14

. 20

22

23

24

ニ

.5

12.0

°62

59

58*

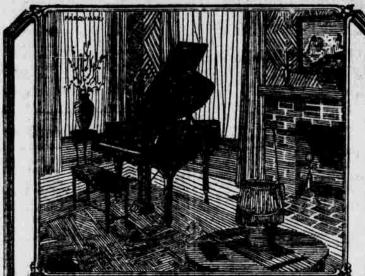

60

An Alpine -x comes to you When you've traced to sixty-two. Draw from one to two and so on to end said the head and winked at Peggy in that oddly familiar way. Who was that mysterious knight?

And why did she seem to know that wink? Peggy was still asking herself these questions when she re-turned to her garden, but she wasn't "I go back to the unknown, you need me I shall come to learn the answers until her next. visit to Birdland. Ki yi! Away, my gallant

But the gallant steed, before breaking into a gallop, furned its seems.)

She quickly opened up this hole.

leader in peril, swooped back to the rescue. They smashed into the the knight, tearing at his armor beaks and talons. The only effect

Do you suppose Newton D. Baker grinned when he awarded the distinguished service medal to General Wood? It was the secretary who kept the general out of war.

Yankee soldiers inclined to mutiny ought to remember that they must come home some day, and that wives and mothers will demand of them full explanation of their conduct.

Quebec has rejected bone-dry prohibition by a round majority, thus providing a wet spot much nearer than Europe. Montreal may find itself a great tourist center after July 1.

A Roman mob promptly dispersed an attempted parade of Spartacans, as the Roman soldiers disposed of the original Spartacus and his Thracian followers some centuries ago.

If Omaha can make vitrified brick fit for paving roads, let us no longer delay the factory. Millions of these brick have been used here, and millions more will be needed in the future.

Somehow the bootleggers' bund appears to get through any barrage the booze hounds are able to lay down. You know, if there were no bootleggers there would be no booze hounds.

The new "code" law promises business administration to Nebraska, as pledged by the republican platform last year. Incidentally, the democrats are also redeeming their platform pledges-for they made none.

Life in Berlin is just one strike after another, bank clerks giving the latest demonstration. For a well organized capital of a race of supermen, the Berlinese are giving a splendid imitation of the damphool bolsheviki.

Court-Martial Revision

Secretary of War Baker would find his decision to ask for a law to revise our military code received with more enthusiasm had he made the same statements in January that he makes today. No one doubts that all those at the head of the army and the War department were without any desire to set up a merciless code or to enforce the regulations that exist in a cold-blooded and heartless manner. Yet when the attention of the secretary was called to obviously cruel and unusual sentences and to procedures of the most severe and illegal character, his first attitude towards his critics was to deny that any injustice were done, to defend the code in force and to express surprise that any complaints should be made at all in view of the fact that he knew of no valid cause for criticism and was unaware that the evils depicted ex-isted. His bland attitude irritated the critics, and in connection with the animosities de-veloped by the Ansell-Crowder controversy, which had little to do with the real issue, led to much intemperate and indiscriminate abuse of War department ways which was bad for all War department ways which was bad for all concerned. This criticism was more or less in-vited by Secretary Baker's way of dealing with the issue and was justified by incidents cited. Now, however, the War department chiefs, the committee of the American Bar association and the "committee of former judge advocates" should all be able to get together finally and with the facts in hand devise a new code which will make impossible the miscarriages of justice that have been laid before the public by the various official and unofficial critics of the army courts-martial. That is all the people ask for, and the secretary of war might have granted this in January and not delayed his approval for three months, thus maintaining the issue as an egan and acrimonious controversy.—Philacontroversy .-- Ph

Congress May Soon Be Convened.

The news that comes from Paris suggests that Mr. Wilson has by, now recovered from the chagrin he experienced on his return from France in March, when congress failed to do six months' work in five days. He left Washington decidedly out of patience, almost angry, because of the fact that the affairs of the United States demanded that an extra session of the Sixty-sixth congress be called at once. At Paris he met with another disappointment, for the program there had been delayed beyond all reason. It is now reported that he seriously contemplates calling congress together, to work while he remains at the Peace conference. This will be good news for the country, for it will not only provide means for carrying on the government after the end of the current fiscal year, but will materially contribute to the relief of business by setting the machinery of readjustment into motion. The call might have been issued a month ago without interfering with the job in Paris and perhaps with advantage for America.

Another decrease of more than half a million tons in the unfilled orders of United States steel may help 'to bring prices to a better level. Director Hines evidently knew what he was doing when he declined to accept the figures set by Secretary Redfield's board.

The rule against rebating is part of the protection the small shipper has against the big in all properly governed markets. To destroy it simply places the little fellow at the mercy of the larger. Some day the farmer will understand this fundamental business principle.

Sam Gompers is not the only returning American to shed tears of joy at getting back to his own country. If anything were needed to make all citizens proud of the United States as well as grateful for the privilege of living here, it is furnished in Europe today.

Raisuli is back on the war map again, but is fighting Spain this time, as something nearer his size. King Alfonso ought to get a copy of the Roosevelt ultimatum and study it closely.

Mrs. L. S .- The Third pioneer in-The position taken by Director General Hines in refusing to be bound by the steel prices recently fixed by the leading steel producers and the war industrial board is not easily to be fantry is stationed at Helppes (Meuse), and is not attached to a division; its address is A. P. O. 914; no orders yet for its return. A Soldier's Sister-Sailing dates assailed.

for casual companies are not an-These "stabilized" prices represented some nounced in advance; many of these reduction from the war-price level, but they still averaged almost 100 per cent more than the preare continually arriving; the forwarding camp at Lemans is a re-placement headquarters; watch The vailing pre-war prices. They were an arbitrary creation and were recognized as such by the consuming trade, which has accordingly re-Bee for word from the organization you mention. Mrs. A. F. L.-We have no infor-fused to come forward with large orders at prices still regarded as highly inflated. Why mation concerning camp hospital No. 108; the 800th aero squadron is should the railroads be expected or be forced to do otherwise, and load up with a lot of imin the service of supply, and not under immediate sailing orders; base hospital No. 49 is assigned to early provements at such prices permanently capitalized into their plants? convoy, but the sailing date is not yet fixed.

Copper prices have been left by the government to seek their own level, and are now down nearly a half and close to the pre-war average. Why the government should deal with steel in the army of occupation, and will be held in Europe indefinitely. M. D. M.—The Twenty-eighth engineers are scattered with the First as a special favorite is not apparent. Director General Hines is said to believe that and Second armies; no orders for the the Department of Commerce's price agreement early return of this regiment. Mrs. E. L. B.-You do not say with the steel producers is against the federal anti-trust law. But whether so or not, he had been placed in the position of letting the rail-roads be squeezed by the big steel concerns, and he declines to lend himself to such a process. On that ground alone, and as a truswhat unit at A. P. O. 705 you are asking for; this postomice is an Bordeaux, and many troops are sta-tioned there, waiting for transportatee for the roads as well as for the public intermachine gun battalion is with the Eighty-eighth division; no date has been set for the sailing of this di-vision. est in the roads, Mr. Hines' course evidently has abundant justification .- New York World.

The Day We Celebrate.

Vice Admiral Sir Rosslyn Erskine Wemyss, first sea lord of the British admiralty during the war, born 55 years ago. Maj. Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, former chief of the militia bureau of the United States army, born in Missouri 56 years ago. Rt. Rev. Arthur C. A. Hall, Episcopal bishop of Vermont, born in Berkshire, England, 72 vears ago.

In Omaha 30 Years Ago.

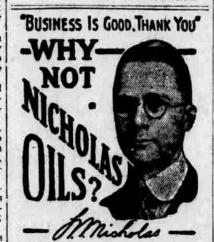

Buffalo Bill left Omaha for Washington, New York and Paris. Ed Rothery presented him with an elegant ring whip. Sherman Canfield, who was with him in his recent tour of Great Britain, will join him in Paris. The old Redfield building on the southeast corning of Twelfth and Dodge streets, in which The Bee was born, is being torn down and will e replaced by a three-story brick building.

be replaced by a three-story brick building. costing $6,500. Jules Levy, the great cornetist, and wife, are at the Millard. Mr. Levy gave a concert last night at the Grand Opera house. Editor Hitchcock is having lawn tennis grounds made on his Twentieth street lots. Oklahoma boomers held a meeting last night at Kessler's hall on South Thirteenth street. Ona faction of this association recently elected officers secretly as follows: Capt. J. G. Smith, president; Capt. W. P. O'Neill, vice president; J. P. Henderson, secretary, and Daniel O'Neill, treasure would go to the woods to find a rest In the iap of their charm and thrill, would go to the wood to find a gem In the temple of God's god-will, would go with a faith where nature smiles

In the voice of the open breeze, would search for the fount of truth and In the songs of the birds and trees. M. S. HOPEWELL.

L.V. NICHOLAS OIL COMPANY

THE WONDER OF IT1 So richly coned and sonorous, so graceful and classic, ennobling and beautifying its sur-roundings. Yet so compact, taking no more voom than an upright—and unlike an upright, fitting tastefully in the centre or anywhere in the room. Thus the little home with its grand, proudly matches the most palatial of residences. This is the magic of the Grandette thospe Co Everything in 1513 Douglas Street. "The Art, Music and Victor Store"

A Grand in a little home

EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS; mastercreator of tales extraordinary, has surpassed himself in this, his sixth enthralling chronicle of TARZAN OF THE APES. Never before has an author created a fictional character so fascinating, so universally interesting as TARZAN.

In JUNGLE TALES OF TARZAN we have another entrancing narrative woven about the marvelous apeman, presenting newadventures and desperate encounters which befall him in the dark heart of his native jungle.

JUNGLE TALES 얄

With the All

All Bookstores

A. C. McCLURG & CO., Pablishers

Marion-The Seventh division is tion home. A Soldier's Brother-The 338th

DAILY CARTOONETTE

I'M GOING TO GET LITTLE

FREDDIE A JACK IN THE BOX

AS A SURPRISE! T