

South Side HOGS REACH $20.55 AT SOUTH MARKET

New Level Paid by Local Firms Is Ten Cents in Excess of Former Record of September Last Year.

Hog prices reached a new level on the local market Saturday morning when they sold for $20.55 per hundredweight. Friday's top of $20.45 broke all existing records up to that date. The figure was 10 cents in excess of the former record set in September of last year. The bulk of the hogs on Saturday's market sold for from $20.10 to $20.40.

Hog receipts for the week ending Saturday have been lighter than for the same time in previous years, bearing out the contention of commission men and packers that the scarcity of hogs is forcing the price skyward.

Men Who Caused Death of South Side Man Bound Over

John Betroski and Jacob Kobielak, charged with manslaughter, have been bound over to the district court by Police Judge Fitzgerald under $1,000 bonds.

The two men are accused of having unintentionally caused the death of A. Socha, a fellow workman, by inflating him with air from a compressed air pump on the canning floor of the Cudahy Packing company. This occurred on March 27, but the preliminary hearing was not held until about two weeks ago because of disqualification on the part of witnesses to testify in the case.

Judge Fitzgerald deliberated three days before binding the men over to the district court.

Start Drive for $20,000 for New South Side Church

A drive for $20,000, to be used in the erection of a new house of worship, has been inaugurated among the members of the First Congregational church, Thirty-ninth and R streets. It is believed the sum can be raised after a short campaign.

The project has been under consideration for some time. Prior to our entrance into the war plans and specifications for the new structure had been submitted and accepted. The site has been in the possession of the church for the past two years.

Rev. A. A. Martin is the present pastor of the First Congregational church.

Jacob Jaskalek, Well Known South Side Citizen, Is Dead

Jacob Jaskalek, 61 years old, 4805 North Thirty-first avenue, died yesterday at his residence of pneumonia. Mr. Jaskalek was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and years ago prominent as a leader and organizer in labor circles of South Omaha. He was employed in a packing house at the time of his death. Mr. Jaskalek is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie A. Jaskalek; two daughters, Miss Madeline and Miss Erlean Jaskalek, of Omaha, and two brothers, Jewell and Charles Jaskalek, of Cleveland, O.

South Side Brevities.

Wanted—Boarders and roomers in private family; nice location. 5650 S. 28th street.

Get your milk from Square Deal Dairy, 1746 S. 4th.

For Sale—Strictly modern 6-room house, large lot, Spring Lake Park addition. Phone South 2867.

Mrs. M. R. Ruby will open rooming house at 4211 Third-second and 7th streets. All are invited.

Lost—$10 Liberty bond, between Twenty-fifth and I and Jaskalek street. Reward, $25.00. Return to 4211 South Twenty-fourth. Reward.

Wanted—Three or four unfurnished rooms or 6-room house, modern and clean, for young couple without children. South 72.

Furnishings for five room house for sale. Will sell part or all. 1912 M. Call South 4210 after 10 p. m.; before call South 4210.

For Sale—Thirty horsepower auto, excellent condition; new tires, new wiring, electric lights and starter. W. S. Shaffer, 2311 N. Street.

Alvah Kensington club will meet at the home of Mrs. E. J. Robinson, 2317 W. 24th street, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Ed. Robinson will assist the hostess.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians division No. 1, will be entertained Tuesday evening by Mrs. C. E. Burke at 4211 South Twenty-fourth. Mrs. J. Sheehan, 2418 P. street.

The ladies' auxiliary, A. O. U. W. No. 1, 2 and 3, are completing arrangements for an Easter ball to be held on the evening of April 21 at the A. O. U. W. hall, Twenty-fifth and M streets.

Miss Nive Shipley will tell the stories and Miss Alys Berka and her camp fire group of girls will furnish the music at an Easter ball to be held on the evening of April 21 at the A. O. U. W. hall, Twenty-fifth and M streets.

Funeral services for Martin Molla, pioneer of South Side, will be held at the home, 2801 U. street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Molla's church at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

4209 South Twenty-second street, situated on a large lot, two bed rooms, small rooms finished upstairs. Finished in oak and white enamel, in good condition. Garage for two cars, cement driveway. Price, $1750. W. L. Kelly and Son, Keene Building, Douglas 1219.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of Grace Methodist Episcopal church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. D. G. Robb, 4018 South Twenty-fifth street, Friday afternoon. Communion will be at 10 o'clock. Mrs. M. Mayberry will assist the hostess. Mrs. Lillian Stearns, Milwaukee club woman, will address the ladies.

To host the Victory Loan on the South Side a public mass meeting will be held at the library hall Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Prominent residents of the South Side and victory loan workers will address the gathering. Communion will be at 10 o'clock. Dr. E. C. Henry and Dr. H. C. Sumney will be the special features of the program.

Paying its worth and getting the best in true economy, applicable to wearing apparel as well as to anything else marketable, and to all of it, from an apron or an overall to full dress. You can pay too much even for good stuff, but not here at Purn's. There's not a customer enters our doors that tries harder to buy cheap than we try to buy for him, but quality is first consideration with us and now is a time to demand quality. Get the best; it's the cheapest; know your make and demand them. Hart, shafts, Mrs. Matson, Red Seal, Lion shirts and collars, E. and E. boys' shirts and collars and Woolly boys' suits are made to stand up something; they are here—John Flynn & Co.

MUSIC

BY HENRIETTA M. REES.

AN AUDIENCE of over 12,000 gathered in Philadelphia to hear the Wanamaker organ one day last week. This recital was given at the request of the musicians of Philadelphia, who desired to hear this mammoth organ played by a master who would realize its possibilities. Charles Courbion was chosen the organist, and Mr. Wanamaker also called upon the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra and Giovanni Martinelli to assist at the concert. Mr. Wanamaker gave a brief talk in which he told of the musical uplift work which had been done by the Wanamaker establishment and how it had helped and is helping to establish the communal spirit there and to develop among the thousands of employees a real and lasting love for the beautiful in tone.

"The ethical value of music as an asset to morale and the practical efficiency have been conclusively proved to the satisfaction of the Wanamaker directorate," concluded the speaker, "and it is warmly recommended for the same purposes to all other operators of large commercial or other establishments."

The Wanamaker organ is a famous organ, but do you know how it happened to get to the Wanamaker store? It was a case of the west being the loser while the east was the winner. Read the following history of the organ from the "Musical Courier" and then read between the lines, and see what a wonderful musical asset our sister city on the Missouri river might have had if the original project had been completed.

The great organ situated in the grand court of the Wanamaker store was intended originally for the convention hall, Kansas City, and previous to the time of its installation it was exhibited in festival hall at the St. Louis exposition, 1893, and there was awarded the gold medal. While at festival hall the instrument was played by Alexander Dalmat and practically every organist of note in the United States. After the close of the exposition the contract with the Kansas City authorities was not consummated and there followed several years when the now famous organ lay idle in a gloomy St. Louis warehouse. One day John Wanamaker sent for the organ, and so large was its parts that it was brought in a trail of 13 freight cars. A special court and screen were erected at Wanamaker's for the purpose of installing the organ, and for the past five years every weekday the noble instrument has been sounding its tones in the education and delight of thousands of listeners. Many additions and improvements have been made to the organ since its installation. Every pipe has been revoiced and every detail of mechanism perfected under the personal supervision of the man who was the initial designer and builder. Nearly 15,000 wood and metal pipes, operated from five manual keyboards, make up the Wanamaker organ. It has the largest single pipe in the world, 31 feet long and weighs 72 pounds. The main console weighs 2,000 pounds. The total weight of the organ is 375,000 pounds. The organ is 100 feet long, 10 feet high and 10 feet wide. It is a three-story forest of wood and metal pipes.

Of course, it was several years ago when Kansas City was toying with the proposition of a great organ in its auditorium. Even at that time there were far-sighted public spirited citizens in that city who felt that the organ was a masterpiece of the outlook, but the upshot, but evidently they were in the minority. That a great municipal organ is a valuable asset and almost necessity in public life is proved by San Francisco, Denver, Portland, Seattle, and various other cities which have municipal organs. Omaha and many other middle western cities are in the very center of the wealthiest part of the United States. Our Chamber of Commerce heads its stationery with a list of Omaha's advantages, among them, "This city is one of the four cities of the United States in population, thirteenth in bank clearings."

What Omaha and these other cities need is not so much the outlook but the upshot. The outlook is good, business is booming, but what else? We need something more elevating, like the arts, which express idealistic the history and life of the times, to stimulate and interest. They are the real deserts of life. We have enough of main courses of materialism, but we need something more elevating, like the arts, which express idealistic the history and life of the times, to stimulate and interest. They are the real deserts of life. We have enough of main courses of materialism, but we need something more elevating, like the arts, which express idealistic the history and life of the times, to stimulate and interest. They are the real deserts of life.

Good advice about buying violins is given by Mischa Elman, who will appear in recital at the Brandeis theater on April 17.

My first word of advice to purchasers of violins is to believe what you read on the label inside," says Elman. "It is the easiest thing in the world to paste imitation old labels in a fiddle. No one but an experienced violinist can be sure of a genuine instrument. Do not waste time looking in pawn shops for a Stradivarius worth $10,000. Such things happen once in 100 years—sometimes.

"If you have a violin, keep it clean; do not let rosin accumulate under the strings or on them. Shun wire E strings; they ruin the bow and cut the bridge. If you are beginning to study the instrument get as good a one as you can afford. Cheap violins never improve, even if they last 500 years. Violins that have been in the family for many years are not always the best. Just because it looks old and dusty is no proof that it is worth more than $10."

At the concert to be given Monday evening, April 21, at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium Henry Cox, soloist, will give a group of violin numbers. He will be assisted by the woman club choral, a group of 40 women's voices, directed by Mr. Cox. One of the choral numbers to be sung was composed by I. member of the chorus, "The Dreamboy" by Mrs. D. E. Bradshaw. This is the last of the series sponsored by the music department of the Omaha Woman's club. Mrs. Ward Shaffer is leader of the Music department. Among the numbers played by Mr. Cox will be the following novelties: Lt. David Hochstadt, 1892-1913—Mitsue E. flat Major. Lt. Albert Stoesel, 1885—Humoreske in B Minor. Serenade in E Major.

Famous Violinist Who Will Soon Appear Here

Mischa Elman

At the violin round table conference, held in connection with the Nebraska music teachers' convention at Lincoln last week, it was decided to arrange and recommend a regular schedule for elementary and preparatory work, including the first 10 Kreutzer studies. This recommendation will act as a criterion for the entrance credits in the School of Fine Arts of the state university, and it is hoped that the course will prove acceptable to all violin teachers, as it covers quite a varied scope and offers a number of supplementary works from which the teacher may select those with which he is familiar, or which he feels are more to the purpose for the special needs of his student.

It will be good news to orchestra lovers in Omaha to learn that Henry G. Cox has decided to bring the Minneapolis symphony orchestra here for two concerts, Friday afternoon and evening of May 23. "I just couldn't bear to see Omaha go through a whole season without one symphony orchestra concert," said Mr. Cox, "and when I learned that there was an open date I decided to take it up myself." The Minneapolis orchestra is well known to the Omaha public, and the opportunity to again hear it will be looked forward to with the greatest pleasure by its many friends here.

It is also good news to hear that St. Cecilia's cathedral has engaged Josef Bonnet for a recital Sunday afternoon, May 18. This will be in connection with the initial appearance of a chorus which Archbishop Hart has formed for the purpose of singing upon special occasions. The members of the chorus consists of the members of Cahot Catholic church in the city. It is directed by J. H. Simms, well known organist and director of music at All Saints' church. Josef Bonnet is the famous French organist who is making a tour of this country. He is one of the greatest organists before the public at the present day, and his appearance in Omaha will undoubtedly awaken the greatest interest.

Appogituras

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kelly will honor guests at a dinner in Dayton, O., given by the Women's Music club. Mr. Kelly gave a lecture on "Some Observations of Our Language," following the dinner. Illustrations of the beauty and adaptability of English for singing were given in the numerous songs sung by Mrs. Kelly.

Caruso will sing in Chicago at Medinah Temple Sunday afternoon, May 11. This is his first concert appearance there in nine years.

Caruso celebrated his silver jubilee anniversary at the Metropolitan Opera company March 22. A gala performance marked the completion of 25 years with this company, and many elaborate and costly gifts were presented to the tenor at the informal presentation ceremony which followed the program.

It has been very justly remarked that 1919 types of camp chairs and park benches should be dispensed with in the production of old operas by the San Carlo Opera company. They do give a sort of a jolt in performance like II Trovatore, Martha, etc., and they could be replaced by more appropriate ones without much expense.

Amy Woodford Finden died suddenly in London a few weeks ago. Many of her songs and especially her "Indian Love Lyrics" are well known to local music lovers.

Musical Notes

Plans for harp summer school. These interested in the study of harp

Brief City News

Have Root Print It—Beacon Press, Lighting Fixtures—Burgess-Granden Co.

Trees, Shrubs, Seeds—Menara's, 14th & B'way, Council Bluffs, Phone 1492.

Dr. L. B. Lake, physician and surgeon, is opening his office at 632-34 Brandeis Bldg. Phone Tyler 4274.

Dies in County Hospital—Loto Cresantra, Mexican, said to be insane, died Friday at the county hospital. He had been at the hospital several months.

"Buy in Omaha" Campaign—A "Buy-in-Omaha" campaign will be launched by the retailers' committee of the Chamber of Commerce, it was decided at a meeting Friday.

Plan Salvation Army "Hut"—Lieutenant Peabody of Des Moines will speak in the Salvation Army mission, 1711 Davenport street, Sunday afternoon, in behalf of the plan to establish a Salvation Army "hut" in Omaha.

Hay Exchange Election—The annual election and meeting of the Omaha Hay exchange will be held Monday. Three directors and an arbitrator committee of five members will be elected to take the places of officers whose terms have expired.

Police Head Vaccinated—Several exposures of the health department officers to smallpox during the last week, prompted City Commissioner Ringer to submit his bare left arm to Health Commissioner Manning on Saturday morning for vaccination.

Reduction Is Announced—The office of public roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in the court house, yesterday received notice from railway administration of 10 cents per ton reduction in hauling road-building material, effective May 1 to December 31.

Christian Endeavor Meetings—Junior Christian Endeavor union annual rally, postponed from February 9, will be held at Y. W. C. A. auditorium Sunday, April 27, at 3 p. m. Intermediate Christian Endeavor union meeting is to be held at Y. W. C. A. April 27 at 5 p. m.

Start for Beet Fields—The Burlington is taking several train loads of sugar beet workers from Lincoln to the fields in the vicinity of Scottsbluff and Gering. Those who are going out are generally Russians, who for several years have been spending their winters in Lincoln, going to the beet fields each spring.

Luncheon at Stock Yards—The good fellowship committee of the Chamber of Commerce is planning to hold its April 28 luncheon at the Stock Exchange restaurant on the South Side, instead of in the chamber as usual, in order to give the packers and live stock men to attend.

Mistake in Company—Edward Callaway, 2717 Poppleton avenue, who was out for morning work on an auto truck left on him at Tenth and Douglas streets, was an employee of the Omaha Cold Storage company and not the Omaha Ice and Cold Storage company, as was stated.

Warns Against Swindlers—Regional Director Bush in a circular letter advises people to beware of solicitors who are obtaining themselves as members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, soliciting funds for the aid of railroad clerks who went to war, and who have since been released from army service.

Dinner for New Members—A complimentary dinner for new members since January 1, and for the membership committee headed by J. P. Dysart, will be given Monday night by the Chamber of Commerce executive committee. A smoker and entertainment will follow. More than 150 are expected to attend.

Movie Magnate Here—W. E. Atkinson, general manager of the Metro Film corporation will be in Omaha today, stopping off here on his return trip to New York after going to the west coast studio in order to witness the premier showing of "The Sign of the Cross," the new feature of Mlle. Alla Nazimova, which has just been completed.

Plan Trade Excursion—A trade excursion, bearing a hundred or more Omaha business men to the city of St. Paul, Minn., is being organized by the trade extension committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The plan is to leave Omaha on a special train on Sunday, May 18, for a week's trip into Wyoming, Montana and the Scottsbluff territory.

Improvement Club Meeting—The Castle Improvement club will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the Castle school. All property owners of that community are urged to attend. Fred Maystrik, C. W. Keasler, president and secretary, respectively, announce that important matters will be considered.

Aged Sarpy County Pioneer Dies at Home in Papillion

Jesse Cook Wright, age 82 years, died Tuesday morning at his home in Papillion. He was a native of Sarpy county, and had lived in the city for several years, and during the past two years seldom left his home.

Mr. Wright was born in Gettysburg, Pa., in 1839. When 18 years old he came to Nebraska, settling near Bellevue. He was later moved to a farm near Papillion, where he resided until 1885 when he moved into that town, engaging in the grain business. Of late years the business has been conducted by his son, Edward Cook Wright.

He is survived by one son and one sister, Mrs. S. M. Pike, of Papillion. His wife died in 1909. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the home, the Rev. B. Johansen of St. Paul's Methodist church officiating. Interment was in the Papillion cemetery.

will be planned to learn that a special lesson will be given, beginning May 15 till July 1. One of the advantages is the use of an instrument before deciding to purchase one.

The music department of the Omaha Woman's club will present its Japanese Program under the leadership of Mrs. J. R. Travis, at a musical tea at the Blackstone, Wednesday afternoon, April 16. Music lovers are invited. Chorus rehearsal will precede the tea at 1:30 and will also be at the Blackstone. Direction of Mr. Henry Cox. Mrs. J. R. Travis, leader.

Those taking part on the Japanese program will be Miss Ruth Betts, Miss Mildred Jacks, who will give a Japanese dance, Miss Florence Rhodes, who will sing Cadman's Japanese Cycle; Miss Ruth Flynn and Mrs. E. A. Reese will present selections from "Madame Butterfly" and Miss Woodruff will give a Japanese reading. Miss Helen Slay, accompanist.

"The Crucifixion," by Sir John Stainer, will be sung by the full choir of Trinity cathedral on Good Friday night, April 18, at 8 o'clock under the direction of Ben Stainer, organist and choirmaster. Seats in the cathedral are free, and it is urged that the congregation assemble early that good sittings may be secured.

Rialto Manager Entertains Hundreds of Children at Party Under Auspices of Bee

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee and under the direction of John L. Sexton, who is in charge of the children at the Detention home. Sexton included in the list invited, all children from Pacific and Train schools who were able to report good behavior for two weeks.

The show was all for the kids, Charles Chaplin in "A Dog's Life" was contributed by the A. H. Blank exchange and "How Charlie Captured the Kaiser," by the Universal, and bright and early in the morning, Johnny and Mike and Mary and Ruth, and all their friends invaded the Rialto and cheered and whooped at the comedian's actions.

Manager H. M. Thomas of the Rialto was host to several hundred Omaha school children Saturday morning, the party being given under the auspices of The Bee