

WIFE OF FORMER CROWN PRINCE SEEKS DIVORCE

Will Be Able to Place Evidence of Infidelity and Cruelty Before German Court.

Zurich, April 17.—The former German crown princess Cecilia has taken steps to divorce her husband, Frederick William, according to a statement given to Swiss newspapers by the former Grand Duchess Anastasia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, mother of the former crown princess. The statement says that it long has been the desire of Cecilia to divorce her husband but that the pressure of the Hohenzollern family up to this time had prevented her from carrying it out.

The statement of the grand duchess charges Frederick William with cruelty to his wife, saying: "On one occasion, some time ago, the situation became so unbearable that my daughter actually fled from her home. She almost succeeded in reaching Switzerland. Orders were sent from Berlin to intercept her and she was captured at the German frontier like a common criminal and taken to Berlin under arrest."

"My daughter will be able to place before the German court overwhelming evidence against her husband and will be able to prove many instances of the grossest cruelty. His infidelities were numerous and there is abundant proof of them. His brutality was atrocious. On more than one occasion my daughter was treated with actual violence. She was bruised and her face was disfigured by her husband's blows."

Married in 1905. Berlin dispatches by way of Zurich February 3, said that Frederick William had instituted proceedings for a divorce, but there have been no further reports on the case. The former crown prince and Princess Cecilia were married in June, 1905. The pair have five children, the youngest having been born in 1915. The former crown prince is in exile in Holland. His family has remained at Potsdam.

The former Grand Duchess Anastasia was a grand duchess of Russia before her marriage. Since the war she has been living in Switzerland. She renounced her German nationality and renewed her allegiance to Russia late in 1914.

the state will go over the top this time as it has on the previous four drives.

John L. Kennedy made a speech, but so well started must be finished in the same fine form. Samuel Burns made a stirring speech to the 500 workers and explained to them the way the machinery of subscription-taking in Omaha will work. Typewritten sheets were distributed to all the workers, containing all the instructions.

"We know what Omaha will do," said Mr. Burns. "Omaha never fails. And here is just another chance to show it. We have even a stronger argument to advance why people should buy the Fifth Liberty notes than why they should have bought the four issues of Liberty bonds. These bear a very high rate of interest, 4.34 per cent. Think of getting United States government bonds at such a low price!

"Probably people will never be able to get such a bargain again. And they are non-taxable, which is another tremendous advantage. It ought to be considered an opportunity instead of merely a duty to get hold of as many of these Liberty notes as any buyer can possibly afford."

Supplies of application blanks, cards, buttons to be given to subscribers and 10 posters were delivered to each worker. The big drive starts next Monday.

McAdoo at Fremont. Fremont, Neb., April 17.—(Special.)—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, spoke to a crowd of 500 persons from the rear of a train here this afternoon on the Victory loan. He said there need be no fear about the league of nations being adopted and that American interests will be fully protected. T. C. Byrne of Omaha, state chairman of the Victory loan, introduced Mr. McAdoo. As the train pulled out Mrs. McAdoo came to the platform of the train and was introduced.

PEACE TREATY CONTAINS OVER 70,000 WORDS

Drafting Final Form Proceeds Rapidly; League of Nations Covenant in Place of Honor.

Paris, April 17.—(By Associated Press.)—The council of five, consisting of the foreign ministers of France, Great Britain and Italy and President Wilson and Baron Makino, met today with the drafting committee and discussed the form of the treaty. The ministers also considered the revision of the Moroccan treaties necessary to eliminate the German interests.

A new commission was appointed today to consider the Kiel canal. It consists of the present commission on water ways and additional naval experts of the entente.

All the old commissions have completed their reports, except that on Poland, which is undoubtedly delayed because of the uncertainty of the eastern boundary of Germany.

Drafting of the final form of the peace treaty is proceeding rapidly in order to have it ready for presentation to the German delegates when they arrive at Versailles a week hence. The document, as framed, begins with an introduction in the form of a protocol, setting forth the complete list of belligerent powers taking part in the war and now making peace, with the designation of plenipotentiaries of each country and with their power to sign.

Priority Given to League. Then comes a declaration of impressive brevity, not exceeding 30 words, stating that on the conclusion of the treaty and the exchange of ratifications, the war shall come to an end.

Following upon the declaration of peace, the present intention of the peace delegates is to have the covenant of the league of nations occupy the place of honor in the treaty and to be the first subject treated in detail. It will thus take the priority it had in the program of the peace conference.

Then in succession will follow the military, naval and aerial terms, reparations, responsibilities, the Rhine frontier, the Saar region, Alsace-Lorraine, Poland, the status of Danzig as an international port, Germany's Schleswig-Holstein frontier and a large number of special subjects, including the labor convention adopted at the last plenary session of the conference; international ports and waterways and extended financial provisions not directly connected with reparations.

The textual form of all these subdivisions has been completed, so that the work at present going on is chiefly fitting together the parts into a homogeneous whole. This is being done by international experts representing the five great powers. Their work is largely formal as the council of four and the commissions have adopted the language of the various parts now being fitted to them.

Treaty Exceeds 70,000 Words. It is estimated that the treaty as a whole will exceed 70,000 words, or the contents of a large, closely printed volume. The text is being prepared in French and English, and as a means of expediting action, a German text may be prepared, though it is foreseen that the German plenipotentiaries may ask for a considerable time to peruse a document of such magnitude.

Intention to form a permanent international commission on aerial navigation to act as a clearing house on questions of air navigation between states was shown by an official report issued today on the conclusions of the commission on aerial navigation.

Wilson Given Hearings. President Wilson devoted most of the day to appointments, beginning at 10 o'clock with the Chinese peace delegation and ending at 5 o'clock with Frank P. Walsh, a member of the delegation sent by Irish societies in America to plead the cause of Ireland.

The program for the day had been planned carefully, the president receiving some one every 15 minutes.

Among those received was a French delegation which wanted to see the president about the left bank of the Rhine; the foreign minister of Switzerland; a delegate from Chaldea, two American women labor leaders, the patriarch of Constantinople, Princess Bratinov of Roumania, Premier Pachitch of Serbia, and the Portuguese minister of foreign affairs who desired to discuss the problems of their countries.

Viscount Chinda, of the Japanese delegation, arranged today for his appearance before the council of four Saturday on the Kiau-Chau question with a view to an adjustment with China which shall be incorporated in the peace treaty. The American delegates believe that an accord will be reached, whereby China will ultimately control Kiau-Chau, with suitable recognition of Japan's efforts.

A plenary session of the peace conference will occupy two days next week, Wednesday and Thursday, to pass upon a number of remaining details before the meeting with the Germans.

KNUDTSON HELD TO UPPER COURT FOR SHOOTING and the bullet went through my body," Coleman said.

Coleman showed the court where the bullet entered above the right hip and emerged through the abdomen. A uniform coat bearing a bullet hole was offered in evidence. The soldier then testified that after he was shot he sank to the ground and exclaimed, "I didn't think that you would shoot me."

"You didn't, did you?" "When had you expected to return to camp?" asked Attorney Ready. "The next day."

"Were you endeavoring to escape from the officer?" "No, sir."

"Why did you object to the officer?" "I was afraid that he was going to smash me over the head with the gun."

"How close was he standing when he fired the shot?" "Right at my side; I could feel the gun."

"When Knudtson said, 'I'll knock your block off, had you said anything to him?'" "I did not resist going with him."

Soldier Is Cross-Examined. Cross-examination by Attorney Fieharty failed to develop anything materially new. Coleman maintained that from the time Knudtson took hold of him until the shot was fired, the only remonstrances he uttered to the officer was that his breath was giving out.

"Where did you hit Knudtson?" asked Attorney Fieharty. "On his jaw, with my left hand," Coleman added that when Knudtson took hold of his arm he went right along, but was in fear because of Knudtson's threats and actions.

He added that he resented slander upon his mother in the language Knudtson testified that he had been detailed by Captain Dunn to go with Detectives Jensen to get Coleman at 1919 Dodge street. Coleman, he testified, saw him and started to get away, whereupon Knudtson told him to halt.

Shot into Air. "I shot into the air," he said, "and then Coleman said I was one of those hard-boiled dicks. He tried to pull away from me, so I pulled him along by a wrist, and then I asked a citizen to help me, but he only looked at me and grinned."

"Did you intend to kill Coleman?" asked Attorney Fieharty. "I did not."

"When the gun went off, what happened?"

"He told me that I had shot a soldier and I told him that it was his own fault."

"If you didn't intend to shoot Coleman, what did you have your gun out for?" asked Attorney Ready. "I intended to shoot him in the leg," Knudtson replied.

"You succeeded in getting him that far, didn't you?"

"I was getting tired and nobody would help me."
Where was Jensen, your partner?"
"He ran around the other side of the block."

Jensen Got Lost. According to the testimony, Jensen had been detailed to help Knudtson make the arrest, but he lost his way. He did not reinforce Knudtson when needed, according to the detective's testimony.

Deputy County Attorney Ready stressed his contention that the police took it for granted that Coleman was a deserter, instead of a soldier who was absent without leave. He also pointed out that even had Coleman been a deserter, the law does not confer upon a civilian officer the authority to shoot a person supposed to be a deserter.

Coleman testified he was 22 years old and weighed 135 pounds at the time of the shooting. Knudtson said he was 36 years old, had served in the army four years, and in the police department five years. He has a wife and three children. He has been suspended from the detective department, pending the hearing of an appeal which has been filed with the city council.

Arrested March 16. Detective Lloyd Toland testified that he arrested Coleman on March 16 when the soldier was released to his uncle, Mr. Flinn, who said he would take the boy back to Camp Dodge. Toland testified that he received the "tip" about Coleman from a returned soldier, who, he said, lived at 1919 Dodge street, which was Coleman's address.

"Do you know whether this returned soldier named Hedrick had been going with the same girl that Coleman was going with?" asked Attorney Ready.

"You have taken quite an interest in this case for the defense, haven't you?" "I have only done what I was told to do by Captain Dunn."

"You have been over to Council Bluffs several times, haven't you?" "Only once."

Wayne E. Sawtell, 720 North Twenty-eighth avenue, testified that his attention was directed to the detective and soldier when they were walking along Twentieth street, exchanging passes and blows.

"When I heard the shot Coleman was standing still, facing Knudtson," Sawtell testified. "I saw Coleman sink and heard him say that he had been shot."

Mrs. D. A. West, 117 North Twentieth street, testified that she heard Knudtson call Coleman a deserter and also libel the soldier's mother.

"My mother is just as good as your mother," Coleman replied, said the witness.

German Fire's Ship with 3,000 Troops Aboard. Hun Placed in Irons After Starting Blaze on Patricia by Manipulating Electric Wires.

Boston, April 18.—Julius Fischer, an agent of the Hamburg-American steamship line, set fire to a state room of the transport Patricia Tuesday night, while the vessel was steaming to this port with nearly 3,000 American soldiers. The fire was extinguished by the crew and Fischer was placed in irons.

The Patricia is one of the first of the German merchant fleet to be turned over for use by the United States, according to an agreement with Germany. Fischer is one of several Germans who were allowed to remain on board to represent the vessel's owners.

The German was taken to the naval hospital tonight for observation. Other German agents and a number of American officers on the Patricia said that Fischer began to act strangely when the steamer was four days out of Brest and that he was confined in a stateroom under guard.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

Easter Gloves

Trefousse French Kid Gloves, in white, black, brown, taupe and pastel shades. One and two-clasp styles. P. K. sewn, with heavily embroidered and Paris point backs, $3, $3.25, $4 a pair.
