And motives always pure;
I wish the good were not so few,
I wish the bad were fewer.—J. G. Sax.

Gold Charmeuse

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD.

Old gold charmeuse can be very lovely. In this evening model its charm is enhanced by ecru lace and gold ribbon. A bodice of ecru lace is run with the narrowest gold ribbon, gathered and sewed around the pattern of the lace. Shoulder straps of gold ribbon support this bodice, which is draped with an overbodice of old gold charmeuse faced with vivid blue. A garland of tarnished gold roses makes the girdle, beneath which falls a net skirt ruffled with ecru lace. Over this is draped a bias overskirt of old rose charmeuse, outlined with a lace ruffe. A narrow line of gold ribbon runs on this lace. This model makes a really stunning dance frock and not difficult to copy.

Election officials in Oklahoma ruled that the new women voters in that state could not accompany their husbands into the polling booth to receive instructions in marking the ballot. The women had little difficulty in learning, however, as evidenced by the fact that the women vote figured conspicuously in the results of many of the municipal contests.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

We should
Have been riding
In automobiles
But
We were not
And the street car
Was crowded
So that nobody expected
A seat
But someone
Was delighted
When a weary
Passenger gave up
A strap
For we are so
Accustomed to Hanging
That we fear it will
Take a long, long time
To hang by the neck
Until we are dead
If we should meet
Such a fate.
Most of the women
Accept their
Niche in life
And the street car
With dignity
Indifference
Tolerance
And humility
But last night
A woman
Stood near us
With gorgeous clothes
On her figure
And registering hate
In her face
Back of the camouflage
We saw red
Real angry red
And we knew
Then and there
The real
From the false
Because it was
A different shade.
And some kind man
Rose from his seat
And proffered the place
To the woman
Whose countenance
Was sending
Nervous chills
Through massed humanity
In that
Wattle's electric
From nickel register
To motor box.
"Madam," he said,
"Will you take my seat?"
Like a wild horse
She sniffed the air
And haughtily wedged
Her way through
The place being made
By those standing near.
Then we heard her
Remark:
"It's about time
Somebody in this car
Showed some breeding!"

Red Cross of Many Nations Confer On Plans for World Betterment

The governments of the five great powers represented on the committee now working at Cannes have been kept fully informed of the progress of the plan and are in entire sympathy with its aims. As a majority of the other nations of the world have Red Cross organizations or relief societies which function along Red Cross lines, it is believed that their governments will follow the lead of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States. The international committee of the Red Cross at Geneva—the parent of the Red Cross societies of the world—is the organization through which the various Red Cross bodies will be kept apprised of important developments and discoveries. A permanent organization, including a staff of the world's recognized health experts, is to be maintained at Geneva following the world congress. The international committee of the Red Cross of Geneva was organized in 1863, being the realization of the idea conceived by Henry Dunant of ministering to wounded soldiers on the battlefield. The splendid work of this committee during the recent conflict forms one of the most inspiring chapters of the war's history. The fact that not a single protest was made by belligerent or neutral testifies to the high character of the international committee's work. Gustav Ador, president of Switzerland, has been at the head of the committee and one of the most enthusiastic workers for a great many years. Of the Red Cross societies of the various countries that are expected to join the great health alliance none can approach in strength of numbers and thoroughness of organization the American Red Cross. Because of its wonderful achievements in the world war, the Red Cross societies of other countries have accorded leadership in the world movement to the organization from the United States. The selection of Mr. Davison to head the committee at Cannes was graceful recognition of the pre-eminence of the American Red Cross in relief work. The American organization now has approximately 17,000,000 adult and about 9,000,000 junior members.

divided among 3,864 chapters and thousands of auxiliaries. The part the American Red Cross will play in the universal program will be directed by Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the central committee of the organization. Dr. Farrand is now at Cannes helping to shape up the program.

Collegiate Alumni.
Omaha Collegiate alumni will hold a general meeting on Saturday at the Blackstone at 2:30. Reports of the biennial convention will be followed by a play given by the drama section. An executive meeting will be held Friday at 3:30 at the Fontenelle. The girls' work committee will be held Saturday afternoon, April 19, at 1:30 o'clock, instead of April 12, as formerly announced.

Easter this year has for us all a special and deep significance.

For all time, we hope, the blighting hand and heavy heel of Mars are lifted from the stricken heart of humanity. To the little peoples of earth Columbia is pointing the way of truth and of life.

Over Europe's scarred and grave-ridged surface is kindled the light of a great hope. The whole world is reaching up into the glad sunshine of freedom and democracy.

And so, this day, let all the jubilant sounds of earth, from organ and v. ice, swing up in on. resonant wave of triumphant praise to the Prince of Peace. Let us give thanks unto God who giveth us the victory.

May this be to all our good friends and patrons a happy and glorious Easter. Befitting the day we have prepared an especially appropriate dessert which will contribute in no uncertain way to the joyousness of the occasion.

This Easter

—why not an old-fashioned Easter in a new-fashioned way?

A whole Puritan Ham—sweet, tender, delicious—will supply the meat basis for the entire day with some to spare.

For breakfast slice and broil or fry the middle cuts. For dinner bake the end. And for supper or luncheon cold slices of the baked portion. This leaves the shank to boil on some other occasion.

"There's a treat in this meat."
