

GERMANS SEE PEACE TREATY IN 14 POINTS

Wilson's Terms of Armistice Looked Upon by Huns as Sacred International Peace Pact.

Brains Behind Scene.
While these two first groups make up the actual peace delegation the third constitutes the "brains behind the scene" working feverishly in the Wilhelmstrasse offices mapping out strokes and counter strokes and giving instructions to the delegates. This group is to all intents and purposes a "parliament" of about 100 members. Its main work deals with economic questions.

The head of this group is none other than Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, who needs no introduction to Americans. He was originally slated to head the actual peace delegation or at least be a member of it, but at the first suggestion word came promptly from Paris—directed by the American delegates there, it is understood—that the count was not to be received. The nearest he got to personal influence in the delegation was in the person of Baron Haniel von Hainshausen, his friend and amanuensis while in Washington.

The latest word as to the instructions to the peace delegates is contained in a semi-official statement that they are empowered to "conclude a peace which in its essentials tallies with the international preliminary pact concluded between Germany and the allied and associated powers on the basis of the armistice agreement."

"Her ancient unity is restored. Her lines are extended to the great walls which are her natural defense. It is within her choice to be surrounded by friends to exhibit to the newly liberated peoples across the Adriatic that noble quality of greatness, magnanimity, friendly generosity, the preference of justice over interest.

Therefore Insist Upon Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin"

Millions of fraudulent Aspirin Tablets were sold by a Brooklyn manufacturer which later proved to be composed mainly of Talcum Powder. "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" the true, genuine, American-made and American owned Tablets are marked with the safety "Bayer Cross."

Cocunut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This irritates the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

You can get mulified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

WILSON GIVES HIS REASONS FOR FIUME STAND

whether secret documents, of which many nations participating in the war were ignorant, are to figure in the peace following an armistice in which all the allies pledged themselves to pay no regard to secret treaties.

Orlando Absent from Council.
The Italian situation overshadowed all other questions throughout the day in Paris and was the sole subject of conversation in official circles.

When it became known this morning that the Italian premier Vittorio Orlando, was again absent from the session of the council of four, various rumors became current.

Proposals and counter proposals were made among the members of the British, French and Italian delegations, and numerous stories of compromises were circulated. These were suddenly discredited by the issuance of President Wilson's statement, showing that the president was not a party to the proposed concessions, which were chiefly based on the supposition that Fiume could be given to Italy.

Diplomats Started.
Since Monday it had been generally known that he had prepared a statement which was presented on that day to the entire American delegation and that the delegation had approved it. But there was no suspicion that his position was so unalterably against secret diplomacy.

Declarations by the members of the American delegation that the president would not yield on the matter of Fiume were regarded by most European diplomatists, especially by the Italians, as part of a political game, until today, and even now many old-school diplomatists seem unable to comprehend what has happened.

A member of the Italian delegation said that the delegates would not leave Paris tonight. He did not know what action might be taken tomorrow.

Premier Orlando, Foreign Minister Sonnino and Salvatore Marzari, Antonio Salandra and Bazzani, Salvo Ragno, the other Italian delegates, have been in conference at their headquarters examining the situation created by the president's statement.

The facts of the deadlock over the Italian claims in the Adriatic, according to Petit Parisien, are as follows: President Wilson proposed that Fiume, which is not mentioned in the treaty of London, should be a free city, but attached to the Jugoslav customs system, and further, that the London treaty should be subjected to a total revision.

Italy refused to accept this proposal, whereupon President Wilson withdrew, leaving Italy alone with the representatives of the other signatories of the treaty. During the meetings of the representatives of the signatories both Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino were most conciliatory, Orlando especially having asked repeatedly on what condition France and Great Britain would consent to give Fiume to Italy. Baron Sonnino said he was ready to discuss a revision of the London treaty.

However, President Wilson, who while he was not present at the meetings, kept in touch with them, then wanted to reopen the question of the treaty of London, but without joining the revision to the fate of Fiume. The president has receded from his first proposal to make Fiume a free city and is inclined to give it absolutely to the Jugoslavs.

As to Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George, they are understood to be ready to adhere purely and simply to the treaty of London, at the same time seeking means of conciliation.

Burglars Get $800 in Cash and Bonds; $2,500 Jewel Saved

The office of Charles W. Martin and company, Omaha National building, was robbed Tuesday night, the safe opened and $800 in Liberty bonds, Thrift stamps and cash taken. That the burglars were professionals is borne out by the fact that the combination of the safe was worked and then the strong box was locked after being robbed.

Mr. Martin is congratulating himself on the fact that the robbery did not occur 24 hours sooner. For more than a year the safe in the office had been the resting place of a diamond set pendant, belonging to Mrs. Martin, and valued at $2,500.

The piece of jewelry was an heirloom and had been in the family for more than 100 years. Tuesday Mrs. Martin came downtown, removed the pendant from the safe and took it to a jeweler's to have the stones reset.

In the morning when Mr. Martin reached his office there was nothing to indicate that robbers had been there during the previous night. During the forenoon he had occasion to go to the safe to get some money and then discovered that the lock to the strong box containing the valuables had been tampered with.

The Liberty loan bonds were of small denominations and unregistered.

W. W. Koller Gets Four Figure Check for Loan From Train Passenger

W. W. Koller, major of district No. 1, division 1, Victory Liberty loan, went down to Union Station yesterday morning and "strong armed" one of the through-passengers on a Union Pacific train.

He got a check for four figures from Howard Latimer, of Los Angeles, brother-in-law of Robert Cowell of Kilpatrick & Co.

Mr. Latimer was on his way home, and was passing through Omaha. Koller received word of his coming was at the train to meet him and before Latimer had time to know what he was doing he had written a check and bought a note. He is making a large subscription to the Victory Liberty loan through his own town of Los Angeles, but Mr. Koller's persuasive power got a check for Omaha.

Mr. Latimer was a Cleveland business man, but is now retired and living in California.
