Heart Beats

By A. K.

When December Wedded May my dears The merry bells Rang out The robins sang And the eagles screamed But the bluebird Could not be found. The maiden fair With her sunkissed hair Floating free on the Soft June breeze, Said: "I'll find him Soon and build a cage With the money that Buys all things." So amid the gayest Of orchid blooms And bridal wreaths And palms She took the vows She knew nothing about And promised To love and cherish "Until death do part." The man was pompous In his narrow thought That his gold Could bargain with love, His confidence topped The judgment mark And blinded his reason To life.

Time skipped by A. a rapid gait While the chasm of cool Indifference grew Great and wide— Sparrows came In droves to scold And fume and fume And disturb But the Bluebird Was nowhere near. He counted his gold And his treasures rare And sighed For the woman he bought Had brought no love To his gilded cage. She wept as she knelt On her bridal veil In the years that Flitted by And thought of the Life that might have been With the lover that came Too late.

Baby Coming To Your Home?

Are you looking forward, dear prospective mother, to the wonderful, glorious time when you shall hold in your arms the little mite, which is of your flesh and blood, with feelings of mingling? Now is the time to get in condition to meet the crisis, and three generations of women have found in the time-honored preparation, Mother's Friend, a grateful, penetrating remedy to prepare their systems to withstand the shock. The action of this famous remedy is to relieve tension on drawn nerves, curd, tendons and ligaments, to relieve strain and discomforts, such as nausea, nervousness, bearing-down and stretching pains. By regular use during the period the muscles expand easily when baby is born; pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less and the hours are fewer. Do not neglect the use of Mother's Friend. It is for external application only, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. Write The Bradford-Regulator Company, Dept. N, Lamer Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the drug store. It is just as standard as anything you can think of.—Adv.

Mrs. Pier Has Given the Remainder Of Her Life for a Cause—What More Could She Do

Mr. and Mrs. Pier Will Leave In August To Do Missionary Work In Japan and Carry the Message of Democracy and Christianity To the Orient.

By TRUMA KITCHEN.

PESSIMISTS who feel that the call of the volunteer so prominent in war times has been muffled in the greater call of each for himself—look at the picture of Mrs. Bertha Washburn Pier, who is one of Omaha's "after the volunteers" and will leave in August for Japan, where both Mr. and Mrs. Pier have signed for life service with the Y. M. C. A.

Bertha Washburn Pier

"Hardly a day passes, but I am asked over and over again," said Mrs. Pier, "why are you going to Japan when there is so much work to be done here at home?"

"Mr. Pier and I know the need at home, but when we consider the comparative need of Japan we could not be true to the principles of democracy, which are the principles of Jesus Christ, and not answer the call of the greater need of Japan. "A missionary is one who loves his own country so well that he is willing to leave it and carry its best to the land beyond the sea." It is the task of the missionary, through a sympathetic understanding of the religious, political, and social problems of the nations of the world, to so interpret the West to the East and East to the West that universal brotherhood may be established, which alone will bring world peace. I hope to do my part in the "Liberty Drive," of Japan.

Mr. Pier, who was director of the Omaha Y. M. C. A. for two years is now traveling for student volunteer work recruiting for the Y. M. C. A. in various universities throughout the middle west. He was but recently released from the navy where he attended the officers training school in Chicago. In Japan all the Y. M. C. A. activities are connected with the student work and as Mrs. Pier said: "We do not feel that the war is over. It is not won unless we make the best use of the opportunities that are before us in the countries that have felt America's touch in the war."

In all save reality, Japan will be their home for it is only once in seven years that Mr. and Mrs. Pier will return on furlough. Student work in connection with Y. M. C. A. in Japan means connection with politics, government, society and every phase of life.

"We neither know the Japanese language," said Mrs. Pier, "but what the Japanese have done here, surely we can do there. It means school however for one and one-half years and then perhaps a private tutor for perfection."

During the war Mrs. Pier worked with Mr. E. F. Folda as state secretary for the Liberty loan committee and at present is secretary in the Victory loan work. Previous to her work in Omaha, she was secretary for patriotic organizations in New York. The Piers are giving their lives to the work—what more could anyone give?

Advice to the Lovelorn

Love Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

From a Little Girl Friend. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am a constant reader of The Bee. If it were not for your advice I should not read The Bee at all. After your giving advice, I thought I would come to you for some. I am a young girl of 13. Am I too small to wear skirts and waists? What color are they wearing this summer? Should girls of my age do their hair up? Thinking you for advice, BLUE EYES.

Blue Eyes—If your father objects to the man whom you love, then he should tell you why. If you talk frankly to each other you will all be happier. Seventeen—If you do not go to the party and have a good time with another, I am sure that you will regret it. Any boy who bluntly refuses an invitation to a little dance, given by a club such as yours, is doing a very rude thing. Does not your pride keep you from letting him know that you could have a good time with no one else? You may have tears in your heart, smile and have a good time with all the rest!

Brown-Eyed Vamp—I would not advise a girl of 15 to go out nights with boys. If the young man you speak of, however, is known to your family, and if he has good principles, an occasional evening with him would do no harm. Good-night kisses should not be considered lightly, nor indulged in carelessly. I would not consider it proper for your young friend to kiss you good-night, but if you wish to retain the beauty you say you possess, its and act so that the years, instead of robbing you of your charms, will enhance them. Youth will vanish, but character will grow; look to the development of character then, so that your external beauty will be only an attractive case which holds precious jewels within.

Hope and Faith—Self confidence is the antidote to bashfulness. It is often the hardest and longest of battles, but take care that in curing the one you do not lean to the other extreme. Blushes do not come and go at the bidding of one's will. I can but feel sorry for you if you have that to contend with and yet many think blushing a thing of the past.

Rosy Checks—If you carry yourself well and make the best of your good looks, others will envy you your height. Some of those habits and sayings are aggravating. Why, of course, I think it proper for a girl to dance with a boy. Low heels are so fashionable, why don't you wear them? Thank you, but I just can't put my picture in the paper. You do not care how I look, anyway.

Babette—White georgette, simple style, not too low in the neck, please, would make an attractive school banquet gown. Ever less expensive material, such as white voile would do nicely. A good etiquet book might help you, but don't be self-conscious in following it. When in doubt about your manners, watch others, use common sense and modesty. There are preparations which would help your nails and skin. I cannot name them here, but any good beauty parlor will recommend a cuticle remover and an astringent for oily skin.

Jack—Perhaps your father doesn't realize that a 16-year-old girl needs and longs for companions. Why do you not tell him all about it. It may be a fault, that by keeping all little confidences from him, he can not understand your longings. It may be that the girls and boys who keep asking you are not the type Appear At Your Best—Instantly If you receive a sudden caller or an unexpected invitation you can feel confident of always appearing at your best. In but a few moments it renders to your skin a wonderfully pure, soft complexion that is beyond comparison.
