

Seattle Mayor Is Not Afraid of Agitators
 Pueblo, April 29.—Pueblo county's campaign for the sale of Victory Liberty bonds was opened last night by Mayor Ole Hanson of Seattle.

Wash., who delivered a patriotic address at the auditorium.
 Mayor Hanson's address was devoted largely to his experiences in dealing with the strike in Seattle, but he took occasion to make a few remarks concerning press dispatches about a bomb being received in his office at the city hall in Seattle. Mr. Hanson declared that this was another example of the cowardice of the agitators, for they know that he does not personally open his mail and some innocent person would have been killed.

"They know also," he declared, "that I never go about the streets armed. But if one of them was to attack me I would choke him to death with these naked hands."
