Great souls by instinct to each other turn, Demand alliance, and in friendship burn.

Foolish are they who grumble at the weather; God knows our needs, and waters wheat and weather.

Kansas City is preparing for the entertainment next month of the annual convention of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Associations.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

I started a race With Time one day On the rugged Rough shores Of Opportunity. In the maze ahead There stood a pier As beautiful as gold And elusive As soft summer clouds. But it marked a place In the race of man Where the crowds Never gather to chat. FAME Was the pier And my one desire Was to reach it While life was yet young. In my two firm hands I held many a gift Which only the gods can give. These gifts were Friends And Youth And Joy And Health And Song And Love And I held them fast As I started the race With Time. But such as I struggled To hold these gifts They slipped Through my fingers Like fine white sand On a hot June day. A little voice whispered "Don't run so fast Or your treasures will All sift through." I laughed and gripped Them doubly tight— Never slackening My pace in the Furious race For the great bright Spot So far— So near. But as I ran I left behind The siftings of Life's pure gold. Empty-handed I reach the goal— But the light was dim And the place was cold— The loneliest spot On earth I found. On this pier I stood Forlorn—alone With the golden grist Strewn in my path Of the past. Fame's hottest rays Are the brightest When they come from Far away. And like the sun, The nearer you come The cooler and dimmer They seem. I opened my hands And all was gone But the tiny pebble Which drove me on To the end. It was TALENT. So I placed the Rock of TALENT On that unresponsive Pier. I had sacrificed friends And Youth and Joy And Health and Song And Love To reach this goal Which wasn't gold But the shoddiest of alloy.

Dress-Up

does not necessarily mean "buy new clothes." You are just as much "dressed up" in a nicely cleaned and carefully pressed old suit as you are in a brand new one.

Thousands of men and women in Omaha are always dressed up—they are regular patrons of The Pantorium. Experience has taught them that regularly cleaned clothes wear enough longer to more than offset the cleaning charge.

That is why Omaha has so many well dressed men and women—and it costs them nothing!

Little Folks Quickly Learn to speak their preferences in foods—and all the little folks like our bread—

And it likes them, too. That is, it is good for them. It is so clean, so pure, so nutritious, that there's nothing suits the children so well nor builds them up so quickly.

Mrs. J. Geraghty Sues Chauffeur Husband

Cruelty Is Charged In Suit Filed for Divorce by Former Miss French.

Newport, R. I., April 30.—Mrs. Jack Geraghty, who as Miss Julia Estelle French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tuck French, eloped with her father's chauffeur filed suit for divorce today, charging her husband with cruelty and failure to provide.

Miss French, who is a niece of Mrs. Elsie French Vanberbilt, shocked society when on August 9, 1911, she eloped with Geraghty, whose father kept a livery stable, and was married at Central Village, Conn. The French family promptly declared war and the first gun fired was the disowning of the bride. However, when in 1912 the Geraghty's had a son, christened Jack, Jr., an armistice resulted.

For a time Geraghty flourished as an automobile salesman, but his ability as a chauffeur exceeded that as a salesman, it was said, and he and his wife went to live on a farm near Woburn, Mass., whence for a time he drove into Boston peddling apples.

Mrs. French, Mrs. Geraghty's mother, divorced her husband in 1914 and Mr. French remarried.

TRAIN YOUR HAIR AS AN ACTRESS DOES

No class of people deposes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. The majority say that to have the best hair wash and scalp stimulator at a cost of about three cents, one need only get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are quickly dissolved and entirely disappear when you rinse the hair. After this your hair will be so fluffy it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Adv.
