START MOVE TO DISCREDIT WORK OF LEGISLATURE

Democrats Open Downtown Office and Prepare to Use Referendum on New Administrative Code Law.

(By Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, April 30.—Discrediting the work of the recent republican legislature, a session generally credited at its close as being one of the most constructive and progressive for many years, appears to be the aim of Nebraska democrats, if action so far is any indication of what the future may bring forth. With the invoking of the referendum on the new primary law led by Charles W. Bryan and others, now comes action toward the referendum on the new administrative code law by an organization headed by Fred Ayers, recent democratic state auditor. Mr. Ayers has been at the secretary of state's office the past few

P. A. Barrows, Correspondent. days working up data and other material and it is said has already opened an office downtown which will be headquarters where efforts to discredit the work of the legislature will be carried out. Alive to Situation.

The democrats are said to be fully alive to the situation and know that if the people can be hoodwinked into signing a petition calling for a referendum on many of the acts of the legislature before those acts are given a chance for trial by the people themselves there will be a chance for perhaps a look-in when the next election comes around. They are advocating with loud acclamation that the people should be considered in the matter, yet they are afraid to give the people a chance to try the laws.

Under the law, if sufficient names are secured to petitions on any law passed by the legislature, that law is hung up and cannot be put in operation until after the people have voted upon the referendum of the law.

Thus acts of the legislature may be made inoperative before a chance is given to try out the merits of the same and the work of 133 men in a session lasting three months or more is discredited.

WOMEN TO LOSE VOTES IF CODE LAW IS KILLED

Attack of Men Who Have Formerly Been Considered Favorable to Equal Suffrage Causes Much Comment.

Lincoln, April 30.—Just after a republican legislature has recognized the rights of the women to take part in party organization and have an equal part with the man in controlling the affairs of a county committee, certain republicans under the leadership of Charles W. Bryan, twice a democratic candidate for governor, should take such action as would deprive the women of a chance to participate in party organization, is causing a great deal of comment.

It had generally been understood that the Bryan wing of the democratic party was favorable to women's suffrage, or at least they have been advertising themselves as such, but it was due to the efforts of Mr. Bryan, aided by some of his fellow democrats and a few republicans that at the meeting yesterday called for the purpose of invoking the referendum on the new primary law, action was taken which includes in the referendum on the bill that section of the new law giving women representation in party organizations.

The meeting appeared at first to be about equally divided between the anti-woman advocates led by Mr. Bryan and the friends of the suffrage section led by A. Sorenson. However, before the meeting was over the advocates of disfranchising the women in the matter of party organization were joined by Sen. C. P. Peterson, Charlie Randall of Newman Grove, N. P. Dodge of Omaha and one or two others. The opponents of the plans were Besicos and Sorenson, A. E. Shelton and R. B. Howell of Omaha. These wanted the referendum invoked only on that part of the bill relating to the convention for nominating state officers below governor, leaving in the section relating to allowing the women to have a part in party organization.

However, the referendum will be invoked on the entire bill. Committees were appointed to take the initiative in the work of the campaign, the democrats being represented by C. W. Bryan and Jacob North, the republicans by N. P. Dodge and J. F. Cordeal, the union labor forces by Harry G. Platt and F. M. Coffey, the Farmers' union by C. H. Gustafson and J. O. Shroyer, the woman's organization by Mrs. Frank Harrison and Mrs. C. E. Babcock and the Farmers' Co-operative associations by B. F. Walton and A. E. Webber. Mr. Johnson, state manager of the non-partisan league, was present at the meeting, but somehow his organization was not recognized in the make-up of the committees.
