OMAHA LOSES IN ODD GAME WITH TULSA CLOUTERS

Oklahoma Club Gets Fourteen Hits While Rourkes Can Only Gather Five; Townsend Is Replaced.

Tulsa, Okl., May 2.- (Special Telegram.)-Tulsa hammered both Townsend and Manske hard throughout the final setto with the Omaha athletes this afternoon and took the odd game of the series 8 to 2. While the home boys were making life miserable for Bill Jackson's moundmen, the visitors were finding Lefty Bayne extremely difficult to get at. As a result 10 of them were strikeout victims and they secured only five scattered bingles. They have not yet gotten used to midseason pitching such as has been dished up to them throughout their stay in Tulsa

Omaha was the first to score to day. Banner drew a walk at the opening of the third round. After Townsend had whiffed, Bashang rolled one to Goodwin for an out and while Bashang was being retired. Banner moved to second whence he scored when Goodwin muffed Jackson's popup.

Tulsa won the game in the fourth Gislason's error, a low throw, start-After that it was mostly question of

What Will the Barkeeps Do?

A lot of keg-nosed fullanthropists are worrying about the future of pean athletic show and his soldier barkeeps under the ulna bone-dry law. With the ulna bone no longer parked on the elbow-scarred mahogany and the ankle bone no longer balanced on the toe-polished brass rail, the nearsighted boys who wore the wrong kind of glasses are perturbed about old John Barkeep.

Don't grab off insomnia worrying about those babies. We have never lamped one spigot chauffeur who couldn't step out and tear off more velvet than the average cuckoo that he sets 'em up for. The bird who pushes the bottle has it all over the sapp who graps it

A barkeep is a student of human nature. Very few of 'em drink. The ones who drink rarely drink at work. Some of 'em do, but it's better to drink at work than to work at drink. The beezark whose exercise consists of chinning himself on the horizontal bar shouldn't worry about the barkeep. He is on the right side of the bar while the beezark is on the wrong one. When the last swinging door has stopped waving in the boozespangled breeze, you can stake your brown derby there will be more barkeeps in the cake line than the breadline. While the brewer's prayer doesn't bless Bill Bryan, from whom all 2 per cent blessings flow, we know that the barkeep can pot more coin as a business man than he did furnishing the words and music for the Hiccoughing song from Budweiser. The brewer's benediction, Pabst Vobiscum, has cheered many a bird on his journey, but it never made a journey shorter. Except financially.

We're with the barkeeps when they complete their voyage on the raging foam and the last man's sized collar has been buttoned on the last boy's sized beer. They're mentally equipped to make good. Any bird who can induce a beer-infested gent to gyrate home and face a two-fisted wife at midnight is also capable of selling Maine oil stock or vegetables in the Cannibal

With two fast and interesting conests on the program this afternoon the Church base ball league will make their initial appearance on the battlefield for the 1919 season, after an absence of three years. The games are scheduled to start at 3 ooo o'clock.

At Thirty-second and Dewey avenue the Grace Methodists will clash with the Hanscom Park Methc lists in the opening game of the season, An elaborate program has been ar-ranged prior to the opening of the contest.

Immediately following this game, teams of young ladies of the Pearl church will demonstrate that the young men do not know all about the national pastime

Commercial League. Final plans were completed by the managers of the Commercial Lague at their meeting held last night in the office of Park Commissioner Falconer at the city hall. The league will consist of five teams and the members must be employed be the firms they represent. No class A players will be allowed to play. It was decided that any team playing a man not employed by the firm shall forfeit their game. Robert Kroll, wellknown in local amateur base ball circles and a member of the board of directors of the Municipal Amateur Base Ball association, was elected president of the Commercial league, while Earry Rasmussen was elected secretary. The league with the following teams will open their season next Saturday afternoon: Western Union, Bemis Bag company, Orchard-Wilhelm, Item Biscuit company and U. P. Car Records.
