

EXPECTANTLY TO PARTICIPATE IN TREATY SIGNING

Allies Will Not Be Ready to Present Peace Terms to German Delegates Before May 7.

Paris, May 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—Count Macchi Di Cellere, the Italian ambassador to the United States, had a conference late today with President Wilson. This is regarded as an indication that Italy is considering a resumption of her place at the peace conference.

Neither President Wilson nor the Italian ambassador made any statement regarding the subject under discussion. The interview was sought by Count Di Cellere and took place after the regular conference between President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George.

The commission on Polish affairs of the peace conference this morning took under consideration the southeastern frontiers of Poland.

The council of foreign ministers met this afternoon to examine into the question of revivifying the Baltic provinces and Finland.

The council also discussed the procedure to be followed in connection with the peace treaty.

May Present Terms May 7. Paris, May 3.—(Havas)—The presentation of the peace terms to the Germans will not take place before Wednesday, May 7, according to present indications; this morning's Paris newspapers say.

Important progress has been made, however, in solving problems remaining before the final shaping of the treaty.

The Echo de Paris says the council of three yesterday adopted the section of the treaty dealing with Alsace and Lorraine, which are given to France, the ownership of the railway included.

The council also fixed the status of Luxembourg, this news-paper adds, severing the grand duchy from Germany.

Rome Papers Protest. Rome, May 3.—Newspapers favorable to the government protest against the continuation of the peace conference of negotiations with German delegates without the participation of Italy, because they say it violates the treaty between the allies forbidding a separate peace.

The Tribuna says: "The allies are pledged to us by a sacred treaty. They cannot sign a peace without us and they cannot make a separate peace without reason."

President Wilson may be an autocrat, but not to the point of imposing the same terms upon Great Britain and France.

Omaha Man to Have Full Charge of Street and Store Decorations. Fred Olman, former window decorator for the John Beno company, and now in charge of the Ak-Sar-Ben decorations in Omaha, will have full charge of the street decorations in Council Bluffs in honor of the returning soldier boys.

Mr. Olman was the guest of the Merchant's bureau of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the noon luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. and discussed the matter at length with nearly 100 merchants present.

He made such a convincing impression that the merchants unanimously decided to put the whole burden upon him and give him carte blanche to do what he pleased.

Hitchcock Thinks Amended Covenant Will Be Ratified. Washington, May 3.—Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, retiring chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, in a statement today upon his return from a speaking trip in support of the league of nations, reiterated his belief that the amended covenant would be ratified and said he expected the document and the peace treaty to be considered in open session of the senate.

"If the republicans should succeed in defeating the covenant," said the statement, "the issue in the next campaign and, in my opinion, the rock upon which the republican party will split. The amendments adopted in Paris have removed every objection which friends of the league could hold to. Those who now oppose it are ir-reconcilables who are against any league."

No attempt to amend the covenant in the senate will succeed, in my opinion. Efforts may be made to ratify with reservations, such reservations to be stated in the resolution of ratification, but even that, I believe, will not succeed. I do not believe it will be possible for those who desire amendments to muster a majority of the senate in favor of them. Some think the United States ought to have dictated the league and ought to control it. In that case there would have been no league. Compromise was inevitable.

Hearst Comments on League of Nations in Short Stop in Omaha

William Randolph Hearst, between trains at the Union depot, declared that he did not believe that the covenant of the league of nations sets forth specifically just where the obligations of this country would begin and end.

He pointed out that one of the provisions would, if adopted, bind the United States to use its army and navy to help Great Britain and other league members to hold their possessions.

"I am opposed to entering into any agreement which would bind us to help England or any other country holding colonies by force," he said. He contended that the covenant should make every point so clear that there would be no question as to what might be expected of this country under any circumstances. He denied that he was anti-English.

DANIELS DOES NOT WANT GRAND CROSS OF BATH

Secretary of Navy Intimates That Knighthood Would Not Be Welcome; to Hold Matter in Abeyance.

By ROBERT WELLS RITCHIE. Universal Service Staff Correspondent. Special Cable Dispatch.

London, May 3.—The only reason why Secretary Daniels returns to the United States unknighthood is because he prefers "no."

King George was prepared to confer upon the American naval head the Order of the Grand Cross of Bath, and everyone expected the announcement of the honor following the luncheon in Mr. Daniels honor at Buckingham palace Wednesday.

From a source in intimate touch with the secretary during his stay here I learned tonight the reason why his waistcoat does not bear the jeweled bath-cross, and the story reveals the "Daniels diplomacy."

When he arrived in London he was approached by a high British admiralty official who intimated that the king was prepared to honor him. Secretary Daniels, not desiring to snub the king, asked if it was possible the matter could be held "in abeyance" until such time as he was the guest of British hospitality. But he answered in such a way as to indicate his preference to avoid the decoration if nobody would be offended. The king is reported to appreciate Mr. Daniels' democratic ideals and to be willing to "hold the matter in abeyance."

"Best Show in Town" Closing Attraction of Season at Gayety

"The Best Show in Town" is closing the season at the Gayety theater this week. After watching the matinee performance, with a sigh of relief, "Old Man" Johnson, who "wants wimmen" rushed home and commenced overhauling his fishing tackle preparatory to leaving for the wilds of Michigan as soon as the final curtain drops next Saturday night.

This company will leave the people of Omaha with a good taste in their mouths for burlesque and a desire for the season to open August 9, he said as he made preparations for a three months' run of the "Dark Secret."

Frank Hunter, heading the show, sings the "swan song" of the season in a manner that makes his audience anxious for a return performance. He is a "Six-cylinder" comedian and had no soot on his spark plugs. He is supported by a par excellent cast of funmakers. Bert Lehr is a show in himself and Charles Weason shows steps only equaled by Hunter himself.

Virginia Ware lingers in your memory with her fairy-like femininity and charming voice. Lynn Carter, the girl with the golden tones, features in the musical numbers. Helen McArdie keeps up the "pep" from the opening overture. The chorus is exceptional in combining beauty, voice and dancing ability. Mlle. Davenport and her Parisienne models close the performance with a posing act assisted by the chorus and principals. The closing scene is one of the most novel shown this season.

Dr. Clayton J. Overton arrived in Omaha Saturday and will be associated with Dr. Lee W. Edwards, chiropractor. He is an expert radiologist and will make a specialty of this line in Dr. Edwards' laboratory.

SEA PLANES TO START OVERSEA FLIGHT ON MAY 5

Small Flotilla Assembles at Trepassey for "Hop-Off" in Attempt to Fly Across the Atlantic.

Trepassey, N. F., May 3.—The giant seaplanes of the United States navy will start from Rockaway Point on the first leg of their trans-Atlantic flight May 5, it was announced here tonight. They are scheduled to leave Trepassey for the Azores between May 12 and 14.

The destroyer mother ship Phairie is anchored tonight in Trepassey harbor, between the mine layer Aroostook and the tanker Hisko. The small flotilla, assembled before this quaint New Foundland fishing village for the big "hop off" of the American navy's trans-Atlantic flight, is regarded with sedate interest by the natives as the "biggest fleet of warships ever assembled in Trepassey harbor."

Whips Three-Year-Old Child for Not Saying Its Prayers

Shenandoah, Ia., May 3.—(Special)—The 3-year-old child forgot his prayers. That is the defense of Mr. and Mrs. John Mascher for whipping Glen, an adopted son. Charges were filed against them by Mrs. Lew Hastings and Mrs. John Hastings of Farragut for cruelty to the child. The case will be tried by Judge Frederick Fischer in the superior court.

An attempt will be made to show that Mr. and Mrs. Mascher are not fit persons to have custody of the children.

Karolyi Welcomes Communism as Means to Stave Off Hunger

Vienna, May 3.—(By The Associated Press.)—"Communism is the only logical result of the policy of the entente toward Hungary and also, perhaps, it is the only economic salvation left to us under present conditions, yet the allies are astonished that we have gone Bolshevik."

This statement was made to the correspondent by Count Michael Karolyi, who established a republic in Hungary last October and played a prominent part in its policies until recently, if he is not mixed up in them now. The count received the correspondent in the only home left to him out of a dozen which he previously owned.

The man who a few months ago was rated a millionaire, admitted that he is writing a book in English on Hungary's communist experiment in the hope of earning sufficient money to stave off hunger.

"There are plenty of people like me," the count continued, "who welcome the communist government because it guarantees to keep us from starving to death, which was not the case when we were employers."

The New Hudson Super-Six Is Now Here—Price $1975

Improved in the Ways Men Have Said Would Make It the Finest Car Built. Prompt Deliveries to Early Buyers

The new Hudson Super-Six is just such a car as you might expect. Four years in development and 60,000 in service have resulted in a finer, more desirable Super-Six. Many of the annoyances regarded as inevitable to all cars have been eliminated. It starts easier, rides easier, and runs smoother. All the qualities that distinguish the Super-Six you know are retained—in many instances, enhanced.

Such High Development Possible Only to Hudson. Without the experience gained with 60,000 earlier cars, this new Super-Six could not have been so perfected. Four years ago the Super-Six checked the trend to a greater number of cylinders because it gave all the smoothness sought for without sacrificing the simplicity of the six.

It increased motor power 72% without added cylinders or weight. Then it proved in hundreds of record tests, an endurance surpassing all previous performances. It became the largest selling fine car. Perfected by Those Who Designed It. Each year has seen the emphasis of some new quality. The greater range of power and performance was no sooner established than it became famous on every speedway, in every endurance test. Then it took the lead because of its beauty. Its various body types are accepted standards. They accurately forecast motor car design. The world accepts the Hudson as its most famous fine car. The men who designed it are for the most part the same who have brought it to its present high degree of perfection. They have observed its career with the one thought of higher accomplishment. And into this new Hudson, they have put the fullness of their experience.

They have made it their attainment—the Super-Sixes you know are but promises of that which they have now accomplished. Prompt Delivery Now. The Price is $1975 (F.O.B. Detroit). Mid season has always shown a shortage of Hudsons. Four months after the first Super-Six was announced, ten thousand buyers were waiting their turn for delivery.

Every year has been a Hudson Super-Six year. Practically no Hudsons have been available for months. Now the new car is ready. Factory production is large, but only the first buyers can expect prompt delivery. When these added qualities become known the demand must be greater than ever before. Even with no change in the Super-Six, there would have continued a demand for it equal to the increased factory output. But with the Super-Six as it now is, we see a shortage situation surpassing any previous year. So we urge you to see the new Hudson so you can place your order at once and thus get earlier delivery than will be possible if you wait.
