DEMOCRATS OF STATE UNITE TO OPPOSE G. O. P.

Dilapidated Machine Gathering Its Broken Parts Together to Fight Code Law Passed by Republicans.

Lincoln, May 6.—(Special.)—"The lion and the lamb shall lie down together and a little child shall feed them."

This prophecy is being fulfilled in Nebraska. Democrats who fought the Hitchcock-Mullen-Neville political machine in the late campaign are now working in sublime harmony...

What brought them together? Did the machine in its sadly dilapidated condition promise to be good? Did the anti code promise to take back all the bad things they had said about the machine and promise to forget and forgive?

Not on your life. They have simply joined forces for the purpose of trying to carry out what they consider the great fundamental principle of the democratic party—that of trying to discredit a republican legislator and a republican governor whom the people have elected.

They have lain down together, but who is the child that is feeding them is the question in the minds of many people.

It is true that they have interested a few republicans in their work. This is done to give it a sort of air of respectability, so they can point to themselves and say this is a non-partisan committee.

Former Deputy State Auditor Fred Ayers, a democrat, heads the committee, and former Deputy Attorney General Dexter Lecumseh Burdette, a democrat, is the spiritual and legal adviser of the committee.

The work of discrediting the republican legislature and a republican governor is starting out already with an attempt to invoke the referendum on the administrative code bill.

The "ferniester" committee is basing its argument for the holding of the referendum on the charges that the people do not know what the bill contains and, therefore, it should not be put in effect.

Republicans went before the people with a pledge in their platform to do what? To do this: "We favor the enactment of a civil administrative code in this state, creating a financial and accounting system whereby a vigorous and effective audit over financial expenditures of the state may be established, and providing for the consolidation of the boards, institutions, commissions and different departments and agencies of government, thereby eliminating useless offices and positions and avoiding the overlapping functions thereof."

The above was the twenty-second plank in the republican platform and with others was made a part of the pledges made the people of the state.

The people accepted the promise of the republican candidate for governor, the candidates for state officers, and the candidates of that party for the legislature and enacted those pledges into law as they said they would do.

Has any democratic committee any right now to go before the people, and by calling into play the referendum law, discredit the legislature which kept its promise?

Fred Ayers, the man who is in charge of the discrediting movement, has issued a statement to the people through the newspapers in which he attempts to prejudice them against the code law by saying that the people do not understand it.

He charges the people with not understanding the law, yet has admitted that he has read the law entire himself, yet poses as an instructor to the people upon something he knows little about.
