Miss Mary Steele Becomes Bride of Leonard W. Trester of Omaha.

St. Mark's Pro-Cathedral at Hastings, Neb., was a veritable bower of spring beauty for the wedding of Miss Mary Steele, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Steele and Leonard Wallace Trester, which took place Wednesday morning. A profusion of roses and apple blossoms against a setting of palms and ferns decorated the chancel. Bishop Beecher and Dean Tyler officiated.

coln attended the bridegroom as best man. The bride was very attractive in her smart traveling suit of blue serge. A close hat and corsage of orchids and sweet peas completed her costume.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Spring flowers were used through the rooms and 50 guests called to extend their congratulations.

Costumes for "Fi-Fi." Gorgeous costumes, breathing of New York that gay metropolis of fashion and art, have arrived for the production of "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop," which will be given May 17 at the Brandeis. Dress rehearsals will be next in order, and the tiny fol', especially, are very enthusiastic over their dainty gowns.

Double Wedding. An unusual double wedding took place at All Saints rectory, Monday when Miss Della C. Raibourne and Mr. Jack N. Sheldon and Miss Edith Armstrong and Mr. Max Buckner were united in marriage by the Rev. T. J. Mackay.

Church Entertainment. Under the auspices of the Philathea class of the Trinity M. E. church, 21st and Binney, a mythological play entitled Pygmalion and Galatea, will be given Thursday evening, May 8, at 8 o'clock.

Children Love To Imitate Grownups

By CLARA H. BURROUGHS.

What a large part music has, and should have, in the lives of all children! How quickly they respond to a musical idea, whether of marching or dancing or a funny song. All children should be encouraged to sing, for the voice is God-given, a priceless instrument that needs no trick for its use.

We should do all in our power to encourage this sweetness of voice; by suggesting a moderate degree of tone in speaking and singing, by example more than precept. Children imitate so quickly. Mother's quiet voice or teacher's well modulated one is sure to have effect.

Very helpful tone exercises may be given to the children to keep their beauty of voice, if given wholly in the spirit of play. Miss Alys E. Bently has devised some very interesting "tone plays." One of the best is the ring of a bell.

"Ring." Roll the r, then sing the whole word immediately, continuing the tone for a short while, using a moderately high pitch, c, d or e. Use also "sing" and "ding" in the same way. Pretend the bell is in the hand and hold to the ear as if listening. This listening to his own voice on the part of the child tends to clarify and sweeten the tone.

For Continuity of breath the steam engine is very good. "puff," as if letting off steam, holding the f and "chuff," the engine starting off. The bass drum, "boom boom," is splendid, with distended cheeks, and the snare-drum, "trum, trum, trum." Of course, pretend to beat the drum.

sometimes good, as the "moo-o" of the cow, "cock-a-doodle doo-o" of the rooster, "gobble, gobble" of the turkey, "zz-z" of the bee, and the same sound pitched much higher of the mosquito.

Encourage the child to hear tones in all life and imitate them. These tone plays have been admirably used in interesting little songs which are exceedingly attractive to children, chiefly, I believe, because the subjects are taken from the child's own experience in life.

Her Job's a Snap!

Just looking at moving pictures is the job of Miss Elinor Fried of Los Angeles. And she gets paid for it, too.

Miss Fried is the official critic at Universal city. When the director has finished a production and the film editor has done his worst (according to the director), Miss Fried looks over the finished result. That is all she does—just sits in a comfortable chair in the studio theater and looks 'em over. Then she writes a letter to the boss about them.

"Motion pictures are still in their infancy," says Miss Fried, giving her impressions of her job. "Here at Universal we are proud of our pictures, as compared to those of other producers. But the future will see pictures that will make all present day ones, except those like 'The Birth of a Nation' and 'The Heart of Humanity,' seem commonplace."

For Out-Of-Town Visitors. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sherlock of Los Angeles, who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cahill, have been honor guests at a number of affairs since their arrival. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kugel entertained at cards Monday evening when 20 guests were present. Mrs. C. E. Parsons will give an informal tea at her home Friday in honor of Mrs. Sherlock.

Benefit Dance. Columbia Club will give a benefit dance at the Auditorium Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Mercy Home for Working Girls.

Liberty Star Kensington. The Liberty Star Kensington club will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. W. A. Smith, 105 South 41st street.

Mrs. Maggie Smith Hathaway, at present a member of the Montana legislature, is mentioned as a prospective candidate for congress next year.

Mrs. Carrie Livingston has taken an apartment at the Leeton.

This picture shows the musicians who appeared Saturday afternoon and evening at the Brandeis theater in connection with the Irish musical play which is being given for the benefit of the Mercy home for Omaha working girls. The program consisted of a medley overture, arranged especially by Signor Tolomeo, comprising operatic and popular numbers, several one-acts and marches, etc. Signor Tolomeo also played an Irish air on a cornet, accompanied by Miss Mary Cook.

Sociology Topic Of Luncheon Discussion

Women Spoke on Sociological Matters as Affecting Their Work.

A luncheon under auspices of the social service commission of the Episcopal diocese of Nebraska, Mrs. F. H. Cole, secretary, was given at the Omaha Athletic club Tuesday noon in honor of Mrs. Millard Langfeld. Forty women, members of the commission and representative workers from many other welfare organizations, attended. Vase bouquets of pink roses and sweet peas and a basket centerpiece of ferns and flowers were used for decorations.

It has been the plan of Mrs. Langfeld and the local committee to dovetail the study lectures into actual work now being prosecuted by members of the class, thus developing an applied sociology in the truest sense. In her talk at the luncheon, Mrs. Langfeld gave a resume of her former lectures and stressed the importance to social workers of a training in other sciences, particularly biology and psychology. The social worker should know something of the physical and mental composition of the human material with which he has to deal.

Other speakers and the organization represented were: Mrs. A. L. Fernald, chairman woman's committee, county council of defense.

Mrs. A. C. Troup, chairman Americanization committee, county council of defense.

Mrs. J. N. Paul, St. Paul, state chairman war victory commission, Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain, federal home demonstration agent.

Mrs. James A. Tancock, chairman social service committee of Trinity parish.

Great Crowds at Maytime Lunch

Claire Helene Woodard

Extra Tables and Great Quantities of Food Provided for Future.

Lovely baskets of spring blossoms, tied with fluttering tulle and hovering butterflies, cozy little tables and a galaxy of pretty girls have made the Maytime lunch room at Orchard & Wilhelm's a veritable mecca for those who love atmosphere served with their luncheon.

Prominent men who are weary of lunching at cafes and hotels will find this little nook very inviting and the delectable dishes cooked in true southern style cannot fail to tempt masculine appetites.

Tables will not be held for special parties after 12:15 at the Maytime lunch room as business men and women who come must be served promptly.

Long before the hour announced for the opening of the Maytime lunch patrons began to arrive and were served at once. By a quarter past twelve people came in such crowds that Mrs. Chase, chairman of the tables, had to provide ten more tables and all available persons were set to work in the kitchen.

Mrs. Baldrige and Mrs. George Doane left the dining room and joined the forces in the kitchen making sandwiches and hulling strawberries. Mrs. Frances Brogan and her assistant, Mrs. Wilson Low, and 20 girls serving at the tables were rushed to keep up with crowds waiting to be served. Nearly 300 persons dined at the lunch room, 144 chicken pies were ordered and as many more orders left unfilled.

Mrs. George Doane, general secretary of the Associated Charities and the board of the charities each presented the committee and the willing workers with bouquets of flowers. Mr. Baldrige also remembered the committee.

At the regular meeting of the D. T. A. Glee Club on Monday night, under the direction of Mrs. Mabel D. Murrison, it was decided by the club to give a short operatta. They will begin work immediately and the operatta will be given some time in June.

At the dance at the Army and Navy club Thursday night the Angelus Club will be hostesses and Mrs. F. H. Cole, Mrs. T. J. Mackay, Mrs. Daily and Mrs. J. A. Tancock will be chaperons. Mr. A. Wright will entertain with a saxophone. The Elks' quartet is expected to sing during the evening. Mrs. Mabel D. Murrison is in charge of the program.

Prettiest Mile Golf Club. Mrs. Frank Russell entertained the Prettiest Mile Ladies Golf club at her home, Tuesday evening. A May basket contest and flower games occupied the evening and a number of fancy dances were given by little Marjorie Bassett. Miss Marie Russell also gave several piano solos.

Dinner Party. Miss Elsie Storz entertained at dinner at her home Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Mildred Heath, the house guest of Miss Mary Fuller.
