HUN DELEGATES EMBITTERED BY TERMS OF PEACE

Berlin Paper Says Government Will Refuse to Sign Any Points Which Would Oppress Germany.

Versailles, May 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German delegates to the peace congress complained bitterly this morning to one of the French liaison officers of the unexpected harshness of the conditions of the peace.

The delegates said they had expected from the newspaper reports that the demands in many respects would be far-reaching, but were not prepared for the terms as actually laid down in the printed copy of the document.

All the exchanges between the delegation at Versailles and the home government are being kept secret.

A German courier left at 9 o'clock last night, bearing a copy of the treaty with Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau's first report on the negotiations.

Refusal to Sign Forecast.

Berlin, May 8.—The National Zeitung today publishes what it terms the official standpoint of the government expects to take regarding the peace terms.

The government, according to the newspaper, will refuse to sign any point of the treaty which provides for "oppression of Germany." For instance, the entente's standpoint regarding Danzig and the Sarre valley will not be accepted. The German delegates, however, will make every effort to institute negotiations with these and other unacceptable demands, says the National Zeitung.

Wireless communication between Nauen and the Eiffel tower in Paris has been resumed so that the German peace delegation can keep in close touch with Berlin.

Candidate for National Head of Elks Here Friday

All the Elks of the western states to the Pacific coast are campaigning for Frank L. Rain of Fairbury, Neb., for grand exalted ruler of the order at the grand lodge meeting to be held in Atlantic City, N. J., the week of July 7.

Brooklyn, N. Y., has an opposition candidate, but the chances appear at present to largely favor the election of Mr. Rain. By special invitation of Omaha lodge, Mr. Rain will come here from Fairbury on Friday and will attend the weekly meeting of the Omaha lodge. A class will be initiated into the lodge. With this double attraction, it is expected that the attendance will be large.

Can Furnish Names.

"I do not like to take the liberty of giving the names of girls I know to the newspapers, but I can furnish names of other girls who never knew what it was to use the needle until they learned it in the Detention home, and who today are confirmed drug addicts."

Pearl Price and Ruth Morrison, both inmates of the county jail, and former prisoners at the Detention home, also declared they would be willing to furnish names of girls who had contracted the habit while at the Detention home.

The Morrison girl told of an occasion when she was arrested with Ethel Johnson, Emma Schweitzer and Loraine Miller, and taken to the police station. They were required to give $5 each to the physician who examined them and then permitted, without a hearing in court, to continue the practice for which they were arrested, she said.

Pearl Price also told of being taken to the police station and of being released by the examining physician upon the payment of $5. A short while afterwards, she said,

Many Citizens Congratulate 'Mother' Johns on Her Stand

Expose of Treatment Which Calls for Indiscriminate Use of Dope Among Girls of Detention Home Rouses Wave of Comment.

"Mother" Johns, matron at the Douglas county jail, has received hundreds of calls commending her for the scathing rebuke she gave Dr. Palmer Findley, medical director, and Miss Alta Berger, superintendent, in Tuesday's Bee for their indiscriminate use of dope among the girls of the Detention home.

"Mother" Johns, venerable angel of mercy, time tested and time honored friend of the fallen girl, has cured of the drug habit scores of women released from the Detention home, where they were given from four to six injections of morphine a day for months at a time, which reputable attorneys and physicians have declared to be in flagrant violation of the law.

Article Absolutely True.

"I have been answering the telephone night and day," she asserted. "It was 10 o'clock yesterday morning when I responded to the last call. Even later the bell continued to ring, but I had retired. Most of the calls were from persons seeking confirmation of the article printed in The Bee. In reply to each inquiry I said it was true absolutely. In many cases I have additional and stronger information."

"In my opinion, based on personal contact and observation, it is an impossibility to overstate the horrible and revolting details. Any one with a semblance of a spark of human kindness in his nature cannot view the condition of these poor girls who come to us from the Detention home without a feeling of pity for the poor, helpless, outraged victims."

Advocate Immediate Action.

"Every single person who speaks to me on the subject expresses the opinion that immediate steps should be taken to end the nefarious practice at that place. In my opinion it helps breed instead of curing the evil. And to think many good church people have been fooled into believing that such treatment of these poor victims is the right thing to do."

"There were 12 girls in the Detention home last Wednesday, and of these nine were being given four shots of morphine a day, according to Lula Patterson, 1315 Davenport street, who was released from the home on that day and committed to the county jail.

"I spent one week in the Detention home," she said, "and each day I was given four shots with the other girls. I heard two white girls and one colored girl refuse to take morphine."

"I know another girl named Nora Coleman who lives at Seaman and Burt streets. Before being thrown into the Detention home she had taken a cure for the dope habit. To my certain knowledge she had not taken a shot in seven months. When she was released from the Detention home the habit was stronger with her than it ever had been. Nora is using the needle today. She gradually is going down the other side of the hill. I know Nora Coleman is not the only girl I know who holds the Detention home responsible for her habit of using dope."

Was Later Released.

Wilma Rice was later released from the Detention home.

"Wilma never did quit using the dope," said Ruth Morrison. "I know positively she got all of it she wanted at the Detention home. I know absolutely she is using it today. She went into the Detention home a dope fiend and came out a worse fiend. Every one who knows the girl knows she is an addict today. She was helped to her ruin in the Detention home. She was bribed with the poison which is sapping away her life, to boost the Detention home, the worst enemy she had in the world."

Dr. Ernest Gillas, one of the founders and defenders of the Detention home, and secretary of the Public Welfare board, was given several days ago a letter written by a physician, who is an official of the Detention home, to Ruby Martin, 1722 1/2 Cumming street, reminding the girl that she was delinquent in her monthly payments, in consideration of which it was stipulated she was to be exempted from imprisonment in the Detention home, in spite of the fact the physician declared the girl had the syphilis, according to her statement.

Dr. Callias declared she would make an investigation and if any crooked work was going on at the institution, she would see that the guilty ones were punished. Miss Martin has ceased to make her payments to the physician. She called the physician on the telephone and told him she would pay him no more money and intended to report him if he threatened to have her arrested and detained in the home.

Miss Martin is working every day and has heard nothing further from the physician who succeeded in making her pay a monthly sum of $20 for two months, and who backed up when the girl called his bluff.

Strikers Clash With Police at Big Toledo Automobile Plant

Toledo, May 8.—The plant of the Willys-Overland company was closed late this afternoon by Clarence A. Earl, vice president of the company, following a clash between strikers and police in which bricks, stones and clubs were used as weapons.

The trouble resulted when several hundred strikers attempted to talk with employees who had refused to join their ranks.

Nearly 100 policemen were rushed to the plant when a citizen reported a disturbance. All traffic policemen were taken from the streets and ordered to report at the plant.

Labor officials claim 10,000 men are on strike.

Vice President Earl gave out a statement tonight that the plant will be closed indefinitely to "protect the lives of the workmen."

General Haller's Army Reinforced by Polish Troops From France

Berne, May 8.—Marshal Foch, a dispatch from Warsaw says, has sent the following message to General Haller, commander of the Polish troops in France during the war:

"Tomorrow an army created under the protection of the French flag will join on the liberated Polish territory the Polish army that has been fighting for long time for right, liberty and civilization. I am convinced that the gallant soldiers now united under the white eagle flag will soon write in golden letters a new page of the history of noble Poland. My best wishes accompany you."

General Haller, in an interview in the Warsaw Courier, praised the part played by the French government and the Polish national committee in Paris in connection with the formation of the Polish army in France.

Carl Jarl, sr., says the Carl Jarl who was recently arrested and held by police in connection with alleged thefts of automobile tires was not him. Police records show the arrested man to be Carl Jarl, with occupation listed as a locksmith. Carl Jarl, sr., says he was not arrested, but that he is a locksmith. He says he has a son by the name of Carl Adolph Jarl.

NOTHING GIVEN UNITED STATES BY PEACE PACT

There Are Many "Fingers in Pie" for Victors, But No American Fingers Are Among Them.

By Universal Service.

Washington, May 8.—The Paris treaty will go down in history showing the nation whose entrance into the war, according to the enemy's own admission, caused his defeat, receiving not a single advantage, pecuniary, territorially or any other way through the victory it helped achieve. That nation is the United States of America.

Practically every other belligerent is shown by the peace treaty summary as profiting by the defeat of Germany. Some of them—notably France, England and Japan—profit largely. Their names are mentioned a score or more of times each. But the name, "United States of America" is mentioned as such but six times in the summary. This is how:

As one of the five principal nations in the preamble of the league of nations covenant.

As having a representative on the reparations commission, which shall periodically estimate Germany's ability to pay her damages.

In connection with the Samoan treaty, 1899 with Germany and Great Britain.

When our nation is excepted in the clause dealing with the cancellation of pre-war contracts.

When a like exception is made regarding pre-war licenses.

As naming the prospective arbitrator in Germany's cession of certain rights.

There are many "fingers in the pie" of a victorious peace, but they number no American fingers among them.

Funeral of Liljenstolpe to Be Held in Omaha

Liljenstolpe was returning from Torrington, accompanied by Frank McCarter of Bayard, when the accident occurred. McCarter was badly injured, but is expected to recover.

He was born in Omaha, April 11, 1887, the son of Mrs. N. Liljenstolpe and the late Knut Liljenstolpe. He attended the University of Nebraska, where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

MUSIC

ILYA SCHKOLNIK, violinist; Constance Alexandre, soprano, and Imogene Peay, pianist, appeared in joint recital at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium Wednesday evening, for the benefit of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. According to a yearly custom, two programs are given by the society at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium, and this was the opening recital, this season. Ilya Schkolnik, violinist, draws an excellent tone from his instrument. He plays with an abundance of both temperament and technique. His harmonics are so lovely, and those numbers demanding breadth and fullness of tone were especially well done. Constance Alexandre has a big, brilliant voice, and was at her best in the more brilliant numbers of her different groups. The "Cuckoo Clock," Grant-Schaeffer and "An Open Secret" by Woodman won especial favor from the audience. Imogene Peay, pianist, displayed both skill and understanding in her piano solo, and in her acceptable accompaniments. The program was well arranged and well contrasted, although Mr. Schkolnik changed some of his selections without announcement. A large audience was present, which heartily responded to the various numbers with generous applause. The second program will be presented at the same place under the same auspices tomorrow evening.

AT THE THEATERS

MISS ETHEL BARRYMORE and company in "The Off-Chance," a new comedy, presented at the Brandeis. The cast: Dixie de Burston, four acts, presented at the Brandeis. The cast: Dixie de Burston, four acts, presented at the Brandeis. The cast: Dixie de Burston, four acts, presented at the Brandeis.

MISS BARRYMORE'S visits to this section of the world are so few she is almost a stranger amongst those who might learn in time to love her; the press agent talks glibly of the Barrymore existing in Omaha; it is non-existent, but it might easily be mobilized and made a really effective division of local importance, were she to look in on us at least once a season. So long as she shows up only at intervals so widely spaced as the gap which stretches between the last time she was here and now, it is hardly fair either to her or to the people who really love her to come to the presence of so many at the Brandeis last evening to the fact that they are of that peculiar cult to which the P. A. person alludes.

Nothing in this is said in derogation of Miss Barrymore; she might be welcomed here for her charming personality, were she more intimately known; as it happens to be, she is welcomed because she is Ethel Barrymore, actress of ability and charm, whose growth from willow days of ingenue roles to the present position she deservedly holds as a leader of the guild might be traced by the appearances she has made in this city. And for her art alone, she secures the plaudits of the polite and discriminating, who really know a good thing and enjoy it. That thought to appeal to her professional sense, at least.

In the present Carnton production she has a role that exacts not a great deal from her. She gets full opportunity to exhibit her poise, her sense of value and her appreciation of delicate comedy points. In this latter she excels. This is traditional with her, and nothing of the Drew capacity for fine irony is lost through mixing it with modicum of the Barrymore penchant for the broader and more obvious humor, while the reserve of the one is neatly matched by the vivacity of the other, and the combination shows wonderful advantage in the role of Lady Cardonell. It is a fit picture to play alongside the one she gave us a few seasons ago, when she portrayed Barrie's pretty conceit in "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire."

Carnton has taken some characters Dickens and Thackeray paraded and humanized them; the reckless young lord and the ancient, but not old, grayer the orderly-minded lawyer and the griggish baronet, whose pharisaical outlook on life gives a splendid excuse for the mild follies into which the others plunged, such as elopement, divorce, philandering and the like. As these are all blown away finally in a gust of real decent, honorable behavior, they may be overlooked as dangers escaped; Mr. Boyd plays the young lord with excellent taste, and Mr. Emery gives a welcome characterization of the aged jacker, while Messrs. Plimmer, Ashford, Brennan and Percival deserve thanks for their contributions to the pleasure of the evening.

It would be unfair to pass Miss Le Gallienne without noting that she possesses the attributes that make for success on the stage, not alone youth and beauty, charm of manner and grace of person, but the intelligence that enables her to grasp the meaning of her phrases and accurately to impart it. Her work suggests a future of greater things.

The piece is staged in the Frohman fashion, and was greatly enjoyed by the audience last night. The engagement is for the weekend, with a matinee on Saturday.

The Rubini recital at the Orpheum this afternoon immediately following the regular vaudeville bill is going to be attended by the largest matinee audience of the current week. The demand for seats has been large and music lovers are going to turn out to hear the distinguished and accomplished young Swedish violin virtuoso. All who attend the matinee this afternoon are cordially invited to remain for the Rubini recital, which will start at 4:35 o'clock. The opportunity to hear this noted violinist in a program more extensive than is possible in a regular vaudeville bill is in response to the numerous requests received from Omaha music-lovers. An excellent program of 10 numbers has been arranged for the occasion.

Martin Johnson and his plucky little wife, who will show their picture, "Cannibals of the South Seas," at the Brandeis theater for four days, starting next Sunday, traveled 18,000 miles alone among the remote isles of the lonely South Pacific, visiting savages who had never before looked upon a white face. They risked their lives every second of their perilous trip, made by small steamer, sailboat and native

Crepe will be tied on the door of Omaha's Fun Center, the Gayety, after today's two performances, the season passing away in a paroxysm of hearty laughter to be supplied by clever Frank Hunter and the big cast comprising "The Best Show in Town." The final curtain will occur directly after tonight's performance, several hearses in the form of baggage and scenery wagons being supplied by the transfer company. Old Man Johnson says: "Tell the natives to come here and laugh today—wear a glum countenance until next August 9, when the new season opens."

"Resista," the 98-pound doll girl, who is attracting so much attention at the Empress theater this last half, is just a slip of a girl, yet she issues a challenge to any man in the theater to lift her dainty feet off the floor. She bars all "bunny-hugs," "half Nelsons," etc. "That's Good," the brilliant comedy drama, which will be shown at the Empress for the last time today, in which Hale Hamilton starred, is a play of exceptional merit, which has delighted the large audiences that have seen it.

GUNBOATS AID ALLIED TROOPS IN ARCHANGEL

Admiral Kolchak, Head of Omsk Government, Continues Successful Operations Against Bolsheviks.

Archangel, May 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—British gunboats were active against the bolsheviks for the first time yesterday. They co-operated with a strong patrol which broke through an enemy outpost north of Tulgas and destroyed dugouts and an ammunition dump. A bolshevik attempt against the British, American and Russian positions at Malohereznik was repulsed.

London, May 8.—Admiral Kolchak, head of the Omsk government, continues his successful offensive operations, according to a report received from Omsk, dated April 29.

In the Simbursk region the Siberian forces, in active pursuit of the bolsheviks, have occupied a number of places west of the station of Shentala. In the north the capture is announced of the town of Sergeieffsk, the last place the bolsheviks can stand until Samara is reached.

South of the Kazan-Yekaterinburg railway the reds are retreating, closely pursued by the Siberians, who have captured several towns and considerable war material.
