HUNS CHEER DECISION TO REJECT TREATY

Pact Is Called by Chancellor to keep his teeth, while his claws are hardly cut.

Land a Prison Camp.

"Sixty millions are behind the barbed wire and the prison bars—sixty millions at hard labor for whom the enemy makes their own land a prison camp. Should the peace conditions be accepted Germany no longer could call anything her own which lies outside these narrow bounds. Germany has ceased to exist abroad, but as if that were not sufficient, her cables have been taken from her and her wireless stations can send only commercial telegrams and then only under control of the allies. This would separate us from the outer world, for what business can be done under the control of competitors need not to be described.

"But this is far from enough. The council therefore determines treaties between enemy countries to be null and void except such treaties whose execution is in favor of a government of the allied powers.

"What does President Wilson so aptly say? That the first principle of peace itself is equality, equal participation in common benefits."

Herr Scheidemann then argued that this principle had been abrogated in the peace terms.

"Conditions Unacceptable."

"That is the jail picture in its external aspects; without steps because the mercantile fleet passes into entente hands, without cables, without colonies, without foreign settlements, without reciprocity and legal protection, yes, and even without the right to co-operate in fixing the prices for the goods and articles which we have to deliver as tribute.

"I ask you what honest man will say that Germany can accept such conditions. At the same time as we shall have to bestir ourselves to perform forced labor for the benefit of the entire world, our foreign trade, the sole source of our welfare, is destroyed and our home trade is rendered impossible. Lignite iron ore, upper Silesian coal, Al Satin rotash, the Sarre valley mines and the cheap foodstuffs from Posen and West

Prussia are to lie outside of our frontiers. We are to impose no higher tariff or protection than existed on August 1, 1914, while our enemies may do as much as they like at every point in strangling us at home. All German revenues must be held at the disposal of our enemies for payments, not for war invalids and widows—all as forced labor for products the prices of which will be fixed by our customers.

Calls Terms "Enslavement."

"What is a people to do which is confronted by the command that is responsible for all losses and damage that its enemies suffered in the war? What is a people to do which is to have no voice in fixing its obligations?"

"Because perhaps, this humiliation and robbery is even yet insufficient and in order to utilize every future possibility of destruction, the yoke must finally be placed on our neck and a miserable enslavement established for our children and our children's children. Germany undertakes to put into force and to publish all facts of legislation, all prescriptions and all regulations which would be necessary to insure the complete carrying out of the terms.

"Enough, more than enough. These are some examples of the treaty stipulations in establishing which, as Herr Clemenceau yesterday informed our delegation, the entente would be guided completely by the principles according to which the armistice and peace negotiations were proposed.

Want to Negotiate.

"We have made counter-proposals and shall make still more. With your consent we regard it as our sacred task to come to negotiations."

"Here and there insight and the common obligations of humanity are beginning to make themselves felt in neutral countries; in Italy and in Great Britain above all, too—is this a comfort for us in this last fearful flaming up of the policy of the mailed fist—and in socialist France voices are being heard whereby historians one day will measure the state of humanity after four years of 'murder'."

Herr Scheidemann thanked all those in whom the indignant heart of conscience had found expression, and added:

"I am especially thankful for and re-echo the vow of imperishable devotion and faithfulness ringing across to us from Vienna. Stand by us in paving the way to negotiations; leave no one in the world in doubt regarding the fact that you are one with us.

"We protest against hatred being perpetuated forever, a curse being established for all eternity. Members of the national assembly, the dignity of humanity is placed in your hands. Preserve it."

Paris, May 13.—The heads of two

German democratic parties and the parties of the center have informed Chancellor Scheidemann that their parties will withdraw their representatives from the government in case the cabinet decides to sign the peace treaty, according to a dispatch from Berlin received here by way of Basle.

PEACE TREATY NOW READY FOR THE AUSTRIANS

The German treaty with the exception that the first clause providing for trial of the former Emperor William, is omitted. The remaining clause makes provision for the trial of military offenders by an international court-martial.

The frontier delimitation of the new Austria presents the one serious issue in the drawing of the treaty, somewhat similar to that of the Sarre Valley in the German treaty. This is as regards the lower Tyrol, a section of which is detached from Austria and placed within the boundaries of Italy. It includes the cities of Bozen and Merano, and an estimated German population of about 250,000.

Strategic Italian Frontier.

The reason for attaching this German speaking population to Italy is the establishment of a strategic frontier giving Italy adequate protection from invasion from the north. The old frontier ran south of the Alps, with Italy on the down-grade and Austria on the command heights. The new frontier reverses this, giving Italy the heights and all the defensive passages. The former status gave Austria seven lines of approach, while Italy possessed only one main line for mobilizing its defenses. The new status places all these lines of approach under Italy.

As has been stated, the frontier line as drawn in the terms to be presented to the Austrians is the one laid down by the treaty of London, although the treaty makes no mention of this fact. Italy sought this line as a permanent strategic defense, secured its insertion in the armistice terms and now secures its incorporation in the treaty.

Stolen Automobile Found; Garage Owner Arrested

Finding of an automobile belonging to Dick Britton, 2511 Chicago street, in the garage of George Alexander, 2523 Caldwell street, last yesterday afternoon led to the arrest of the garage owner on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

The stolen car was taken out of Britton's garage the night of May 8. Motor and license numbers on the car were effaced, detectives say.

Three other stolen cars found in Alexander's garage during the past week were returned to the owners, according to the arresting detectives.

Factory Improvements Discussed at Banquet

Plans for improvement of the wagon and tractor manufactory of the T. F. Stroud company, Twentieth street and Ames avenue, were discussed at a banquet given at the Hotel Loyal last night to 80 employees of the concern. Isidor Zigler, attorney, acted as toastmaster. Officers of the company made addresses.

DR. MANNING TO RESIGN PLACE AS HEALTH OFFICER

tention home for women. He was instrumental in launching this institution when it was opened in a former residence building at Twenty-second street and St. Marys avenue. When he announced that Dr. Palmer Findley would take charge of the medical work of the home, he expressed his belief that his troubles would be over.

It is known that the institution has been more or less a source of worry to him.

A negro officer at the St. Marys avenue place was arrested on a charge of receiving money to allow women to escape.

Many women escaped from the home at its old location. Charges were made that one of the doctors who examined women was collecting money for services performed at his office. This money was said to have been paid in consideration for not committing these women to the home.

Then came the allegations about administering "dope" at the home, making the whole situation one which the doctor has not relished, his friends aver.

On the other hand, Police Commissioner Ringer maintains an abiding faith in the home, and yesterday offered an ordinance to more fully define the powers of the health department in this connection.

I am told that there are only eleven women at the home," stated City Commissioner Zimmerman yesterday.

Has School Inspection.

Dr. Manning is also head of the medical department of the public schools, an agreement having been entered into with the city when he was appointed health commissioner that he would be allowed to carry his school work along with the city work. He is paid $3,000 per year for his services as health commissioner and $2,000 per year for his public school work.

The doctor has served as health commissioner nearly one year. The present city administration began its work exactly one year ago today and Dr. Manning was appointed health commissioner shortly after the administration took charge.

Police Commissioner Ringer, Dr. Manning, and Dr. Palmer Findley, head of the City Detention home, held a private conference in the city hall last Saturday, but none of the conferees would divulge the nature of the meeting.

Rumors in the city hall are that Dr. Manning's resignation will be effective June 1.

Runaway Horse Inflicts Injuries on Two Men

In an effort to stop a runaway horse yesterday afternoon at Seventeenth and Chicago streets, H. Krakowsky, 1417 North Seventeenth street, was thrown to the pavement and suffered a broken wrist and bodily bruises. W. P. Vernon, 2119 Emmet street, suffered severe cuts about the body and face when the runaway horse ran into him at the street intersection.

HENRY FORD IS ANARCHIST, SAYS COUNSEL IN SUIT

Tribune Used Term Correctly, But Not in Sense of Bomb Throwing, Is Content of Defense.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 13.—When on June 23, 1916, the Chicago Daily Tribune referred to Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer "as an anarchist," it did not use the term in the sense of a bomb thrower or nihilist, according to Attorney Elliot G. Stevenson.

Mr. Stevenson, one of the counsel for the Tribune, which is being sued here for $1,000,000 damages by Mr. Ford on a charge of libel made this assertion today to the talemans in the jury box in explanation of questions he and his associates were about to ask them in regard to their fitness to serve as jurors.

"It is our purpose to prove that Mr. Ford is an anarchist," said Mr. Stevenson. He then read from court decisions what the Tribune meant by the term "anarchist" as defined by various authorities. Some of the definitions were "absence or insufficiency of government," "a state where there is no capable supreme government," "a believer in an archaic theory of society."

"In our view," continued Mr. Stevenson, "Mr. Ford on June 23, 1916, was an anarchist in the sense that he opposed those common measures which make for a government and the absence of which creates a state of anarchy."

Compared to Senate.

While Mr. Stevenson was defining the term "anarchist" as he said it was applied by "The Tribune" to Mr. Ford, meaning one who spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in attempting to influence the public and congress against preparedness and thus weakening the government to the point of anarchy, Alfred Lucking, for Mr. Ford interrupted hotly:

"We object, your honor. Why, on that basis half the United States senate is anarchistic. We object also to the assumption that the Tribune can create definitions of words such as anarchy. We decline to accept the Tribune as a standard for definitions."

The talemans expressed themselves in favor of preparedness, but admitted there was room for an honest difference of opinion as to what constitutes preparedness. The gist of their answers was that Mr. Ford had a right to his opinions and the Tribune had the same right.

Abolish Export Restrictions.

Paris, May 13.—The cabinet today approved a decree abolishing all restrictions on exports, except certain foods and products connected directly with the reconstruction of the liberated regions. The decree of January 20, 1919, prohibited the exportation of 140 different articles.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be luffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

SUCCESS

The success of a bank must be measured by the success of those whom it serves. We are glad to note that a number of Omahans, who made a small initial deposit in this bank years ago are now the successful and influential citizens of today.

We lay stress on the co-operation we extend to our customers in the matters of financial guidance, investment information and in business advice.

Notwithstanding the great size to which this institution has grown, we have been able—by the aid of systematic banking methods—to give our customers the "personal attention" for which this bank has become known.

Telephone Service in War and After

Two years ago we had plenty of materials for telephone construction and enough trained employees

Then war came.

Many of our highly trained men joined the colors.

The maintenance of an efficient operating force became constantly more difficult because of the unusual demand for women employees in other lines of work.

Equipment was hard to get.

The government asked us to stop all but the most essential construction work.

We gave the best telephone service during the war that conditions would permit, but it was not and could not be as good as you had previously enjoyed.

We face today the period of reconstruction.

Our old employees are gradually being released from military service and are resuming their old positions.

Our equipment, weakened by two years of restricted construction, is gradually being expanded and replaced.

We cannot restore conditions to a pre-war standard in a few months, but our efforts are centered on improving the service, and it is steadily getting better.
