

REAL ISSUE IN DETENTION HOME CASE NOT MET

Attorney Macfarland Contents Court Did Not Pass on Right to Compel Examination of Patients.

The right of the city of Omaha to operate a Detention home for women, to compel them to expose their persons, submit to physical examinations and remain prisoners in the home without a court hearing at the will of Dr. Palmer...

Appeals from Decision. The Margaret Brown case was taken to the supreme court on appeal from the district court decision denying the woman a writ of habeas corpus seeking release from the Detention home.

Cannot Be Forced. The Nebraska courts have held that a man charged with murder cannot be forced to expose his person against his will, even when it is known he bears wounds on his body, the exhibition of which is of material importance in the way of evidence wanted by the state in order to convict.

No Definite Charge. I am positive the Nebraska supreme court would not expose a woman to no definite charge against her a right which is accorded a man, even though the crime charged against him is as serious as murder.

Washington, May 19.—Suggestions of the all-Russian government at Omsk that American troops sent to Vladivostok to assist the Czech, Slovak forces and guard war supplies be sent further into Siberia brought out today that the United States has no intention either of changing its policy of noninterference in local affairs or of reducing the size of its forces in eastern Siberia.

STATE DENTISTS IN OMAHA FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Three Hundred at Opening Session, With Prospect of Number Being Doubled Before End of Week.

The fifty-second annual banquet and dance of the Nebraska State Dental society, in session at the Hotel Fontenelle, was held last night. More than 300 of the dentists, their wives and friends, were present.

It is estimated by Dr. H. E. King, secretary of the society, that 250 members are in attendance, but because the convention is over it is believed that more than 500 dentists will be assembled.

Prior to the dance, E. R. Gurney of Fremont, addressed the dentists. His subject was "Fellowship." He emphasized the importance of mutual understanding and helpfulness in lightening the daily burdens of life.

According to Dr. King the organization has shown remarkable growth in the last few years, the membership nearly doubling. With the acquisition of new members during the present session the society will be numerically larger than ever before.

During the afternoon Mayor Smith addressed the convention. He advocated a post-graduate course to follow next year's convention. The recommendation was referred out to committee and will be acted on in the near future. The mayor reviewed the steps taken by the city in the health campaign among the public school children. "Special attention is being paid to the teeth as a source of juvenile ills," stated Mayor Smith.

G. B. Baird, president of the association, and W. C. Davis, vice president, spoke.

Frazier today called a special election for June 26 to permit the people to vote on seven measures enacted by the last legislature included in the Nonpartisan league program and which are asked to be referred by petitions circulated by the Independent Voters' association.

NEBRASKA HOUSE MEMBERS START WORK OF SESSION

Andrews Offers Bill Looking to More Publicity in Connection With Handling Financial Affairs of Government.

Washington, May 19.—(Special Telegram.)—When Democratic Clerk Trimble called the house to order today, the Nebraska delegation occupied a section of seats midway on the republican side of the chamber. Representative McLaughlin knocking elbows with Representative Hunger of Iowa, the new chairman of agriculture, and with whom McLaughlin, as a member of that committee, will come in close contact during the next two years.

Congressman Evans, with his flowing mustache had an end seat, and next to him sat Jeffers of Omaha, who is easily one of the big men of this congress, and in stature this congress bids fair to measure up with the best. Andrews of Hastings, who has had two years at the congressional game, sat close to Jeffers, while Reavis of Falls City, who is very likely to be added to the steering committee, if that committee is enlarged, nervously watched the proceedings. "Uncle Mose" Kinkaid, refusing to be hitched to a seat, wandered about the hall, greeting old friends whom he had not seen since the adjournment of the 65th congress.

Reavis' Certificate Lost. Among the very first things Floor Leader Mondell of Wyoming asked of the house was permission to have the oath of office administered to a number of representatives whose certificates of election had not been received by the clerk, but of whose elections no doubt, Frank Reavis, Falls City, felt within the category, much to his surprise. His certificate, through some hokuspokus on the part of the clerk, having been lost, although he holds the clerk's receipt for the same.

Congressman Fowler of Iowa said that the republicans were impressed with the sense of responsibility upon them, that this was not the time to air individual opinions, the individual having to sink his personality for the time being in order that the great body of republicans could do business and reconstruct the country along the lines of peace and prosperity.

Congressman Kinkaid introduced bills for the purchase of sites and the erection of public buildings at Brown Bow, Scottsbluff, Lexington and O'Neill.

Change Date. Representative Reavis introduced a bill providing that the congress-elect should begin its sessions March 5, instead of the first Monday in December, as now provided.

Representative Andrews of the Fifth district introduced a bill that, if passed, would revolutionize the present government methods relative to receipts and expenditures, and according to the author of the measure force the executive branches of the government to lines of practical economy and efficiency, transferring, as it does, the accounting officers of the Treasury department.

"It would make it impossible for executive officers to conceal official records, vouchers and contracts upon which public funds are collected and disbursed, because those documents would be forced into the possession of congress before the accounts could be settled," said Mr. Andrews, "and that the people of the entire country could be informed from year to year as to what had been done with the vast amount of money that has been paid into the national treasury in taxes and loans."

Among the 200 or more bills to repeal the so-called "daylight savings law," introduced today, Representative Reavis, Andrews, Kinkaid, McLaughlin and Evans scored heavily.

To Name Coast Battery in Honor of Colonel Wallace. Washington, May 19.—The new battery of 12-inch coast defense guns at Fort Barry, Cal., will be named "Battery Wallace," in memory of the late Col. Elmer J. Wallace, who died in France November 5, 1918, and whose remains were received in action with the 57th Artillery.

The program at the Auditorium includes short talks by Colonel Tinley and Captain Lainsou. Emmet Tinley will be presiding officer. Informal receptions and dancing in the halls of the three buildings will continue until midnight.

Dr. Barstow, Pioneer Medical Man of Western Iowa, Dead

Dr. J. M. Barstow, 64 years old, resident of Council Bluffs for nearly 50 years, physician and alienist, died suddenly Monday morning at his home, 231 South Sixth street. Death was due to heart weakness, following an increasing general debility for several months.

For more than 25 years he made brain diseases a special study and for the last 20 years was a member of the faculty of Creighton college, Omaha. He was the head of the board of insanity commissioners, Council Bluffs, for more than 20 years. He was a member of the American Medical association and of the Iowa and Nebraska state associations; also, of the Missouri Valley Medical association.

TWO notable engagements for "The Valley of the Giants," which Wallace Reid is to make make shortly for Paramount under George Melford's direction, are announced. Grace Darmond, who has appeared in many pictures opposite Earl Williams, has been engaged as leading woman, and Kay Laurell, the beautiful "Follies" girl, also has a part in the picture. Miss Laurell's poses in the Ziegfeld shows have attained wide fame, and she has been painted by Penrhyn Stanlans and other noted artists.

Little "Pat" Moore, who scored such a hit in Cecil de Mille's production of "The Squaw Man," has been secured by Rupert Julian to play the part of a small boy in "The Open Road," a Monroe Salisbury feature, which Mr. Julian is supervising at the west coast Universal studios.

"Three Green Eyes" is the unusual title of the unusual new World Picture, which, with an all-star cast, will be seen today, Wednesday and Thursday at the Muse theater. It is a real all-star cast that is presenting this picture—Carlyle Blackwell, Monte Love, Evelyn Greely, June Elvidge, and Johnny Hines. In addition, there are a number of prominent film favorites who assist the stars in the rendition of the production. From every angle "Three Green Eyes" is distinctly all-star—in story, in class of production, in the stars who appear in the cast, and in the interest and entertainment value of the picture.

"Words and Music By—" will be at the Sun today and Wednesday. It is a story of the endeavor of a young man to make his way to success as a composer, and shows him surmounting a series of obstacles in a typically American way. He writes an opera, which is stolen, and then devotes himself energetically to proving authorship. Intertwined with his career is that of a young woman, an operatic singer.

The principal roles are taken by Albert Ray and Elinor Fair, co-stars apparently. All in all, "Words and Music By—" is a thoroughly entertaining picture.

In the photoplay "The End of the Road," which is being shown at the Brandeis all this week, except Friday evening, what every daughter should be told and what every mother should know so as to understandingly warn her daughter is set forth graphically and grippingly.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson left San Francisco last week bound for the South Sea isles and other strange places where they will make another series of pictures to follow "Cannibals."

Fatty Arbuckle is busy with his new comedy, "The Bank Clerk." Molly Malone is acting as his leading woman, and Al St. John and other fun-makers are in the supporting cast.

H. B. Warner has engaged Eugenie Ford to play opposite him in his next big feature, "The Man Who Turned White."

AT THE THEATERS WALKER WHITESIDE will close his season in "The Little Brother" in Detroit June 1 and immediately sail for Scotland to visit the scene of Robert Louis Stevenson's story, "The Master of Ballantrae," a stage version of which he will produce next season. While abroad he will arrange for his presentation of the play in London during the season of 1920-21.

In the one-act musical comedy, "The Four Husbands," now being presented at the Orpheum theater, it is not merely the liveliness of the attraction, but the clever plot, the song numbers and the dances which make the offering especially entertaining. It is presented with large cast, clever principals and lavish scenic and costume effects. The big audience of society night last evening was also much taken with several other acts, particularly with the comedy and music of William Demarest with her "cello," and Estelle Collette with her violin. The one-act farce "Oh, You Women!" was yet another feature to score a decided hit.

Herbert Lloyd at the Empress has one of the most diverting specialties ever seen in vaudeville. Following in rapid succession are burlesque imitations of vaudeville acts that bring screams of laughter. The act employs two exceptionally good-looking girls and an exhibition of gymnastics by the Four Casters is another feature of this excellent bill.

Rickenbacker Boosts for Omaha Auto Club and Praises Its Work

"Your Omaha Auto Club should have 4,000 members," said Captain Rickenbacker to Secretary Smyth, after the latter had told the former Omaha member of the legislative record and other accomplishments. "You deserve the support of every automobile owner," he added.

"I have noticed that all good roads movements over the country have been originated and fathered by auto clubs. This is their fundamental object of existence, and I might add that the American public today can thank the automobile clubs and associations and large affiliated organizations for the keen sentiment for hard roads. With your low rate of $5 for new members your club should have no trouble in getting a few thousand. In fact, I see no reason why every car owner should not belong. The fact that a man owns a car should induce him to join an organization which is working 365 days in the year for his benefit."

"The Omaha Automobile club is the first auto club that held my membership and I am deeply interested in its growth."

Bats Horse With Hammer and His Wife Calls Police John Anderson, 2613 North Twelfth avenue, whom City Jailor Plotts calls his star boarder, insisted last night that he was a victim of police persecution when he staggered up to the desk in the Central station, brought in by Patrol Conductor Woods.

"I just batted my horse on the head with a hammer and then made a run for my wife," he protested. "Just like a woman, she got excited and hollered for the police." Anderson was charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Inter-Church World Movement Mass Meeting 8 P. M. Wednesday Evening, May 21. SPEAKERS: Fred B. Smith, New York City. J. Campbell White, Wooster College. Colonel Raymond Robbins, Chicago. PUBLIC INVITED. NO ADMISSION CHARGE.

Youthful in Body and Mind Never mind your age—as measured by years. How do you feel? That's the thing that counts! See this sprightly old gentlemen coming toward you down the street. His birth record would show you that he is past seventy. But judging from the easy grace with which he swings along, his erect carriage, his ruddy complexion, the keen glance of his eye, his whole appearance the very picture of health, you would say that he is not a day past fifty. He is young in spite of his three score years and ten. More frequently you see the opposite of his type. Men scarcely in their thirties—haggard, listless, weak, nervous—men who take no interest in life, just dragging out a weary existence, all in, tired and worn out. Though young in years, they are, nevertheless, old men. Their vital forces are on the wane. They've lost their "punch" and "pop." They feel old—and they look it! Stay young by keeping your body fit. Keep stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys and bladder healthy and active. Build up your strength and health. Nothing will accomplish these results better than LYKO The Great General Tonic. Just try "LYKO" when you are feeling the least bit jaded, tired and worn out. See for yourself how quickly it rejuvenates—what a fresh feeling of strength and power is given you.
